It now seems to be the purpose of Germany to force Sweden and Norway into the war, whether they want to get in or not. This would of course mean that it would complicate matters for this country. Sweden with their German queen, is likely to side with Germany, while Norway would naturally favor the allies. Their entrance into the war at this time will certainly prolong the war, for if they join the allies it would be necessary for America France and England to immediately send armies there to prevent an invasion similar to the Belgiums invasion, for while them Countries have trained men, and would undoubtly put up as big a fight as Belgium did they would be overpowered the same as Belgium was.

A report now comes from the trenches in France that a German prisoner had made the statement that Germany thought that LaFollette and the I. W. W's. would hinder this country from entering the war against Germany. Will some aeroplane just drop a notice to Germany that if they think that LaFollette or the I. W. W's, will cut any ice in this war, they will discover that they have got another think coming before they get through with America.

The collapse of Russia, is just what has been expected from their past war records. When they were at war with Japan, when their fleet met the Japs, they were all fighting among themselves on their own ships. England, France and the United States may just as well face the facts as they are, and not place any reliance on Russia, to take any further part in the war.

In order to save the lives of thousands of our American boys in France, it is necessary to remove that Robert M. LaFollette from the U. S. Senate. This matter should be the first business attended to when Congress meets next month. [illegible] was pretty solid behind him, when he got the returns from the Second Liberty Loan.

As President Wilson must have appreciated the fact that America [illegible]

WHAT THE FOOD PLEDGE MEANS

THEIR USE WILL HELP TO WIN WAR

Have you signed a food pledge card? Whether you have or not, read what follows. It will help you to solve the food problem of your home and of the country.

The food pledge card which the women of Minnesota are being asked to sign this week, and which the men of Minnesota are being asked to approve by giving their support to the campaign means two great things:

It means the conservation of meats, wheat, fats and sugar for the aid of America's allies, in order that their courage and fighting power may be kept at top pitch and thus bring the war to an early close, saving thousands of lives of America's brave soldiers.

It means ample food for all, rather than much for Americans and starvation for America's allies, or merely that Uncle Sam shall be the generous big brother of his war tried friends in the present struggle.

It does not mean going without food or extra work in the preparation of meals.

As an aid to housewives in the preparation of meatless or wheatless meals, A. D. Wilson, federal food administrator for Minnesota, is sending out lists of menus which have been carefully prepared by Miss Alice Biester of the Home Economics Division of the University of Minnesota, under the direction of Miss Mildred Weigley, acting chief of the division. The list contains three meals for each day of the week, but the housewife can make her own selection from the menus for a meatless day a week or for a wheatless meal a day. Here are the menus:

Sunday.

Luncheon or supper: Cream of tomato soup, toasted cheese sandwiches, made from potato bread, apple sauce, tea.

Dinner:—Roast chicken and gravy, mashed potatoes, string bean, celery, potato bread and butter, apricot tapioca, coffee.

Monday.

Breakfast:—Dried apricot sauce, hominy grits or cornmeal mush, whole milk, mashed potato and codfish balls, potato bread and butter, coffee, cocoa or milk.

Luncheon or supper:—Baked beans and catsup, apple and celery salad, steamed brown bread, tea.

Tuesday.

Breakfast—Baked banana with lemon juice, French toast made from cornmeal bread, corn syrup, coffee, cocoa or milk.

Luncheon or supper:—Creamed potato and parsley, cottage cheese salad, cornmeal bread and butter, peach sauce.

Dinner:—Scalloped finnan haddie and eggs, baked potatoes, buttered parsnips, cabbage and beet salad, rye bread and butter, prune pudding or prune whip.

Wednesday.

Breakfast:—Stewed prunes, eggs scrambled with finnan haddie, creamed potatoes, rye bread and butter, coffee, cocoa or milk.

Luncheon or supper:—Cream of vegetable oyster (salsify) soup, rye croutons, peas and grated cheese salad, gingerbread, tea.

Dinner:—Nut and bread crumb loaf, tomato sauce, scalloped potatoes, buttered peas and carrots, rye bread and butter, plum sauce, gingerbread, coffee.

Thursday.

Luncheon or supper:—Spanish rice, stewed corn, steamed brown bread, apple sauce.

Dinner:—Baked trout with sliced lemon, mashed sweet potatoes, creamed onions, asparagus salad, rolled oats bread and butter, fruit gelatine, oatmeal cookies.

Friday.

Breakfast:—Apples, corn flakes, whole milk, creamed eggs on toasted rolled oats bread, coffee, cocoa or milk.

Luncheon or supper:—Fish chowder, cabbage and pimento salad, oatmeal cookies, cocoa.

Dinner:—Cream of potato soup, baked fish, peas, beet pickles, creamed cauliflower, rolled oats bread and butter, chocolate pudding, coffee.

Saturday.

Breakfast:—Rolled oats or cream of rye with dates, whole milk, toasted potato bread, coffee, cocoa or milk.

Primitive Reptiles.

The tuatara, or tuatera, is an almost extinct lizard-like reptile (Sphenodon punctatum) now found only on certain rocky islets in the bay of Plenty, northern New Zealand. It is of great scientific interest for the reason that it is the only surviving representative of the order of prosauria, or primitive reptiles, and is therefore a sort of living fossil. It was formerly hunted for food, but is now protected by law in New Zealand.

Skiing on the Water.

The ski is recommended as both a life saving device and a pleasure craft, combining safety with novelty. It cannot sink, makes better speed than a swimmer and does not tire the rider as swimming does. It is more practicable for long distances and can go through water where there is a heavy undertow, as it sits so high in the water that it is not caught in the grip of the undercurrent as the legs of the swimmer are. It doesn't take a long time to master, as the surf board does; requires no skill in balancing and sticking on and has the great advantage of being equipped with a motive power, whereas the ordinary surf board must be pushed and paddled out to sea before it can be ridden in.—[illegible]

THE LOCAL NEWS

The farmers have been improving the fine weather of the past week, to finish fall plowing.

Carl Jenson, of Thief River Falls will receive one Years subscription to The Sunbeam, free as a premium at the Potato Show.

Again we call on those who owe past due subscription to please pay up as we are in need of the cash.

Henry Hyland has purchased the Matt Bakken farm on section 9 Deer Park Township and is moving there this week.

Ye Editor has been devoting more attention to getting his fall plowing done the past week than eh has to the Newspaper.

The First National Bank, of Thief River Falls are going to hold a reception at their New Bank building on Saturday evening from 7.30 to 10 o,cock in the evening.

All church notices and notices of Ladies aid meetings will be published free, in THE SUNBEAM. But please try and get your copy to this office on Wednesday of the week before your meetings.

Road overseer Walter McAndress is grading the road on the section line between sections 29 and 30. This is a piece of work that has been needed for some time, as the road becomes impassable in the spring of the year.

The Deer Park Kvendeforneing, will hold their auction sale at the Martin Hyland school house on next Thursday Nov 29th, Thanksgiving day. Lunch will be served at noon, and the auction sale will be held in the afternoon. All are invited.

The ladies Kvendeforneing, of Kratka township will hold a big Auction Sale on next Thursday, Thanksgiving day, at the store building on the Knute Austin farm. Hot coffee and lunch will be served by the Ladies during the afternoon. All are welcome to come.

The Ladies Aid Society of Rhoda will hold their first Annual Auction Sale, at Anton Johnson's place "The old Mike Kolskie's place" one half mile north and ¾ mile east of Rhoda p.o., on Saturday evening November 24th. A fine supper at 12 o'clock midnight. A free dance will be given after the sale. Music by Szymanskies Orchestra.

The people of eastern Pennington County are proud of their new bridge across the Red Lake river at Highlanding, as it unites the north and the south side of the river people and makes them neighbors. We have set about enough type fighting for this fine bridge to build one of the piers, and we are glad it is finished. All is well, and we are satisfied.

WAR WORK AT NAVY YARDS

Washington, D. C. Nov. 20th, 1917.—Nearly 55,000 appointments were made to the forces of mechanics, helpers, and laborers at navy yards and other naval establishments during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1617, and since that date appointments have been made in increased proportion.

An appropriation of $7,500,000 is now being expended in the enlargement of the great naval gun factory at Washington, which, when completed, will furnish employment for 4,000 or more skilled mechanics, in addition to the 8,000 already at work in the plant. In this mammoth factory, one of the best equipped and most interesting in the world, are built the great guns for our war vessels, which carry to every country the message of America's ability to protect herself and to safeguard the rights of her citizens wherever they may be.

The new naval aircraft factory at Philadelphia, which will be completed this month, will also employ about 3,000 men.

The workers who man such plants are of a superior class, and they feel a personal pride in turning out products that will stand the test of conflict with the arms of other nations. A considerable part of the building of war vessels is also done in Government yards.

The United States Civil Service Commission, which is charged with the task of recruiting the ranks of this great civilian army, through its widespread organization is furnishing the men as they are needed. In certain trades, particularly those connected with shipbuilding, there is usually a shortage. Sailmakers, coppersmiths, shipfitters, anglesmiths, blacksmiths, and machinists are especially needed. Women to operate power sewing machines are also in great demand. The representatives of the Civil Service Commission at the post offices in all cities are the official recruiting agents for this as well as other branches of the civil service. The commission urges competent mechanics to offer their services to the Government at this time of great need.

NEW TYPE MIDGET TRACTOR

Conventional Caterpillar Design to Be Used as Substitute for Narrow-Gage Industrial Railroads.

A small tractor of the conventional caterpillar type which is designed as a substitute for the narrow-gage industrial railroads operated in connection with large plants, has recently made its appearance, says Popular Science Monthly. It can move material rapidly from one department of a factory to another and pass obstacles, since it does not require roads or tracks for its operation. Furthermore, it does not mar the surface over which it passes, because it lays its own track as it goes along.

For this reason it can be used inside factory buildings. It can pass through doorways of the ordinary size, and when not used in transporting material from one department to another, it can be employed in the shipping room or on the loading platform. It is but 50 inches wide and 52 inches high.

There are any number of other uses to which the industrial tractor may be put. For instance, it can be employed for pulling loaded wagons out of excavations, or it can be used in logging camps, or in lumber yards, mines and shipyards.

Whale Meat Is Used.

Whale meat, a la Creole, is the new offering on a San Francisco hotel menu. The portions are large and juicy, delightfully seasoned, and cost 15 cents each. The new food has come to stay, according to the hotel experts. It is a war-time food resource of the United States that has been overlooked. Many tried it and pronounced it good. The whale meat is supplied by a sea products company which has bought property at Moss Landing and will establish a packing house there. [illegible]

Old Battlefields Will Have to Be Worked With Care to Avoid Countless Unexploded Shells.

A great deal of careful spade work will be required in the northern part of France. Old battlefields covered with wild flowers, as I have seen them, observes a Paris correspondent, are in wide stretches a slumbering menace. Months after the war is over, naval men have told me, mines will still make voyages perilous in certain sea areas. For perhaps many months more it would be equally as perilous for a farmer to plow these once fertile fields in the great war's battle-swept areas.

Here and there are danger signals indicating unexploded mines. And the immense power of these mines is easily gauged by looking at the enormous craters where some of them have been "blown." The war has gone on its way and left these souvenirs of its intensity and deadliness. Here, there and everywhere are unexploded shells, German "minnies" or Boche "jam pots."

What can a "jam pot" do? I was talking with an officer who was in a first line trench early in the war when one of these infernal machines was lobbed over from the German lines. It stuck its nose in some soft mud and did not explode. It was permitted to rest in peace by the battalion; then in the course of time another battalion came, and one man decided to fire into it with his rifle to explode it and thus remove the ever-present menace. The bullet struck it, but it did not explode. He moved closer and fired another shot, and they found [illegible]

KNITTING BAG HELD SECRET

French Bulldog Leered From Folds of Satin Lining, Much to Surprise of Spectator.

She was a very pretty young woman, extremely well dressed. Her tailored suit was perfection, her boots and gloves immaculate, and her hat, correctly tilted, had the smart lines that women envy.

As though all this wasn't enough, she carried the most adorable knitting bag, says the Kansas City Star. It was made of some wonderful velvety brocaded stuff and the huge flowers of crocheted yarn somehow looked more stunning than those on other handsome bags.

With it all the face that peeped out from under the hat was so demure and serious that you knew the knitting she carried was not a sweater of orange or turquoise, but something made of sober gray yarn, for a boy "somewhere in France."

When the elevator stopped to let her in it gave the woman nearest her a chance to more closely examine the lovely bag, and she did not wait for opportunity to knock the second time. She suddenly cried out, for just as the girl stepped in the ridiculous face of a French bulldog leered from the soft folds of the satin lining.

Kills Microbes.

Large quantities of hypochloride of soda are now being used in the laundry of a certain hospital for destroying microorganisms and removing stains without appreciably injuring the fabrics. This solution is prepared by the electrolysis of a 4 per cent solution of common salt and water.

New Life Preserver.

A new life preserver, invented by a Dane, consists of cylinders filled with oil, which serve as a brake. The life preserver is designed to save people from burning buildings, being so contrived that they may be dropped to the ground without injury.

Growth of Y. M. C. A.

In 1916 there were 2,757 Young Men's Christian associations in North America, with a total membership of 689,023. They owned 782 plants and buildings valued at $83,263,469, and aggregate property, including real and personal, at over $106,000,000. The local associations with 4,353 secretaries and other paid officers, showed an enrollment of 152,160 men and boys in Bible courses, and 82,358 others in educational courses. The total operating expenses for all the associations was $15,812,250. New buildings costing all together more than $6,000,000 were opened during the year, and by the end of the year $8,900,000 had been pledged toward the erection of more than 40 additional buildings.

Dogs Saved Boy From Bear.

Two small pet dogs saved the life of their thirteen-year-old master, Bruno Westerman of St. Paul, when Teddy, a pet black bear, attacked the boy.

As the bear seized the boy the dogs gave battle and Teddy dropped the child and sought refuge in a near-by tree.

Carl, the sixteen-year-old brother, finally killed the bear with ten shots from a shotgun and a fusillade from a 22-caliber revolver. The brother retreated to the house to protect the mother, and from an upper window opened fire on Teddy, who had taken to a tree after he wounded Bruno and the dogs gave him battle.

Of Small Account.

"Over 2,000,000 iron crosses have been given out by the German authorities." We doubt if the German soldiers place any great value on these crosses. We recall a good-natured old German who spent the declining years of his life in Toledo. One day, with due modesty, he showed an iron cross he had won in the Franco-Prussian war. "You may have it," he said quietly. "It means nothing to me."—Toledo Blade.

WILSON'S SPEECH BEFORE A. F. OF L.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 13.—President Wilson made a personal appeal here for the support of organized labor for the government for the conduct of the war. Speaking before the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, he declared the war could not be won unless all factions unite.

The text of the President's speech follows:

"Mr. President, Delegates of the American Federation of Labor, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"I esteem it a great privilege and a real honor to be thus admitted to your public counsels. When your executive committee paid me the compliment of inviting me here, I gladly accepted the invitation because it seems to me that this above all other times in our history is the time for common counsel for the drawing not only of the energies but of the minds of the nation together. I thought that it was a welcome opportunity for disclosing to you some of the thoughts that have been gathering in my mind during the last momentous months.

Would Banish Thought of Office.

"I am introduced to you as the President of the United States, and yet I would be pleased if you would put the thought of the office into the background and regard me as one of your fellow citizens who has come here to speak, not the words of authority but the words of counsel, the words which men should speak to one another who wish to be frank in a moment more critical perhaps than the history of the world has ever yet known, a moment when it is every man's duty to forget himself, to forget his own interests, to fill himself with the nobility of a great national and world conception and act upon a new platform elevated above the ordinary affairs of life, elevated to where men have views of the long destiny of mankind.

"I think that in order to realize just what this moment of counsel is, it is very desirable that we should remind ourselves just how this war came about and just what it is for. You can explain most wars very simply, but the explanation of this is not so simple. Its roots run deep into all the obscure soils of history, and in my view this is the last decisive issue between the old principles of power and the new principles of freedom.

Germany Started War.

"The war was started by Germany. Her authorities deny that they started it. But I am willing to let the statement I have just made await the verdict of history. And the thing that needs to be explained is why Germany started the war. Remember what the position of Germany in the world was—as enviable a position as any nation has ever occupied. The whole world stood at admiration at her wonderful intellectual and material achievements and all the intellectual men of the world went to school to her. As a university man I have been surrounded by men trained in Germany, men who had resorted to Germany because nowhere else could they get such thorough and searching training, particularly in the principles of science and material achievements.

A Leader in Industrial World.

"Her men of science had made her industries perhaps the most competent industries in the world and the label 'Made in Germany' was a guarantee of good workmanship and of sound material. She had access to all the markets of the world and every other man who traded in those markets feared Germany because of effective and almost irresistible competition. She had a place in the sun. Why was she not satisfied? What more did she want? There was nothing in the world of peace that she did not already have and have in abundance.

Such Methods Unlawful Here.

"You have only to ask any man whom you meet, who is familiar with the conditions that prevailed before the war in the matter of international competition to find out the methods of competition which the German manufacturers and exporters used under the patronage and support of the government of Germany. You will find that they were the same sorts of competition that we have tried to prevent by law within our borders. If they could not sell their goods cheaper than we could sell ours at a profit to themselves they could get a subsidy from the government which made it possible to sell them cheaper anyhow and the conditions of the competition were thus controlled in large measure by the German government itself. But that did not satisfy the German government.

"All the while there was lying behind its thought, in its dreams of the future, a political control which would enable it in the long run to dominate the labor and the industry of the world. They were not content with the success by superior achievement; they wanted success by authority. I suppose very few of you have thought much about the Berlin-to-Bagdad railway. The Berlin-to-Bagdad railway was constructed in order to run the threat of force down the flank of the industrial undertakings of half a dozen other countries so that when German competition came in it would not be resisted too far—because there was always the possibility of getting German armies into the heart of that country quicker than any other armies could be got there. Look at the map of Europe now. Germany is thrusting upon us again and again the discussion of peace talks about what? Talks about Belgium, talks about Northern France, talks about Alsace-Lorraine. Well, those are deeply interesting subjects to us and to them, but they are not talking about the heart of the matter.

Germany After World Dominance.

"Take the map and look at it. Germany has absolute control of Austria-Hungary, practical control of the Balkan states, control of Turkey, control of Asia minor. I saw a map in which the whole thing was printed in appropriate black the other day, and the black stretched all the way from Hamburg to Bagdad—the bulk of German power inserted into the heart of the world. If it can keep that she has kept all that her dreams contemplated when the war began. If she can keep that her power can disturb the world as long as she keeps it—always provided, for I feel bound to put this proviso in, always provided the present influences that control the German government continue to control it.

"I believe that the spirit of freedom can get into the hearts of the Germans and find as fine a welcome there as it can find in any other hearts. But the spirit of freedom does not suit the plans of the Pan-Germans. Power cannot be used with concentrated force against free peoples if it is used by free people.

Central Power Fears Germany.

"You know how many imitations come to us from one of the central powers that it is more anxious for peace than the chief central power; and you know that it means that the people in that central power know that if the war ends as it stands they will in effect themselves be vassals of Germany notwithstanding that their populations are compounded with all the people of that part of the world and notwithstanding the fact that they do not wish in their pride and proper spirit of nationality to be so absorbed and dominated.

"Germany is determined that the political power of the world shall belong to her. There have been such ambitions before. They have been in part realized. But never before have those ambitions been based upon so exact and precise and scientific a plan of domination.

To Compound With Foe Is Disastrous.

"May I not say it is amazing to me that any group of people should be so ill informed as to suppose, as some groups in Russia apparently suppose, that any reform planned in the interest of the people can live in the presence of a Germany powerful enough to undermine or overthrow them by intrigue or force?

"Any body of free men that compounds with the present German government is compounding for its own destruction. But that is not the whole story. Any man in America or anywhere else who supposes that the free industry and enterprise of the world can continue if the Pan-German plan is achieved and German power fastened upon the world is as fatuous as the dreamers of Russia.

"What I am opposed to is not the feeling of the pacifists, but their stupidity. My heart is with them, but my mind has a contempt for them. I want peace, but I know how to get it and they do not.

Win War to Get Peace.

"You will notice that I sent a friend of mine—Colonel House—to Europe, who is as great a lover of peace as any man in the world, but I did not send him on a peace mission. I sent him to take part in a conference as to how the war was to be won. And he knows, as I know, that that is the way to get peace if you want it for more than a few minutes.

"All of this is a preface to the conference that I referred to with regard to what we are going to do. If we are true friends of freedom—our own or anybody else's—we will see that the power of this country and the productivity of this country is raised to its absolute maximum and that absolutely nobody is allowed to stand in the way of it.

Labor Must Be Free.

"While we are fighting for freedom we must see, among other things, that labor is free, and that means a number of interesting things. It means not only that we must do what we have declared our purpose to do—see that the conditions of labor are not rendered more onerous by the war—but also that we shall see to it that the instrumentalities by which the conditions of labor are improved, are not blocked or checked. That we must do. That has been the matter about which I have taken pleasure in conferring from time to time with your president, Mr. Gompers. And I want to express my admiration of his patriotic courage, his large vision and his statesmanlike sense of what is alongside of a mind that knows how to pull in harness. The horses that kick over the traces will have to be put in a corral.

"Now to stand together means that nobody must interrupt the processes of our energy, if the interruption can possibly be avoided without the absolute invasion of freedom. To put it concretely, that means this: Nobody has a right to stop the processes of labor until all the methods of conciliation and settlement have been exhausted, and I might as well say right here that I am not talking to you alone. You sometimes stop the course of labor, but there are others who do the same. And that I am speaking of my own experience not only, but that I am speaking of others, when I say that you are reasonable in a larger number of cases than the capitalists.

Parties Must Come Together.

"I am not saying these things to them personally yet, because I haven't had a chance. But they have to be said, not in any spirit of criticism, because I would like to see all the critics exported, but in order to clear the atmosphere and come down to business. Everybody on both sides has got to transact business, and the settlement is never impossible when both sides want to do the square and right thing. Moreover, a settlement is always hard to avoid when the parties can be brought face to face.

"I can differ with a man more radically when he isn't in the room than I can when he is in the room, because then the awkward thing is that he can come back at me and answer what I say. It is always dangerous for a man to have the floor entirely to himself.

"I always like to remind myself of a delightful saying of an Englishman of a past generation, Charles Lamb. He was with a group of friends and he spoke very harshly of some man who was not present. I ought to say that Lamb stuttered a little bit. And one of his friends said: 'Why, Charles, I didn't think that you knew so and so.'

"'Oh,' he said, 'I don't. I can't hate a man I know.'

Can Get Together If We Want To.

"There is a great deal of human nature, of very pleasant human nature, in that saying. It is hard to hate a man you know. I may admit parenthetically that there are some politicians whose methods I do not at all believe in, but they are jolly good fellows. If they only would not talk the wrong kind of politics with me I would love to be with them.

"And, so it is all along the line in serious matters and things less serious. We are all of the same clay and spirit and we can get together if we desire to get together.

"Therefore my counsel to you is: Let us show ourselves Americans by showing that we do not want to go off in separate camps or groups by ourselves, but that we want to co-operate with all other classes and all other groups in a common enterprise, which is to release the spirit of the world from bondage. I would be willing to set that up as the final test of an American. That is the meaning of democracy. I have been very much distressed, my fellow citizens, by some of the things that have happened recently. The mob spirit is displaying itself here and there in this country. I have no sympathy with what some men are saying, but I have no sympathy with the men that take their punishment into their own hands, and I want to say to everyone who does join such a mob that I do not recognize him as worthy of the free institutions of the United States.

Protests Against Unlawfulness.

"There are some organizations in this country whose object is anarchy and the destruction of law, but I would not meet their efforts by making myself a partner in destroying law. I despise and hate their purposes as much as any man, but I respect the ancient processes of justice, and I would be too proud not to see them done justice, however wrong they are. And so I want to utter my earnest protest against any manifestation of the spirit of lawlessness anywhere in any cause. Why, gentlemen, look what it means. We claim to be the greatest democratic people in the world and democracy means first of all that we can govern ourselves.

"If our men have not self-control, then they are not capable of that great thing which we call democratic government. A man who takes the law into his own hands is not the right man to co-operate in any form or development of government and institutions. And some of the processes by which the struggle between capital and labor is carried on are processes that come very near to taking the law into your own hands. I do not mean for a moment to compare them with what I have just been speaking of, but I want you to see that they are mere graduations of the manifestations of the unwillingness to co-operate and the fundamental lesson of the whole situation is that we must not only take common counsel, but we must yield to and obey common counsel. Not all of the instrumentalities for this are at hand. I am hopeful that in the very near future new instrumentalities may be organized by which we can see to it that various things that are now going on shall not go on.

"There are various processes of the dilution of labor and the unnecessary substitution of labor and bidding in different markets and unfairly upsetting the whole competition of labr, which ought not to go on—I mean now on the part of employers—and we must interject into this some instrumentality of co-operation by which the fair thing will be done all around. I am hopeful that some such instrumentalities may be devised, but whether they are or not, we must use those that we have and upon every occasion where it is necessary to have such an instrumentality, originated upon that occasion, if necessary.

"And so, my fellow citizens, the reason that I came away from Washington is that I sometimes get lonely down there—there are so many people in Washington who know things that are not so, and there are so few people in Washington who know anything about what the people of the United States are thinking about. I have to come away to get reminded of the rest of the country. I have to came away and talk to men who are up against the real thing. And say to them: I am with you if you are with me. And the only test of being with me is not to think about me personally. But merely to think of me as the expression for the time being of the power and dignity and hope of the American people."

China Fails to Protest to U. S.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Although China has protested to Japan against the recent agreement between Japan and the United States reaffirming the open door policy and recognizing Japan's special position in Chinese affairs no protest has yet been made to the American government. It was disclosed that before the announcement of the Japanese-American agreement was published it was communicated to the Chinese government through American Minister Reinsch. [illegible]

U. S. SENDS OUT DRAFT CALL TO 9,000,000 MEN

All Registrants Required to Fill Out Questionnaire Classifying Order of Call.

INVENTORY OF MAN POWER

Five Divisions to Be Formed Depending on Occupation and Claims for Exemption Allowed—Local Boards Will Help Registered Men.

Washington, Nov. 16.—Uncle Sam has begun the most gigantic inventory of man power ever attempted.

Preparations for the second draft were started when copies of the questionnaire for every one of the nine million men registered for military service were sent to the local exemption boards.

This questionnaire must be filled out by every registered man between the ages of twenty-one and thirty-one. It will place in the hands of the government the life history of every registered man and will give a complete census of the men of military age in 87 trades, industries and professions. The questionnaire will classify all registered men for service.

Classification of registered men in the order of their liability for military service will be the first accomplishment of the questionnaire. Men will be classified in five divisions, the first division to be called the first and the fifth division last.

The classes and the order in which they will be called are as follows:

CLASS 1.

Single men without dependent relatives.

Married man, with or without children, or father of motherless children, who has habitually failed to support his family.

Married man dependent on wife for support.

Married man, with or without children, or father of motherless children; man not usefully engaged, family supported by income independent of his labor.

Unskilled farm laborer.

Registrant by or in respect of whom no deferred classification is claimed or made.

Registrant who fails to submit questionnaire and in respect of whom no deferred classification is claimed or made.

All registrants not included in any other division in this schedule.

Married man with children or father of motherless children where such wife or children or such motherless children are not mainly dependent upon his labor for support for the reason that there are other reasonably certain sources of adequate support (excluding earnings or possible earnings from the labor of the wife) available, and that the removal of the registrant will not deprive such dependent of support.

Married man, without children, whose wife, although the registrant is engaged in a useful occupation, is not mainly dependent upon his labor for support, for the reason that the wife is skilled in some special class of work which she is physically able to perform and in which she is employed, or in which there is an immediate opening for her under conditions that will enable her to support herself decently and without suffering or hardship.

CLASS 3.

Man with dependent aged or infirm parents.

County or municipal officer.

Highly trained fireman or policeman, at least three years in service of municipality.

Necessary customhouse clerk.

Necessary employee of United States in transmission of the mails.

Necessary artificer or workman in United States armory or arsenal.

Necessary employee in service of United States.

Necessary assistant, associate or hired manager of necessary agricultural enterprise.

Necessary assistant or associate manager of necessary industrial enterprise.

CLASS 4.

Mariner actually employed in sea service of citizen or merchant in the United States.

Necessary sole managing, controlling or directing head of necessary agricultural enterprise.

Necessary sole managing, controlling or directing head of necessary industrial enterprise.

CLASS 5.

Officers—legislative, executive or judicial—of the United States or of state, territory or District of Columbia.

Regular or duly ordained minister of religion.

Student who on May 18, 1917, was preparing for ministry in recognized school.

Persons in military or naval service of United States.

Alien enemy.

Resident alien (not an enemy) who claims exemption.

Person totally and permanently physically or mentally unfit for military service.

Person morally unfit to be a soldier of the United States.

Licensed pilot actually employed in the pursuit of his vocation.

Member of well organized religious sect or organization, organized and existing on May 18, 1917, whose then existing creed or principles forbid its members to participate in war in any form, and whose religious convictions are against war or participation therein.

Boards to Aid Registrants.

To aid the registrants in filling out these questionnaires and determining their classification legal advisory boards have been provided for each local exemption district. Disinterested lawyers have been taken into service to aid in the general administration of the law.

All exemptions made prior to this time or revoked. Every man not in the military service must fill out a questionnaire, and the merits of his case will be decided upon again.

Any person failing to fill out a questionnaire is automatically placed in Class 1 and liable for immediate duty.

Following the classification comes a series of general questions. There then follow eleven other series of questions which fit particular cases ranging from the man who claims physical disability to questions asked of men seeking exemption because they are divinity students.

The general questions establish a most intimate knowledge of the personal characteristics of the registrant. He must state every occupation at which he has worked during the past ten years, giving not only the name of the occupation, but the number of hours worked each week and a statement of his education.

In these questions the registrant is given the privilege of stating his preference of service, and may state whether he is willing to attend a night school fitting him for service prior to being called into camp.

There then follows a list of 87 trades and professions, and the registrant is given space to indicate which he has worked in and for how long a period.

Occupational List.

Accountant; artist, dramatic or otherwise; auto and gas engine man (a) factory, (b) garage, (c) ignition system, (d) marine engines; auto and motor truck driver, baker, band instrument, barber, blacksmith (a) helper (b) forger; boatman; boilermaker, bookkeeper, butcher, canvas worker, carpenter (a) brigde, (b) cabinetmaker, (c) house, (d) ship; chemical industry worker, clerical worker, concrete worker, contractor, cook, dentist, detective, draftsman (a) architectural (b) mechanical, (c) topographical; druggist, electrician (a) instruments repair, (b) motors and dynamos, (c) outside work, (d) wiring; engineer, graduate, (a) automotive, (b) chemical, (c) civil, (d) electrical, (e) mechanical, (f) mining, (g) sanitary; factory worker, farmer, furrier, fire-fighter, forest ranger, foundry man (a) core maker and molder, (b) furnace man; grocer, guard, gunsmith, harness-maker, horseman, horseshoer, laborer, lawyer, lineman, (a) telegraph, (b) telephone; locksmith, longshoreman, lumberman, machinist (a) drill press, (b) general mechanic, (c) grinding machine, (d) lathe, (e) miller and planer, (f) toolmaker; mason, merchant, millwright, miner (a) digging and loading, (b) drill, (c) explosives, (d) timbering, (e) track laying; moving picture expert, nurse, painter (a) house, (b) sign, (c) scene; pattern-maker, physician, plasterer, plumbing trades, policeman, printer, quarryman, railroad man (a) construction, (b) operation, (c) maintenance, (d) repair; railway motorman, rigger (a) bridge, (b) building, (c) ship; salesman, sawmill man, seafaring man, sheet metal worker (a) copper, (b) iron, (c) tin; shipbuilder, shoemaker, stableman, steam engineer (a) motive, (b) stationary; stenographer, stock-keeper, structural iron and steel worker, student, surveyor, tailor, teacher, teamster, telegrapher, telephone operator, telephone repairman, tile man, typewriter, veterinary, watchman, welder, acetylene, etc.; wheelwright, wireless operator.

Many Questions Asked.

Persons claiming exemption on the ground of being aliens are asked to give the date of their birth, their birthplace, the time of their entrance to this country, the name of the vessel upon which they entered and their companions. They are also asked, "Are you willing to return to your native country and enter its military service?"

Claimants for exemption on grounds of dependency must answer a series of thirty-one questions, supported by affidavits of the dependents. These questions are most intimate, seeking a declaration of the exact amount of money contributed to the support of the dependent each month. Each registrant must also declare the amount of his income for the past twelve months and the amount of his property, real and personal. If a registrant owns a house, he must state whether he rents it and if so how much rent he receives. Encumbrances upon property must be declared, as well as the amount of taxes paid in the past year. "Has your wife ever been employed?" is one question asked. "Is your wife trained or skilled in any calling?" "Do you or your wife live with her parents?"

Nerves All Unstrung?

Nervousness and nerve pains often come from weak kidneys. Many a person who worries over trifles and is troubled with neuralgia, rheumatic pains and backache would find relief through a good kidney remedy. If you have nervous attacks, with headaches, backaches, dizzy spells and sharp, shooting pains, try Doan's Kidney Pills. They have brought quick benefit in thousands of such cases.

Recognized His Sermon.

Two of England's most famous actresses are "daughters of the manse," and Matheson Lang is the brother of the archbishop of York, Rt. Rev. Cosmo Lang. Barnsby Williams, who represents the characters of Dickens to the life, was educated for the church and was only a youth when he became attached as a preacher to a mission at Bow. So successful was he, writes a correspondent, that many of his sermons were sold at a penny a copy. He tells a good story of one of them.

"'Mene, Mene, Tekel, Upharsin' ('Thou art weighed in the balance and found wanting') was my text," he says, "and as I delivered the sermon with all the dramatic fervor at my command I created a sensation. Some years later I went to a certain church. The preacher was a well-known church dignitary. When he read out his text I pricked up my ears. 'Still higher did I prick them, till they nearly fell off my head, when, as the preacher read his sermon, I recognized my own juvenile effort."

Not a Bad Comparison.

Squaring Things.

A certain old farmer would never do any work of any kind on a Sunday, relates London Answers.

But one Saturday night rain fell in torrents, and when Sunday morning dawned the river was in flood and threatening to wash everything away unless some very hard work with pick and shovel was undertaken at once. The old man was in a quandary, but he saw bankruptcy looming very near.

Suddenly a bright idea struck him.

"Away with you, lads," he cried to his hands. "Dig for your lives—and I'll put the clock back to Saturday night."

No More Light Cooking.

A socket for electric lamps has been put on the market which makes it impossible to steal electric light bulbs or to use the socket for any purpose which the owner does not intend. The new sockets will be a blow to those who live in furnished rooms and secrete an electric toaster or an electric iron in the bottom of their trunks to use when the landlady is asleep. The safety socket is so made that you can screw in any lamp or attachment plug, but once in, it cannot be removed. The socket only works one way.

Easy to Rid Home of Rats and Mice

There is no need of suffering from the depredations of rats and mice now that Stearns' Paste is readily obtainable at nearly every store. A small box of this effective exterminator costs only 35 cents and is usually sufficient to completely rid the house, store or barn of rats and mice. The U. S. Government has bought thousands of pounds of Stearns' Paste for use in cities where rats and mice are plentiful. The Paste is also efficient in destroying cockroaches and waterbugs. Adv.

OUR BOYS IN FRANCE AND HOME PROTECTION

The men on the firing line represent the pick of our American youth. One in four of our boys at home was sick, rejected because of physical deficiency. Many times the kidneys were to blame.

If we wish to prevent old age coming on too soon, or if we want to increase our chances for a long life, Dr. Pierce of the Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., says that you should drink plenty of water daily between meals. Then procure at your nearest drug store Anuric (double strength). This An-u-ric drives the uric acid out and cures backache and rheumatism.

If we wish to keep our kidneys in the best condition a diet of milk and vegetables, with only little meat once a day, is the most suitable. Drink plenty of pure water, take Anuric three times a day for a month.

Step into the drug store and ask for a 60c package of Anuric, or send Dr. Pierce 10c for trial pkg. Anuric, many times more potent than lithia, often eliminates uric acid as hot water melts sugar. A short trial will convince you.

Three persons, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Alar and a boarder, Peter Trepich, were killed at Virginia by an ax murderer. Their bodies were found in their home there with a note of warning to all other Austrian families who bought Liberty bonds or subscribed to the Red Cross. The bodies had been slashed with a knife in addition to being beaten with an ax.

The entertainment committee of the Crookston Red Cross chapter has planned a series of afternoon or evening chain parties, each member of the committee to entertain four of their friends at a party, each one of the four bringing 25 cents for the Red Cross. The four guests are then to promise that they will each entertain four of their friends, who will contribute a quarter. Each of these guests will be requested to do the same thing, thus making a continuous chain. It has been figured up that this series for six weeks would raise $5,260.

OLD PRESCRIPTION FOR WEAK KIDNEYS

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfil the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says, "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy that I know of has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact that, so many people claim, it fulfils almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Adv.

SUCCESS OF THE LOAN DUE TO THE PEOPLE.

All will agree with Secretary McAdoo that the success of the Second Liberty Loan would have been impossible without the loyal support and cooperation of the people of the country, and that that support was secured by the indefatigable and earnest work of hundreds of thousands of patriotic,men and women throughout the United States.

Well may the Secretary of the Treasury thank these splendid volunteers and patriots who made the fight for the Liberty Loan. In addition to the thousands of individual workers, he mentions particularly the press of the country,the bankers the Liberty Loan organizations in every State, city, town, and community,the women of America, the Boy scouts and Girl scouts, the business men,patriotic organizations, cooperative fraternal societies, and other organizations throughout the land, and those employers of labor in large numbers who gave every opportunity to their employees subscribe to the bonds.

There is something particularly patriotic in the liberal support given the Second Liberty Loan by the soldiers and sailors of the United States. Having enlisted their lives in the service of their country, they have enlisted their dollars, too.Surely they are worthy of every needed sacrifice on the part of the people to strengthen them and enable them to win the victory.

Some of them writers for the Daily Newspapers of the big cities, who are continually harping about the farmers getting rich too fast, should come up to Northern Minnesota,and start farming some of this rich vacant land, and get rich the same as the other farmers do.But when they try it they will be following the plow in the fields, instead of attending afternoon matinees of the movies, and in the evening they will be pitching the manure out of their barns and milking cows, instead of going to the theater. Come on up here gentlemen and get rich, there is lots of room and vacant lands for you to farm in Northern Minnesota.

Roosevelts ravings about the total unpreparedness of America for war, must make kaiser Wilhelm remble to consider what will happen to his submarines, after we get prepared, at the rate they are being sunk at the present time by "unprepared" fellows.

A german sympathizer made the remark to us last winter, that "If the U.S. sent their navy over to England among them submarines, that they would never see it any more." Well Mr. Man, they are there right among um, and make as high a record as to sink 15 of them in one day.

How would it do for Russia to declare war on Mexico? When they were not fighting each other they could be fighting among themselves so as to keep busy all the time,

Kaiser Wilhelm will not have anything to do with the Peace at any price Russians who are now in control of that country. Wilhelm has very little respect for a nation that won't fight. His respect for America will soon begin to increase.

Kaiser Wilhelm is going to make another big smash on the western front, before America gets any more men there. He is likely to meet a few there now, while France and England will hear the cry from America, of "Hold the Fort for we are coming"

MILLS MAKE PROFIT DESPITE U.S. PRICE

FLOUR CONTINUES TO SELL AT FIGURE ABOVE THAT SET BY GOVERNMENT.

COST ESTIMATES CONCEALED

Consumer Has Not Received Benefit Of Sharp Reduction Made In Price of Wheat Sold By Farmer.

September 1, the same date that wheat prices were fixed, the Federal Food Commission set a maximum profit of 25 cents on a barrel of flour and 50 cents a ton for mill feed. Wheat prices at once responded to the level established by the government, but flour prices did not and have not yet done so. Up to October 20, flour prices have not averaged within $1 of the maximum prices established by the government. Most of the time since these prices were supposed to go into effect the excess profit of the millers has been much greater.

The government regulations provided a profit, considering the 50 cents a ton on mill feed, amounting to a little more than 27 cents a barrel. From September 1 until October 13 the Minneapolis mills produced 2,596,370 barrels of flour. Had the mills kept within the price set by the government their profits during this period would have amounted to $701,019.99, which would have allowed interest on their investment and handsome dividends. The government allowed them a very generous profit. But in addition to this legal profit, the Minneapolis mills have taken an excess profit of not less than $2,000,000 during the last five weeks.

Illegal Profits Are High.

Using 80 cents per barrel as the cost of manufacture, the government regulations would call for the following price on a small 150-pound barrel:

Four bushels, 40 pounds of wheat ($2.12 mixture)	$ 9.90
Cost of manufacture	.80
Allowed profit	.27
Making the gross cost	$10.97

Deduct from this the value of mill by-products, estimated at $1.36 on the wheat necessary for a barrel of flour, by experts who have given the question years of study, and you have the proper price, f. o. b. mill at $9.61.

Prices quoted on September 26 and other dates during this period ran as high as $10.52 a barrel, making an illegal profit of 91 cents per barrel.

But on September 26 the larger mills undoubtedly paid less than $9.90 for the wheat necessary to make a barrel of flour; their cost of manufacture was probably nearer 70 than 80 cents; and they got a higher percentage of flour from the ground wheat. The illegal profit of a 35,000 barrel mill must have been around $1.25 a barrel.

Mill Combine Will Resist.

Absolute proof of this extortion is shown by the fact that flour prices dropped 60 cents on October 4, whereas the price of wheat has not changed since September 1. Flour prices are still far above the government basis. To conform to the government regulations, the price of flour not only must reach the legal level at once, but should be depressed below that level for a considerable period to make up for past extortion.

Will this be done? The opposition of the milling combine probably will be so strong and the padding of cost figures so successful that government control and operation will be necessary before the consumer can expect to derive any benefit from the 85-cent a bushel reduction in the price of wheat which fell upon the farmer nearly two months ago.

CAR SHORTAGE HITS FARMER

Producer Pays Bill Because Railroads Not Ready To Handle Crop.

Thousands of bushels of potatoes waiting shipment at loading points or still in the ground, and large quantities of other vegetables were frozen during the last week, according to reports received by the State Railroad and Warehouse Commission, whose experts place the loss to the farmers of this state at more than $5,000,000 [illegible] in sufficient number to handle the crops.

Although railroads for the past two years have made the highest profits in their history—according to reports made to the Interstate Commerce Commission—and although they had ample warning that this year's vegetable crop was one of the largest in recent years and came at a time when every pound of food is needed by this nation and its allies, the transportation agencies miserably failed to handle the situation and as the result the farmer will have to bear the loss.

Railroads Run For Profit.

Railroads, under private ownership always will be run for profit instead of for public service. In this case the farmer is made the goat and his crops are left to spoil, despite a threatened food shortage, while the railroads divert their cars to Eastern traffic that brings them higher revenues.

The Blind Soldiers.

Statistics furnished by the French-British authorities to the American-British-French - Belgian Permanent Blind Relief War Fund of 590 Fifth avenue, New York, show that there are in England, France and Belgium more than 3,000 soldiers who have been totally blinded in the war and nearly 25,000 blinded in one eye, a large proportion of whom will eventually lose the sight of the other as the result of shock or of the wounds themselves. In addition there are in France alone nearly 200 who, besides losing both eyes, have also suffered, by explosions or amputation, the loss of both arms or both legs, or a hand, and in many cases have been rendered stone deaf into the bargain.

Another Poor Guess.

Charles Darwin was the subject of a very drastic parental prophecy which went very far wrong. He was very fond of country life, and as his father's taste did not lie in the same direction, that stern parent said to Charles: "You care for nothing but shooting, dogs, and rat-catching, and you will be a disgrace to yourself and all your family."

Decay of Metals.

The most remarkable example of allotropic disintegration of metals is perhaps that of tin. The investigation has shown that the disease can only occur in a temperature not exceeding [illegible] degrees Fahrenheit. Tin decay is therefore most prevalent in cold climates. [illegible]

General Who Makes Soldiers Out of Canadian Recruits So Introduced Himself to Villagers.

There was much excitement in the small village of Angus (Ontario, Can.) when work was started to transform the old pine plains into the greatest Canadian army camp—Camp Borden, observes a Canadian correspondent. The sight of soldiers and high-up military men strolling down the streets caused, to say the least, a sensation.

Two villagers were talking about the new camp one day when they noticed an imposing, well-built officer walking briskly towards them.

"Is it the general?" they asked each other, meaning Gen. Sir Sam Hughes, then minister of militia for Canada.

When the officer reached them one of the villagers stepped up to him, and with the easy familiarity of a country man hailed him as follows:

"Here, there! Are you Sam?"

The officer chuckled and entered into the spirit of it and said: "Me Sir Sam! Oh, no! Why I'm only a little fellow. Sir Sam's a prize boxer compared to me!"

"Well, what's your name, then?" the villager queried.

"Oh, I'm only Logie," was the answer of the modest but well-beloved soldier, who holds a proud record in Canada for the thousands of recruits he has turned into valiant defenders of humanity, General Logie of Toronto.

The Moon and the Weather.

People who rely on the moon as a weather indicator, writes a London Chronicle correspondent, must have very short memories, for accurate comparisons prove conclusively that there is no connection whatever between the weather and the moon's changes of phase.

Professor Schuster analyzed a whole century's weather records and, as a result, was unable to trace any lunar period in them. Several authorities are agreed, however, that there is a tendency for clouds to disperse as a full moon comes to the meridian of any place; but it is a far cry from that to the definite belief that the weather changes with a change of the lunar phases.

These changes, of course, can be predicted for years in advance with perfect accuracy, and if the weather depended on them, weather forecasting would be the simplest of all the sciences, instead of the most difficult [illegible]

Skiing on the Water.

The ski is recommended as both a life saving device and a pleasure craft, combining safety with novelty. It cannot sink, makes better speed than a swimmer and does not tire the rider as swimming does. It is more practicable for long distances and can go through water where there is a heavy undertow, as it sits so high in the water that it is not caught in the grip of the undercurrent as the legs of the swimmer are. It doesn't take a long time to master, as the surf board does; requires no skill in balancing and sticking on and has the great advantage of being equipped with a motive power, whereas the ordinary surf board must be pushed and paddled out to sea before it can be ridden in.—Outing.

Mr. White, of Thief River Falls was up to Highlanding Tuesday, getting new members for the County Farm Bureau Association. We have not looked up the purpose of this organization, or the benefits to be derived from it, but we "jined" on general principals.

Oscar and Ole Nesland, of Lillo, Minn., were transacting business at Sunbeam Monday, and Oscar improved the opportunity to give his subscription a two years boost. Oscar was one of our first subscribers when we moved onto the Eleven Townships, and he has been a continual cash subscriber ever since.

What would be your honest opinion of a man that claimed to be a business man, that would take a newspaper from the office seven years, keep careful files of it for use in court, and then notify the publisher that he had never been a subscriber, and would not pay his subscription? Let the jury answer.

Nels J. Neareson, of Mayfield met with a fatal accident, last Thursday afternoon on the road from Oklee to Plummer, receiving injuries from which he died on Friday. Mr. Neareson was one of the Pioneer settlers in Mayfield township, and was an industrious working man. He was a bachelor, and leaves no family. John Sedig is living on his Mayfield farm at the present time.

THE WRONG SIDE

By VINCENT G. PERRY

Teddy Brent wasn't used to being snubbed—before all the boys of the staff, too; that was the rub. In the city his breezy, sunshiny air had won him many friends and his ready wit kept them around him in droves. There wasn't a girl in the office who wouldn't jump at the chance of going out to lunch with him—that was before this little girl from his home town came to push in the plugs on the switchboard.

He recognized her the first day—little Madge Murray, whom he had taught in the village school the first year after he left the normal, the year he found out he wasn't cut out for a teacher and left for the city to try his hand in the newspaper game. She had written him such nice school-girlie letters, that first year in the city, and when he went home for the first well-earned vacation he spent most of it boating with her. Then after that he forgot all about her, or thought he did in the whirl of growing popularity and gay times in the city. She had written him once or twice, but he didn't find time to answer with more than a picture post card now and then. To his "See who's here! I'm awfully glad to see you, Madge!" she puckered her pretty lips into a stiff and formal, "How-do-you-do" and turned to her switchboard.

She had improved, he noticed, as he passed through the office on the way back from the lunch he hadn't touched—improved not in her attitude toward him but in appearance.

Madge answered the buzz of Teddy's telephone. When he asked for an explanation of her coolness the only answer he got was: "What number did you want?" He hung up his receiver with disgust and didn't try again for days.

The other men on the staff were not so coolly treated by the new girl on the switchboard. Teddy noted with alarm her preference for Billy Gibbs. Billy and his wife were not on speaking terms and Billy was trying to get a divorce.

Teddy resolved to talk to Madge, but when she answered his telephone call, she wouldn't listen to him. He wasn't going to suffer the humiliation of a personal interview. He tried to talk to her over the phone time and again, so to get rid of him Madge switched him on the central line. The girl at central heard all that was intended for Madge and made an appointment with Teddy. He thought it was Madge.

While Madge was trying to get central for the manager, she heard over the wire the telephone operator there talking to one of the other girls. "Yes, I just made a date with one of those reporters at the Times. He was the cutest thing," the girl was saying.

"Hello, Times, give me the foreman of the composing room," the operator broke in on Madge. Realizing the mistake she had been the cause of, Madge couldn't help listening to the next conversation.

Madge worried about it all afternoon. She had been very foolish in her treatment of Teddy, she thought. But she couldn't blame herself for treating him so coolly. She had cared so much for him that summer and thought he cared, too, but he had spoiled it all by sending her post cards as he would to his little sister.

Late that afternoon Madge got a call in a feminine voice for the foreman of the composing room. Probably he was as fickle as the girl at central, she thought. It would ease her conscience a little if he was, so she listened to find out.

"This is Peg speaking, Dick. Thought I'd let you know Flora has made a date with one of those fresh reporters for tonight, at Wylly's, I think."

Then she was in a panic. She couldn't let Teddy go to that place, perhaps to be murdered.

Madge was at Wylly's first. She took good care of that at the expense of a hasty preparation. She would like to have "fussed" a little more, but she hoped Teddy would not notice that. Perhaps he would be mean and treat her like a little girl, as he had done before, she thought, but when she saw the pleased look on his face when he caught sight of her waiting for him, she knew he wouldn't.

"Now, dear, since you told me how I offended you and have accepted my humblest apologies and my promise never to send another post card to you as long as I live, won't you tell me what made you change your mind and manner toward me?" Teddy asked.

Madge breathed a sigh of relief as she noted the departure of the tall girl in green who had been waiting so patiently for more than half an hour. "Just because I was foolish, Teddy, very foolish," [illegible]

NEW TYPE MIDGET TRACTOR

Conventional Caterpillar Design to Be Used as Substitute for Narrow-Gage Industrial Railroads.

A small tractor of the conventional caterpillar type which is designed as a substitute for the narrow-gage industrial railroads operated in connection with large plants, has recently made its appearance, says Popular Science Monthly. It can move material rapidly from one department of a factory to another and pass obstacles, since it does not require roads or tracks for its operation. Furthermore, it does not mar the surface over which it passes, because it lays its own track as it goes along.

For this reason it can be used inside factory buildings. It can pass through doorways of the ordinary size, and when not used in transporting material from one department to another, it can be employed in the shipping room or on the loading platform. It is but 50 inches wide and 52 inches high.

There are any number of other uses to which the industrial tractor may be put. For instance, it can be employed for pulling loaded wagons out of excavations, or it can be used in logging camps, or in lumber yards, mines and railyards.

Married Her Step-Son.

The strangest attempt yet discovered to evade the draft was revealed in New York the other day, when a man charged his wife with bigamy, naming his son by a former marriage as the woman's second and living husband. At the trial it was found that the woman had married her step-son in order to enable him to escape the draft.

Cents and Cigarettes.

The tobacco trade finds no difficulty in using cents in making prices. Cigarettes are priced as closely as anything sold in any department store. Perhaps the reason is that smokers do not have to have "smokes" and that the trade would shrivel if prices were not kept attractive.—Exchange.

Too Familiar to Him.

As the burly and distinguished figure of Lord Northcliffe hurried down the hotel lounge a correspondent said:

"There goes the most successful and deservedly successful journalist in the World. In this war he has done more for the allies' cause than any other man except Lloyd George.

"A hard chap to interview, though. I could never land him. The last time I wrote him for an interview he wrote back:

"'I am sorry, but I must ask you to excuse me from acceding to your request. I am like the little boy at the school treat who, when the squire's wife came round to him with the strawberry jam, promptly said: "No, thank you, ma'am. I works at the place where they makes it."'"—Washington Star.

BRITISH NEARER ENEMY KEY CITY

Further Gains Around Cambrai And Capture Of 100 Guns Reported

LATIN POSTS RETAKEN

British Army Headquarters in France, Nov. 27.—The Germans have probably ordered the civil population of Cambrai to evacuate the city as there has been much traffic from that city southeastward the past few days.

Paris, Nov. 27.—In an attack in the Verdun region the French troops captured first and second German lines of defense, including deep dugouts, and also took 800 German prisoner, according to the French official communication.

London, Nov. 27.—After hard fighting, in which the troops came into hand-to-hand fighting with varying results, Field Marshal Haig's forces now are in possession of the town of Bourlon, and the greater part of the Bourlon wood, west of Cambria, giving them a dominating position over the much sought for railroad center and the surrounding country.

Rome, Nov. 26.—Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany, Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary, Czar Ferdinand of Bulgaria and Enver Pasha of Turkey are reported in conference on the Italian front in Swiss dispatches received here. A new Central Powers agreement, particplarly as to Germany and Austria's division of the spoils of war, was understood to be behind the meeting.

Powerful thrusts which were carried out by the Austro-Germans after heavy artillery preparation on the Italian mountain front from the Asiago plateau to the Brenta river, all failed, the Italian war office announces.

Haig Reports Further Gains.

London, Nov. 26.—Further gains around Cambrai are reported by Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig. He announced "successful operations" in the drive toward the city around Bourlon wood, where, after severe fighting, important "dominating ground" was carried by his troops.

"Between Moeuvres and Queant an important spur forming an observation point over the Hindenburg line north and west was captured," Haig continued.

Kaiser Loses Big Guns.

"East of Bourlon wood," the statement continued," and in the neighborhood of Fontaine Notre Dame, some progress was made astride the capal Du Nord. In the neighborhood of Moeuvres further progress was achieved."

More than 100 German guns have been captured, Haig reported. This number, he said, included some heavy fieldpieces up to 8 inch.

Snow Dyed Red With Blood.

Italian Headquarters in Northern Italy, Nov. 25.—(By the Associated Press).—The battle of the mountains is raging with unexampled violence. The Italians again hold the Monte Tomba and Monte Pertica positions, which they lost Thursday night. The losses have been very great, but the enemy's far exceed those of the Italians.

COAL ORDER IS REVOKED

Acute Shortage in Middle West and East to Be Relieved.

Washington, Nov. 26.—Fuel Administrator Garfield has requested the priority board to revoke, effective after Novmbr 30, the order requiring all coal shipments from the middle western fields to go through to the lakes for trans-shipment northwest. The purpose is to direct coal to relieve acute shortages in the Middle West and New England.

Denver Bank Robbed.

Denver, Nov. 25.—Two thousand dollars was obtained from the cash drawer of the Italian-American bank on lower Fifteenth street here by two young men apparently Italians, who held up the cashier and five customers and escaped in an automible.

U. S. Releases 600 Carranzists.

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 26.—Guarded by a detachment of United States soldiers 600 Carranzista troops, together with their commander, General Cordova, and 180 camp followers, who surrendered to the United States forces after the capture of Ojinaga by Villa, were transferred over the international bridge here to Juarez. Two hundred horses and guns of the Mexican troops were also sent across the bridge. The Carranza government has indicated that it will pay the expense of transporting the refugees.

11 ARE KILLED BY BOMB

Explodes in Milwaukee Police Station Without Warning.

Had Been Taken From Italian Church Where It Is Thought to Have Been Placed by Anarchists.

Milwaukee, Nov. 27.—By the explosidn of a bomb in central police station, where it had been carried for examination, eleven persons were killed and several injured. The bomb had been resigned to destroy the Italian Evangelical church in the heart of the Third ward, an Italian settlement.

Seven detectives, two policemen, one woman and an unidentified Italian were killed. The bomb, which was of scientific construction and evidently with a time fuse attached, was found in the basement of the church. Police headquarters were called and Detective McKinney was sent to get the missile.

On his way he met an Italian named Mazuinni, who was taking the bomb to headquarters. McKinney accompanied him back to the station.

While Mazuinni was taken into the office of Lieutenant Flood for questioning, Desk Sergeant Henry Deckart took the bomb into the patrolmen's room.

Explodes Without Warning.

Meanwhile detectives were answering roll call on the second floor and just before dismissal they were informed that the bomb had been found. On going down stairs they grouped about the missile. Without warning it exploded.

The woman killed was Catherine Walker. She had gone to the police station to report a robbery and was standing in the hallway waiting to get into the lieutenant's office when the bomb exploded.

It is the belief of the police the bomb was placed in the Evangelical church by anarchists friendly to the Italians recently arrested for breaking up a patriotic meeting being held by a missionary from the church.

More than 25 Italians have been arrested in a dragnet which has been thrown in the Third ward for all suspicious characters. Muzuinni is also being held.

COMING TO UNITED STATES

Former Czar's Daughter Is On Way to This Country.

New York, Nov. 26.—Miss Tatiana Nicholaevna Romanoff, second daughter of Nicholas Romanoff, deposed emperor of Russia, has escaped from Siberia through a camouflage marriage to a son of a former chamberlain of the emperor, and is now on her way to the United States chaperoned by an English woman, according to informaton made public here by persons connected with the Russian civilian relief.

The former grand duchess, who is 20 years old, made her escape from Tobolsk, the present home of the exiled czar, to Harbin, Manchuria, and thence to Japan, where passage was taken on a steamship for the Pacific coast.

Miss Romanoff is coming to the United States to "work in any capacity for the Russian civilian relief," according to a statement issued here.

LABOR TO STAND FIRM IN WAR

To Continue Production Despite All Disputes.

Buffalo, Nov. 26.—The American Federation of Labor, by unanimous vote, adopted a statement of the conditions and principles that must be applied to industrial problems arising from the war as far as union labor is concerned.

The declaration is regarded as in line with the general understanding that has existed between President Wilson and President Gompers, but there are some points that have been in doubt which the statement clarified.

The declaration does not say there shall be no strikes.

DRIVES FEDERAL FORCE BACK

Villa Compels Carranza Troops to Make Retreat.

Presidio, Texas, Nov. 24.—Villa's troops have driven the advance guard of the Mexican federal force in the vicinity of Cuchillo Parado back toward Chihuahua City, according to information received here. Villa was in personal command of his column, which included half of the entire Villa force, the remainder being left at San Juan Del Rio and Ojinaga.

Turkey 42 Cents Per Pound.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—Fresh turkeys were boosted a cent a pound by the price committee of the state food administration, the price to consumers being fixed at 42 cents a pound. The increase was due to the scarcity of fresh turkeys in the Chicago market. The price for the cold storage product remained unchanged.

Last of Pacific Raiders Caught.

San Francisco, Nov. 24.—A British cruiser has captured the last of the German raiders operating in the Pacific, according to reports of the schooner City of Portland, which has arrived here. After the Seeadler went aground, her crew captured and operated the French schooner Lutece. Later they captured the steamer Matunga and sank the Lutece, operating the Matunga as a raider. It was this ship the British cruiser captured, ac[illegible]

RECIPES HELP TO CONSERVE WHEAT

PRACTICAL DIRECTIONS RENDER BREAD MAKING FROM BARLEY FLOUR SIMPLE.

LABORATORY MAKES TESTS

Division of Minnesota College of Agriculture Works to Save Supplies for Use of Soldiers Abroad and America's Allies.

St. Paul.—A conservation laboratory for the people of Minesota has been established by the home economics division of the Minesota College of Agriculture. In the laboratories of this division are being tested out recips to permit the saving of wheat, meats, fats and sugar, for the use of the soldiers at the frant and for Amirica's allies. The latest contributions from the laboratory is a list recipes for the use of barley flour, all of which have been tested and not found wanting. The list incldues recipes for bread, biscuit, cake, and doughnuts, which are as follows:

Barley Yeast Bread.

3 cups liquid (milk and water)
1½ tablespoons sugar
1½ tablespoons fat
1 tablespoon salt
1 cup yeast, compressed or dried, softened in some of the liquid
3½ cups barley flour
7 cups wheat flour.

Directions for making barley yeast bread using compressed yeast. Soften the yeast in some of the fluid. Combine the ingredients as for wheat bread. Mix into a dough. Knead and let rise to double its original bulk. Knead again and put into pans. When again double in bulk bake about 45 minutes.

Directions for making Barley Yeast bread using dried yeast. Make a sponge over night with 1 cake of dried yeast, the liquid, and part of the flour. In the morning mix into a dough with the remainder of the flour and knead. Let rise to rouble its original bulk. Knead again and put into pans. When again double in bulk bake about 45 minutes.

Baking Powder Biscuit

3 cups barley or 1½ cups white flour and 1½ cups barley flour
1 cup liquid
4½ teaspeons fat

U. S. TO AID IN SLAYER HUNT

McAdoo Wants Murderer of Virginia Trio Apprehended.

St. Paul, Nov. 20.—Characterizing the recent ax murder at Virginia, in which three victims were believed slain for buying Liberty bonds, as a peculiarly infamous and wanton crime, Secretary of the Treasury William G. McAdoo in a personal telegram to Governor Burnquist, urges every possible effort to apprehend the murderers and pledges unrestricted cooperation of the United States Treasury department to that end.

Secretary McAdoo's telegram to the governor read:

"I earnestly hope that every possible effort will be made to apprehend the people who murdered Mr. and Mrs. Paul Alar and Peter Trepich, whom the morning papers report as having been killed because they purchased Liberty bonds.

"It is a peculiarly infamous and wanton crime and I desire to assure you of the fullest possible co-operation of this department in every measure you may take."

Auto Plants Offered to U. S.

Washington, Nov. 20.—An offer to the government of 300 plants for the production of parts and accessories for airplanes, submarine chasers and trucks was made by the Motor and Accessory Manufacturers' association. The association pledged support to the automobile industries committee of the War Industries board.

Would Give Veterans Farms.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Senator Harding of Ohio believes that the government, as a war measure, should provide a farm for every soldier returning from the great war, who will consent to accept one. In the meantime, he suggests the experiment of placing on farms provided by the government the dependents of soldiers and aiding them to cultivate the land. The Rev. S. M. Kelly has been formally installed as pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Red Lake Falls. Mr. Kelly went there from Stephen, Minn., where he had been pastor for two years.

Four hundred delegates attended the annual convention of the Minnesota Union, American Society of Equity, which was held in St. Paul. The real business of the session were the discussion of market problems, and plans for extending the organization.

St. Paul's mild epidemic of smallpox assumed serious proportions when 10 new cases were discovered. Officials of the health department, who have supervised the vaccination of approximately 1,500 persons since the present epidemic started a month ago, assert that it will be necessary to vaccinate at least 2,000 more to halt its spread.

E. B. Ford, Mrs. Elizabeth Ford and Edward Bosky, indicted on a charge of disloyalty in connection with the publication of the Faribault Referendum, entered pleas of not guilty before Judge A. B. Childress. The charges of disloyalty are the outgrowth of certain items published in the newspaper of which the defendants are owners and editors.

All the patriotic organizations of Minnesota will be represented at the annual convention of the National Security league, to be held February 21, 22 and 23 in Chicago. The meeting this year will be in the nature of a national war time council, which will call in for consultation the Red Cross, state safety commissions, civilian relief societies and all the other organizations brought about by war exigencies.

Two recent announcements from Washington marked progress in preparing for future operation of the selective draft in Minnesota. One stated that December 1 had been set as the date on which all local boards should begin preparations for putting into effect the new classification system for drafted men. The other stated that Dr. William J. Mayo had been named chief of the medical advisory organization for the state.

A new industry has been born in Minnesota—the production of sheep on the long unproductive cutover lands of the northern counties. This was the word brought back by Prof. W. A. McMorrow of the State Agricultural school and D. E. Willard, development agent for the Northern Pacific railway. They attended a series of meetings arranged by the newly organized Minnesota Sheep Growers' association and reported the farmers enthusiastic over the project to put a "flock of sheep on every farm."

Dewey Wagner of Willow River, 18-year-old son of Mrs. W. H Wagner, accidentally shot and killed himself while hunting. The young man lived but a half hour after the accident.

Work has started on the new fish hatchery at Pleasure Park, Ottertail lake. Money to defray the expenses has been raised by popular subscription, and immediately upon the completion of the work the state will take over the building and maintain it. The state will pay half the cost of the hatchery building.

The employment of a county agricultural agent, made a patriotic issue at a meeting of the Winona county board will become a reality if popular subscription will raise $700 with which to finance a $3,500 proposition. The government will furnish $1,800 and the board of commissioners has agreed to supply $1,000 anually.

The following officers were elected at the Northwestern Minnesota Educational association convention at Thief River Falls: A. L. Jedlicka, Mahnomen, president; Miss Lou Green, Red Lake Falls, vice president; C. H. Beise Crookston, secretary-treasurer; J. H. Hay, Thief River Falls, and Mr. Hay and Mr. Hallock, members on the executive committee.

S. E. Grinnell, Walker, Minn., indicted by the Cass county grand jury charged with seditious utterances, was arrested by the Minneapolis police at the request of the Cass county sheriff. "I don't know what they charge me with saying," said Grinnell. "I have always spoken my mind, but have always been a loyal American. I was born in Minneapolis sixty years ago and one of my sons is about to enter the aviation service."

An organization to promote development of idle lands in Minnesota has been formed by leading land men of the state. According to E. F. Farmer of Minneapolis, president, it is patterned after the Wisconsin Advancement association. "Minnesota has nearly 20,000,000 acres of good farm land untouched by the plow and it is our aim to develop this land," said Mr. Farmer. "At present there is no organization to further this plan from the standpoint of the settler except the immigration bureau. On this land we can handle 20,000 more families."

Thomas McLaughlin, Jr., who was assaulted and robbed of a sum of money in the vicinity of South Hastings and who was taken to the Latts hospital for treatment owing to his critical condition, is reported as improving. His assailant as yet has not been arrested.

MUSKRAT FOR FOOD, SUGGESTION MADE

ITS VALUE IS CALLED TO ATTENTION OF THE STATE PUBLIC SAFETY COMMISSION.

FIX COAL DEALERS' PROFITS

Margins Specified by Fuel Administrator to Apply to Sales For Household Use Only.

St. Paul.

Muskrat, probably disguised under another name, will be the piece de resistance at many dinners the coming winter if the Public Safety Commission prevails upon the public to adopt food conservation suggestions offered by Burt W. Day of Hutchinson.

Mr. Day says 400,000 muskrats will be killed for their fur this winter and declares 250 tons of good food will be wasted unless the public can be educated to use it.

"Muskrats make good food," Day told the commission. "Down at Monroe, Mich., the Monroe Yacht club gives an annual muskrat dinner and reservations are always at a premium. Guests come from Yacht clubs all over the East. In Cleveland, Toledo, and many other cities along the lake front, saloons use muskrats as free lunch. They make good, clean food and are tasty if properly prepared."

Mr. Day also urged the use of dogfish as food.

Fixes Coal Dealers' Profits.

The first order fixing retail dealers' margins on coal sales has been issued by Judge J. F. McGee, federal fuel administrator for Minnesota. It applies to Grant county only, and its terms had been agreed to by the Grant county committee of fuel administrators and the fuel dealers there. Margins specified are to apply to sales for household use only.

It is ordered that the gross margin per ton shall be $1.25 on all grades and sizes of hard coal, $1.55 per ton on all grades and sizes of dock soft coal and $1.65 per ton on all grades and sizes of Illinois or railroad coal. These margins are to be added to the average cost of the coal, f. o. b. car in the yard, and must include all handling and unloading but not delivery charges.

As a result of a conference here of the federal fuel administrators of Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Wisconsin, plans have been worked out for distributing coal as needed through the entire territory. Any community needing coal is to request the fuel administrator in its state to help get it. The administrator will then investigate to ascertain the urgency of the need and, if verified, will requisition dock operators at the Head of the Lakes to fill the order.

Ridiculing Women Held Scandalous.

Condemned as "scandalous," the brief filed in the Minnesota Supreme Court by T. M. Zink, an attorney of LeMars, Iowa, who devoted forty pages of argument and citations to support a contention that women are "untruthful, deceitful and treacherous," was expunged from the record.

"It is ordered that the appellant's brief in this cause be and the same hereby is stricken from the record as scandalous, and the copies thereof returned to counsel.

"Thirty days will be allowed within which appellant's resident attorney may file a proper brief."

Prisoners Want to Join Army.

There are no less than 500 men in Minnesota prisons who are anxious to join the army, do something for their country and redeem themselves, Charles E. Vasely of the state board control said, and he, together with the officers of Minnesota who will attend the National Prison congress in New Orleans, will urge that the congress petition the War department to give the men a chance. Mr. Vasely predicted that the congress will pass a resolution in favor of giving the men the opportunity they want.

WAR DEPARTMENT TO FORWARD GIFTS

Christmas Packages for Soldiers in France Must Be in Hoboken December 5.

REGULATIONS ARE EXPLAINED

Washington.—Confusion in the minds of the people as to just how they may send parcels to the members of the American expeditionary forces in France has been caused by the fact that the instructions prepared by the post office department have been given out in fragmentary form, and that some of the early rules have since been amended. To make the matter entirely clear, the following official statement has been given out by Otto Praeger, second assistant postmaster general:

> Parcel post for soldiers and civilians connected with the American Epeditionary Forces in France, when carefully packed and properly addressed, will be accepted by all postmasters for direct transmission through the mails. Such parcels may weigh up to seven pounds. Parcels for the soldiers and civilians connected with the American Expeditionary Forces may contain anything that is admissible to the domestic parcel post except perishables which may spoil on the long journey to Europe.
>
> Parcel post for the American Expeditionary Forces need not be packed in wooden boxes, but should be carefully packed in the strongest kind of pasteboard box to assure its safe arrival at the front.
>
> In addition to this parcel post service to the troops, the war department will undertake to carry Christmas parcels for the American Expeditionary Forces provided such parcels are sent "care the Commanding General, Port of Embarkation, Pier 1, Hoboken, New Jersey," and are packed in wooden boxes not more than two cubic feet in volume, well strapped, and with a hinged or screw top. Such Christmas boxes may be sent to the Commanding Officer, Port of Embarkation, either by express or through the mails, and must not exceed 20 pounds in weight. The army will inspect the contents of each box and undertake its delivery from Hoboken to the addressee. The war department will receive Christmas packages up to December 5th.

Parcel Post Limit Seven Pounds.

It will be noted that parcels weighing seven pounds but no more can be sent through the post office department all the way to France.

The twenty-pound parcels which are intended for Christmas gifts and which are to be delivered on Christmas day are sent by the war department from its port of embarkation at Hoboken, N. J.

Again in order to clear up previous misunderstandings let it be said that the parcel post packages up to seven pounds in weight can be sent at any time of the year to the soldiers in France. The packages which the war department will undertake to send are Christmas packages only and they must be at the port of embarkation at Hoboken, N. J., by December 5.

Of course the post office department has been handling the smaller Christmas packages all the way through to France, but in order to insure their delivery on Christmas morning it was necessary to mail them by November 15. However, the fact that the mailing was too late for delivery on Christmas day does not mean that packages cannot still be sent by parcel post. They can be sent any day in the year at the rate of 12 cents for each pound sent, and this rate holds from whatever point in the United States the package is sent.

How Packages Must Be Addressed.

Packages for the soldiers must be addressed to the individual, with his company and his regiment and then must be added the words "American Expeditionary Forces." It is not necessary to add the name of the country.

It will be noted that in the instructions given above and prepared in the second assistant postmaster general's office nothing is said specifically concerning the kind of things which may be sent to the soldiers and civilians connected with the expeditionary forces. It is perfectly proper to send sugar, provided it is properly wrapped.

Matches must not be sent in any circumstances. Neither must anything inflammable, except, of course, ordinary packing material, be included, nor must there be any chemical or fresh fruit in the packages. Candy can go if properly protected from mashing up and ruining other things in the mail. Jars of fruit properly sealed and protected against breakage can be sent. Nothing of an explosive nature must be put into the parcels.

It is necessary that the parcel post packages weighing up to seven pounds shall be wrapped so that the post office authorities may examine their contents. The rules for the packages which the war department sends are given explicitly in the above official communication. It is desired to accentuate the fact that parcels up to seven pounds in weight can be sent by ordinary parcel post at any time of the year, but that Christmas boxes which are to go by the way of the war department at the address given above will not be forwarded if they are received at Hoboken later than December 5.

The origin of chairs is lost in the dim past. The Jewish legends declare that Abraham made a chair with his own hands from a tooth that fell out of the mouth of Og, a huge giant in his employ.

Expansion of Concrete.

Concrete roads expand most in winter and contract most in summer, according to the United States bureau of standards, because of increases or decreases in the moisture they contain.

By DR. FRANK BILLINGS
Head of the American Red Cross Special Commission to Russia

Russia's greatest need today is sincere friendship from the outside. In her struggle for a constitutional and democratic form of government, America can be of immense service, not so much in the way of gifts of money, but by letting the people of Russia know what is going on in this country, and what the United States is doing in the war. Russia is absolutely without any American news that is worth while. Most of what they hear about the United States in the war comes to them through pro-German propaganda, and is to the effect that this country is fighting for pecuniary gain; that the United States is a vassal of England, and that England wants to rule the world. They have not heard a word of President Wilson's reasons why we are in this war.

However, America is looked to by the Russians as their best friend. The further cementing of friendly relations will aid Russia in its war operations, and the Red Cross, through its relief work already done and that which will be carried on, will do much to bring this about. The Red Cross commission to Russia has established a well-organized office, with an efficient personnel in Petrograd and on the road as transportation agents.

Russia turns to America as her best friend, and if America will recognize the great power of the people of Russia, their inherent goodness of character and stability, their desire for order, their desire for democracy, by the help which America can give she will cement that friendship for all time.

With the American Red Cross firmly established in Russia, it is to be the policy to furnish such material as may be needed in the care of the sick and injured soldiers, and some degree for the civilian population. The members of the cabinet of the Russian provisional government, the sanitary department of the army, the Russian Red Cross, all the relief organizations, and the "All Union of Zenstvos" have expressed their gratitude for the aid which the American Red Cross has already afforded. A continuation of this good work by the American Red Cross will be one of the most potent factors in cementing that friendship which is so much desired.

TO THE HOME GIRL

By Edgar Rice Burroughs.

You have laid down your knitting to read the paper. The chances are fifty-five or better that you are knitting a sweater that won't fit or a scarf that is too narrow or too wide, for some soldier or sailor, and the other end of the bet—and it may be the safer end—is that you are knitting a mustard-colored sweater for yourself.

The boys need sweaters and scarfs, and more still they need something that you can give them—and not interfere with your knitting. They need association with the sort of girl you are—the good girl, the home girl—the sort of girl they went to see on "beau night" back in Syracuse, or Escanaba, or Nampa, or Hermosa.

There are soldiers passing through your home town, or, may be, there is a great cantonment near you. What are you doing for these boys that a knitting machine couldn't do? They are the same kind of boys that you have always known—they are the best boys, the cleanest boys that the country has produced.

You can give them something infinitely finer than a sweater—something that will warm them more than a scarf. You can give them a memory of virtue, and character, and patriotism to take to France with them that will represent an ideal to them—an ideal of home, mother, sister, and sweetheart, of all that personifies country, of all of which the flag is the emblem—an ideal to fight for, to die for. You can give them this if you will open your home to them, if you will place in your window some sign that will say to them that any man in the uniform of our country is welcome there.

Many of these boys have never before been away from home. They are homesick. They are worked hard five and a half days a week and then they go to town on leave. By that time they are ready for anything that will help them forget their homesickness. Here is where you can help.

There are girls who meet them on the street corners—little fools who mean no harm and do a lot of it—and there are other girls, who live under the red light, and serve, unwittingly, the kaiser.

From these two classes you can protect the boy who has gone away from his home to learn to fight for you and your home. If a bad woman may hang a sign in her window to lure men to destruction, it is your duty to display an emblem upon your home that will offer these men the home life which is the only antidote for the homesickness which drives them to purchase evil companionship.

That the human eye and the photographic lens are very much alike in design and operation is a well-known fact. If you look through a photographic lens you will see nothing clearly. To perceive the image, says the Popular Science Monthly, a piece of ground glass or a plate or film is necessary. A plate is a piece of plain glass which acts as a support for an emulsion. This emulsion decomposes when struck by light, and the decomposition is made visible by a process called development. With an ordinary photographic plate only one such impression or image can be obtained. With the motion-picture film, however, a fresh piece of film is continually exposed to the lens.

Just such an arrangement exists in the human eye. An emulsion called visual purple acts as a film of great latitude, renewing itself as soon as it is struck by the light and discolored. It adapts itself to various intensities of light, protecting the retina from too brilliant a glare at all times.

Grinding Wheels Must Do The Very Finest of Work.

Grinding wheels have fine work to do, writes Ellwood Hendrick in the Scientific American. Limits of irregularity as low as 0.0005 inches and 0.00024 inches are often given. And it should be remembered that when 0.00025 of an inch is being ground, the heavy slide that carries the wheel and wheel spindles moves forward only half that distance.

If a piece of tissue paper were split twelve times consecutively, it would have the thickness under which these machines have constantly to work.

And yet, when we consider the forces present in a wheel weighing 200 pounds rotating at a speed of 1,200 revolutions per minute, we are not reminded of a watchmaker's lathe, despite the exquisite precision of the operation.

Around the World.

El Paso's jail has steel "sun parlors" in which prisoners may get fresh air and sunshine without possibility of escape.

The wreck record of the Baltic sea is greater than that of any other body of water in the world. The average is one a day throughout the year.

Gayly Decked Fijians Do Artistic Dance Imitating a Tide Rising on a Reef

The Fijians are perhaps the best dancers in the world. One of the most curious dances that they practice is one representing a tide rising on a reef. The idea to be conveyed is that of a tide gradually rising on a reef till at length there remains only a little coral isle, round which the angry breakers rage, flinging their white foam on every side. At first the dancers form in long lines and approach silently, to represent the quiet advance of the waves.

After a while the lines break up into smaller companies, which advance with outspread hands and bodies bent forward to represent rippling wavelets, the tiniest waves being represented by children.

Quicker and quicker they come on, now advancing, now retreating, yet, like true waves, steadily progressing and gradually closing on every side of the imaginary islet round which they play or battle after the manner of breakers, springing high in mid-air and flinging their arms far above their heads to represent the action of spray.

As they leap and toss their heads the soft white masi or native cloth—which, for greater effect, they wear as a turban with long streamers and also wear round the waist, whence it floats in long scarf-like ends—trembles and flutters in the breeze.

The whole effect is most artistic, and the orchestra does its part by imitating the roar of the surf on the reef—a sound which to them has been a never-ceasing lullaby from the hour of their birth.

Fireflies Have Code of Signals and Utilize Them to Conduct Flirtations.

Fireflies are not flies, but beetles. Their light is emitted from three segments near the tip of the abdomen. There seems to be no doubt of the fact that it is provided by nature as a means for exchanging signals between the sexes at mating time.

When darkness falls the males emerge from their daytime hiding places and fly about. A little later the females climb to the tops of blades of grass and remain motionless, showing no light. A male passes by and flashes his lamp. The female flashes back. Instantly he turns to the spot whence the signal came and alights. He signals; she replies. Thus the courting is accomplished.

The tropical fireflies, much larger in size, belong to another family—that of the click beetles. Their glow is continuous, not intermittent. In Cuba the natives use them in lanterns in place of a candle, so bright is the light they give, and women on festive occasions attach them to their garments or fasten them in their hair.

Steel Glasses for Soldiers.

Steel spectacles are the latest addition to the equipment of the Netherlands army for modern warfare. The commander in chief has ordered that they shall be supplied to all the machine-gun sections of both infantry, hussars and fortress artillery, as a protection against splinters of projectiles, flying chips of stone and the like. Stocks of the glasses will be kept in readiness to serve out to infantry in case of war.

New Place to Sprinkle Salt.

Scatter a little salt from the saltshaker along the whole length of the window-sills right under the sash when cold weather comes. A fine, even coating of salt at this line will prevent snow or moisture getting between the bottom of the sash and the sill and freezing, thus making it impossible to open the window.—Good Housekeeping.

Greatest Sugar Exporter.

Figures compiled by competent authority a few months ago, showed that since the beginning of the European war the United States, already known as the greatest sugar consuming country, had also become the world's greatest exporter of refined sugar. From 100,000,000 pounds in 1913, our sales of sugar to other countries increased from 500,000,000 pounds during the first year of the war to 1,500,000,000 during the year 1916. Formerly Germany, Austria-Hungary, Russia and France were large exporters of refined sugars.

THE NEW METHOD

(By L. W. Bower, M. D.)

Backache of any kind is often caused by kidney disorder, which means that the kidneys are not working properly. Poisonous matter and uric acid accumulate within the body in great abundance, overworking the sick kidneys; hence the congestion of blood causes backache in the same manner as a similar congestion in the head causes headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish, irritable, have spots appearing before the eyes, bags under the lids, and lack ambition to do things.

The latest and most effective means of overcoming this trouble, is to eat sparingly of meat, drink plenty of water between meals and take a single An-u-ric tablet before each meal for a while.

WOMEN SUFFERERS MAY NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmers' Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUB.

$1,000 a year, in advance.

The Publisher of the Milwaukee Leader, Victor Berger, has commenced action in the courts against Post Master General Burleson for refusing to admit his kaiser indorsements to the U.S.mails as second class matter. The judgment of the courts will undoubtly sustain Mr. Burleson, when they read the paper, and may order his arrest and imprisonment, as America has already shown too much leniency to this traitor class of citizens. Fire them out of here, let them get over to Germany into the trenches where they belong.

The Politicians of the Cities are getting together to try and elect the next "Safe" Governor of Minnesota, for fear the Nonpartisan League will elect one. But the trouble with them seems to be that there is not an agreement among themselves as there are about 10 candidates who are of the opinion, that they are the one that all factions should unite on. The Daily papers of the three big cities have all agreed on Burnquist, but the fellows who are left out of the deal are certain to put the knife into him by voting for the Nonpartisan candidate, so we are pretty sure that the next governor of Minnesota will be a man chosen by the people, whose name has not yet been mentioned.

The advice given out to save food, and what to eat, does not seem to fit up in this locality. The advice to use honey in place of sugar, makes the ordinary farmers wife wonder where she would get the honey, and the advice to to use plenty of apples does not apply to a person of ordinary means in Northern Minnesota, for by the time the Jobber Commission man Railroads and retail Merchant get a rake off out of a small box of apples, the price has reached the astonishing figure of $2.40 for a box containing a little over a bushel of apples. But if you stop for dinner at a Northern Minnesota farmers you are likely to get plenty too eat, if the food dno't agree with the prescribed rules for war diet.

The extra one cent tax on letters and all first class mail is a direct war tax, and all postmasters have been instructed to keep this income separate from their regular income for the cancellation of stamps. All parcel post packages are to have an additional 1 cent internal revenue stamp affixed and cancelled for each 25 cents in value of postage stamps.

When one considers the kind of men that are laying plans to climb into Uncle Knute's seat, he is moved to exclaim "May the good lord forbid." There is not a man in the state that the people would place in Senator Nelson's chair as long as he will consent to occupy it.

Now comes the suggestion from J. J. Opsahl, of Bemidji, that we send Rousevelt to Russia, as a special U. S. Envoy. Give him ample power to go there with supplies and help brace up and put the army and Russian Republic on its feet to help win the war.

We fear that it would only be a waste of money to try to follow out the above suggestions. Better [illegible]

RMERS ATTACKED BY "BIG BUSINESS"

CITY NEWSPAPERS SEE EVIDENCE OF PRO-GERMAN PLOTS IN POTATO PITTING.

TAX DODGING ALSO ALLEGED

Producer Has Price Beaten Down, But Middlemen Are Allowed to Continue Raking in Excessive Profits.

In its attempts to discredit the farmer and fasten upon him responsibility for the high cost of living, Big Business, through its hired press, has gone to ridiculous lengths in making wholesale charges of pro-Germanism, tax-dodging and "slackerism" against the country crop producers. Big Busineses is anxious to divert attention from its own selfish profiteering and hence it has the prostituted press applaud its patriotism and assail that of the farmer. The most innocent acts of farmers are misconstrued and placed in a false light to make them appear serious offenses.

Many potato producers in the Northwest were unable to get cars. One of the largest crops in the history of the Northwest was grown and the railroads knew of this situation in advance, but they failed to prepare and the farmer suffered. It is estimated that in Minnesota alone the frosts of the last two weeks have ruined potatoes valued at $5,000,000, and the railroads are to blame for much of this loss.

Pitting Called Pro-German Plot.

Unable to get cars to carry their potatoes to market, the farmers were compelled to pit them to prevent total loss. In fact, pitting was advised earlier in the year by experts of the Department of Agriculture and by the food administration.

Meanwhile the commission men took advantage of the situation to charge exorbitant prices to city consumers. Potatoes that sold for 70 cents a bushel within 50 miles of St. Paul and Minneapolis were retailed in the Twin Cities for from $1.40 to $2 a bushel.

The people protested and the commission men, newspapers and in some cases government officials at once placed the blame upon the farmers. Potato buyers reported that the farmers were pitting their potatoes and the newspaper at once accused them of "hoarding" and professed to see evidences of a "pro-German" plot.

Farmers Frightened in Wisconsin.

In Wisconsin this unfair agitation was carried to ridiculous lengths. It was alleged that the farmers were "hoarding their products" and secret service agents were reported to be investigating. Many of these farmers were frightened into dumping their products on the market, and lower prices—for the farmer, but not for the consumer — immediately resulted. This was just what the commission men wanted, and the whole agitation was worked up for their benefit. The farmers were frightened into being the goats, although there is no law on the statute books which prevents a farmer from keeping his entire crop if he wants to wait for better prices.

Tax dodging and failure to get behind the Liberty bonds are other crimes imputed to farmers by Big Business and its newspaper mouthpieces.

Farmers Selfish, Banker Says.

"The one weak spot in the system is the farmers," E. D. Morlbert, president of the Merchants Loan & Trust company of Chicago, is reported to have said on Oct. 18. "They will neither buy Liberty bonds, pay taxes, sell their products or fight. I have learned of but one instance where a farmer has paid an income tax. (Probably he was a 'gentleman farmer.') The farmers have profited by the war, but are unwilling to help the government."

This charge, of course, is absolutely false. Thousands of farmer boys went into the army without claiming exemptions. Before the conscription law went into effect the enlistments from the country far exceeded those of the city. Nearly every farming district in the Northwest oversubscribed its Liberty bond quota. If the farmer does not pay any income tax it probably is because he can find no income after he pays interest at the bank and the grain gamblers and commission men get through with him.

Price Fixing Hits Farmer.

These charges against the farmer are wholly false. If Big Business were as patriotic as the farmer and made sacrifices in the same spirit of self-sacrifice this country would be far more united. The farmer was hit first and hit hardest by price fixing, but the benefit of this reduction has not yet been passed on to the consumer, and the millers, the coal dealers, the copper mine owners, the steel manufacturers, the munition makers and many others are reaping extortionate profits and then, having their papers attack the farmer because he resents his profiteering and believes others should be willing to make the same sacrifices he has made.

POETS GET INTO FRONT RANK

The literature of the war proves that some soldiers are made into poets, and we know also, of course, that some poets have been made into soldiers. Mobilization and conscription take little account of persons and no account at all of professions. There is one great poet of history, however, and one great painter, too, who were denied entrance into the ranks of the army—Poe and Whistler.

The story of why Whistler did not become a soldier is well known, but it may bear repetition. Like Poe, he was a cadet at West Point, and like Poe, he was discharged from that institution long before the completion of the course. Whistler was found deficient in chemistry, and when he was asked why he did not graduate and become a soldier he answered: "If silicon were a gas, I would be a soldier."

Argentina Cattle.

The Argentina cattle industry is capable of much expansion in time of war stimulation. In the northern end of the pampas are boundless fields of grass where the cattle feed the year round. Sweet water there is in abundance, and windmills dotted over the plains keep the animals plentifully supplied. There are no better beef cattle in the world than those from Argentina, the breed being the excellent result of mixing fine Spanish blooded strains with the hardy native stock. Breeding very easily could raise the total of production materially.

Former Czar's Abode.

No two papers seem to agree on the subject of the former czar's new place of abode, says an exchange. A favorable account speaks of Tobolsk as the "Boston of Russia," the "home of the arts," a picturesque old town, and a favorite winter resort in western Siberia. Its refinement and culture are attributed to the large number of Swedish officers who were interned there after Peter the Great's victory at Poltava. The town never lost the influence of their advanced civilization. [illegible]

UNITY IN FILIPINO TRIBES

Recent "Maulud" Held in Department of Mindanao and Sulu Was Evidence of Existing Harmony.

Commenting on the prevalent belief that the islands need a speed nationalization of the different sections and a rooting out of sectional and tribal feeling, the Philippine Review says editorially:

"While as a matter of fact we have to acknowledge that sectional feeling seemingly exists in the islands, its existence is not of basic character. For the elements of unity are in actual existence, and sectional feeling will only seemingly last while no actual intercourse between the sectional groups of the islands takes place. It is, therefore, but a matter of common education or educational intercourse, not real lack of spirit of nationality; and with the present government efforts to provide the people with good popular education, this so-called lack of national spirit will shortly be overcome."

Perhaps no better evidence of the harmony existing among different tribes and factions could be offered the skeptic than the recent "Maulud" held in the department of Mindanao and Sulu. The Maulud corresponds to the Christian Christmas, being the celebration of the birth of Mohammed. It consists in ceremonies lasting two days during which there is much feasting and chanting by "imams" (priests) and lady singers.

The last Maulud was celebrated at the residence of the governor of Sulu. All the chiefs and every other Mohammedan of prominence, 100 imams, 80 lady singers, 8,000 Mohammedans, the government officials, and all the civilians of any distinction attended the monster feast. Mohammedans and Christians, Americans and Filipinos, dressed in beautiful Moro costumes, forgot their religious, social and political differences, and threw themselves heart and soul into the celebration of this greatest of Mohammedan fiestas. No one could have witnessed the scene without being convinced of the oneness of the Mohammedan and Christian Filipinos and the hearty good feeling between Americans and Filipinos.

The silence of the classics certainly seems to indicate that the Greeks and Romans suffered very little from their teeth. Words for toothache and for tooth extracting instruments can, indeed, be found in the Greek and Latin dictionaries, but the authors quoted for them are generally late and always uninteresting. We can hardly believe that if toothache had been common in Athens Aristophanes would have made no jokes about it. But a classical scholar may pretty safely be defied to cite a single Greek or Latin passage about it. Even Lucretius, when he gets on the subject of teeth in a passage where a reference to toothache might be expected, merely refers to the jar given to the teeth by very cold water or by biting a stone in one's bread.—London Chronicle.

Skiing on the Water.

The ski is recommended as both a life saving device and a pleasure craft, combining safety with novelty. It cannot sink, makes better speed than a swimmer and does not tire the rider as swimming does. It is more practicable for long distances and can go through water where there is a heavy undertow, as it sits so high in the water that it is not caught in the grip of the undercurrent as the legs of the swimmer are. It doesn't take a long time to master, as the surf board does, requires no skill in balancing and sticking on and has the great advantage of being equipped with a motive power whereas the ordinary surf board must be pushed and paddled out to sea before it can be ridden in.—Outing.

THE LOCAL NEWS

The weather has been clear and cold for the past week.

A large number of farmers from north of the river have been busy hauling their winters fire wood from the Hammersteen woods the past week.

We have some fine poplar timber that we will sell the wood by the acre from so as to get the land cleared up. Inquire at this office.

A large number of the farmers from southern Kratka are hauling their grain to Mavie, since the river has frozen over.

The Highlanding bridge across Red Lake River, is now completed, and the river can now be crossed at that place, as safely as at Thief River Falls.

A good deal of complaint is being made, that the Catalogue houses are now sending bills to people for balance due on a raise in price of goods, above the price listed in the Catalogues.

There will be a basket social at the Highlanding school house tomorrow night. There will be a short program given by the school, and after that a social dance. All are invited.

People should consider, that their mail service on their mail routes is rated by the government by the amount of mail sent out over the route, and not by what is delivered. Every time you mail a letter, outside of your mail route you are putting in a jab to have your daily mail route cut down to a tri-weekly service.

Now that the cold winter weather has set in for good, remember the mail carriers who are driving daily through the cold to bring you your mail. Provide yourselves with postage stamps and not leave loose pennies in your mail boxes for change. People who make a practice of doing this are likely to find their pennies and letters left in their mail box when it is 30 below zero.

Edward Singer started another malicious action against THE SUNBEAM this week, to thrash over the old straw on the same cases that were tried out in court last winter. Of course they have no cause of action that any one but a Singer would take into court, but they had to have something to law about, so they would not miss being of the court records of Pennington County for one or two lawsuits at every term of court.

HOMESICK

By HILDA MORRIS.

Christine had come to Stillville from the city to be a substitute teacher in the township high school. She had been there only a month, but already the country air had begun to work wonders with her pale cheeks and hollow eyes.

"If only it weren't so lonesome!" she thought, as she walked a country road one bright, windy Saturday afternoon. But just then she heard some one calling.

"Hi there!" a man's voice shouted. "Hi there, Miss Gray!"

It was Richard Harding, greeting her in the local fashion. Christine stood and waited as he came striding toward her, a fine, strapping young man, clad in farmer's overalls and a flannel shirt.

"Are you taking a walk?" he asked as he caught up with her. His voice had the easy modulations of an educated man. He was a graduate of an eastern college.

"Yes, I'm going through your cemetery. It's so quaint! I'm only used to crowded city cemeteries that reach for blocks and blocks. Tell me, are all the people in this town related?"

Richard laughed. "Very nearly. The Bullits are related to the Emmets and the Emmetts to the Hardings and the Hardings to the Bullits again. We're all kin somehow."

"All but me," said the girl, laughing a little wistfully. "It must seem queer to have so many relations."

Richard did not appear to have heard her remark. He was looking ahead at the big square red brick farmhouse where he lived with his mother and sister. His mother, a sunbonnet on her head, was cutting tulips from the rows, that bordered the garden walk. She straightened up as they approached, and came to the gate.

"Howdy!" she said cordially. "It's right cool for an April day, isn't it? Have you been walking, Miss Gray? Well, do come in and have a cup of tea. I made some cinnamon cakes this morning that must be eaten."

Christine hesitated.

"It isn't five o'clock yet," said Mrs. Harding, royally sweeping aside the girl's unspoken objections. Richard was holding the gate open, so almost before she knew it Christine found herself in the big square sitting-room of the Harding homestead.

She had not been in a private home of this size for years and years, not since her childhood days and before long arid years of furnished rooms. The house gave her rather an awesome impression of vastness and elegance. It had been solidly built for posterity by a forebear from New England. Its furniture was mid-Victorian.

"Have you always lived in the city?" Miss Lottie Harding asked in her timid voice. Miss Lottie was an "old maid" who spent her years in making endless yards of tatting.

"Since I was two," said Christine.

"Are your parents living?" pursued Miss Lottie, to whom family was one's most interesting attribute.

"No," answered Christine.

This put a somber period on the conversation, broken only when Mrs. Harding brought in the tea.

In spite of herself the girl presently began to feel the homelike warmth of the place. When she left, stepping out into the damp spring dusk, it seemed as though the chill wind struck her with redoubled force. She shivered, and hurried back to her dingy room in the village hotel.

The next day Christine met Richard Harding on the corner by the post office.

"Can't you take a drive?" he called eagerly. "My team's just over yonder."

Presently they were riding off down a winding road bordered with dogwood and the picturesque flowering Judas tree.

"I'm going home next week," she announced, as calmly as though her heart were not beating furiously.

"Home?" he queried.

"Back to the city, where it isn't so lonesome. I only came to substitute for a month, anyway, and I'm not used to the country. It's too quiet for me."

"I suppose it is," Richard assented, letting the reins drop loosely. "I suppose you couldn't stand it here. But I've something to ask you, Christine. If I should be willing to come to the city and live your way—give up this quiet country life—would you marry me, Christine?"

"Leave here!" cried the girl incredulous. "Why, Richard, I—I like you best here. You belong here. Oh, Richard," she breathed. "I was so homesick! I was going to leave because I could not stand it to see homes and fireplaces and mothers all about me."

"Well," he answered joyously, "you needn't ever [illegible]

Marries Her Step-Son.

The strangest attempt yet discovered to evade the draft was revealed in New York the other day, when a man charged his wife with bigamy, naming his son by a former marriage as the woman's second and living husband. At the trial it was found that the woman had married her step-son in order to enable him to escape the draft.

Cents and Cigarettes.

The tobacco trade finds no difficulty in using cents in making prices. Cigarettes are priced as closely as anything sold in any department store. Perhaps the reason is that smokers do not have to have "smokes," and that the trade would shrivel if prices were not kept attractive.—Exchange.

Kean's Suggestion.

When Charles Kean was playing the part of Richard the Third his fearful grimaces almost frightened the other actors out of their wits. One night a new man took the character of the sentinel who awoke Richard. When asked, "Who is there?" he should have taken up the cue with the words: "'Tis I, my lord. The village clock hath thrice proclaimed the hour of morn." But Kean's facial contortions threw the sentinel into such a fit of stage fright that he forgot most of his words, stammering, "'Tis I, my lord, 'tis I, my lord; the—the village cock!" He repeated this three or four times, so that when Kean said, "Then why on earth don't you crow?" the audience was convulsed with laughter.

"Did you tell the cook she must economize?"

"Yes," replied young Mrs. Torkins. "She asked me what it meant and I said to avoid waste. She said she had no more waist than I have and it was nobody's business anyhow; and she's going to leave tomorrow."

KIDNEY TROUBLE NOT EASILY RECOGNIZED

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected

An examining physician for one of the prominent life insurance companies, in an interview of the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

We find that Swamp-Root is strictly an herbal compound and we would advise our readers who feel in need of such a remedy to give it a trial. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

Stops Itching at Once.

"Hundreds of people in this vicinity," says Peterson, "know of the mighty healing power of PETERSON'S OINTMENT in eczema, salt rheum, old sores, itching skin, ulcers, pimples and all diseases of the skin. They know it cures these ailments—that it is guaranteed to cure them."

Now I want to say to every sufferer from piles, either blind, bleeding or itching, that I will guarantee that a 30 cent box of PETERSON'S OINTMENT will rid you of piles or your druggist will return your money.

"For years I suffered terribly with itching and bleeding piles. I tried everything and despaired of ever getting rid of them. It gives me great pleasure to state that Peterson's Ointment entirely cured me, and I sincerely recommend it to all sufferers."—Yours truly, David A. Seymour, Supt. of Parks, Buffalo, N. Y. Adv.

PROTEST MADE TO RUSS PACT

American Ambassador Enters Official Objection to Proposed Armistice.

GERMANS MADE OFFER

Incomplete Returns Show that Bolsheviki Have Carried Election in Petrograd—Russian Officials Go on Strike.

Petrograd, Dec. 4.—Major Kerth, American military attache, has been instructed by Ambassador Francis to make a protest on the part of the United States, similar to that entered by heads of entente embassies here, to negotations for an armistice between Russia and Germany. Omission to join the protest entered by other allied ministers was due to the fact that it was based on the London agreement against a separate peace, to which America is not signatory.

Ambassador Francis, however, has assumed the attitude that all aid America has extended to Russia, and all recommendations to that end by him were made with the express understanding. Therefore, he believed himself justified, in the absence of instructions from the state department at Washington, to enter a protest against independent action of Russia in the matter of an armistice.

Bolsheviki Carries Election.

Incomplete returns from the election for the constituent assembly indicate the Bolsheviki have carried Petrograd, receiving 272,000 votes against 211,000 for Constitutional Democrats and 116,000 for Social Revolutionaries.

The report of representatives sent through the German lines by Ensign Krylenko, Bolsheviki commander-in-chief, to begin negotations for an armistice have been given out here. It shows that the agreement to take up negotiations were made in behalf of Germans by their commander-in-chief. It was agreed that the conference should be held at German headquarters at Brestlioovsk.

Government Employes Strike.

Petrograd, Dec. 3.—Employes of the ministries of finance, agriculture and communications have refused to recognize the authority of the Bolsheviki and have begun a strike of two days. The revolutionary committee sent a sailor to the ministry of supplies to ascertain the amount of meat and other food in Petrograd. The official in charge declined to deal with an agent of the revolutionists and refused the information.

SAMMIES FIGHT IN FRANCE

Acquit Themselves Valiantly When Under Fire.

With the British Army in France, Dec. 3.—Large numbers of American army engineers, working on the British railways in the region of Gouzeaucourt, caught in the German turning movement, escaped by lying in shell holes and prone on the ground while the British fired over them. There they remained until the British were near enough to enable the Americans to join the ranks, when they fought valiantly and played an important part in replying to the enemy.

Americans elsewhere took a busy hand in the fighting and were under hot German shell fire. Numbers of them volunteered for patrol work in the danger zone and all acquitted themselves finely.

KINGS AGREE ON NEUTRALITY

Scandinavian Countries to "Observe Utmost Neutrality."

Christiania, Dec. 3.—Norway, Sweden and Denmark have entered a new agreement to preserve "the utmost neutrality." An official statement announced this result of the conference of the Scandinavian kings and statesmen which has been in progress here.

The conference, according to announcement, agreed on "Scandinavian harmony and mutual confidence, regardless of the length of the war, each nation to observe the utmost neutrality and all to assist each other by exchange of merchandise."

13 Escape From Joliet Prison.

Joliet, Ill., Dec. 3.—Thirteen convicts escaped from the state penitentiary here by sawing the bars of their cells and escaping over the walls. The guards fired at them and the convicts were almost surrounded, but put up a fight, knocking down some of the guards. Several automobiles were requisitioned and the latest reports are that the convicts are still at large with the guards in hot pursuit.

Cannon Urges War Money Supply.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Adequate appropriation by congress for further prosecution of the war were predicted by former Speaker J. G. Cannon upon his return for the new session. "Sentiment as far as I can observe," he said, "is for a vigorous prosecution of the war to bring it to a successful end as early as possible. The financial needs will be great, both of ourselves and our allies. Of course we can't provide for the whole shooting match, but congress will respond adequately to the needs of the situation."

GERMANS FAIL TO STOP BRITISH

Complete Failure Is Result of the Crown Prince's Effort to Nullify Byng's Advance.

CASUALITIES ARE GREAT

Dead in Battle Are More in Numbers Than During Any Similar Period of Fighting Since the War Began.

London, Dec. 4.—Complete failure is the apparent result of Bavarian Crown Prince Rupprecht's attempt, by an encircling movement, to nullify the brilliant advance of Gen. Byng toward Cambrai. Although at certain points the Germans pierced the British lines and captured positions, men and guns, they have paid dearly for their enterprise in casualties—the dead near La Vacquerie during the course of the 12 hours having been greater in numbers than during any similar period of fighting since the war began.

With the British Army in France, Dec. 3.—British continued their counter offensive operations in the Gonnelieu sector, which was overrun by the Germans in an attempt to wrench off the salient which the British had driven in about Bourlon wood. The mopping up of Gonnelieu, which was recaptured by Haig's troops, was completed. About 300 prisoners were taken in this place. Fifty prisoners also were brought out of Les Rues Vertes, after a British counter attack, and all told the Germans lost hundreds of prisoners in Saturday's operations.

Tank Captures Foe Guns.

After recapturing Gauche wood, the British pushed up still further on the higher ground to the southeast of the wood. One British tank captured 15 enemy machine guns in the assault in Gauche wood.

The Germans then began a heavy shelling of the British entanglements at the position known as the knoll, just south of Vendhuile, indicating the possibility of an impending attack in that sector.

It is now possible to state that the Germans employed a great force—at least six or seven divisions—for their attack from Moeuvres to Bourlon wood, and four or five divisions in the southern offensive in the region of Gonnelieu. The Germans fought in masses all that day in both sectors and their losses were exceedingly heavy.

WILL SAIL FOR HOME SOON

U. S. War Mission Winding Up Affairs in Europe.

Paris, Dec. 4.—Members of the American war mission have begun winding up their affairs preparatory to leaving for America.

They are busy compiling reports and clearing up minor details in conference with French and British associate.

It is officially announced that no plenary meeting of the conference will be held and that Americans will take no further part in meetings of the supreme war council until the mission has returned home and made its report.

The inter-allied council, which is a permanent body dealing with finance, shipping, munitions and other economic and industrial aspects of the war, will open its meetings in London within a fortnight.

O. T. Crosby is representative of the United States at this conference.

SLAIN IN FIGHT WITH BANDITS

U. S. Soldier Killed Fighting Mexican Cattle Thieves.

Presidio, Texas, Dec. 3.—In a battle at Buena Vista, Texas, United States cavalrymen and Mexican cattle thieves, one soldier was killed and another slightly wounded. Justo Gonzales, foreman of an American cattle ranch, who was acting as scout for the soldiers, also was killed.

Machine guns were used by the cavalry to drive the Mexicans from the houses of Buena Vista, in which they had taken refuge. Buena Vista is 20 miles northwest of here on the Rio Grande. The bandits numbered 200, of whom 35 were killed and many wounded.

Water Plant Blows Up; 1 Killed.

Fairmont, Minn., Dec. 3.—The water and light plant at Lakefield, Jackson county, blew up, killing Peter Nelson, engineer, and injuring three other men. The cause of the explosion is not known, but it is believed that the boilers went dry. The blast shook the entire town.

To Wipe Out Foe in East Africa.

London, Dec. 3.—The British forces in German East Africa are preparing to make their final drive at the single remaining German force in that colony, which is estimated to number about 2,000 rifles. For this purpose, says the official statement on the East Africa operations, which summarizes the November campaign, General Northey's troops are concentrating to the west of the Mbesi valley. They will co-operate in the measures being taken in dealing with this last remaining German column.

LOWER TWINE PRICE MAY BE EXPECTED

CHAIRMAN WHEELOCK OF BOARD OF CONTROL PREDICTS DROP FOR NEXT YEAR.

FARMERS ASK EARLY SESSION

Country Members of Legislature Send Letters to Governor Requesting Early Date For Any Extra Session.

St. Paul.

Chairman Ralph W. Wheelock and Charles E. Vasaly of the state board of control, returning from a conference at Washington on sisal conditions in the food administration committee headed by former Warden Henry Wolfer, St. Paul, confirmed interviews with Washington correspondents in which they predicted that binder twine prices may be lower in 1918 than this year.

The board memers said, however, that the basis for the prophesy could not be disclosed at this time. The committee effort to obtain sisal at lower prices, they agreed, seems to promise success.

Want Extra Session Early.

If an extra session of the Legislature is to be held, the farmer members wish it to take place early this winter, that the session may be over before it is time to begin spring work on the farms.

This is the tenor of scores of letters being sent to Governor Burnquist and to Representative P. H. Fye of Willmar, chairman of the Farmers' Forum, an organization formed by the farmer members of the Legislature at the last session.

Ask Reinstatement.

Again protesting their loyalty and admitting that the notorious July draft meeting at New Ulm, which resulted in their suspensions from public office, was a "mistake" and should never have taken place, Mayor L. A. Fritsche and City Attorney Albert Pfaender of New Ulm asked reinstatement at the hands of Governor Burnquist at hearings on disloyalty charges against them.

County Auditor Louis Vogel of Brown county, suspended for participation in the same meeting, which he denied, also asked reinstatement. All three cases, together with that of Sheriff J. J. Urness of Mahnomen county, accused of neglect of official duties, were taken under advisement by the governor and early decisions are expected.

Ambrose Tighe of special counsel to the State Public Safety commission presented the case made by the prosecution against the New Ulm officials. T. J. McDermott, a St. Paul attorney, who appeared for the respondents during the hearings before James H. Hall, Marshall, commissioner to take testimony, was absent, and Dr. Fritsche and Major Pfaender made their own pleas.

Goat to Mark Auto Trail.

In the past, diamonds, circles and other geometric signs have marked highways across the United States. Not so with a new highway from the Twin Cities to Glacier National park, application for which was filed with C. M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, by D. N. Tallman of Benson.

The famous "Kenny goat," originated as a trade mark for the Great Northern railroad by William P. Kenney, vice president, will mark the new highway. The goat, now pictured on all box cars of the Breat Northern, is a picture of the Rocky mountain goat found in Glacier National park.

The new trail will run through Ramsey, Hennepin, Wright, Meeker, Kandiyohi, Swift, Pope, Stevens, Brant, Travers and Wilkins counties. It will follow the route of the Breckenridge division of the Great Northern.

Sees Hope of Ousting "Blind Pigs."

If breweries adhere to a decision to sell only to licensed saloons and to families, much will be done toward eliminating "blind pigs," said John F. McGee of the Public Safety commission. In discussing possibility of "blind pigs" getting supplies from saloons, Mr. McGee said: "There might be a tendency for blind pigs to get liquor from licensed saloons, but I do not think it will get very far, because saloon licenses will be canceled as rapidly as owners are detected selling to blind pigs."

Had To Give Up

Was Almost Frantic With the Pain and Suffering of Kidney Complaint. Doan's Made Her Well.

Mrs. Lydia Shuster, 1838 Margaret St., Frankford, Pa., says: "A cold started my kidney trouble. My back began to ache and got sore and lame. My joints and ankles became swollen and painful and it felt as if needles were sticking into them. I finally had to give up and went from bad to worse.

Mrs. Shuster

"My kidneys didn't act right and the secretions were scanty and distressing. I had awful dizzy spells when everything before me turned black; one time I couldn't see for twenty minutes. Awful pains in my head set me almost frantic and I was so nervous, I couldn't stand the least noise. How I suffered! Often I didn't care whether I lived or died.

"I couldn't sleep on account of the terrible pains in my back and head. Nothing seemed to do me a bit of good until I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. I could soon see they were helping me; the backache stopped, my kidneys were regulated and I no longer had any dizzy spells or rheumatic pains. I still take Doan's occasionally and they keep my kidneys in good health."

A Touch of Nature.

The scene is a crowded bus. A soldier, back from the trenches, sitting in a corner near the entrance, put his hand into his pocket for his fare, and pulls out a shilling and some coppers. The bus jolts violently and, to the soldier's dismay, the shilling slips from his fingers just as the lights go out, as they always do in London, in these days, when a bridge is being crossed. The passengers with one accord begin to grope for the soldier's shilling. "'Fraid it rolled off, mate," says the conductor. Then lights go up again, and discover three passengers each holding out the shilling.—Christian Science Monitor.

Wrong Home.

Timson was naturally a patient man. He had listened as young Fudwiddle talked, had watched him squeeze Maria Timson's hand under the tablecloth as he made havoc of the two-shillings-a-pound sirloin at the supper table, and had yawned all in vain as a hint that the time of leave-taking was considerably overdue.

When the young man sat himself down at the piano and began to sing, Timson muttered "Good-night," gruffly, and stalked up to bed.

An hour or two later the music was still in full swing.

"Maria!" shouted Timson, from the top of the stairs, "what's all that noise about?"

"Noise, father!" said Maria, in horrified tones; "why, it's Mr. Fudwiddle singing, 'I Love That Dear Old Home of Mine.'"

"Oh! does he?" came from the landing. "Well, just tell him this ain't it."—London Tit-Bits.

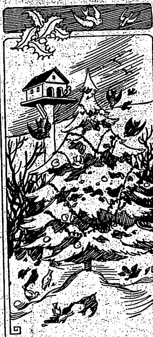
Christmas Tree For the Birds

Mr. and Mrs. Song Sparrow, the Misses Flicker, Cock Robin, Miss Jennie Wren, Sir Woodpecker and other members of the feathered Four Hundred who were lured by warm days at beginning of one winter into stopping with us, only to find themselves sadly hit later by the high cost of living, were thrown into a flutter of excitement by cards issued by Miss Louise Laidlaw of Sands Point, N. Y., to a birds' Christmas tree party.

It was held in the bird sanctuary on the Laidlaw place, near the commodious home built for bird tenants in a sheltering elm there. The tree was the finest ever.

For days little Miss Louise was busy in the pauses of her lessons, stringing cranberries, popcorn, nuts and other dainties beloved of birds. Strings of red skinned apples, cut into tiny pieces convenient for birds to peck at, were a prominent feature of the decorations, and so were bacon rinds and lumps of suet, which are good to keep warmth in the little bodies when the cold creeps under their feathered coats.



The Birds' Christmas Tree.

Miss Louise, who spent most of her time in the country, studied the ways of the birds and their likings, and she knew that they are as strongly attracted by bright colored things as are children. That is why the tree was made pretty with gay tinted berries.

There was a large attendance, and no birds were turned away, no matter how shabby their coats or disreputable their reputations. The blustering little English sparrows were welcomed with the rest, although they tried to bully the others. Even grouchy old Sir Crow was permitted to peck a bit.

Derived From Days of Yore.

It is a beautiful arrangement and derived from the days of yore that this festival, which commemorates the announcement of the religion of peace and love, has been made the season for gathering together of family connections and drawing closer again those bands of kindred hearts which the cares and pleasures and sorrows of the world are continually operating to cast loose, of calling back the children of a family who have launched forth in life and wandered widely asunder, once more to assemble about the paternal hearth, that rallying place of the affections, there to grow young and loving again.—Washington Irving.

Christmas Song.

Oh, Christmas is a happy time,
When human hearts are light
And human hate have vanished
And all the world looks bright!

And Christmas is a solemn time,
For back long, long ago,
Christ was born to give the world
The joy that we now know.

But not alone at Christmas time
Is happiness and cheer,
For he who really loves the Lord
Hath Christmas all the year.
—H. K. Saddler.

Christmas Trimmings.

Effective tree decorations may be made of small pine cones splashed with a weak solution of alum. When dry it will sparkle like frost. Bore holes in them and through these run a dark thread by which to hang them to the tree.

"A Visit From St. Nicholas"

What is the best known poem in the world? Not Gray's "Elegy," nor "The Song of the Shirt," nor "The Raven," but "The Night Before Christmas." The author is not so well known as his poem.

One recent Christmas the name of Clement Clarke Moore was honored as never before. Above his grave in the chapel of Holy Trinity cemetery, New York, the choir boys sang carols on the night before Christmas, and a service of light was held. This beautiful ceremonial starts with a procession of torchbearers whose torches are kindled from the leader's flame, and as the line winds through the graveyard the fire is passed back from one to another until the lights grow in number and dispel the surrounding darkness.

"The Night Before Christmas" was published originally without the author's knowledge in the Troy Sentinel two days before Christmas, 1823. Moore had written it the preceding Christmas just for the delight of his own children, but its circulation slipped beyond the family circle, and an unknown friend sent it for publication. The Sentinel readers paid no attention to it, and it passed without comment until seven years later, when the same paper reprinted it. The second reception was very different from the first. "A Visit From St. Nicholas," as it was then entitled, was copied broadcast, and its author awoke to find his work, if not himself, famous.

Although Clement Clarke Moore was educated for the ministry, he never took orders. For the greater part of his life he was identified with the New York General Theological seminary, being professor of Biblical learning and Greek and later of oriental languages.

Clement Moore's family life had many sorrows. His wife died at the early age of thirty-five, and the two little daughters, for whom he wrote "The Night Before Christmas," both died in their childhood. His son and namesake lived to the age of sixty-eight and is buried in the family plot.

When "The Night Before Christmas" was first published in the Troy Sentinel the editor wrote:

"We do not know to whom we are indebted for the following description of that unwearied patron of children, that homely but delightful personification of parental kindness, Santa Claus, his custom and his equipage, as he goes about visiting the firesides of this happy land, laden with Christmas bounties, but from whomsoever it may have come we give thanks for it. There is to our apprehension a spirit of cordial goodness in it, a playfulness as of fancy and a benevolent alacrity to enter into the feelings and promote the simple pleasures of children which are altogether charming. We hope our little patrons, both lads and lassies, will accept it as a proof of our unfeigned good will toward them, a token of our warmest wish that they may have many a merry Christmas; that they may long retain their beautiful relish for these unbought, home bred joys, which derive their flavor from filial piety and fraternal love and which, they may be assured, are the least alloyed that time can furnish them."—Philadelphia Press.

Defeat Backache and Kidney Trouble With Anuric

Many people in this section have suffered from rheumatism and kidney trouble and have found that Anuric was the most successful remedy to overcome these painful and dangerous ailments.

The lucky people are those who have suffered, but who are now well because they heeded nature's warning signal in time to correct their trouble with that wonderful new discovery of Dr. Pierce's called "An-u-ric" (double strength). You should promptly heed these warnings, some of which are dizzy spells, backache, irregularity of the urine or the painful twinges of rheumatism, sciatica or lumbago. To delay may make possible the dangerous forms of kidney disease, such as stone in the bladder. If you want quick relief buy Anuric now (60c a package)—or send Dr. Pierce 10c for trial pkg. This will prove that "Anuric" eliminates uric acid as hot water melts sugar.

It's the Same Story Everywhere

Canadian Farmers Profit From Wheat

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

The war's devastation of European crops has caused an unusual demand for grain from the American Continent. The people of the world must be fed and wheat near $2 a bushel offers great profits to the farmer. Canada's invitation is therefore especially attractive. She wants settlers to make money and happy, prosperous homes for themselves by helping her raise immense wheat crops.

You can get a Homestead of 160 acres FREE and other lands at remarkably low prices. During many years Canadian wheat fields have averaged 20 bushels to the acre many yields as high as 45 bushels to the acre. Wonderful crops also of Oats, Barley and Flax.

Mixed farming as profitable an industry as grain raising. The excellent grasses full of nutrition are the only food required for beef or dairy purposes. Good schools, churches, markets convenient, climate excellent.

There is an extra demand for farm labor to replace the many young men who have volunteered for the war. The Government is urging farmers to put extra acreage into grain. Write for literature and particulars as to reduced railway rates to Supt. of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or

HIS UTMOST ENERGY

The Thief River Falls Times, in its last weeks inssue gives the new Highlanding bridge quite a write up and concludes the article as follows:

"The bridge is located in the district of County Commissioner Peter Wold, who has for a long time devoted his utmost energies to seeing that this needed impovement was made."

The above "hog wash" might go alright in Thief River Falls, where they are anxious to get Mr. Wold re-elected next year, but it don't go in the First Commissioner District.

We would like to arise and inquire when in hl- P.C. Wold ever used his "utmost energies" to get this improvement. Did he ever write a single letter to Congressman Steenerson to get an act passed by congress granting the permission to build this bridge? No, you bet he did not! Write and ask Congressman Steenerson, if he did, and at the same time ask him who did continually urge him to pass this act, and see if he does not tell you that it was, Yours truly, W. G. Hunt, of Sunbeam. After all the preliminary work had been done and the legislature had passed an act compelling the County Commissioner's to construct one necessary bridge by bonding the County, did P. C. use his "utmost energy" to get the one bridge at Highlanding? You bet he did not! But we will tell you what he did do. He used his utterly, "utmost energy" to not have a petition presented to the board from this district, but it was presented and we got the the bridge. We could use columns of space explaining how P. C. Wold used his "uttermost energy" on the Highlanding bridge deal, and we have the records to prove what we say on file in this office.

We are thankful to a large number in Thief River Falls for their influence to get this bridge, but any further attempt to give P.C. Wold any credit for it will result in our prompt denial.

Don't base any hope on the words "armistice" or "peace" when they come from Germany or the Bolshevlki of Russia.

An armistice now would simply give Germany a breathing spell, and postpone and possibly avert its now inevitable defeat.

Peace now would give Germany the victory and betray civilization and democracy into the hands of the Prussian autocracy.

An armistice or a peace negotiated with the present government of Germany or arranged by the lunatic fringe that, through German intrigue, controls Russia, would be a fatal surrender.

The word still is: "Peace with the German people any day; peace with the Hohenzollern, never!" —The Duluth Herald.

AMERICA IS FACING BIG LAND PROBLEM

IMMIGRATION COMMISSIONER BELIEVE NATION MUST PUT MORE PEOPLE ON FARMS.

TENANCY INCREASING RAPIDLY

That the gravest economic problem which the United States faces is to check the drift of population from the farm to the city, settle the idle land and make agriculture profitable is the opinion of Frederick C. Howe, United States Commissioner of Immigration, who recently was in St. Paul. Mr. Howe says "We cannot have a healthy national life unless we have a healthy agriculture and we cannot have a healthy agriculture unless social and economic conditions make agriculture attractive. This can only be brought about by the Government which in an intelligent, constructive and scientific way, must protect agriculture as well as the farmer from exploitation."

Commissioner Howe shows that in normal times nearly 1,000,000 immigrants come to this country every year from Europe.

Immigrants Flock to Cities.

"Almost all of the immigration of the last twenty years has gone to the cities, to industry, to mining," Commissioner Howe adds. "We are wasting human beings in a terrible way in the United States. Immigration has been a kind of a human fodder factory for the great industries, which have used the surplus labor as a means of keeping down wages, of smashing unions, of lowering the standards of living, education and life of the workers of America."

"While this process is going on," continues Commissioner Howe, "agriculture suffers from the lack of labor. More important still, tens of millions of acres are practically held out of use. According to census statistics, 200,000,000 acres out of the 800,000,000 acres cultivated in the United States are owned by less than 50,000 men.

Tenantry Rapidly Increasing.

"Not only has monopoly laid its hands upon the land of America, but tenantry is increasing rapidly even in states that a few years ago were free from this curse. (In Minnesota tenantry increased from 9.1 percent in 1880 to 21 percent in 1910 and 46 percent of all the farms in this state are mortgaged).

"Endowed with land for ten times our present population, we squandered it recklessly. We gave the Pacific railroads about 150,000,000 acres of land. They took the best. Not content with that, they resorted to fraud to acquire mineral resources, forest lands, oil deposits, until today the West is divided into feudal estates traceable back to the railway land grants. The Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads have exploited the territory through which they pass and now use the largess of the government to exploit even the people who settled upon so much of the land as was dedicated to homesteads.

Should Exempt Improvements.

"How can speculation of the resources of the earth and idle landholding be discouraged? The taxation of land values is the remedy that strikes at the root of the disease. All we need to do is to take all taxes off houses, barns, improvements of all kinds, off growing crops and the things that are produced by labor, and permit the burden of taxation to settle automatically on the land. Then idle landholding will be too costly to indulge in. Then speculation will be unprofitable.

"Railroading also must be reformed. Next to land monopoly no other single agency has contributed so much to the decay of agriculture than railroad monopoly, excessive charges and inadequate means of transportation. Railroads are our modern highways. But they are run for profit rather than service. They charge all the traffic will bear. Railroads are controlled by a handful of bankers in New York. Instead they should be run for the producers and consumers. The United States, with Canada, is now the only great nation in the world that does not own its own railroad system.

Terminal Charges Excessive.

"Closely connected with the railroads are the terminals, warehouses, packing houses, and other privately owned agencies which increase the cost of living on one hand and depress prices to the producer on the other. For years the Northwestern states have been protesting against the fraudulent grading of grains, the stock jobbing of the grain market and excessive charges of terminal elevators. The stock raising industry is subject to the same monopoly.

"Regulation has not only failed but has become the bulwark of monopoly," Commissioner Howe concludes. "And we should by this time see that there is only one way out and that is through public ownership of the transportations, terminal and [illegible] facilities of the [illegible] and the [illegible] of land monopoly by exempting farm improvements [illegible] And only when the whole people step in [illegible] terminal [illegible] agencies [illegible]

BIG BUSINESS TRIES TO MONOPOLIZE PATRIOTISM

"Today more than 60 per cent of the wealth and property of this nation is owned by less than 2 per cent of the people. The tendency is toward further concentration of wealth, with the poor ever growing poorer and the rich ever growing richer.

"Now when a country moves far enough along this path it goes the way of Babylon, Assyria, Egypt and the Roman empire. All these nations fell because wealth had been concentrated in the hands of too few peple. We are on the same road unless we check this tendency and restore property and political power to the people.

"Railroads have been gobbled up and are controlled by a very few men. Steel is monopolized by a few men. Coal, shoes, machinery have been monopolized by a few men. Almost everything that you can mention except the air has been monopolized.

"And just recently I have learned that there are some gentlemen and newspapers in the United States who also would monopolize patriotism and the right of free speech. These men and newspapers set up certain standards—Big Business standards—and unless you subscribe to these standards and agree with them they call you a traitor and pro-German."—Excerpt from speech made by President A. C. Townley of the National Non-Partisan League at Litchfield, Minn.

CARTOON INSULT TO FARMERS

St. Paul Dispatch Prints Picture Showing "Silas" Trying to Avoid Part in War.

Right in line with its policy of misrepresenting the farmer and attempting to create the impression that he is a "slacker" and food hoarder, the St. Paul Dispatch last week published a cartoon that was a direct insult to every loyal farmer in the Northwest. The picture represented the Red Cross solicitor, the income tax collector and the Liberty bond salesman calling at the door of a prosperous looking farm house, while "Silas" is shown hiding behind the fence. The plain inference is that the cartoonist and the paper which published it considers the farmers are attempting to dodge their share of the burden of war.

Several papers throughout the Northwest already have taken exception to this unfair cartoon. "It libels a majority of the people of the nation," says the Jamestown (N. D.) Capital. "If the wealthy of the cities had done as much as the farmer the Liberty loan would have been greatly oversubscribed. The residents of farms are doing their full share now in the war."

Teeth of the Ancients.

The silence of the classics certainly seems to indicate that the Greeks and Romans suffered very little from their teeth. Words for toothache and for tooth extracting instruments can, indeed, be found in the Greek and Latin dictionaries, but the authors quoted for them are generally late and always uninteresting. We can hardly believe that if toothache had been common in Athens Aristophanes would have made no jokes about it. But a classical scholar may pretty safely be defied to cite a single Greek or Latin passage about it. Even Lucretius, when he gets on the subject of teeth in a passage where a reference to toothache might be expected, merely refers to the jar given to the teeth by very cold water or by biting a stone in one's bread.—London Chronicle.

Inertia of Bodies.

Lay a visiting card on the tip of the left forefinger and on it place a penny. A quick flick of the card with the right second finger will remove the card without disturbing the coin. Another trick which illustrates the inertia of bodies is to knock away the bottom of a pile of checkers without upsetting the pile. This is effected quite easily with the help of a flat ruler. The remaining checkers are removed successively by a number of smart blows.

A more spectacular and apparently risky trick consists of drawing a newspaper away from under a glass filled with water. Provided, however, that the table is smooth and the paper is pulled away smartly and horizontally there is no danger of the water [illegible]

THE LOCAL NEWS

Local news are rather scarce this week.

Holy Moses! Talk about cold weather. We are certainly getting our whole winters cold handed to us in a bunch now days.

The War Savings Certificate stamps will inspire and encourage the saving habit. "Great oaks from little acorns grow" and $4.12 saved by stamps is worth $5.00 in five years. Help win the war. Stamps for sale at all Post Offices.

Read President Wilsons message to Congress, on page two of this issue. The President has put the present rulers of Germany plainly in the Pirate class, which means no treaties of offers of peace coming from the kaiser would be considered worthy of notice.

Just to satisfy ourselves, and anyone else that wou'd like to know, we wrote to Congressman Steenerson and asked him if P. C. Wolde ever wrote him and asked him to get an act passed by Congress granting permission to build a bridge at Highlanding. We got an answer this week, stating that Wold had never written him about it. We are not a candidate for glory, or office, but we donot propose to allow a man that we never laid a straw in his way, that has made himself conspicioius in his assistance to the Singers to prosecute, and persecute us to steal our thunder, by a darned site.

Questionnairies will begin to be sent out to all registered men tomorrow. All will be asked to answer and return the lists within seven days. Those who have been exempted by local boards must answer the same as the others. Failure to answer within seven days causes your name to be turned over to the Federal officers as a deserter and you loose all rights to exemption and get one year in the penitentiary. Pennington County boys should notify County Auditor T. P. Anderson if they change their Post Office address.

Gladstone a Hard Worker.

He turned from political responsibilities of the heaviest to Greek for recreation, and lived his four-score years and more, just as Pope Leo XIII, turned to Latin poetry for his relaxation from world-wide burdens, and lived on beyond four-score and ten, living so hopefully that when, at the little dinner given him on his ninetieth birthday, one of the cardinals said, in proposing a toast to him, "Here's that you may live to be a hundred, holy father," the old pontiff replied: "But why limit me to a hundred?"

They were contemporaries of Ranke, the German historian, who at the age of ninety-one proposed to write a history of the world in 12 volumes, one volume to be completed each year, and actually lived, I believe, to complete nearly half of it.

These men had no dreads, but they allowed their energies to work on, without any fear of exhausting their [illegible]

THE GALLY FEUD

By IZOLA FORRESTER.

Bruce Farraday had been away from home for so long that he had actually underestimated the manners and customs of Halsey Gap.

He had been home from Rudemeir college about four days. The family had given him to understand that they expected all things of him, and especially that he should run for representative the next autumn. There had been a Farraday in the state legislature from the Gap section ever since West Virginia had walked her own path to statehood. Since the death of Bruce's father fifteen years before, the Gally family had controlled the seat. Bart Gally had gone up for two terms and Wallace had followed in his footsteps.

He rode down the mountain road to the little village after mail, loving every foot of the way. It had been years since he had walked that road to school. When he came to the old familiar crossroads, with its cairn of rock supporting an old sign post, he drew rein. Many a time he had loitered there waiting for Nance Gally to come along on her way to school. What had they cared for feuds in those days! She was six, he barely ten. Resting now in his saddle, while the Captain cropped the sweet clover and sorrel by the roadside, he remembered the day of their great quarrel. He had called her redhead on the way home from school, because she had walked with her cousin Wallace instead of him. There had been a fight and Wallace, a strapping, black-browed youth of fifteen, had beaten him before her eyes.

The sound of horses' hoofs cantering along the old timber road roused him from reverie. It was Nance. She rode her sorrel mare like a boy, her short curls flying in the morning breeze. As she rode, she was singing Dixie at the top of her lungs, until she caught sight of the silent horseman, and stopped short.

Bruce raised his cap in neighborly greeting, noting approvingly the vivid beauty of her young face and sparkling eyes.

"Good morning, Miss Nance," he said. "It seems like old times to be waiting here for you. You're looking mighty well."

She tossed her head in quick resentment.

"I reckon you can keep your compliments to home, Bruce Farraday. We ain't askin' anythin' from any of you in the complimentary line."

She rode on, never looking behind. It was that afternoon that he gave Matt Crawford, local boss of the Democratic caucus, permission to use his name for nomination at the coming elections.

"You've got to step lively and look both ways at once," said Sister Belle, when the campaign was in full swing.

The next day there was a conference between Bruce and Matt Crawford. Briefly Bruce outlined his plan of action. On the Farraday property there was a large old mica mine, unworked since the death of his father. Ever since his arrival he had secretly been probing its possibilities, and felt fairly sure of his ground.

"Matt," he said, "I know a chap with capital, who went to Rudemeir with me. He'll back the old mica mines when I say so. Let's open them now and hire all the available men. Get them on one-year contracts, with option of renewal."

Matt grinned appreciatively.

"I think I'm looking at our next representative," he said.

The mine was a success. Boys and men from all districts through the valley and mountains flocked to work instead of remaining idle through the summer and autumn, waiting for the Gally mills to open.

Election day told the story. When the votes were counted in the little room back of the post office old Judge Pinkus stroked his Vandyke happily.

"I reckon you're beaten, Wally," he remarked through his little glass grating at the stamp window. Nance heard the words, too, as she stood by the window. With a muttered oath her cousin rushed past her out into the little square where men were cheering for a Farraday. Blind with fury, he shot out his fist at Bruce, but fell as Bruce caught him with a counter blow on the point of the chin.

Bruce leaped to the old oak stump.

"Fellow-citizens of the Gap, this is the end of the Gally feud. Right here Wallace and I have settled old scores, and I want to tell you it's time the Gap joined the march of progress and buried the feud forever. You shake hands with me, Gally. If you don't I'll beat you up until you do, for we're going to be friends from this day on."

Wonderingly the Gap beheld the two shake hands as Bruce left the [illegible]. A minute more, and he was beside Nance, where she stood apart from the others.

"Can I help you on your horse?" he asked. "I'm going to [illegible]"

"I'm mighty glad you won, Bruce," was all she said.

Small Prescriptions.

Many physicians have a habit of writing prescriptions without calculating the quantity of medicine their patients are to take. This leads to a great waste of drugs and much unnecessary expense. Which leads the New York Medical Journal to warn physicians to be more careful.

Another evil result of this far too common practice is that partly used prescriptions are stored away in the medicine chest, and next time the patient has, or thinks he has, the same symptoms, he takes what he supposes to be the same medicine.

But the chief reason why physicians should not prescribe four or six ounces when they know only one or two will be used, is that it is wasting the drugs and making the patient pay far more for his medicine than is at all necessary.

PRESIDENT ASKS DECLARATION OF WAR ON AUSTRIA

Fails to Ask Action Against Bulgaria and Turkey—Dual Monarchy Held Vassal of Kaiser.

PEACE WITH VICTORY

Cessation of Hostilities Can Come Only When Foe is Beaten, Wilson Says—Reparation and Return of Seized Territory to Be Demanded.

Immediate war with Turkey and Bulgaria, Germany's other allies, the President told Congress, he did not believe necessary at this time because they do not yet stand in the direct path of necessary action.

Immediate war against Austria, even though she only be Germany's vassal and not her own mistress, the President declared, was necessary because the Teuton powers must be considered as one and because the war can be conducted successfully in no other way.

Will Go Where War Carries Us.

Giving a plain warning, however, that he would not hesitate to ask for declaration of war on Turkey and Bulgaria when he considered it necessary, the President said:

"We shall go wherever the necessities of this war carry us, but it seems to me that we should go only where immediate and practical consideration lead us and not heed any others."

Peace, the President told Congress, can come only when Prussian military autocracy is beaten down, when the German people make peace with the world through rulers the world can trust, when they make reparation for the wrongs their present rulers have done and when the enslaved people of Belgium, Northern France and the Balkans have been set free.

Text of Message.

Following is the President's message in full:

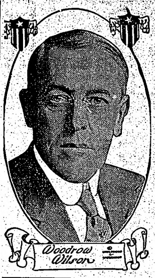
Gentlemen of the Congress: Eight months have elapsed since I had the honor of addressing you. They have been months crowded with events of immense and grave significance for us. I shall not undertake to detail or even to summarize these events. The practical particulars of the part we have played in them will be laid before you in the reports of the executive departments. I shall discuss only our present outlook upon these vast affairs, our present duties and the immediate means of accomplishing the objects we shall hold always in view.

War Causes Not Debated.

I shall not go back to debate the causes of the war. The intolerable wrongs done and planned against us by the sinister masters of Germany have long since become too grossly obvious and odious to every true American to need to be rehearsed. But I shall ask you to consider again and with a very grave scrutiny our objectives and the measures by which we mean to attain them; for the purpose of discussion here in this place is action, and our action must move straight toward definite ends. Our object is, of course, to win the war; and we shall not slacken or suffer ourselves to be diverted until it is won. But it is worth while asking and answering the question, when shall we consider the war won?

United In Spirit and Intention.

From one point of view it is not necessary to broach this fundamental matter. I do not doubt that the American people know what the war is about and what sort of an outcome they will regard as a realization of their purpose on it. As a nation, we are united in spirit and intention. I pay little heed to those who tell me otherwise. I hear the voices of dissent—who does not? I hear the criticism and the clamor of the noisily thoughtless and troublesome. I also see men here and there fling themselves in impotent disloyalty against the calm, indomitable power of the nation. I hear men debate peace who understand neither its nature nor the way in which we may attain it with uplifted eyes and unbroken spirits. But I know that none of these speaks for the nation. They do not touch the heart of anything. They may safely be left to strut their uneasy hour and be forgotten.



Peace By Overcoming Evil.

But from another point of view, I believe that it is necessary to say plainly what we, here at the seat of action, consider the war to be for, and what part we mean to play in the settlement of its searching issues. We are spokesmen of the American people and they have a right to know whether their purpose is ours. They desire peace by the overcoming of evil, by the defeat once for all of the sinister forces that interrupt peace and render it impossible, and they wish to know how closely our thought runs with theirs and what action we propose. They are impatient with those who desire peace by any sort of compromise—deeply and indignantly impatient—but they will be equally impatient with us if we do not make it plain to them what our objectives are and what we are planning for in seeking to make conquest of peace by arms.

Must Crush Master.

I believe that I speak for them when I say two things: First, that this intolerable thing of which the masters of Germany have shown us the ugly face, this menace of combined intrigue and force which we now see so clearly as the German power, a thing without conscience or honor or capacity for covenanted peace, must be crushed, and if it be not utterly brought to an end, at least shut out from the friendly intercourse of the nations; and, second, that when this thing and its power are indeed defeated and the time comes that we can discuss peace—when the German people have spokesmen whose word we can believe and when these spokesmen are ready in the name of their people to accept the common judgment of the nations as to what shall henceforth be the bases of law and of covenant for the life of the world—we shall be willing and glad to pay the full price for peace and pay it ungrudgingly.

Hears Voice of Humanity.

We know what that price will be. It will be full, impartial justice, justice done at every point and to every nation. The final settlement must affect our enemies as well as our friends. You catch, with me, the voices of humanity that are in the air. They grow daily more audible, more articulate, more persuasive, and they come from the hearts of men everywhere. They insist that the war shall not end in vindictive action of any kind; that no nation or people shall be robbed or punished because the irresponsible rulers of a single country have themselves done deep and abominable wrong.

Huns Lead Slavs Astray.

It is this thought that has been expressed in the formula "no annexations, no contributions, no punitive indemnities." Just because this crude formula expresses the instinctive judgment as to right of plain men everywhere, it has been made diligent use of by the masters of German intrigue to lead the people of Russia astray—and the people of every other country their agents could reach in order that a premature peace might be brought about before autocracy has been taught its final and convincing lesson and the people of the world put in control of their own destinies.

To Base Peace on Justice.

But the fact that a wrong use has been made of a just idea is no reason why a right use should not be made of it. It ought to be brought under the patronage of its real friends. Let it be said again that autocracy must first be shown the utter futility of its claims to power or leadership in the modern world. It is impossible to apply any standard of justice so long as such forces are unchecked and undefeated as the present masters of Germany command. Not until that has been done can Right be set up as arbiter and peacemaker among the nations. But when that has been done—as God willingly it assuredly will be—we shall at last be free to do an unprecedented thing and this is the time to avow our purpose to do it. We shall be free to base peace on generosity and justice to the exclusion of all selfish claims to advantage even on the part of victors.

To Give All To Win War.

Let there be no misunderstanding. Our present and immediate task is to win the war and nothing shall turn us aside from it until it is accomplished. Every power and resource we possess whether of men, of money or of materials, is being devoted and will continue to be devoted to that purpose until it is achieved. Those who desire to bring peace about before that purpose is achieved I counsel to carry their advice elsewhere. We will not entertain it. We shall regard the war as won only when the German people say to us, through properly accredited representatives, that they are ready to agree to a settlement based upon justice and the reparation of the wrongs their rulers have done. They have done a wrong to Belgium which must be repaired. They have established a power over other lands and peoples than their own—over the great empire of Austria-Hungary, over hitherto free Balkan states, over Turkey and within Asia—which must be relinquished.

German Industry Admired.

"Germany's success by skill, by industry, by knowledge, by enterprise we did not grudge or oppose, but admired rather. She had built up for herself a real empire of trade and influence, assured by the peace of the world. We were content to abide the rivalries of manufacture, science and commerce that were involved for us in her success and stand or fall as we had or did not have the brains and the initiative to surpass her. But at the moment when she had conspicuously won her triumphs of peace she threw them away to establish in their stead what the world will no longer permit to be established—military and political domination by arms, by which to oust where she could not excel the rivals she most feared and hated. The peace we make must remedy that wrong. It must deliver the once fair lands and happy peoples of Belgium and Northern France from the Prussian conquest and the Prussian menace, but it must also deliver the peoples of Austria-Hungary, the peoples of the Balkans and the peoples of Turkey, alike in Europe and in Asia, from the impudent and alien domination of Prussian military and commercial autocracy.

Not To Meddle In Austria.

"We owe it, however, to ourselves to say that we do not wish in any way to impair or to rearrange the Austro-Hungarian empire. It is no affair of ours what they do with their own life either industrially or politically. We do not purpose or desire to dictate to them in any way. We only desire to see that their affairs are left in their own hands, in all matters, great or small. We shall hope to secure for the peoples of the Balkan peninsula and for the people of the Turkish empire the right and opportunity to make their own lives safe, their own fortunes secure against oppression or injustice and from the dictation of foreign courts or parties. And our attitude and purpose with regard to Germany herself are of a like kind. We intend no wrong against the German empire, no interference with her internal affairs. We should deem either the one or the other absolutely unjustifiable, absolutely contrary to the principles we have professed to live by and to hold most sacred throughout our life as a nation.

Autocrats Mislead Germans.

The people of Germany are being told by their men whom they now permit to deceive them and to act as their masters that they are fighting for the life and existence of their empire, a war of desperate self-defense against deliberate aggression. Nothing could be more grossly or wantonly false and we must seek by the utmost openness and candor as to our real aims to convince them of its falseness. We are in fact fighting for their emancipation from fear, along with our own from the fear as well as from the fact of unjust attack by neighbors or rivals or schemers after world empire. No one is threatening the existence or the independence or the peaceful enterprise of the German empire.

World Partnership After War.

The worst that can happen to the detriment of the German people is this that if they should still, after the war, is over, continue to be obliged to live under ambitious and intriguing masters interested to disturb the peace of the world, men or classes of men whom the other peoples of the world could not trust, it might be impossible to admit them to the partnership of nations which might henceforth guarantee the world's peace. That partnership must be a partnership of peoples, not a mere partnership of governments. It might be impossible, also, in such untoward circumstances, to admit Germany to the free economic intercourse which must inevitably spring out of the other partnerships of a real peace. But there would be no aggression in that, and such a situation, inevitable because of distrust, would in the very nature of things sooner or later cure itself by processes which would assuredly set in.

Not to Right Wrong With Wrong.

The wrongs, the very deep wrongs, committed in this war will have to be righted. That of course. But they cannot and must not be righted by the commission of similar wrongs against Germany and her allies. The world will not permit the commission of similar wrongs as a means of reparation and settlement. Statesmen must by this time have learned that the opinion of the world is everywhere wide awake and fully comprehends the issues involved. No representative of any self-governed nation will dare disregard it by attempting any such covenants of selfishness and compromise as were entered into at the congress of Vienna. The thought of the plain people here and everywhere throughout the world, the people who enjoy no privilege and have very simple and unsophisticated standards of right and wrong, is the air of all governments must henceforth breathe if they would live. It is in the full disclosing light of that thought that all policies must be conceived and executed in this midday hour of the world's life.

Teuton Opinions Restricted.

German rulers have been able to upset the peace of the world only because the German people were not suffered under their tutelage to share the comradeship of the other peoples of the world either in thought or in purpose. They were allowed to have no opinion of their own which might be set up as a rule of conduct for those who exercised authority over them. But the Congress that concludes this war will feel the full strength of the tides that run now in the hearts and consciences of free men everywhere. Its conclusion will run with those tides.

Regrets Mistakes In Russia.

All these things have been true from the very beginning of this stupendous war, and I cannot help thinking that if they had been made plain at the very outset the sympathy and enthusiasm of the Russian people might have been once for all enlisted on the side of the Allies, suspicion and distrust swept away and a real and lasting union of purpose affected. Had they believed these things at the very moment of their revolution and had they been confirmed in that belief since, the sad reverses which have recently marked the progress of their affairs towards an ordered and stable government of free men might have been avoided.

Slav Minds Poisoned.

The Russian people have been poisoned by the very same falsehoods that have kept the German people in the dark, and the poison has been administered by the very same hands. The only possible antidote is the truth. It cannot be uttered too plainly or too often.

Attitude Not Altered.

From every point of view, therefore, it has seemed to be my duty to speak these declarations of purpose, to add these specific interpretations to what I took the liberty of saying to the Senate in January. Our entrance into the war has not altered our attitude toward the settlement that must come when it is over. When I said in January that the nations of the world were entitled not only to free pathways upon the sea, but also to assured and unmolested access to those pathways, I was thinking, and I am thinking now, not of the smaller and weaker nations alone, which need our countenance and support, but also of the great and powerful nations, and of our present associates in the war. I was thinking, and am thinking now, of Austria herself, among the rest, as well as of Serbia and of Poland. Justice and equality of rights can be had only at a great price. We are seeking permanent, not temporary, foundations for the peace of the world and must seek them candidly and fearlessly. As always the right will prove to be the expedient.

What shall we do, then, to push this great war of freedom and justice to its righteous conclusion? We must clear away with a thorough hand all impediments to success and we must make every adjustment of law that will facilitate the full and free use of our whole capacity and force as a fighting unit.

Asks War on Austria?

One very embarrassing obstacle that stands in our way is that we are at war with Germany, but not with her Allies. I therefore, very earnestly recommend that Congress immediately declare the United States in a state of war with Austria-Hungary. Does it seem strange to you that this should be the conclusion of the argument I have just addressed to you? It is not. It is in fact the inevitable logic of what I have said.

Vassal of Kaiser.

Austria-Hungary is for the time being not her own mistress, but simply the vassal of the German government. We must face the facts as they are and act upon them without sentiment in this stern business. The government of Austria-Hungary is not acting upon its own initiative or in response to the wishes and feelings of its own peoples, but as the instrument of another nation. We must meet its force with our own and regard the Central Powers as but one. The war can be successfully conducted in no other way. The same logic would lead also to a declaration of war against Turkey and Bulgaria. They also are the tools of Germany. But they are mere tools and do not yet stand in the direct path of our necessary action. We shall go wherever the necessities of this war carry us, but it seems to me that we should go only where immediate and practical consideration lead us and not heed any others.

New War Measures Needed.

The financial and military measures which must be adopted will suggest themselves as the war and its undertakings develop, but I will take the liberty of proposing to you certain other acts of legislation which seem to me to be needed for the support of the war and for the release of our whole force and energy.

It will be necessary to extend in tain particulars the legislation of the last session with regard to alien enemies; and also necessary, I believe, to create a very definite and particular control over the entrance and departure of all persons into and from the United States.

Would Define Crimes.

Legislation should be enacted defining as a criminal offense every wilful violation of the Presidential proclamations relating to alien enemies promulgated under section 4067 of the revised statutes and providing appropriate punishments; and women as well as men should be included under the terms of the acts placing restraint upon alien enemies.

To Avoid Money Waste.

The legislation proposed at the last session with regard to regulated combinations among our exporters, in order to provide for our foreign trade a more effective organization and method of co-operation, ought by all means to be completed at this session.

May Ask Rail Legislation.

Additional legislation may also become necessary before the present Congress adjourns in order to effect the most efficient co-ordination and operation of the railway and other transportation systems of the country but to that I shall, if circumstances should demand, call the attention of Congress upon another occasion.

If I have overlooked anything that ought to be done for the more effective conduct of the war, your own counsels will supply the omission. What I am perfectly clear about is that in the present session of the Congress our whole attention and energy should be concentrated on the vigorous and rapid and successful prosecution of the great task of winning the war.

War of High Principle.

We can do this with all the greater zeal and enthusiasm because we know that for us this is a war of high principle, debased by no selfish ambition of conquest or spoliation, because we know, and all the world knows, that we have been forced into it to save the very institutions we live under from corruption and destruction. The purposes of the central Powers strike straight at the very heart of everything we believe in, their methods of warfare outrage every principle of humanity and of knightly honor, their intrigue has corrupted the very thought and spirit of many of our people, their sinister and secret diplomacy has sought to take our very territory away from us and disrupt the union of the states.

To Fight for Right Until Last Shot.

Our safety would be at an end, our honor forever sullied and brought into contempt were we to permit their triumph. They are striking at the very existence of democracy and liberty. It is because it is for us a war of high, disinterested purpose, in which all free peoples of the world are banded together for the vindication of right, a war for the preservation of our nation and of all that is held dear of principle and of purpose, that we feel ourselves doubly constrained to propose for its outcome only that which is righteous and of irreproachable intention, for foes as well as for our friends. The cause being just and holy, the settlement must be of like motive and quality. For this we can fight, but for nothing less noble or less worthy of our traditions. For this cause we entered the war and for this cause will we battle until the last gun is fired.

Plain Words Necessary.

I have spoken plainly because this seems to me the time when it is most necessary to speak plainly, in order that all the world may know that even in the heat and ardor of the struggle and when our whole thought is of carrying the war through to its end we have not forgotten any ideal or principle for which the name of America has been held among the nations and for which it has been our glory to contend in the great generations that went before us. A supreme moment of history has come. The eyes of the peoples have been opened and they see the hand of God is laid upon the nations. He will show them favor, I devoutly believe, only if they rise to the clear heights of his own justice and mercy.

Washington Justice Dies.

Washington, Dec. 5.—Seth Shepard, chief justice of the court of the District of Columbia, is dead at a hospital, where he was operated upon a week ago. Justice Shepard was born in Washington county, Texas, in 1847, saw service in the Civil war, and after practicing law in Texas, he was appointed associate justice of the district court by President Cleveland in 1893. He was made chief justice by President Roosevelt in 1905, and had served ever since.

Drive Starts for Flying Recruits.

Washington, Dec. 5.—Navy recruiting officers, it is announced, have been ordered to begin at once a drive for 8,000 men between 21 and 35 to form the ground personnel of the navy's flying corps. Carpenters, woodworkers, machinists, coppersmiths, blacksmiths, fabric workers, riggers, acetelyne welders, gas engine repairmen and instrument workers are needed especially. After intensive training the men will be eligible for promotion to higher grade.

First Trench Men to Train Troops.

With the American Army in France, Dec. 5.—A number of officers who were attached to the first battalions to enter the trenches have been transferred to the newly arrived units of former national guardsmen, where they will direct the work of getting the new troops ready for the front line. Later men of the first unit to establish contact with the enemy may be transferred temporarily to assist the officers. This conforms with announced plans of Gen. Pershing.

U. S. May Control Silver Market.

Washington, Dec. 5.—Treasury officials have held the first of a series of conferences with Western silver producers looking to the ultimate fixing of a standard price for silver, effective for one year and to government acquisition of options on practically the entire output of the United States. Pressing needs of this country and the Allies for silver for coin under abnormal war conditions is responsible for the plan. The price would probably be 87 cents per ounce.

Modification of Law Sought.

Washington, Dec. 5.—To enable the thousands of unnaturalized citizens in the army to obtain full citizenship before the end of the war, Labor department officials will urge Congress to pass the pending bill amending the existing statute that an applicant for naturalization must live in the same state for a year and wait for at least three months after filing his application for naturalization. Otherwise many soldiers of foreign birth would remain aliens.

In Memory of the Titanic.

The Titanic disaster is being commemorated in Belfast by the erection of a memorial which will in all respects be worthy of the city where the ill-fated ship was built. It consists of a Titanic group in marble on a granite pedestal. The memorial will occupy a site on the carriage way opposite the city hall, facing the Royal Academical institution, and will bear the names of Ulster heroes who perished with the great vessel.

Cupid Statue of Marble.

Cupid, fashioned in marble in a statue which has been described as a perfect masterpiece, has just been unearthed at Cyrene, in Libya. Five Generations in Wars.

Five generations of one family have served in the United States wars, the chain being completed by the recent enlistment at Los Angeles of a young man named Bennett. Not only did his two grandfathers, Bennett and Brookover, serve in the Civil war, but his great-grandfather, Daniel Bennett, was also a veteran of that war. The young man's great-great-grandfather, Asa Bennett, was in the war of 1812, and his two great-great-great-grandfathers, Bennett and Harris, were in the Revolutionary war. Although not in direct line of ancestry, young Bennett's uncle, Harry Brookover, represented the family in the Spanish-American war.

Girls as Bell Ringers.

Bell ringing is being done by girls in the little village of Longstock, Ireland, as the young men who used to perform this duty have joined the army. The chiming is excellently and regularly performed by three or four girls, trained by a local lady, and week-day and Sunday the bells send out their cheery message over the countryside. This may not be essential war-work, observes a correspondent, but it is one of immense value to the morale of the neighborhood, and a work which would be left undone, like so many other "odd jobs" of wartime, but for the good offices of the women at home.

Would Scare Germans.

Among the funny ideas for ending the war is that of the Syracuse man who is making massive soldiers out of paper pulp to scare the Germans to death by the mere impression of numbers.

When the Angels Sang

WHAT an interest centered in that babe, wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger at Bethlehem! Prophets were interested, angels were interested, the ages have been most deeply interested since. The shepherds had perhaps some premonition. The seventy weeks of Daniel's prophecy were about fulfilled. It may be at that very time they were talking of the coming of Christ.

Suddenly their attention was arrested by a strange sight in the heavens. It grew brighter and took the form of an angel, and then they heard a voice announcing the birth of Christ as glad tidings for all people, not to the Jews only. Then suddenly the air was filled with angels singing as if they had come right out from the air.

We know not their wonderful song, but part came to mortal ears, "Glory to God in the highest," etc. We know not who those angels were, but we fancy they were the redeemed. Adam was there; Eve was there. Eve, who in her maternal earnestness declared at the birth of her firstborn, "I have got a man from the Lord," hoping that that was he who should bruise the serpent's head. Now, in the fullness of time she had come to witness the birth of the babe who was to be the Saviour of her race. David, Elijah, Moses, the patriarchs, we believe, were with the heavenly host.

This song reveals three things:

First.—The glorification of God through the incarnation. God has glory through his vast work in nature, his providence building up and casting down nations, etc.

In the incarnation there was special glory. It was glory to God in the highest—highest, in that it was above all other glory, in that it extended to all time and in that it wrought such wondrous good.

Second.—The great results to the earth. It would result in peace. Strifes, thorns and thistles were abounding. The earth was torn and bleeding by constant contention. With Christ came peace. The result would be universal peace.

Third.—The effect on the individual man. "Good will toward men," from one another, from God. Out of this good will would finally spring peace on earth and glory to God in the highest.—Dr. Matthew Simpson.

To Make a True Christmas.

Don't forget the lonely, the suffering, the poor, on Christmas. Remember that the first and greatest Christmas gift was sent not to the rich and powerful, but to the poor and needy. Give to those who are near and dear to you; but somewhere, somehow, in your ordinary life find some one who is near and dear to no one else and make Christmas for him or her.

Some Christmas Legends

There is a Bosnian legend that the sun leaps in the heavens and the stars dance around it. A great peace comes stealing down over mountain and forest. The rotten stumps stand straight and green on the hillside. The grass is beflowered with blossoms, and the birds sing on the mountain tops in thanks to God. In Poland the heavens open and Jacob's ladder is set up between earth and sky. In Austria the candles are set in the window that the Christ Child may not stumble when he comes to bless the home. In north Germany the tables are spread and the lights left burning for the incoming of the Virgin Mary and her attending angel.

Some say that ever 'gainst that season comes
Wherein our Lord's birth is celebrated,
The bird of dawning singeth all night long,
And then they say no spirit can walk abroad.
The nights are wholesome. Then no planets strike,
No fairy takes, nor witch hath power to charm,
So hallowed and so gracious is the time.

The Beautiful Bethlehem Bells

Over the roar of the cities, over the hills and the dells,
With a message of peace to the nations, ring the beautiful Bethlehem bells,
Bringing joy to the souls that are sighing in the hovels where poverty dwells—
There is life—there is life for the dying, in the beautiful Bethlehem bells.

Far off in a land that is lovely, for the tender sweet story it tells,
In the light of a glorious morning rang the beautiful Bethlehem bells;
And still in the hearts of creation an anthem exultingly swells
At that memory sweet of the ringing of the beautiful Bethlehem bells.

They ran o'er the hills and the valleys, they summoned the glad world that day,
From regions of night to the radiant light of the cot where the Beautiful lay,
And forever and ever and ever a wonderful melody dwells
In the tender sweet ringing and singing of the beautiful Bethlehem bells.

For they sing of a love that is deathless—a love that still triumphs in loss;
They sing of the love that is leading the world to the Calvary cross;
And touch us with tenderest pities, oh, beautiful Bethlehem bells!

—Frank L. Stanton.

CHRISTMAS CHILDHOOD.

Christmas is, perforce, a winter festival, a family and fraternal reunion. "Suffer little children to come." Lo, they have come. And the music of their child voices! The concert of the morning stars, what were they to the natural untrained melody of innocent childhood in its joyous expectations?

A brief, bright morning picture with fervid expectant fancy attuned to "peace and good will to men," a sacred, solemn, confident, joyous, "peace," a "good will" and fraternal friendship that shall fill and fructify and sanctify the year to come.

Ah, childhood, Christmas childhood! See how for one day it mocks the poet's lines, "Some traces of Eden ye still inherit, but the trail of the serpent is over them all. Its own gift is always the best, and it rejoices that Bill and Jim and Lizzie and Sara fared as well. "Peace on earth," but not of earth; "good will" that shall inform the coming year and mold the man and woman of the future.

First Christmas Celebration.

The birth of Christ was not originally observed at this time of the year. It was not until nearly 100 years after his death that there was any attempt at a celebration of the event at all, and then for 300 years or more it was celebrated at various times in the year by the Christians in different parts of the world. Some chose the 1st and some the 6th of January, others the 29th of March, the time of the Jewish passover, while still others observed the day on the 29th of September, the feast of the tabernacles. The 19th of April and the 20th of May were also kept as the birthday of Christ. By the fifth century, however the 25th of December was the day generally adopted.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

An Old Anglo-Norman Carol.

Lordlings, listen to our lay—
We have come from faraway
To seek Christmas;
In this manson we are told
He his yearly feast doth hold:
'Tis today!
May joy come from God above
To all those who Christmas love!

Lordlings, I now tell you true,
Christmas bringeth unto you
Only mirth;
His house he fills with many a dish
Of bread and meat and also fish
To grace the day.
May joy come from God above
To all those who Christmas love!

Lordlings, through our army's band
They say, Who spends with open hand
Free and fast,
And oft regales his many friends
God gives him double what he spends
To grace the day.
May joy come from God above
To all those who Christmas love!

Lordlings, wicked men eschew,
In them never shall you view
Aught that's good;
Cowards are the rabble rout,
Kick and beat the grumblers out
To grace the day.
May joy come from God above
To all those who Christmas love!

Lords, by Christmas and the host
Of this mansion hear my toast—
Drink it well.
Each must drain his cup of wine,
And I the first will toss off mine;
Thus I advise,
Here, then, I bid you all wassail,
Cursed be he who will not say Drinkhail.

A GREAT DISCOVERY
(By J. H. Watson, M. D.)

Swollen hands, ankles, feet are due to a dropsical condition, often caused by disordered kidneys. Naturally when the kidneys are deranged the blood is filled with poisonous waste matter, which settles in the feet, ankles and wrist; or under the eyes in bag-like formations.

As a remedy for those easily recognized symptoms of inflammation caused by uric acid—as scalding urine, backache and frequent urination, as well as sediment in the urine, or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, gout, it is simply wonderful how quickly An-u-ric acts; the pains and stiffness rapidly disappear, for Anuric, (double strength), is many times more potent than lithia and often eliminates uric acid as hot water melts sugar. All druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for the liver and bowels have been favorably known for nearly 50 years.

Anuric is a recent scientific discovery by Dr. Pierce, Chief of Staff at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Inst., in Buffalo, N. Y. Send 10c there for a trial pkg. of Anuric. Large package 60c.

Johnny had often seen the new food signs posted up everywhere, telling people not to waste food and use what is left. One day he was invited to a birthday party. In a short while the birthday cake was cut up and each child had a piece, and there was a big piece left. The maid was going to take this piece away when Johnny called to her and said, "I think I can use the piece that is left."

At this time I found wonderful relief in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It soon built me up in good condition and my headache was entirely cured. I have great faith in this medicine. His Advantage.

"The gardener is a natural grafter, but he has one big advantage over the other kinds."

"What is that?"

"Whatever he puts over on the public, he can get them to swallow it."

The Smart Retort.

"She wanted to borrow a cup of sugar."

"Did you lend it to her?"

"I sent back word that if I had a cup of sugar I wouldn't speak to the likes of her."

Some Exceptions.

"Does like always produce like?"

"Not always. Rich food often produces poor health."

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUB.

$1,000 a year, in advance.

On November 23rd Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo announced that the rates of insurance of the Bureau of War-Risk Insurance of the Treasury Department on all American Steamers and cargoes traversing the War Zone were reduced from 5 per cent to 4 per cent.

This is the second reduction of these insurance rates, the first being on October 6th, 1917, when the rate was reduced from six and a half per cent to 5 per cent.

The new reduction was made for the same reason as the first—that is, because of a corresponding decrease in the risk involved in traversing the War Zone.

This is official recognition of the fact that since the American destroyers and other war vessels have gone on duty in the War-Zone the danger from enemy submarines has greatly decreased. The decrease from six and a half per cent to 4 per cent is approximately 40 per cent and speaks convincingly of the efficiency of the American Navy.

One great function that the Liberty Loan has performed is to render this ship insurance possible, under the protection of which hundreds of millions of dollars in American Commerce has been enabled to seek and to reach foreign markets.

We never hear any unpatriotic talk, in this locality, and we are of the opinion that there is not a more patriotic state in the union than Minnesota. But of course there is a lot of Politicians, who would like to talk patriotism to the people and they will undoubtly receive lots of applause, especially when they mention the name of President Wilson, in whom the people have perfect confidence that he will fight the present war to a successful conclusion.

GERMANY'S SELF DEFENSE

It seems to us that when anyone makes the statement, that Germany is fighting in self defense, that they are either to ignorant to listen to, or want to be Germanys criminal attorney. Germany started the war, and invaded Belgium and France, and are now fighting a war of invasion of Italy. How can anyone say that they are fighting a war of defense, when there has never been a single battle fought on the soil of Germany.

In 1914 Kaiser Wilhelm started out to do what he has prepared to do for years, to conquer all other nations, and make them subjects of the autocrats of Germany. He was in the position of a man who has five or six men to lick, and prepared to take one at a time. But before he got France and Belgiums conquered England see that their turn would come next and they declared war, America kept out until Germany virtually declared war on us, by sinking our ships and murdering our people on the seas. Now that the kaiser sees that he has bit off more than he can chaw, he has instructed his henchmen in America to raise the cry that poor Germany was fighting a war of self defense. Is it a war of self defense for them. Pirates to send airships over London and drop bombs on innocent women and little children? Are the babies and Red Cross Nurses planning an invasion of Germany?

Germany is fighting a war of conquest, murder and invasion, and its is up to England, France and America to either win or bow the knee to de kaiser.

GOVERNMENT OWNED FLOUR MILLS URGED

RIGHT TO ORGANIZE IS DENIED

As the result of the stubborn refusal of the officials of the great flour milling companies to permit their workers to join labor organizations and their further refusal to reinstate men who had been discharged for this offense, the Minneapolis Trades and Labor Assembly has declared for government owned flour mills and will endeavor to have this stand indorsed by the American Federation of Labor. If this is done organized labor and the organized farmer will be fighting for the same demands. It is another sign of the growing harmony between the city workers and the farmers, who rapidly are coming to realize that their economic interests are closely interlocked.

The stand by the Minneapolis Trades and Labor Assembly was precipitated last week when the flour mill owners discharged several old and faithful employes whose sole offense was to join the Flour and Cereal Mill Workers' union. Minneapolis unionists appealed to the government, and Oscar Nelson, a federal mediator from the Department of Labor, was sent to Minneapolis. He held a conference with the heads of the Pillsbury, Washburn-Crosby and Consolidated mills, but they refused to reinstate the men or submit their cases to mediation, despite his request.

Labor Assembly Takes Action.

The Minneapolis Trades and Labor Assembly at once held a special meeting and went on record as favoring a nation-wide movement for the government ownership of all flour mills. The Trades and Labor Assembly also decided to back the mill workers in their demand for the right to belong to unions and to continue organization in the mills in the effort to finally force recognition of the union.

The labor situation in the Minneapolis mills has been coming to a head for some time. Early in August organizers commenced to work among the 5,000 men in the mills and in less than a month the Flour and Cereal Mill Workers' union had 300 members. The mill owners soon realized the growing strength of the movement and sought to head it off by granting a 25 cents per day increase. But the union kept on gaining and the owners decided upon more vigorous steps.

Union President Gets "Fired."

They commenced discharging men who were known to belong to the union, and J. F. Voelker, president of the union, was one of the first to be let out. Voelker demanded the reason for his dismissal. He has been employed in one of the mills since 1884 and is an efficient worker. He finally got an audience with the superintendent.

"There is no use beating around the bush, Voelker," the superintendent said. "You got 'fired' because you belong to the union. We don't intend to have any unions in these mills and we don't intend to have any trouble like the street car company had. If we had a strike it would mean government ownership, and we don't propose to run any risks."

Voelker could get no other satisfaction. He is a skilled workman and three men are said to be doing the work that he was doing when he was discharged for the crime of belonging to a union.

Union Intended No Strike.

Union officials make it plain that they intended no strike to force recognition of the union. They knew that the Minneapolis flour mills are the bread basket of the world and they would not sanction a strike at this time when food is vitally needed. They lately asked that the mill owners and them submit their differences to a federal mediation board and this fair proposal was rejected by the owners.

The Minneapolis mill owners have been depressing prices for the producer by price juggling and unfair grain grading and at the same time charging exorbitant prices to the consumer for a commodity that is one of the prime necessities of life, yet they deny their workers the right to organize and discharge faithful employes who exercise that right.

But in this case the abuse of their autocratic authority may have far-reaching consequences. The organized farmers already are demanding public ownership of the mills through the National Non-Partisan league program and now the organized workers are swinging into line. The discharge of Voelker may be the "shot that was heard around the world" so far as the mill owners are concerned.

"Capital" Wages of Labor.

"The public conscience, from the beginning, has not been aroused either to the business or to the moral side of stealing the wages of labor set aside in investments for the protection of the family."—Wall Street Journal, Oct. 30, 1917.

The Millennium.

Millennium is a term applied in theology to the thousand years during which Satan will be bound and the martyred saints live and reign with Christ—Revelations 20:2-8. This long triumph is to be preceded by the decisive victory of Christ over the adversary, and followed by a general resurrection and the temporary release of Satan; then come the last judgment and the new heaven and new earth—Revelations 19-21. All that is positively told respecting the millennium can be read in the Scriptures. To the passages indicated various interpretations have been given, and upon the literal interpretation various theories have been built.

Attempts to fix the date of the advent, the second coming, the dawn of the millennium, have been proved by lapse of time to have been failures. Some of the dates that have been fixed for the beginning of the millennium have been 1785, by a man named Stilling; 1836, by Bengel; 1843, by Miller; 1866, 1867 and 1868, by Doctor Cumming; and 1890, by the Mormon church.

The Middlemen.

A farmer raised a peck of wheat beside the River Dee; a boarder ate a wheated loaf 'way down in Tennessee; the loaf the boarder fed upon cost half as much and more as did the farmer's peck of wheat a month or so before. "Now, why is this," the boarder raved, "they hold me up on bread?" "And why is wheat so bloomin' cheap?" the plodding farmer said.

A chap beyond the Rocky ridge raised 20 pounds of limes; another one in old New York was kicking on the times, for he had downed a glass of "ade," and, poor forlorn galoot, had paid one-half the market price of 20 pounds of fruit. "Now, why is this, they soak me thus for this wee sip of 'ade'?" "And why," exclaimed the orchard man, "am I so poorly paid."

Now hold your horses steady there, you man beside the Dee; go easy there, you hungry chap in sunny Tennessee; restrain yourself, you orchard man, forbear this angry talk, and you beside the soda fount in Little Old Noo Yawk, remember this: Our food and drink, no matter where and when, must also be the food and drink of thirty middlemen.—Utica Globe.

Curious Burials.

The inhabitants of Mesopotamia have curious customs in the disposal of their dead. The corpse is carried to the grave dressed in ordinary clothes, with the face uncovered. Bodies are buried in shallow graves, and after a period dug up again, the bones being collected into a white linen bag and deposited in small buildings.

"One day," says an officer of the R. A. M. C., "I saw such a bag in a church; it was labelled with a woman's name. In a village near the Struma I have visited one of these storehouses of the bones of the departed. The bags most recently placed in it were still white and whole; others were whole, but stained brown by time. Those that had been deposited in years past had rotted away."

Evidently She Had Not.

The small boy was teasing his mamma for candy all during the preparation for a trip downtown. When finally exasperated she said: "Claude, if you don't stop mother will be angry. If I see it when we get there I'll buy some; otherwise I'll not."

He was quiet during several visits in and out of the downtown stores, when finally he said: "Mother, have you seen your fit yet?"

BARLEY NOT A HUMAN FOOD

As a Bread Cereal It Is Little Used. As An Animal Food It Is of Great Value.

[National Crop Improvement Service.]

For many centuries barley, the "corn" of holy writ, was used as a bread cereal, but it has practically gone out of use, except that Norway and Sweden use it in their peculiar bread disks, which are about the size and shape of a phonograph record.

Barley in itself does not make a good bread flour and could be utilized only by mixing it with wheat, something which the American miller considers desecration of his shrine. It has a peculiar flavor and is just as different from wheat bread, as either corn or rye.

But as a stock feed, it has many merits. As the kernels are too hard for some animals to relish, it may be crushed by passing it between rollers.

If finely ground, the gluten makes a sticky mass as soon as it is wet, and this peculiar property makes it difficult to make it into good bread. Its main use in the American kitchen has been to use it as pearled barley in soups. It is used some in breakfast food, through a malting process, but unless we as American people are on the verge of starvation, we will never use barley as a regular diet.

Tottie—I'm not surprised, darling; it would stop a clock.—London Sketch.

No, He Had No Opinion.

"Before we take you on the jury, Mr. Smith, we must ask whether you have formed any opinion of the prisoner's guilt or innocence."

"No," said Smith grimly. "No, I ain't formed no opinion."

"And, Mr. Smith, have you or have you not any conscientious objections to capital punishment?"

"No," said Smith, more grimly still, "not in this case."—London Opinion.

Very Likely.

"Our ancestors had very few boards of health, insanity commissions and so on."

"Perhaps it is just as well. Probably they would have locked up Sir Isaac Newton, Copernicus and also Christopher Columbus."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Great Difference.

"That's a step above the south sea islanders, where they marry a girl to the man who can offer the most cocoanuts. There it's a raffle."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Disparagement.

"I hope you never talk about your neighbors," said the exacting friend.

"I never do," replied the frivolous woman. "They're an awfully uninteresting lot."—Washington Star.

Inertia of Bodies.

Lay a visiting card on the tip of the left forefinger and on it place a penny. A quick flick of the card with the right second finger will remove the card without disturbing the coin. Another trick which illustrates the inertia of bodies is to knock away the bottom of a pile of checkers without upsetting the pile. This is effected quite easily with the help of a flat ruler. The remaining checkers are removed successively by a number of smart blows.

A more spectacular and apparently risky trick consists of drawing a newspaper away from under a glass filled with water. Provided, however, that the table is smooth and the paper be pulled away smartly and horizontally, there is no danger of the water being [illegible]

BUNGALOW FOR TWO

By LOUISE OLIVER

"What you goin' to do tonight, Jimmy?"

Jimmy, who had stopped at the drug store for a pocketful of cigars, turned and faced Murrin, keen-eyed and clever of fingers, but well dressed and with a certain persuasive manner that always got under Jimmy's skin.

Jimmy had started out with good intentions. A walk, a movie, then home to bed. It was Dutch luck to run into Murrin now! It would be hard to get away; hard, because he knew he didn't want to get away. He wanted very much to go where Murrin was going—to Silver King's poolroom—where the crowd usually hung out, and before the evening was over through a movable panel into Silver's back room, where green-topped tables were popular in various ways, according to the way one most preferred to lose money. And Jimmy had his month's salary in his pocket to lose. For, of course, he would lose it if he stayed with Murrin and the crowd; he always did. That was why he had determined on a new leaf. He was tired of being strapped. Besides, he had been having visions lately of something different from his unattractive life in a bricked-up boarding house.

"Hello, Murrin, you're a stranger. Where have you been?"

"Oh, inventin' a submarine killer. What you goin' to do tonight?"

"Nothing much."

"Neither am I. Let's do it together."

Jimmy considered. "No; I don't believe I can, Murrin. I sort of have a date."

Again Jimmy considered. A plan struck him. It was suggested by the open directory on the counter.

"Give me an envelope and stamp, Charlie," he called to the clerk. "Just wait a minute, Murrin; I've got to send a note to a friend of mine. I'll go with you then." And he ran his eye over the pages of the directory. Parsons was the first name his eye found. Patricia, Miss, 358 West Twenty-fifth street.

And slipping five twenty dollar bills inside the envelope, he addressed it and dropped it into the mail box beside the door.

Murrin had watched the operation with a scowl. "Come to think of it, I guess I'll go down to the aquarium and watch the porpoise blow himself. Good night," said he, striding out.

Jimmy grinned rather sheepishly as he looked from his friend's retreating figure to the mail box wherein lay most of the money he had in the world, addressed to a person he had never heard of.

At six o'clock the next evening Miss Parsons unlocked her door and stepped on the rather thick envelope. She was too tired to be very curious about anything, and threw it on the bureau and did a little wondering while she took off her things and pinned up a few wayward curls. Miss Parsons was very pretty—she was neither seventy nor seventeen. She was an accountant in a furniture store and twenty-two years old.

When she drew the money out of the envelope she was not surprised. It was merely a mistake, she assured herself, in spite of the fact that it bore her name. She needed a new hat and shoes and a lot of things, but—well the money was not hers so there was no use considering.

At the end of two weeks no owner—nor donor—had put in an appearance. Then Patricia began to be puzzled, as to what to do with it.

Then one day she made an investment. It was a white willow breakfast room set with touches of delft blue. She had admired it in the furniture store for weeks and pictured to herself a sunny little bungalow in the country and a tiny dining room with roses at the window and the furniture within.

In a month came another $100. Jimmy had determined to cure himself of gambling, for his soul's sake, and decided that the price was not too high. He'd only lose it anyway and the idea appealed to his sporting blood.

Then along came another bargain—a living room set of wicker—just the thing for a bungalow. It was purchased and stored with the willow. Things were looking up for Patricia. A third check bought a charming little bedroom set, for Jimmy was doing it right and sending a hundred every month.

Then one day Patricia decided to look for a house. Wasn't it odd that it was Jimmy's real estate office she happened to choose and that the minute Jimmy saw her he decided that he would show her the listed houses himself.

Of course he discovered she was Patricia Parsons, and Patricia discovered that it was Jimmy's money she had used. And when they found a love of a cottage, roses and all, and pictured how it would look with the new furniture, what other way was there to end it? Can't you guess? Ask Cupid.

"At Chattanooga," said a veteran of the Civil war, "one of the men in my company left early in the action, and no one saw him till after the battle, when he appeared in camp unwounded and unabashed. Some of the boys accused him of running away, but he wouldn't admit it.

"'I only retreated in good order,' he declared.

"I heard of the matter, and a few days later I asked him if he had any idea how fast he had retreated.

"'Well, I'll tell you, cap'n,' he said. 'If I had been at home and going after the doctor, folks that see me passin' would have thought my wife was right sick.'"—Harper's Monthly.

First Introduced Canes.

The Mexicans first used canes in America. When the Spanish conquered the country, a queer custom was introduced. The chief executive of the towns carried a stick with a gold or silver head. It was a kind of scepter.

The people, of course, rarely knew how to read or write, and when anyone was wanted for a crime, one of the mayor's subordinates would take the cane, find the culprit and place it horizontally upon the latter's chest.

The proceeding was equivalent to a summons, and the man had to appear before the mayor under the penalty of being cast into prison. This action was borrowed from Spain, where it still prevails to the more important actions.

NO PEACE TALK AT WAR COUNCIL

Allied Conference at Paris a Success Asserts Col. House On Return.

SPIRIT OF PEOPLE GOOD

By Putting Ban on Speeches Council Accomplished Aim In Three Sittings—Pershing's Task Difficult But Men Are Ready.

New York, Dec. 18.—What the American mission was sent to accomplish in the Inter-Allied war conference in Paris "has been successfully and satisfactorily done," was the message brought to the American people by Colonel E. M. House, head of the mission, who has returned to the United States with four of his colletagues.

Peace was never discussed at the Inter-Allied war council, which cemented together the Allied nations for the vigorous prosecution of the war, Colonel House declared.

"Before the conference, co-ordination was not going on well, but we are now all working together," he said. "We got together principally on the economic situation, the embargo on shipments to neutral countries, food and finance."

Colonel House will go to Washington at once to report to President Wilson on the mission.

Mission a Success.

"I will report that it was a complete success," Colonel House said last night. "We have brought things to a focus. The various governments sent their most able men. They were specialists, every one of them, in some line. They were accordingly grouped in committees which facilitated the work.

"War aims were not touched upon as far as this country is concerned, because I would not discuss them.

"There has been no conflict of purpose, no slakening in the pursuit of the object to be attained, and there have been absolutely no personal differences or friction to retard the work."

The entire American mission with the exception of Crosby and Taylor returned with House.

"Pershing's Task Difficult."

When asked whether he would again return to Europe, Colonel House said:

"That depends entirely upon the direction of President Wilson. However, I do not expect to be sent back."

"General Pershing has a difficult task," said Colonel House, "but he is doing it very well. While in France I visited the American army camps and will say this for the emen, they are now in the best of condition and will be ready to fight when the time comes. And they know how to fight. Both Pershing and Admiral Sims are well liked by all the naval and military experts in Europe and the American interests are almost paramount."

U. S. SUGAR SHORTAGE DENIED

Famine in East Due to Food Administration Rule, is Charge.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Declaring there is no shortage of sugar in the United States and that the famine is local to the Atlantic seaboard, President Spreckels of the Federal Sugar Refining company testifying at the senate committee's investigation, placed the responsibility on the food administration. Sugar, he declared, was now passing through New York to Canada, because of higher prices.

The sugar going through New York, Spreckels said, was raw and the Canadian refiners paid a high price.

JURY'S VOTE ACQUITS MEANS

Is Freed of Charge of Murder of Wealthy Widow.

Concord, N. C., Dec. 17.—Gaston B. Means has been acquitted here of the murder of Mrs. Maude A. King, a wealthy widow of New York and Chicago, whose business affairs he had handled. The jury was out all night.

After the foreman of the jury had formally pronounced the verdict of "not guilty," counsel for Means asked the court if it had any other charges against their client. Judge Cline replied there was none and Means was given his freedom for the first time since last September.

SENDS MORE TROOPS WEST

Kaiser's Supreme Effort Coming Critic Warns.

London, Dec. 15.—"We must expect half a million fresh German fighters on the west front and many more guns and aircraft," declared Colonel Repington, the Times military expert, in an article emphatically warning the nation that Germany is preparing her supreme military effort there.

Power Refused to Non-War Plants.

Pittsburg, Dec. 17.—Practically every manufacturing concern in Pittsburg engaged in making other than absolutely necessary materials will be forced to close down the first of this week unless their plants are steam equipped, as the entire supply of direct current will be diverted to war order factories, it is announced by Robert J. Bulkley, member of the priorities commission of the Council of National Defense, who is conducting an investigation into the power situation here.

WAR COUNCIL FORMED

New Body to Control All Military Relations.

Co-Ordination of Supplies Is Chief Aim Of Organization—Headed By Baker.

Washington, Dec. 18.—Organization of a war council of the War department to co-ordinate all matters of supplies for the armies at home and overseas and the military relations between the armies in the field and the department is announced by Secretary Baker.

The council will consist of Secretary of War Baker, acting assistant Secretary of War Crowell, Major General Tasker H. Bliss, chief of staff, and Major Generals Henry G. Sharpe, quartermaster general; Erasmus Weaver, chief of coast artillery; William Crozier, chief of ordnance, and Enoch P. Crowder, provost marshal general. The announcement says:

"The purpose of the council is to oversee and co-ordnate all matters of supply of our field armies and the military relations between the armies in the field and the War department. The council will act through the chief of staff and will be provided accommodations and facilities for the transaction of its business.

"The war council does not take over the specialized duties of the geeral staff or the war college, but is intended to bring to the larger problems of the specialized duties of the general and general training of the officers of most mature years and largest experience in the service."

WOMAN IS GIVEN FIVE YEARS

Kate O'Hare Defies Judge When Sentence Is Passed.

Bismarck, N. D., Dec. 17.—A sentence of five years in the penitentiary at Jefferson City was imposed by Judge Martin J. Wade of Des Moines on Mrs. Kate Richards O'Hare, convicted of making utterances in a speech at Bowman, N. D., last summer, tending to discourage obedience to the military regulations.

The sentence followed a long speech by Mrs. O'Hare, in which she reiterated statements declaring her opposition to war and defied Federal Judge Wade to do his worst.

Witnesses at her trial testified that Mrs. O'Hare declared in her speech at Bowman that "mothers who raised their sons to be cannon fodder were no better than a farmer's brood sow," and that "young men who are foolish enough to enlist or volunteer are only good enough for German fertilizer."

Mrs. O'Hare was editor of a Socialist newspaper in St. Louis and later went on a lecture tour.

U-Boat Stops Spanish Ship.

Paris, Dec. 17.—The Spanish steamship Preferida, while steaming along the coast of Portugal, was stopped by a German submarine, telegraphs the correspondent at Madrid of L'Information. The officer of the U boat made a half hour inspection of the Spanish vessel, but left hurridly when the submarine was menaced by the coast artillery.

Trials For More Negro Army Rioters.

San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 15.—Plans are rapidly being shaped to try additional men of the Twenty-fourth infantry on charges growing out of the Houston riot August 23. Fourteen enlisted men of the Twenty-fourth who have been confined at Fort Bliss, El Paso, since the removal of the battalion from Houston, have been brought to San Antonio. No formal charges have been preferred against any of the men or against any other Twenty-fourth infantrymen so far as has been made public.

ITALIAN LINES HOLDING FAST

ENEMY KEEPS UP DRIVE

Enormous Casualties Inflicted On Teutonic Forces—All Sectors On Western Front Marked By Lull In Fighting.

London, Dec. 18.—The German and Austro-Hungarian armies in the mountainous region of northern Italy continue their efforts to break the Italian line and open a passage to the plains below, despite the terrible losses they have sustained.

Between the Brenta and Piave rivers in the Italian highlands hard fighting continues. The enemy to the east of the Brenta has been able, by throwing huge numbers of men into the fray and seemingly disregarding the enormous casualties inflicted upon him, to advance his line to Caprille hill, a dominant point at the head of the San Lorenzo valley, which leads to the Venetian plains. Here, however, he has been forced to stop under the terrific defense of the Italians, who evidently have massed their forces in order to bar the way to a further advance.

Invaders Summarily Repulsed.

Prior to gaining the summit of Caprille the invaders twice were summarily repulsed, but for their final attack they brought up large numbers of fresh reinforcements and the valiant defenders were compelled to give ground.

In France and Belgium there is little military activity, except for small engagements by outposts and raiding contingents and artillery duels.

The nearest approach to attacks in force were made by the Germans in the Champagne region of France, and to the north of the Chemin-des-Dames. In both of these the Germans were worsted by the French. A small British maneuver south of Cambrai resulted in the capture of a few German prisoners and a machine gun.

Hartford, Conn., Dec. 15. — Paul Stoeckel of Hartford, editor of the Connecticut Staats Zeitung and a prominent German resident of this state, has been arrested on a warrant charging Stoeckel and his partner, Mr. Wisli, with violation of the federal laws regarding articles published in the German language press. It is alleged that Stoeckel and Wisli did not file with the postmaster at Holyoke, where the Connecticut Staats Zeitung is published, true English translations of all the articles.

APPEAL FOR RED CROSS

Believes Present Drive Will Create Organization Representative of Entire People.

Washington, Dec. 18.—Henry P. Davidson, chairman of the war council of the American Red Cross has issued this call on the eve of a great Christmas membership campaign of the organization:

"To the 5,000,000 members working loyally with us today—stand by the colors."

"To the ten or fifteen million members who will join us before Christmas eve—fall in."

Mr. Davison, who was called upon by President Wilson to serve the Red Cross after the country went to war, told in his statement something of what he had learned about the organization, and of its wonderful expansion to meet war conditions.

Is Modern Miracle.

"Today the American Red Cross is one of the modern miracles," he said. "It has accomplished the impossible in its national organization with volunteer workers; in the Junior Red Cross for children; in its chapter administration covering the whole of the United States map. It has mobolized America for action in the world emergency. It stands behind the American army and navy with supplies and with personnel for every call which they may make upon it. It works with President Wilson's approval in the task of preparing our people for mutual service to those among us who may suffer because of changes which the war has brought.

"If the Red Cross is not as democratic as you would like to make it, that is probably because you are on the outside looking in. My experience is that no one has the right to criticize who is not in the work up to his neck. I believe we shall obtain a membership of 20,000,000, in which all social lines are flung to the winds and an organization representative of the entire people will be created."

CZAR ESCAPES FROM SIBERIA

Announcements Is Made From Bolsheviki Headquarters.

Amsterdam, Dec. 17.—Nicholas Romanoff, former emperor of Russia, deposed last March by the revolutionists, and for several months in confinement at Tobolsk, Siberia, is reported to have made his escape.

As the reports unlike previous rumore to this effect came through Bolsheviki headquarters in Petrograd, the announcement may be regarded as official, giving rise to keen interest as to what may be the direction of the ex-emperor's flight and the effect it might have on the destinies of Russia.

Livestock Interests Complain.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Live stock interests complained to the Interstate Commerce commission that because railroads do not maintain through rates from producing and packing centers west of the Mississippi to Southeastern states, the live stock industry is seriously hampered.

Children Reported Freezing.

Washington, Dec. 15. — Charging that children have died from cold and exposure in Michigan because of lack of coal, Senator William Alden Smith bitterly attacked the fuel administration on the floor of the senate. "The situation in the Northwest is pathetic and it is criminal to think that the senate has taken no steps to prevent it," he said. Referring to Dr. Garfield, federal fuel administrator, Smith said: "Putting entire strangers in control of a great commodity like this brought on the situation."

UNCLE SAM ASKS MEN TO ENROLL FOR WAR WORK

PUBLIC SERVICE RESERVE BEING INAUGURATED BY THE DEPARTMENT OF LABOR.

Labor Is Urgently Needed in the Shipyards and Factories—Men Not Now Engaged in Producing War Material to Be Called.

Washington.—In an effort to get men for work in the shipyards and in the industries producing war material, the department of labor is inaugurating a public service reserve and a campaign has been started to enroll men for the service. William Edwin Hall is the director of the public service reserve and state directors and local organizations are being perfected in every state.

"The primary object of this campaign," said Mr. Hall, "is to obtain a large list of skilled and semi-skilled men who are not now producing war material or doing work useful to the prosecution of the war, and to get them into the shipyards and the factories which must be maintained at the highest speed if industry is to meet the insatiable demands of a large army at the front.

"It appears from published reports, such as the arrival of the Rainbow Division in France, that the number of American troops at or near the firing line is constantly increasing, and we civilians whom these troops have gone over there to protect, would be shamefully derelict in our national duty and quite wanting in patriotism if we did not make every personal sacrifice to keep our soldiers 100 per cent supplied.

Labor Needed in War Work.

"A number of the non-essential industries are employing labor which is urgently needed for war work—in the shipyards, for example. One is surprised to see how many kinds of workers are needed to build a ship. The shipping board has prepared for the public service reserve a list of 88 different "peace" occupations from which men must—absolutely must—be drawn in order that our tremendous shipbuilding can be carried out in time. You often hear it said that 'ships will win the war,' but today it is being put in a little different way by those who know the situation: A failure on the part of American civilians to build the necessary number of ships will make it impossible for the United States to continue to fight. A lack of ships may lose the war.'

"The United States public service reserve," explained Mr. Hall, "is working at high speed today to obtain all these men needed for shipbuilding, for making equipment, for gun manufacturing, for mechanical draughting, for hundreds of other vital operations, from the 'non-essential industries'—that is, from industries which are important to a country at peace but, in the final analysis, virtually unnecessary to a country at war.

"Our effort is always to obtain the workers for war industry without crippling the peace industry. We will not draw away an over-production of employees from any one locality, from any one industry, from any one employer. War means suffering. A considerable disturbance of industry is inevitable. The public service reserve proposes to bring about the necessary shifting of labor with just as little disturbance as possible. We want no industry and no employer to have to bear any more than a fair, legitimate share of the burden which the peremptory demands of war throw upon all of us."

Differs From Army Enlistment.

"Men who enroll in the United States public service reserve state their trade and suggest other classes of work they could do, if necessary, for the war. The enrolled men will remain at their present jobs and when they are notified that an opportunity to put them into war work has arisen, they are under no obligation to accept the new jobs unless satisfied with wages and conditions. Thus their enrollment in the reserve differs from enlistment in the army, where the soldier has no choice but to obey.

"Every day more and more American workers are beginning to feel in their hearts that in this critical period of the nation's history they should be devoting their energies to the actual war needs of their country. By enrolling in the United States public reserve they enjoy a happier conscience, for they know that they have thereby declared their patriotism and that the moment a war indusry needs men of their type they will be given a chance to serve the country without leaving civilian life."

GREATER EFFICIENCY. REDUCED COST

Grow Grain in Western Canada, Make Profits, and Show Greater Patriotism.

The nation-wide cry of "More Efficiency" has now reached even the most remote agricultural sections and there is a general interest amongst the farmers to increase their products and to reduce their expenses. The need of foodstuffs is greater than the world has ever before known, and every effort is being used to meet the world's food requirements, becoming more apparent every day. While it is true that this desire is attested by a general patriotism, there is an underlying factor in this extension work to secure some of the benefits that are being offered by a ready market at maximum prices. Wide-spread attention has been given to the opportunity in this respect in Western Canada, where fortunes are being made in a few crops out of grain at present prices.

It has been found that the open, level prairie can be cultivated for wheat and other small grains at a minimum price, and during the past few years the yields have been more than satisfactory. Wheat crops of forty bushel to the acre have been common in Western Canada in the last three or four years, and with a present available price of over $2.00 per bushel this means a return on investment and labor that cannot be duplicated elsewhere. This is made possible by the low priced lands that can be secured for grain growing. The range in price runs from $15 to $25 per acre, according to location and other local conditions. In this period of "more agricultural efficiency" it is apparent at a glance that the farmer on low priced but high grade lands, growing his grain at a minimum cost, is reaping a golden harvest with the highest percentage of profit.

The cultivator of high priced farm lands has a big handicap to overcome in computing his profits on a $200 an acre farm as compared with the agriculturist reaping as great, if not greater return from $25 an acre land.

It therefore becomes a question for the farmer himself to answer, whether he is doing himself and his country the best service, by devoting all his energies to working high priced land that yields no better return than land that can be secured at one-eighth the price. It is a case of getting either minimum or maximum quantity. Many have already decided on the alternative, and with their spare money invested in and now working Western Canada lands, they are allowed to speak for themselves. Apparently they are satisfied, for we learn of cases where on a $4,000 investment, in one year they have had their money back, with a profit of from 50% to 100%. Such is one of the steps in progressiveness now being demonstrated in the effort to create greater efficiency. The Canadian Government is using every effort to bring these conditions to the attention of the agricultural world, in order to secure the necessary increased grain production so greatly needed. The farmer in Western Canada is exempt from all personal taxes. His buildings, stock and implements are not assessed; and every encouragement is given to farmers to improve and increase their farm output. Reduced railway rates are being offered to new settlers to look over the country and to size up an unprecedented opportunity in farming.—Advertisement.

The Real Christmas

Keep Eternal Christmas In The Heart

ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS

Working In the Name Of the Christ Child

SOME thirty years ago there lived in the city of Washington a young girl, the daughter of Richard T. Merrick, a distinguished lawyer, says the Survey. A serious injury, due to an accident, had left her an invalid, confined to her couch. The Christmas season was fast approaching and amid the preparations for the holidays, which the happy family were busily making, this young invalid, reared in luxury, conceived the desire of clothing in the name of the Christ Child some poor babe who was to come into the world in poverty. She made a simple but complete layette, sent for a friend who she knew could find the very mother who needed such assistance, and one small child was clothed in the name of the Christ Child.

The Christ Child society, founded 27 years ago, distributed 139 layettes last year. Not one request has ever been refused to an applicant indorsed by its visitors. And from this has developed the material relief department, which clothes and shoes children, furnishes a fortnight's outing, a brace for a crippled leg or a book from the library. There are no religious qualifications. Active members contribute a definite number of hours' work each week, and anyone may become a member by promising to answer the Christmas letter of a poor child. Washington numbers 1,000 members, and there are more than 4,500 in all, including the branches in 22 cities.

From her couch, where she has lain for more than 25 years, Miss Merrick directs and leads all the society's work.

St. Nicholas Day and Christmas.

A writer in the Pall Mall Gazette thus speculated concerning the amalgamation of Christmas eve and St. Nicholas eve: "Perhaps the amalgamation of the two festivals was brought about by motives of economy, the giving of presents on December 5 and again on December 25 constituting too heavy a toll on parental purses. That this was the case appears to be proved by the custom prevailing in Catholic Germany, where St. Nicholas duly appears in each home on December 5, and, inquiring into the conduct of the children, rewards the worthy with fruits and cakes and lectures the unworthy on the duty of obedience. He then asks the Christ Child to bring them at Christmas, and on the morning of that day they usually find the desired articles in the shoes which they placed overnight on the hearth. This variation of the original Nicholas eve custom, for so long obsolete in England, probably accounts for our possession of Santa Claus in his present form. He is supposed to have been an importation from America about 40 years ago (as a little earlier we had derived the Christmas tree from Germany on the initiation of the prince consort, husband of Queen Victoria.)"

On Christmas Eve.

Oh, little babe, oh, gentle babe,
That in a manger lies,
A-listening to the choral sweet
Which floats a-down the skies,
We, through the year, who only hear
The world's harsh thundering,
Listen that we, dear babe, with thee
May hear the angels sing.

Oh, little babe, oh, gentle babe,
Who lookest toward the star
And seest when they bear their gifts,
Those wise men from afar,
From wandering wide back to thy side,
Weary and worn, we flee;
But hearts that bleed and hands that need
Are all we have for thee.

Oh, little babe, oh, gentle babe,
Our hearts were hard and cold;
The star we loved, the star of fame,
The song, the song of gold.
At the manger's side this Christmas tide
We listen and we long
And see that star shine from afar
And hear the angels' song.

The Christmas Fire

By HARRIET PRESCOTT SPOFFORD

THE tree grew green in the forest,
Grew green in the sun and the dew;
His branches reached for the shadows,
He feathered his tops in the blue,
And happy the air about him
Wherever his balsams flew.

Drenched with the rains of the summer,
Fine from his stems spun the showers,
Soft dropped the snow on his mantle,
Dream work of silver and flowers,
And over him white light trailing
The stars swam through darkling hours.

Groping where great rock pillars
Stand shouldering rank on rank,
His roots at the cold sweet sources
The ancient juices drank,
And he swept with the earth companion
As the vast skies rose and sank.

His boughs brushed low on your forehead
As a passing wing might brush,
When night winds made shrill music
In the heavens, and hush, oh, hush!
For deep in his depest covert
He hid the hermit thrush.

Low have they laid the giant,
And they hale him home with mirth,
And they fan the fires that twinkle,
And sing round his mossy girth,
And make with a mighty magic
The life of the Christmas hearth.
For his flames give the spicy fragrance
Of the summer atmosphere,
While the breath of the woody hollows,
The luster and light of the year,
The blossom, the bird song, the breezes,
He sheds through the Christmas cheer.

And the message of peace and blessing
In the great fire's glow they mark,
With the lad from the war and the sailor
Home from his tossing bark
Ere the Christmas bells come chiming
Like the touch of the frost on the dark.

And widely on pane and ceiling
Sparkles a fiery foam,
And the children dance with their shadows
Like the forest sprite with the gnome,
While the great log roars and blazes
The heart of the joy of home.

And the cheek that has long been withered
With an old rose blooms once more
As memories glow like the embers
Whose flashes sink and soar
With the Christmas fire's warm glory
Where the log burns red at the core.
—Woman's Home Companion.

The Christmas Spirit.

However it may be, when Christmas comes it finds us all to a greater or less degree ready to cry "A merry Christmas to all" and to the best of our ability keep it with good cheer. Deep down in our hearts every one of us cherishes what may be called the Christmas sentiment. Even if we go, as so many have done of past years, outside of the walls of our own home we still observe our Yuletide in a more or less conventional manner. We may escape our relatives, save ourselves the bother of home preparations, pretend that we have cut adrift from the old fashioned methods, but it all amounts in reality to the same thing. We are animated, after all, by the same spirit, whether we are in a country house, a flat, a restaurant or hotel.

A Joyful Yule.

Then drink to the holly berry,
With hey down, hey down derry;
The mistletoe we'll pledge also.
And at Christmas all be merry.

Fire of unknown origin destroyed one of the barns at the Hastings state asylum. A number of hogs kept in the barn were removed without loss.

Only American citizens or men having their first papers will be accepted to positions on the faculty of the University of Minnesota henceforth, according to a ruling made by the board of regents.

The body of an unidentified man was found on a hay meadow on the Grasswell farm, just outside of Willmar. It was found in the snow by Edward Anderson, who rents the farm. The coroner decided the man had frozen to death.

The funeral of Anson R. Spear, president of the Minnesota Association for the Deaf, who died suddenly in St. Paul, was held at Minneapolis. Mr. Spear, was deaf himself and devoted himself to bettering conditions for others similarly afflicted.

Two hundred members of the Crookston Commercial club were present at the War Dinner at the club rooms. The dinner was prepared by the freshmen girls of the local high school and only food recommended by the food administration was served.

A verdict in favor of the city of St. Cloud was rendered by the jury in the case of Jennie A. Pipps against the city of St. Cloud in district court. The city had offered the plaintiff $300 for land in condemnation proceedings, but this was claimed to be too low.

The Norwegian society is planning to erect a monument to the Civil war hero, Col. Hans Heg of the Fifteenth Wisconsin volunteers, who died in the battle of Chickamauga. The board of directors will meet at Minneapolis Jan. 26 to plan details of the monument project.

Railroads are prohibited by a State Safety commission order from carrying liquor into Polk county, which is dry under local option. The order was designed to correct conditions complained of at East Grand Forks, and was reccommended by the mayor of that city.

Warren J. Miller, Crookston high school instructor in English, has resigned to enlist in his country's service. He passed his examination in Minneapolis for a positon as a musician in the naval reserves. Mrs. R. C. Trumbo will have charge of Mr. Miller's classes.

"White ways" will continue to blaze in Minnesota until after Christmas, through an order issued by J. F. McGee. Federal fuel administrator, who directed that beginning Dec 26 not more than one light on a street fixture be used where the current is produced by coal.

Porkless days and wheatless meals, in addition to the regularly observed meatless and wheatless days, are recommended by the federal food administration and announced by A. D. Wilson, its chief representative for Minnesota. One porkless day each week and one wheatless meal each day, the former on some day other than Tuesday and the latter every day as well as Wednesday are suggested. The request is being made of housewives and other food dispensers.

According to Dr. Werner Hemstead, health officer of Brainerd, there are six cases of smallpox of a mild variety, all patients recovering. There are some cases of diphtheria, of which but one, a small child, was fatal.

A threat to close shops of the Great Northern at St. Cloud and throw out of employment between 700 and 800 car repairers and laborers is made if the men are unreasonable in their demands for increases, according to company officials.

For want of evidence, County Attorney Schmitt moved in district court at Mankato that the case against Mrs. Ida Bartz be dismissed. Mrs. Bartz was indicted with Dr. J. A. A. Joshlyn on the charge of abortion, of which charge the doctor was found guilty. The order was made.

Crow Wing county has bought a Staude Ford tractor attachment to be used in connection with the dragging of roads.

Martin county, which was asked for $9,200 for the Y. M. C. A. war fund, subscribed $18,500, according to the report of Chairman De Forrest Ward. Tenhassen township, which is almost wholly German, trebled its quota.

The Brainerd Symphony Orchestra association passed through the season of 1916-1917 without a deficit. The directors report a balance of $30 in the treasury after paying all expenses, including the pay director, Elwin Harris Bergh.

A meeting of the State Commandery of the military order of the Loyal Legion of the United States was held at the Merchants hotel, St. Paul. Memorials for members of the Loyal Legion who died during the past year were acted on.

Judge C. W. Stanton, in district court at Bemidji, has denied a new trial to Jess Dunning, former secretary of the local I. W. W., convicted under the new state law against syndicalism and sabotage, and he will be sentenced to from one to two years in state's prison, providing the supreme court on appeal does not upset the order of the district court. It is understood to be the first conviction under the law. PETITIONS ASK DRY STATE

Over 75,000 Citizens Signify Desire For Lid on Minnesota Saloons For Period of War.

St. Paul.

Investigation of the activities of Commissioner Oscar Keller, St. Paul, in connection with the street railway troubles, may be ordered, according to H. B. Libby, commissioner-secretary, on a resolution from the St. Paul Builders' exchange. Complaints of disloyalty in scattered localities and against various individuals are awaiting presentation to the commission, he added, but are not of a character to be made public in advance of definite action.

Petitions For Dry State.

More than 300 petitions with upwards of 75,000 signatures asking an order to close all Minnesota saloons during the period of the war have been presented to the Public Safety Commission, H. W. Libby, commissioner-secretary, announces.

The monster petition is the result of efforts by the Woman's Christian Temperance union organizations in many cities of the state. Inasmuch as the petitions continue to pour in, Mr. Libby said it was doubtful whether any definite action would be taken on them at once.

State Hygiene Body Formed.

The Minnesota Social Hygiene Commission was organized formally at a meeting in Minneapolis for the purpose of assisting in the control of venereal diseases, and in the better enforcement of law governing social conditions in Minnesota and to promote the education of the people in social hygiene as well as to afford protection and employment to the socially unfortunate.

Officers were elected and committees to carry on the work in the various branches of the organization were appointed.

Charles S. Somers of St. Paul was elected chairman; W. F. Webster, Minneapolis, vice chairman, and Dr. Henry Wireman Cook, Minneapolis, treasurer. The executive committee will be composed of the officers and the chairmen of the various committees.

The University Board of Regents will be requested to permit the use of offices in the medical buildings of the university as headquarters for the commission.

It was estimated that the commission would require about $35,000 annually to carry on its work successfully.

A system for the tabulation by numbers of patients probably will be adopted. By this method all cases must be reported to the commission by the attending physician until the patient has been cured.

Officials' Removal at Issue.

Whether disclosures in an investigation of Aitkin county drainage bond sales are sufficient to warrant removal proceedings against any or all county commissioners, Governor Burnquist said, will be referred to Attorney General Smith.

Complaint by T. L. Smith and 25 other Aitkin county citizens that more than $200,000 of county ditch bonds at 5½ per cent interest were not sold to the best advantage and that the county affairs were not being handled properly resulted in the inquiry by the state public examiner, who reported to the governor that the commissioners acted within the law in a technical sense.

To Get 90 Cents on Dollar.

Creditors of the defunct Osseo State bank probably will be paid 90 cents on the dollar, F. E. Pearson, state superintendent of banks, has announced. The statement followed his application to the Hennepin county district court for an order directing payment of an additional 15 per cent to make a total of 80 per cent dividends to date. He said that other assets would probably make possible another dividend of 10 per cent. As a result of the Osseo bank failure, Cashier J. B. Thompson was sentenced to state prison for embezzlement.

There is a growing demand for a fixed price on grains other than wheat. A maximum price on corn should certainly be fixed if our wheat is to be economized, As the matter stands now wheat is the cheapest food and poor people are almost compelled to eat it in preference to corn meal. As the prime object of the government is to save wheat by eating other grains, the way to gain this end would be to boost the price of wheat and keep down the price of other cereals. Three dollar wheat and $1.50 corn would mean a greatly increased consumption of corn meal.—Norman County Index.

That paper called the Nonpartisan gotten out in St. Paul, is a disgrace to the State and should be promptly suppressed. They devote columns of space to asking Townley questions, which he has no more time to answer, than President Wilson would have to answer the questions of Tom Dick and Harry. There are now plenty of Patriotic members of that league, to control it's policies and they will stand solidly behind President Wilson, in the present crisis of this nation, but they are after the food speculators and middle mens scalp, and President Wilson and the whole present administration will help them to get it.

As soon as our American soldiers get into the real fighting, there will be no more talk in America, of any difference between Kaiser Wilhelm and the balance of the german people, and it will be a war to a finish, that is likely to last for two or three years at least, for it is a fight for to remove kaiser Wilhelm from that German throne, and president Wilson will not consider any proposals for peace from the present rulers of Germany, than he would a proposal of peace from a pirate on the high seas, that was sailing under a black flag of the skull and cross bones,

If the government does not step in and take control of the price of corn, the first thing placed on the bill of fare, at a high priced bouquet will be corn meal mush.

The wealthier people, who can afford to buy corn meal, at its present prices, should use it for food, so as to save the flour for the poorer class of people, who cannot afford to buy corn meal.

It is useless to talk about the german people repudiating Kaiser Wilhelm. You never hear a German sympathizer in this Country, that does not try to make people believe that kaiser Wilhelm, is Inspired by God Almighty to Conquer the world and subject them to the will of his autocracy. There will be no peace talk tolerated by America, until Kaiser Wilhelm. is sent to keep the Czar of Russia company.

LABOR PARTY RULES AUSTRALIAN STATES

RADICALS HAVE BEEN IN THE ASCENDENCY SINCE 1910 DESPITE COALITION.

POWER HELD BY PEOPLE

Workingmen And Farmers Direct Their Political Leaders How To Act At Frequent Program Conferences.

That Australia has the most democratic and one of the best managed governments in the world and that this is due to the vigilant efforts of the Labor party, in the ascendency since 1910, is the assertion made by G. E. M. Jauncey, an Australian, who is a member of the faculty at the University of Missouri. Mr. Jauncey is very much interested in the political and economic problems of the United States and believes that we could profit by following the example of Australia in many ways.

"Australia is a federation of states, like the United States. We have a federal constitution, but no state constitutions," Mr. Jauncey says. "Roughly, the Australian constitution defines upon what matters the federal parliament can legislate and leaves all other matters to the state parliaments. This means that any question can be legislated upon by either the federal or state parliaments. The federal constitution can be altered by the states giving over powers or by popular referendum.

People Get Quick Action.

"The federal parliament consists of two houses elected by universal suffrage on a basis of representation much like in America. The life of the house of representatives is three years or less. When any important matter creates a parliamentary division, parliament is dissolved and the people at once have an opportunity either to sustain or repudiate their legislators.

"The prime minister, who corresponds to your president, usually is chosen from the house of representatives by members of the majority party. He chooses his own cabinet. The cabinet members sit in parliament and always are subjected to questions, however awkward. The prime minister and cabinet can be removed at any time by a majority vote against them in the house of representatives.

Minister Can Be Removed.

"It is a practice of the cabinet at the beginning of each legislative session to outline the legislation it intends to introduce during the session. If the house of representatives does not approve of the program it can remove the prime minister and cabinet from office. The cabinet also introduces a financial budget at the beginning of each year.

"Our upper house can prevent legislation, but its powers in regard to money bills are limited and it cannot remove the prime minister and cabinet. Disputes betwen the two houses which result in deadlocks usually are settled by a general election or referendum.

"Not only is the executive authority directly responsible to the lower house, but the lower house itself is directly and continuously responsible to the people, for it is the practice that the government appeals to the country whenever there is a general feeling that it does not have the confidence of the people. The lower house is responsible for carrying on the government and every voter knows just where that responsibility lies.

Party Democratically Managed.

"The Labor party is one of the few political parties in the world that is democratically managed. The party is composed of trades unions, farmers' societies and others. These bodies send delegates to the various state and federal conferences, and these conferences, instructed by the rank and file of the membership, in turn instruct Labor members as to their course in parliament. These conferences are called at least once a year and oftener when something unforeseen of importance happens. Labor candidates are pledged to vote in parliament as these conferences instruct. If a member refuses, he is dismissed from the party and that usually means his political end, for the workers and farmers in Australia vote for their principles, not for individuals.

American Liberals Divided.

"Some Americans may object that this system takes away the freedom of your elective representative. Well, it does take away his feedom to go back on his election promises. And it simplifies things immensely for the voter. The voter reads the Labor and the Liberal-Union platforms. If he likes the Labor platform best, he votes for it and he knows it will be carried out, for Labor representatives always vote as a unit.

"The puzzling thing to me about American politics is that both the Republican and Democratic parties contain liberals—progressives, you call them. It's about time that all these progressives formed a political party of their own instead of voting against each other. We have done this in Australia and as a consequence the trades unions and farmers control the [illegible]

N EXILE WITH HER FATHER

Daughter of Millionaire of Kieff, Accompanies Parent to Save Him From Dreaded Loneliness.

Children in the exile districts seem grotesquely misplaced, yet there were many. Sometimes the gendarmes' magic would lift a father from his too liberal fireside in Russia and set him down without the humiliation of a trial in the glorious Narym solitude, writes Fortier Jones in the Century. "Not infrequently his family followed him in order to share the new life, or, as elsewhere, fathers are loved in Russia. Particularly among educated men the continual, unrelieved loneliness tended to bring on insanity.

"I know one fine business man, a millionaire of Kieff, and a direct descendant of Rouget de Lisle, whose little daughter came into exile with him to save him from this dreaded loneliness. She was fourteen years old, and they lived in a dreary village by the great old river, in a log cabin with pink chintz curtains and a piano. She was a winning little thing, with happy, brown eyes and long curls, and to all appearances was no whit the worse for her exile existence. The fascinating life of the forest was familiar to her, the birds and flowers, and her father cared for her French and history. What a bright spot she was in that wretched place, and what a curious life for a little girl whose illustrious forefather had composed the 'Marseillaise!' Her mother, who joined them later when her health would permit, and they had gained permission to live in a town on the railway, was a sister of Mme. Curie."

Some Grievance!

The railroad official invited the stern citizen to communicate his troubles.

"I want you to give orders," demanded the visitor, "that the engineer of the express which passes through Elm Grove at about 11:55 be restrained from blowing his whistle on Sunday mornings."

"Impossible!" exploded the official. "What prompts you to make such a ridiculous request?"

"Well, you see," explained the citizen, in an undertone, "our pastor preaches until he hears the whistle blow, and that confounded express was 20 minutes late last Sunday." [illegible]

The Middlemen.

A farmer raised a peck of wheat beside the River Dee; a boarder ate a wheated loaf 'way down in Tennessee; the loaf the boarder fed upon cost half as much and more as did the farmer's peck of wheat a month or so before. "Now, why is this," the boarder raved, "they hold me up on bread?" "And why is wheat so bloomin' cheap?" the plodding farmer said.

A chap beyond the Rocky ridge raised 20 pounds of limes; another one in old New York was kicking on the times, for he had downed a glass of "ade," and, poor forlorn galoot, had paid one-half the market price of 20 pounds of fruit. "Now, why is this, they soak me thus for this wee sip of 'ade'?" "And why," exclaimed the orchard man, "am I so poorly paid."

Now hold your horses steady there, you man beside the Dee; go easy there, you hungry chap in sunny Tennessee; restrain yourself, you orchard man, forbear this angry talk, and you beside the soda fount in Little Old Noo Yawk, remember this: Our food and drink, no matter where and when, must also be the food and drink of thirty middlemen.—Utica Globe.

Curious Burials.

The inhabitants of Mesopotamia have curious customs in the disposal of their dead. The corpse is carried to the grave dressed in ordinary clothes, with the face uncovered. Bodies are buried in shallow graves, and after a period dug up again, the bones being collected into a white linen bag and deposited in small buildings.

"One day," says an officer of the R. A. M. C., "I saw such a bag in a church; it was labelled with a woman's name. In a village near the Struma I have visited one of these storehouses of the bones of the departed. The bags most recently placed in it were still white and whole; others were whole, but stained brown by time. Those that had been deposited in years past had rotted away."

Evidently She Had Not.

The small boy was teasing his mamma for candy all during the preparation for a trip downtown, when finally, exasperated, she said: "Claude, if you don't stop mother will be angry. If I see fit when we get there I'll buy some, otherwise I'll not."

He was quiet during several visits in and out of the downtown stores, when finally he said: "Mother, have you seen your fit yet?"

W. H. Protzeller General Manager.

He Knew Him.

In his book, "Winnowed Memories," Sir Evelyn Wood relates how he once met a quiet American gentleman in England, and they began to talk of American poetry. Sir Evelyn mentioned the well known poem, "Jim Bludso," which he highly eulogized.

"My enthusiastic praise of the poem excited, I thought, an appreciative purr in my companion, but he remarked quietly:

"'Jim was a fine fellow.'

"I said, 'Or the author made him so?'

"'Oh, but he was!'

"'Why, was he real?'

"'Yes. I knew him well.'

"'But don't you think that the poet embellished Jim's act?'

"'No, I am sure he did not.'

"'Well, but how can you be sure?'

"And he replied quickly, 'I wrote it.'"

The gentleman to whom Sir Evelyn was speaking proved to be Colonel John Hay, author of the "Pike County Ballads," who was then the United States ambassador in London.

The Editor.

Editors, like actresses—beg pardon, like actors—are hidden from the vulgar gaze when off stage. It is not meet that the curtain should be lifted upon personalities, for this might lead to personalities; hence the editor is in a flock all to himself, save when attending conventions.

The editor, be it known, however, has no sorrows. He is a gay lot upon the universe, shifting shiftily from one white page to another, blithering blithely as occasion fits, regretting nothing, daring everything.

The editor fattens upon anonymity. Yet he is human, for when by chance his name appears there is no living with his conceit. And when it is misspelled—ye gods, the masses have their revenge!

Here's to the editor. May he live long and write short!—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

No Recommendation.

Signor Marconi, in an interview in Washington, praised American democracy.

"Over here," he said, "you respect a man for what he is himself—not for what his family is—and this you remind me of the gardener in Bologna who helped me with my first wireless apparatus.

"As my mother's gardener and I were working on my apparatus together a young count joined us one day, and while he watched us work the count boasted of his lineage.

"The gardener, after listening a long while, smiled and said:

"'If you come from an ancient family it's so much the worse for you, sir, for, as we gardeners say, the older the seed the worse the crop.'"

Disproves a Japanese Proverb.

"If you sit idly you will lose money every minute," is a liberal paraphrase of a well known Japanese proverb and serves as a protest against idleness. But we cite the case of the great Buddha at Nara which despite inaction [illegible] During the past year the Buddha received 351,000 visitors, who paid admission fees aggregating $9,350. The exaction of a fee to visit the big Buddha began in 1911.—Tokyo Journal.

THE LOCAL NEWS

A happy and prosperous New Year to all our subscribers.

We had a blustering disagreeable day yesterday, which we must expect at this time of year.

Mrs. T. S. Jacobson was taken seriously ill last Friday and Dr. Gambell was called from Thief River Falls, to visit her.

Our Highlanding ladies are taking an active interest in Red Cross work. Assist them by adding your name to the list, for no one can object to the Red Cross.

The tremendous increase in the price of liquor has rather discouraged "blind pigging" but if half the reports are true Goodridge have been able to produce the price this past summer. But as that Village seems to be in a local war, the real facts may be greatly exaggerated. But fix it up among yourselves boys, or do the Singer stunt, law to a finish.

We hope to hear that James Manahan, counsel for the Non-partisan league can promptly establish his innocence of the charge of creating the street car riot at St. Paul. But if he can not fully clear himself he should be promptly fired out of the league, as the farmers are not contributing $16.00 each to hire lawyers to start riots in the cities, and the outcome of this case will be watched closely by the farmer members of the league.

"Can you beat it," was the headlines of a rather sensational article published in the last weeks Eleven Towns. It seems from latest accounts that some of the Citizens promptly called the Bluff and "Beat it" by one or two more criminal complaints, which will be aired before the next Grand Jury. Well it is Goodridges turn this winter, as Highlanding and Deer Park, had their fun last winter. Nothing like giving the lawyers a job, if it is a little expensive on the County; and by the way. If any of you fail to get full satisfaction out of the criminal cases, you might get instructions at either Erie or Kratka, how to start civil actions, so as to have some more lawsuits next winter.

LITTLE GRAY HOUSE

By HILDA MORRIS.

The house was a very small one, standing lonely and deserted at the turn of the country road. Mildred came upon it early one morning in June when she was searching for a quiet place to read and dream.

Mildred was a teacher, and she had come to spend her long summer vacation at Willow Lake hotel. She was a slim girl, pale and pretty, with a soft charm that needed only rest and fresh air to make it bloom into real beauty.

The little gray house looked like a haven peaceful enough for anyone. It was shaded by a huge oak tree, and the patch of lawn before it was green and smooth as velvet. A large "For Rent" sign decorated its front window.

Mildred climbed the steps and peered in at the window. She saw a clean-swept room with painted white woodwork and an old white wooden mantel. There was a glimpse of a blue-walled kitchen on beyond.

"Oh!" the girl exclaimed to herself. "I do want to see the rest of it. I wonder—"

She turned the knob softly and found that the door was unlocked, so she explored the quaint interior, growing more enamored of the place at every step.

It was not hard to find the man who had charge of it—he lived a half a mile farther down the road.

"That's the Gordons' house," he explained. "They're all dead now except one young feller that's moved to the city. He wants it took good care of, and he'll rent it cheap to anybody'll do that."

"Oh, I will take good care of it," Mildred assured him, smiling. "I'll even paper some of the walls."

So she got the house for the absurd rental of $7 a month—less than half the sum she paid for her stuffy room in the hotel. Mildred had a little furniture in storage in the city. She sent for this, and set about the process of redecorating the sunny rooms.

By the time the living room was complete, with its chintz curtains, braided rugs and gate-legged table, it was as delightful a room as any woman could wish.

There came a dusty August day with a hint of thunder and rain in the air. There came also a letter—a most unwelcome letter to Mildred in her little house. It was from the principal of the private school where she was a teacher. It said that she was expected to return to her post on the 15th of September.

She lit a fire—it was really cool for August, and she was always ready to light a fire at the slightest excuse because it looked so cozy.

Mildred sat before the fire, trying her very best to think of some plan by which she could escape her year at the school. If only she could paint, or write, or do some clever thing to earn a living at home! The threat of rain had become a reality. It began to fall in sudden torrents. As Mildred stood at the window she saw a man come down the road, running. He turned suddenly, and sought shelter under the big oak tree before her house. At that moment a glimmer of lightning flashed out. Mildred rushed to the door.

"Please come in!" she called. "You might be struck under that tree. It isn't safe."

"All right," he called back in a pleasant voice, and in two or three bounds he was on the veranda, shaking himself like a big Newfoundland.

"I'm pretty wet," he smiled. "I hope—"

But Mildred interrupted him with a sudden exclamation.

"David Gordon!" she cried. "However did you come to me—here?"

"I came to see my house," he replied, "and you. Didn't you know, Mildred, that I was your landlord?"

"No!" she said. "I didn't. Whatever do you live at Mrs. Green's for when you have a place like this?"

"Why I couldn't live here alone," he said, "and make it look like this! Goodness, Mildred, what have you done to the old place? It hasn't been so homelike—since mother died!"

Mildred laughed, a little ruefully.

"I know it's homelike," she said. "And the worst of it is I've got to leave it and go back to work very soon. I—hate to give it up."

David nodded, a little absently. He was looking at the brown-haired girl in the blue gown and thinking how lovely she was, how well she fitted into the cozy little room.

"Why don't you move in yourself?" Mildred was saying.

"I couldn't—now," he said. "It's rented. It's your house. There's just one condition under which I might live here. That is—"

"That you will stay here with me. Could you marry me, Mildred, even though I offered you nothing better than this little house and love?"

"Oh, David!" [illegible] "I—could. And nobody in all the world could wish for any more!"

CHRISTMAS TREE

A very Creditable Christmas entertainment was given at the Hyland school house last Saturday evening by the school children of that District. After they had given their program Santa Claus appeared and distributed their presents from a handsomely decorated christmas tree, which made the little ones so happy that they clapped their hands and their little faces beamed with Christmas joy.

All Circus Rings the Same Size.

Railway tickets are the same size all over Great Britain and the continent—viz, 2¼ by 1¼ inches—and have been so for the last fifty years. This surely indicates a worldwide tendency to standardize.

Every builder's ladder is built to scale, and the fireman's ladder is on the scale of the seaman's run up the ratlines. But perhaps the greatest triumph of standardizing is that of the circus. There are big and little circuses in the world, but the ring is always of the same diameter, for the bareback rider has discovered the exact angle at which he can square the circle. No matter whether it be a ring cut in the turf or a luxuriously appointed theater, the circus ring never varies a foot.—London Mail.

The Hotel in the Forest.

Busaco, the beauty spot of Portugal, is a vast forest, in the center of which is situated one of the finest hotels in the country. Travelers arriving at this noted hostelry invariably comment upon the position of a certain olive tree standing just outside the hotel in the center of the road, most awkwardly situated for traffic. The reason the obstruction is not cut down is due to the fact that Wellington tied his horse to this identical tree on the eve of the battle of Busaco, 1810, and the inconvenience is put up with out of respect for the great general. An ancient monastery formerly stood on the site of the hotel, and Wellington is said to have slept there on the eventful eve. —New York Sun.

Turkey at her height was in possession of every famous city of the ancient world except Rome. She held by the sword Athens, Corinth, Sparta, Grecian Thebes, Constantinople, Antioch, Seleucia, Ctesiphon, Babylon, Nineveh, Bagdad, Jerusalem, Damascus, Mecca, Medina, Alexandria, Cairo, Memphis, Egyptian Thebes and Carthage. Some were in ruins, but the Turk was master where they had been.

First Introduced Canes.

The Mexicans first used canes in America. When the Spanish conquered the country, a queer custom was introduced. The chief executive of the towns carried a stick with a gold or silver head. It was a kind of scepter.

The people, of course, rarely knew how to read or write, and when anyone was wanted for a crime, one of the mayor's subordinates would take the cane, find the culprit and place it horizontally upon the latter's chest. The proceeding was equivalent to a summons, and the man had to appear before the mayor under the penalty of being cast into prison. This action was borrowed from Spain, where it still prevails in the more important actions.

Queer Story of a Grave.

A curious barren mound is to be seen in Montgomery churchyard. Whatever the cause, there is plainly to be seen a strip of sterility in the form of a cross among a mass of verdure. With the mound a melancholy legend is connected. It is called "Robert's Grave," and the story is that beneath this barren hillock lie the remains of an innocent man who was hanged on mistaken evidence. It is said that while the man stood on the gallows with the rope round his neck he solemnly declared, as a proof of his innocence, that grass should never grow on his grave. And even so it was and is. Any one who attempts to frustrate the fulfillment of this prophecy by sowing grass on this spot pays the penalty with his life. Instances are given of individuals who have been rash enough to do so and have met their doom soon afterward.—Cardiff Western Mail.

HURLEY TAKES ENTIRE BLAME

Assumes Full Responsibility For Success or Failure of Shipbuilding Program.

OUTLOOK IS HOPEFUL

Tells Senate Committee But One Vessel Has Been Finished to Date But Prospects For Future Are Brighter.

Washington, Dec. 24.—Chairman Hurley of the shipping board, testifying at the Senate commerce committee's investigation, shouldered full responsibility for the success or failure of the governments' shipbuilding program.

Called as the first witness Mr. Hurley admitted that there have been delays, but declared that the recent reorganization of the board's emergency fleet corporation for the first time gives the chairman of the board proper authority and fixes responsibility where it belongs. "The dual organization of the board and the corporation," he said, "has been done away with and the present general manager of the corporation answers directly to the chairman."

Accepts Blame If Plans Fail.

After testifying that he personally approved and accepted all ships contracts as president of the emergency fleet corporation, Mr. Hurley was questioned by Senator Harding.

"All the finances of this big program rest in your hands:"

"Yes, sir."

"Not in the hands of the shipping board?"

"No, sir."

"Then, if the whole thing fails, it will be your fault?"

"Absolutely." said Hurley firmly.

New Legislation Not Needed.

"The present organization," Mr. Hurley said, "is the only way that ships can be built. We do not need additional legislation. If the head of the institution does not build ships it is because of his inefficiency and not because of faults of the organization."

From Mr. Hurley and from John A. Donald, who has been a member of the board since its creation, the committee drew a long story of the troubles of the board and the fleet corporation starting with the row at the outset between William Denman, first chairman of the board, and Major General Goethals, first general manager of the fleet corporation.

SLAV PEACE TERMS REJECTED

Lenine Recalls Delegates, Is Report—Defied By Ukranians.

London, Dec. 22.—An Exchange Telegram dispatch from Petrograd asserts it is unofficially reported that the Germans have refused the Russian peace terms and that the bolsheviki delegation has been recalled to Petrograd.

The decision, if accurately reported, does not mean resumption of hostilities on the Russian front at once, as complete stoppage of all fighting for a month has already been agreed upon by terms of the armistice.

Petrograd, Dec. 22.—Former Czar Nicholas and his family are to be permitted to seek haven in some other country than Russia.

The province of Ukraine has formally rejected the bolsheviki ultimatum and in return demanded full recognition of Ukraine's independence.

Bolsheviki representatives, it was stated, declared an agreement was possible provided Ukraine declared her intention not to lend aid to General Kaledine and his Cossack revolt.

SUSPEND WEEK TO SAVE FUEL

Request Is Made of Factories In Michigan.

Washington, Dec. 22.—Fuel supplies in Michigan have reached such a low ebb that Administrator W. K. Prudden has asked manufacturers in that state to suspend operations of industrial plants from midnight tonight until midnight December 29. The only exceptions are factories making war munitions needed for prompt shipment.

Mr. Prudden's request was contained in telegrams sent after a conference here with Fuel Administrator Garfield.

"A patriotic response and adaptation of within request may obviate issuing positive orders covering a longer period," the message said.

PUT ON COAL RATIONS

Northwest Supply Divided In 90 Parts.

Shipments From Lakes Limited to 3,300 Tons Daily—U. S. Approves—Wisconsin Near Famine.

St. Paul, Dec. 22.—To make the dwindling supplies of anthracite coal at lake docks last until spring, Minnesota and adjoining states have been placed on coal rations. Figuring a 90 day season for shipments, the coal supply was divided into 90 parts, and shipments for each day limited to the day's share. This means that anthracite shipments from the head of the lakes will be limited to about 3,300 tons a day.

U. S. Approves.

The order has been approved by the United States fuel administration, and is in effect today, it was announced by Judge J. F. McGee, fuel administrator for Minnesota.

His statement in part, is as follows:

"A plan has been evolved, and by direction of H. A. Garfield, has gone into operation, affecting the distribution of anthracite coal in Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota.

"It is realized that there is a very serious shortage of anthracite coal at Lake Superior and Lake Michigan ports.

"The Wisconsin administrator, according to press reports announces that the Wisconsin supply of coal will be exhausted by Jan. 1.

"This plan is this: 'That the number of tons of anthracite coal on the Superior and Lake Michigan docks be apportioned over 90 days, and the number of tons be divided by 90 1-90th of the supply and no more to be shipped each day. This is expected to make the supply last until March 20."

PLACES BLAME FOR SHORTAGE

Food Administration Official Says Prohibition Makes Sugar Scarce.

Washington, Dec. 22.—Prohibition was blamed for part of the sugar shortage by George M. Ralph of the food administration in his testimony in the senate investigation.

Dropping of the use of liquor by soldiers and sailors and their natural turning to soft drinks and candy that require so much sugar, had added greatly to consumption.

The spread in the states of prohibition by local option has made a steady increase in the consumption of sugar, he said.

ARE BAGGING MORE U-BOATS

Allies Getting More and More Submarines, Daniels Declares.

Washington, Dec. 22.—Secretary Daniels has confirmed Lloyd George's announcement that more German U-boats are being bagged by the Allies. While not disclosing figures or the extent of American participation in the sinkings or captures, Daniels confidently predicted that the submarine will fail in its purpose.

While cautioning that ship losses from submarine attackss will continue to rise and fall, he added:

"You may be sure that we are getting more and more submarines."

25 Trucks of Mail Burn.

New York, Dec. 22.—Christmas mail deliveries were seriously interfered with in Brooklyn by the burning of 25 automobile mail trucks. The drumfire of exploding gasoline tanks in the fire sounded like a battle.

U. S. Not Opposed to Auto Making.

Washington, Dec. 21.—Representatives of the automobile industry have been assured the government is not concerned with the curtailment of motor car production. The automobile representatives were given this assurance at a conference with officials of the commercial economy board of the Council of National Defense. They were urged to organize an automobile dealers war service committee to serve as a connecting link between the [illegible]0,000 dealers and garage men and the government.

U. S. TO WIN WEST FRONT IS BELIEF

Allies Send Assurance of Confidence in Ability of General Pershing.

SCOTT MAY COMMAND

Former Chief of Staff Returns to Washington After Inspection of Russian, French and British Fronts.

Washington, Dec. 24.—Through Maj. Gen. Hugh L. Scott, former chief of staff, who was in conference with Secretary Baker and other war department officials, wired assurances of the confidence of both British and French commanders in Gen. Pershing's ability and their satisfaction with the breadth and soundness of his preparations to make American arms effective on the western front, have reached Washington.

No Pessimism As To Outcome.

There is no pessimism as to the outcome of the war in the fighting lines, General Scott found.

General Scott now personally has inspected three fighting fronts, the Russian, French and British. It appears probable that he is to command a division of the American army although no direct statement of the place designed for him by Secretary Baker has been made.

Strong Drink Barred.

With the American Army in France, Dec. 22.—All alcoholic beverages except light wines and beers are denied to members of the American expeditionary forces in France by General Pershing in general orders issued. Extraordinary measures are being taken to insure sobriety and a high moral standard in the army, and officers have been informed they will be held to strict accountability for the fullest compliance with the orders.

PACKERS WITHHOLD RECORDS

Swift and Co. of Chicago Refuse To Give Information.

Washington, Dec. 22.—Swift & Co. of Chicago have refused to deliver to the Federal Trade commission records desired by the commission in its investigation of the packing industry and drastic action will be taken in court to force their production, Francis J. Heney announced at the resumption of the commission's inquiry.

It was said that when the commission's investigators went to Chicago they received only evasive replies from the officers of Swift & Co., and that direct demand for the records had been refused. To obtain the papers which relate to the ownership of the Chicago stockyards and other details of the meat industry the commission will go into a federal court and ask an order compelling the company to produce them.

Don't Send Food to Soldiers.

Washington, Dec. 22.—The Council of National Defense has requested friends and families of soldiers not to send them food. An abundant supply is being furnished in the camps and cantonments, the council said, and a large quantity of privately sent food is being wasted. In some cases food has been spoiled, and it is feared it may endanger the health of the men.

U. S. Officials Not Exempt.

Washington, Dec. 21.—A joint resolution specifically providing that members of congress and federal officials shall not be exempted from the excess profits tax has been passed by the House with an amendment eliminating an exemption of the President of the United States, justices of the supreme court and other federal judges. Democratic Leader Kitchin, sponsoring the resolution, said it was necessitated in view of gross misrepresentations by the press and demagogues, throughout the coutry.

INDICTED FOR RIOTING

Speakers at St. Paul Meeting Held by Grand Jury

Action Comes As Result of Speeches Preceding Car Riots In Capital City Streets.

St. Paul, Dec. 24.—James A. Manahan, counsel for the Nonpartisan league; Oscar E. Keller, St. Paul's commissioner of public works, and Thomas E. McGrath, state representative from St. Paul, are charged with rioting in a joint indictment returned as an aftermath of the demonstration in Rice park, St. Paul, December 2.

In its final report, drafted after hearing 70 witnesses, the Ramsey county grand jury also censured severely the St. Paul police department for its failure to quell the riots.

Organized labor, as such, is absolved from blame for the disturbances, in the jury's report.

Riots Followed Meeting.

The three men indicted all spoke at the Rice park meeting. It was immediately following that meeting that the rioting which resulted in injury to more than 40 trainmen, the damaging of a score of cars and a complete tie-up of the city's transportation system for the night, started.

Law Provides Heavy Penalty.

The three men are indicted under the statutes entitled "Crimes against the public peace." Persons who shall be guilty of riot, or of participating therein, by being present, or by instigating, promoting or aiding the same, are punishable under the statutes. Punishment ranges from one year to five years imprisonment or fine from $250 to $1,000 or both imprisonment and fines, according to degree of rioting.

GERMAN FOOD PLOT BARED

Traffic Via Sweden Shown By Papers On Suspect.

New York, Dec. 22.—Important documents said to reveal extensive food traffic between the United States and Germany through Sweden, were seized by federal agents in Brooklyn when they raided the apartments of Gustav A. Meyers, a purchasing agent for certain German firms, and arrested him as an alien enemy.

According to government agents, some of the papers show Meyers shipped to Germany foodstuffs valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars and that he had been in communication with Germany as recently as a week ago.

Bank books showing deposits of $12,000 to his credit also are said to have been found.

DELAY BROUGHT BETTER GUN

Senate Committee Is Told By Manufacturers.

Washington, Dec. 21.—The Senate military committee has virtually completed its inquiry into the army ordnance shortage, paving the way for the beginning of the next phase of its investigation, that of clothing, supplies, transportation, contracts and cantonments.

More testimony regarding delays in rifle and machine gun production was given by a private ordnance manufacturer and a civilian rifle expert. The former, however, said that although delay in both had occurred, the loss of time had resulted in evolving much superior weapons.

Would Create Supply Department.

Washington, Dec. 22.—Details of the plan for creation of a supply department to cut red tape and speed up production of everything needed to make war effective have been learned. This plan is sponsored by members of both houses of congress who will support legislation creating the post, if it is not created by the administration on its own initiative. The plan contemplates three chief subdivisions—munitions, clothing and general equipment and food. In charge of each would be the best man obtainable.

41 LOSE LIVES IN TRAIN CRASH

89 PASSENGERS HURT

Station Man Attempts To Avert Wreck, But Is Too Late With Signals—Wooden Coaches Are Splintered

Sheperdsville, Ky., Dec. 22.—Forty-one persons lost their lives and about 39 were injured when Louisville and Nashville train No. 1, from Cincinnati to New Orleans, crashed into the rear of a Boardstown, Louisville and Springfield accommodation train just south of the railway station here, according to W. F. Sheridan, superintendent of the Louisville division.

First reports had placed the number of known dead at 67 and number of injured at between 40 and 50, but this was reduced when an official check was made. No cause for the wreck was assigned by Mr. Sheridan, who would make no statement pending an investigation.

From other sources it was learned that the accommodation had left the station after making a stop, when the fast train came in sight running at a high rate of speed and plunged into the train ahead. The two wooden coaches and the baggage car making up the lighter train were splintered.

None of the passengers aboard the fast train were killed and none of them received more than minor injuries.

Jesse Weatherford, telegraph operator at the station, said that after the accommodation train left the station he had set his block to show the track clear and left the office to handle baggage. When he got outside, he said, he saw the fast train approaching, ran back to the office, threw the block to show red, seized a lantern and rushed to the platform to flag it just as the locomotive thundered by.

ARGENTINA POPULACE RIOTS

President's Part In Luxburg Plot Stirs Country.

Buenos Aires, Dec. 22.—As the result of the publication of the telegrams sent by Count von Luxburg, the former German minister to the Berlin foreign office, it again has been necessary to call out mounted patrols to disperse crowds of people who demanded a rupture of relations with Germany.

The mob, which shouted "Long Live the Republic" and "Death to President Irrigoyen" was dispersed after a fight with the mounted police in the Calle Florida. Heavy guards again have been placed over the property owned by Germans in the city and mounted men also are guarding the offices of the newspaper La Union, for which Count von Luxburg obtained a subsidy.

In political circles certainty is expressed that Congress will demand explanations from the government regarding the state of affairs as exposed by the Von Luxburg telegrams.

TO ASK RAILROAD CONTROL

Wilson to Address Congress After Holidays.

Washington, Dec. 22.—President Wilson will send a message to Congress recommending enactment of legislation to meet the transportation situation immediately after the holiday recess. Until it has been received the President requested the Interstate Commerce committee to withhold making any investigation as provided under the Cummins resolution.

AUSTRIANS VOTE FOR PEACE

Would Have Russia Take up Question With Allies.

Amsterdam, Dec. 21.—A dispatch received here from Vienna says the Unterhaus has adopted by a small majority a resolution introduced by Czechs and South Slavs in favor of a general peace on the basis of no annexations or indemnity and for using Russia's good offices to convey such a proposal to the entente governments.

Russ Officers Would Fight For U. S.

With the American Army in France, Dec. 22.—The officers of the Russian army in France have volunteered as a body to give their services to the United States.

Argentina Buys French Bonds.

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Dec. 21.—In Argentine 25,500,000 francs has been subscribed in the new French loan.

Ask Miners to Work Holidays.

Washington, Dec. 22.—Miners should work upon holy days and holidays, until the present coal crisis is over, Cardinal Gibbons declares in a letter to Fuel Administrator Barfield. "It will be an invaluable service to the country and to humanity," said the letter, "if they will work regularly, for every ton of coal contributes toward the success of the nation in the titanic struggle upon which we have entered." The prelate also urged saloonkeepers to cooperate by closing bars between 9 p. m. and 8 a. m.

Many Historic Events Have Happened on New Year's Day

By RENE BACH

EVENTS of utmost historic importance, many of them tragic in character, are associated with New Year's day.

It was on the first day of January, 1513, that Juan Diaz de Solis, the explorer, coasting in a sailing vessel along the eastern shore of South America, discovered and entered the mouth of a mighty river. He called it (by reason of the date) the January river, or Rio de Janeiro, the name it bears and which is also borne by the city at its mouth, the capital of Brazil at the present time.

The tragedy, in this instance, came later. Three years afterward the same adventurous explorer again entered the river mouth. The natives were suspicious of his intentions, and when he landed they captured and killed him, and within sight of his ship roasted his body over a fire and ate it. Thus perished a man who, in his day, was reputed the ablest of living navigators.

Bartholomew Esteban Murillo, greatest of the Spanish painters, was born on the first day of January, 1618. For many years his services were employed by the churches and convents of Seville, which were enriched by his incomparable masterpieces. He earned by his art a considerable fortune. When at the height of his fame he was invited to Cadiz, and there executed his magnificent picture of St. Catherine, the mother of Jesus. Just as the work was on the point of completion he fell from a scaffold and was killed.

It seems rather odd that history should take the trouble to record the death, on January 1, 1630, of so unimportant a person as Thomas Hobson, a carrier of Cambridge, England. He made a business of hiring out horses.

Hobson was merciful to his beasts, and enforced a rule that required for each one of them a certain measure of rest. Those which had not had their proper time of rest he would not allow to go out. "This or none," he would say, indicating the horse that was available for hire. Whence came the familiar term, "Hobson's choice, this or none."

On the first day of January, 1776, the town of Norfolk, Va., was burned, not by the British, who were threatening the place, but by its American inhabitants. Lord Dunmore, the royal governor of the colony, having abandoned the town and sought safety on board of a ship (one of a number of vessels that were under his command in the harbor), found himself in distress for provisions.

The frigate Liverpool, on arriving, threatened to turn her guns loose upon Norfolk, because the people refused to furnish food supplies, but in response the inhabitants set fire to their houses and even wiped out the plantations for a long distance back from the water, in order that nothing in the way of subsistence might be obtainable by the enemy.

Exactly five years later, on January 1, 1781, an incident very alarming to the cause of the American colonists occurred at Morristown, N. J. It was nothing less than a revolt of troops of the Pennsylvania line, who had enlisted for three years' service. The term having expired, they demanded their discharge. The incipient rebellion was promptly suppressed, however.

On the first day of January, 1801, the astronomer Piazzi, at Palermo, discovered Ceres, the first of the minor planets, or so-called "asteroids," revealed by the telescope. It is less than 500 miles in diameter. Since then a great many of these baby sisters of the earth have been "spotted" by enterprising star-gazers, though none of them is so big as Ceres. One of them, Eros, is twins, two little globes revolving about each other. Up to date, 822 of these minor planets have been discovered.

When New Yeah's Calls Were Made

Col. Terwilliger, Bluegrass Loquitour.

Folks somehow aren't as sociable
As in the good old days,
When, sah, a certain grace an' cha'm
Distinguished social ways;
Fo' instance, sah, on New Yeah's Day,
When chivalry arrayed
In feathas fine would gathah, sah,
An' New Yeah's calls were made.

We greeted one anothah, sah,
With smile an' cotly bow,
An' round the brimming punch-bowl sah,
We gracely mu'mu'ed "How!"
And conve'sation sparkled, sah,
With wassail's kindly aid—
But that was in the golden days
When New Yeah's calls were made.

Pure nectah was that New Yeah's punch—
How generously it flowed!
The season's compliments were passed;
One's heaht, sah, fai'ly glowed.
The recent gene'ations, sah,
Old customs have betrayed—
But, ah those olden, golden days
When New Yeah's calls were made.

—Paul T. Gilbert in Cartoons Magazine.

The first day of January, 1810, was made memorable in East Haddam, Conn., by a happening that was in its way wholly extraordinary. There were in the town nine unmarried young women, and it had been decided that husbands must be found for them. Accordingly, in the spirit of an enlightened public enterprise, nine men agreed to marry them, and on the above-mentioned date all of them became wives, an elaborate ceremony and much rejoicing signalizing the event.

On New Year's day, 1914, London experienced a most remarkable fog. The city was immersed in a sea of suspended moisture that extended for a distance of 70 miles beyond its outskirts. Business was at a standstill and many people lost their lives by falling into the Thames river and into canals.

Four years later, on the first of January, 1818, the White House (which had been burned by the British troops in August, 1814) was for the first time thrown open to the public after that tragic event, at a New Year's reception given by President Monroe. Even then, however, the building was still undergoing repairs, which were not completed for more than a twelvemonth. It had newly received its first coat of white paint, to conceal the marks of fire that marred the brownish stone of which it was built. The cost of reconstruction was $246,490.

On the first day of January, 1825, Great Britain recognized the independence of the South American republics.

Paul Revere, hero of the famous ride, was born January 1, 1735.

President Lincoln issued his proclamation emancipating the slaves January 1, 1863.

These are only a few of the many notable events that have marked New Year's day in history. To give anything like a comprehensive list of them here could not be attempted. Some of the most important happenings of ancient times, in Rome, in Greece, and elsewhere, are also associated with the first day of the year.

The new grade school building at Bemidji, the Lincoln school in the Fifth ward, will be completed during the holiday vacation, and about the first of the year an elaborate dedication service will be held.

Mrs. E. T. Howard, for over fifty years a resident of Red Wing, died at the Red Wing hospital. She was 75 years of age and the widow of the late E. T. Howard, prominent in the business circles of that city fifteen years ago.

While at Cambridge shopping, Mrs. Eric Terrell of East Cambridge fell in front of the E. F. Gillespie store and although she was taken to a physician's office, nothing could be done for her. She lived only a few minutes after being taken to the office.

An appropriation of $1,500 was made by the Clay county board at Moorehead to be used for the purchase of uniforms for the Moorehead Home Guard, the appropriation being made subject to the approval of its legality by County Attorney C. B. Dosland.

The lumber sheds, office building and entire stock of lumber of the Rudd Lumber company at Braham was destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $15,000, covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is not known, but is thought that defective wiring was the cause.

Funeral services have been held at Endid for John Schuldt, one of the pioneers of this section of Polk county, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Geise. He was alone in the home and when found sat in his chair dead, having expired while reading and smoking beside the fire.

George Morrison, formerly clerk at the Arlington hotel at Hibbing, was arrestetd by the Indian agents as he stepped off a street car, charged with importing liquor into dry territory. It is alleged that several quarts of liquor were found on him. Morrison was taken to Virginia for a hearing.

The annual convention of the Northwest Central Minnesota Educational Association was held at Moorehead last week at the state normal. On Friday night a county loyalty rally was held at the normal school auditorium and Dr. Marion L. Burton, president of the University of Minnesota spoke.

Reports have reached Brainerd of a car loaded with Finns and booze which ran into a high bank near Riverton, everything falling out except the liquor. The Finns then hired a teamster to carry them and their cargo, the towline broke, the teamster fell down and got hurt and the team ran away.

A large service flag bearing the figures "6863" has been unfurled from the district headquarters of the Northwestern Telephone company at Minneapolis, denoting that 6,863 employes have gone into some branch of the service since the declaration of war. Of this number the Minneapolis branch has given 112 men.

In view of the increasing shortage of pennies, a movement to give postage stamps as change has been inaugurated in Minneapolis department stores. Several stores reported that they had started such a plan and that it was working successfully. Shortage of pennies in the northwest has become so acute that bankers in small towns have declared an embargo on coppers.

The Swedish Lutheran congregation at Deerwood, which had extended a call to Rev. Ternberg to take the pastorate has received his refusal.

The Federated Farmers' club of Beltrami county has asked the state legislature to reimburse counties for money paid out in bounties on wild animals.

Donald Dow, alias Fred Anderson, convicted of the murder of George Sheffield, Great Northern operator at Moorehead, shot and killed in a holdup there in September, has been taken to the Minnesota penitentiary to begin a life sentence.

Sale of horse meat in Minneapolis in special markets will be allowed if the council acts favorably upon recommendation of the health and hospital committee which approved an ordinance providing for sale of this meat and allowing it to be served in restaurants.

With the purchase, for $100,000 of the Dan Patch line cut-off from Auto Junction to Luce Line Junction by C. T. Jaffray and associates plans were set in motion for re-construction of the road from Minneapolis to Northfield and Faribault at a cost of $750,000, according to an announcement made by Mr. Jaffray.

H. E. Flynn, one of the state high school inspectors, represented the Minnesota state high school board in a conference in Washington on war industrial work in public schools. The conference was called by C. A. Prosser, director for the federal board for vocational education, and the call was sent to all state boards charged with administering federal aid under the Smith-Hughes vocational education act.

The grand jury at Mankato has completed its work, returning five indictments as a result of its special labors in the field of alleged disloyalty in the county. The parties indicted are accused of having uttered statements of a disloyal nature. It is rumored that one or two of the accused are women.

A carload of apples is to be sent to American soldiers in France by the Minneapolis Wholesale Credit Men's association. The apples were contributed by merchants on Commission Row to a committee of the credit Men's association.

FOOD INVENTORY STARTED IN STATE

SURVEY TO BE BROAD COVERING MORE THAN ONE HUNDRED DIFFERENT KINDS OF FOOD.

MORE WINTER WHEAT AND RYE

Government Crop Estimate Shows Farmers of State Have Patriotically Answered Country's Call For More Acreage.

St. Paul.—The comprehensive inventory of food resources to be conducted in the United States has been started in Minnesota.

Many wholesalers state that they had received inventory blanks from the Washington office of the food administration to make a report on the stock of foodstuffs on hand.

The salesman of the large wholesale concerns have been enlisted by the food administration officials to explain to the merchants in the smaller communities what the government expects of them when they make out their inventories. While the salesmen have been supplied with blanks, the retail merchants will not receive them for a few days.

The survey will be broad, the questionnaires containing questions relative to the eighty-six items and covering more than 100 different foods.

Officials in the office of A. D. Wilson, food administrator for Minneapolis, said they had not been advised of the start of the inventory, but believed it was being conducted from the Washington office.

Schedules also will be sent soon to a number of selected homes, returns from which will be used to compute a general average of the food on hand in the homes throughout the state.

Acreage of Winter Wheat and Rye.

Estimates compiled by the bureau of crop estimates, United States department of agriculture indicate that farmers have patriotically responded to the call for increased acreage of both winter wheat and rye. Figures for Minnesota given out from the office of the Minnesota field agent, Paul H. Kirk, at Fergus Falls, make the following showing:

Winter wheat—Preliminary estimate, area planted in fall of 1917 89,000 acres as compared with 87,000 acres last year. The increase of acreage is largely in the south central part of the state where crop is increasing in acreage. Conditions Dec. 1, was 93 per cent normal, compared with 92 a year ago and 93 the four year average. Soil conditions and growth were favorable in the south central counties.

Winter Rye.—Preliminary estimates of area planted in fall of 1917 452,000 acres as compared with 430,000 last year. The dry fall seriously hampered the seeding of fall rye in the northwestern part of the state, where under favorable conditions the acreage would have been considerably increased. However, with favorable spring weather spring rye will be planted. Condition, Dec. 1, was 90 per cent of normal compared with 90 a year ago and 92 the ten year average on Dec. 1.

The extreme dryness in the northwestern part of the state was unfavorable to the best growth and development of crop. The crop in other parts of the state is reported as having made a most excellent growth and goes into the winter under the most favorable conditions.

Mr. U. G. Purssell, Meteorologist of the U. S. Weather Bureau, Minneapolis says, "Weather conditions were unusually fine during November. The precipitation was sufficient over the entire state. No sub-zero temperatures were recorded.

State Offers Cheap Wood.

Dead and down cord wood at 25 cents a cord will be offered by the state through a resolution adopted by the Public Safety Commission. Sales on application to the state auditor will be limited to 100 cords to a customer to prevent commercial dealing, according to the plan developed by Oscar Arneson of the State auditor's office. Means to provide fuel for residents in Northern Minnesota was adopted following the report of J. F. McGee, Minnesota fuel administrator, that only 380,000 tons of coal remain on the docks at the head of the lakes.

1111 Gopher State Banks.

There are 1,111 active state banks in Minnesota, F. E. Pearson, state superintendent of banks announces. The number will be increased soon by the opening of the Interurban State bank at St. Paul, articles of which have been approved.

Bank Renews Appeal for Charter.

The Minnesota Public Safety Commission still has under consideration the request of organizers of the Hutchinson State bank for a reconsideration of the order denying them a charter. The commission heard from Burt W. Day of Hutchinson, who said that S. J. Boelter and W. H. Hartman, president and cashier of the new bank, are loyal Americans, but that 85 out of the 106 stockholders are residents of Acoma, Cedar Mills, Brookfield, and Boon Lake townships, where there has been poor response to war appeals.

AGRICULTURE THE MAINSTAY OF THE NATION

The United States and Canada Have a Great Responsibility.

This is the day when the farmer has his innings. The time was when he was dubbed the "farmer," the "mossback," and in a tone that could never have been called derisive, but still there was in it the inflection that he was occupying an inferior position. The stiff upper lip that the farmer carried, warded off any approach that his occupation was a degrading one. His hour arrived, though, and for some years past he has been looked up to as occupying a high position.

Agriculture, by a natural trend of economic conditions, stands out today in strong relief, as the leader in the world's pursuits. Never in the nation's history have the eyes of the world been so universally focused on the farm. The farmer is the man of importance; the manufacturer of its most necessary product, and he now enjoys the dual satisfaction of reaping a maximum of profit, as a result of his operations, while he also becomes a strong factor in molding the world's destinies.

Manufacturers, business men, professional men and bankers realize the importance of agriculture, and gladly acknowledge it as the twin sister to commerce. In commercial, financial and political crisis, the tiller of the soil takes the most important place. Maximum prices, the highest in many decades, show the world's recognition of the necessary requirement for more farm stuffs. The time was coming when this would have been brought about automatically, but war time conditions urged it forward, while the farmer was able to secure land at reasonable prices. Throughout several of the Western states this condition exists, as also in Western Canada.

Never has such a condition been known in commercial life. It is truly an opportunity of a lifetime. Large and small manufacturing concerns and practically every other line of business have been limited in their profits to the point of almost heroic sacrifice, while it is possible today to reap dividends in farming unequaled in any other line.

Thirty, and as high as fifty bushels of wheat per acre at $2.20 per bushel and all other farm produce on a similar basis, grown and produced on land available at from $15 to $40 per acre represents a return of profit despite higher cost of labor and machinery, that, in many cases runs even higher than 100% of an annual return on the amount invested. Such is the present day condition in Western Canada. How long it will last, no one can foretell. Prices for farm produce will likely remain high for many years. Certainly, the low prices of past years will not come again in this generation. The lands referred to, are low in price at present, but they will certainly increase to their naturally productive value as soon as the demand for them necessitates this increase, and this day is not far distant. This demand is growing daily; the farmer now on the ground is adding to his holdings while prices are low; the agriculturist on high priced lands is realizing that he is not getting all the profit that his neighbor in Western Canada is securing; the tenant farmer is seeking a home of his own, which he can buy on what he was paying out for rent, and many are forsaking the crowded cities to grasp these unprecedented opportunities.

The tenant farmer, and the owner of high priced land, is now awakening to the realization that he is not getting the return for his labor and investment that it is possible to secure in Western Canada. Thousands are making trips of inspection to personally investigate conditions and to acquaint themselves with the broadening benefits derived by visiting Western Canada. Such trips awaken in a progressive man that natural desire to do bigger things, to accomplish as much as his neighbor, and frequently result in convincing and satisfying him that God's most fertile outdoors, with a big supply of nature's best climatic and health-giving conditions lies in Western Canada.

The days of pioneering are over; the seeker after a new home travels through all parts of the country on the same good railway trains as he has been accustomed to at home, but on which he has been accorded a special railway rate of about one cent a mile. He finds good roads for automobiling and other traffic; rural telephone lines owned by the provincial governments; rural schools and churches situated conveniently to all; well appointed and homelike buildings, and everywhere an indication of general prosperity; cities and towns with all modern improvements, and what is the most convincing factor in his decision, a satisfied and prosperous people, with a whole hearted welcome to that country of a larger life and greater opportunities.

To Western Canada belongs the distinguished honor of being the holder of all world's championships in wheat and oats for both quality and quantity. For many years in succession Western Canada has proven her claim for supremacy in the most keenly contested National exhibitions and to her is credited the largest wheat and oat yields America has known. The natural conditions peculiar to Western Canada and so adaptable to grain growing has been an insurmountable barrier for her competitors to overcome. In the last few years the yields of wheat and oats per acre have surprised the agricultural world. As much as sixty bushels of wheat per acre has been grown on some farms, while others have furnished affidavits showing over fifty bushels of wheat per acre, and oats as high as one hundred and twenty bushels per acre. One reputable farmer makes affidavit to a crop return of over fifty-four thousand bushels of wheat from a thousand acres. While this is rather the exception than the rule, these yields serve to illustrate the fertility of the soil and the possibilities of the country, when good farming methods are adopted. Western Canada can surely lay undisputed claim to being "The World's natural bread basket."—Advertisement.

Newfoundland's Sailing Fleet.

Losses of sailing vesels in the Newfoundland trade through storms, German raiders and submarines since the war started have been more than made up by building within the colony and purchases abroad, observes a correspondent. The Newfoundland sailing fleet now numbers 125 vessels, and 17 more are on the sticks, the total of 142 making the largest locally owned fleet in a generation. This is exclusive of boats used only in the island trade. The fleet, made up of schooners ranging from 100 to 400 tons, has a capacity which will enable the colony to take to foreign markets in Newfoundland bottoms the entire catch of cod in island waters, estimated at about 1,500,000 quintals or 168,000,000 pounds.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarrhal Deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Many cases of Deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the Mucous Surfaces.

ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE.

River of Liberty Pennies.

A new dignity is thrust upon the little bronze coin—useful chiefly hitherto as a means of furnishing us with the world's intelligence. Now the penny takes the front line as a fighter for freedom. Soldiers and sailors will be clothed and armed and fed by them; enemy trenches will be shattered by them; the flag will be carried forward on their current to speedier and greater victory. Why so mean as to grudge them a grouch at the inconvenience? Fit emblem of democracy, let there be reverence and gladness in their giving, whether from the hand of a little child or the coin pocket of a millionaire. Let us be a nation of cheerful taxpayers. All hail the Liberty pennies.—Chicago Evening Post.

THE PRESIDENT'S DEFINITION OF GERMANISM

Innumerable articles and many books have been written to define "Germanism" and show to the world what it means.

In his message to Congress December 4 President Wilson defines it as follows:

"This intolerable Thing of which the masters of Germany have shown us the ugly face, this menace of combined intrigue and force which we now see so clearly as the German power, a Thing without conscience, of honor or capacity for covenanted peace."

This Thing must be crushed, and if not truly brought to an end at least shut out from the friendly intercourse of the nations, says the President, and it is only when this Thing and its power are indeed defeated that the time can come when we can discuss peace with the German people.

It begins to look as if there was being a little more politics played at Washington, for future polical advancement, than there should be at this critical time in our Nations crisis. Drop politics for the present, is the demand of the American people, and devote your united energy to pushing this war to a successful finish. Any man or set of men that will do anything to hamper, or embarrass the successful prosecution of this war, is certainly digging his political grave both wide and deep, for the American people are getting thoroughly aroused, and they will not stand for any delays to gain any Political advantage by any party, at this time. After the Kaiser is the war cry! Restore Belgium and Alsace-Lorraine to the rightful owners, and then take time, to talk politics. Talk America now and get right behind President Wilson, and back him up and help him to win this war, is what your constituents expect of you. If you do not believe this YOU will believe it, when you become a candidate for re-election.

The Sentinel is quoted as being in opposition to the Non-Partisan league. Such is not true, providing the league sticks to its declared purpose of building up a system of marketing farm produce that will prevent waste, eliminate unnecessary handling and speculative profits. The only objection that The Sentinel now has, or has had, to the league is found in the fact that it permits A. C. Townley to remain at its head.—Bemidji Sentinel.

It would now be in order for the Sentinel to announce that all the objection they have to the Democratic party is the fact that they permit Wilson to be President.

Now comes the news that one Zimmerman is going to employ the services of Teddy Roosevelt, to make a speaking tour from Grand Forks N.D. to the Gulf of Mexico, to kill out the Nonpartisan League. When Roosevelt completes that job, they had better send him over with a scoop shovel to move Niagara Falls over to Syracuse N.Y.

The News-Press of Thief River Falls has sold out to The Times and the two papers will be consolidated. Editor Mitchell has bought one-half interest in the Bemidji Sentinel and will be connected with that live Newspaper in the future.

RAILROADS SEEKING TO INCREASE RATES

Eastern Lines Permitted To Reopen Application for 15 Per Cent Advance.

The permission granted the Eastern railroads by the Interstate Commerce commission to reopen their application for a 15 per cent increase in freight rates shows the necessity for prompt action by manufacturers, shippers, farmers' associations and consumers generally to prevent the granting of such increases. The public has a right to demand that before higher rates are granted the railroads effect all possible economies and establish a proper basis for honest dividend paying. Last year the railroads had the largest net earnings in their history, and it is rather early for them to demand higher rates.

Obviously higher rates will increase the cost of living to the American people, who are not in position to bear any greater burden. Several facts should be taken into consideration by the Interstate Commerce commission before any increases are granted.

The railroads have capitalized the increase in the value of the land they own over and above the price paid therefor, and this increase amounts to about $4,000,000. The railroads were given 55,000,000 acres of land by the federal government. They now include a high value of this donated land as part of the capital on which they are entitled to earnings. The American people are paying about $240,000,000 every year as interest on the land which they originally gave the railroads.

Bad Management to Blame.

The chief cause of the railroads' financial difficulty, where such exists, is bad management in the past, and the public should not be compelled to pay interest and earnings on "watered stock," but that is exactly what the railroads are asking.

The Bankers' Railway Bulletin for August asserts that the railroads made 6.91 per cent on their investment last year and 5.76 per cent for the first eight months of this year. This is on a greatly over-capitalized and really represents very handsome returns on the actual money invested. The rate increases which the railroads ask would yield them increased revenues of between $250,000,000 and $400,000,000 a year. This sum would come out of the pockets of the public.

Why Not Government Ownership?

Four days after the war broke out Great Britain took over the railroads and operated them as a unit. Such action should be taken in this country if we are to develop the highest national efficiency. Railroads are operated for profits, not for national service, and we cannot get the best national service until the government takes over and operates these public highways [illegible] Railroads [illegible] government [illegible] [illegible]

FOES OF FREE SPEECH FRIENDS OF AUTOCRACY

"In an autocracy it does not make any difference whether the people give any attention to public affairs because the law of the land is the will of one man. But in the United States, where the law of the land is the intelligent expression of the majority of people of the country, it makes a very great deal of difference whether you give any attention to the affairs of government.

"Only through your activity and your intelligent study and discussion of public affairs can you maintain your liberty and democracy. It is impossible for you to arrive at an intelligent decision on the affairs of state unless you get together and talk about it. Free speech is essential to an intelligent discussion of affairs of government. And it not only is your privilege but your duty to discuss affairs of government.

"Then if the right of assembly and free speech are the chief security for liberty and democracy, those gentlemen, either in Russia, Germany or Japan—or in the city of Litchfield—who would rob the people of the right of free speech are not working for democracy. Those gentlemen, anywhere you find them, who deprive American citizens of the right of free assembly and free speech are building for autocracy and are, in fact, the allies of autocracy."—Excerpt from speech of President A. C. Townley of National Non-Partisan league recently made at Litchfield, Minn.

ANIMAL HABITS NOT CHANGED

Sheep Run to the Hills, Hogs Grunt as a Signal, Dogs Fashion Their Own Bed.

Sheep, when frightened, always run to an elevation, because their ancestors originally came from the mountains. They always follow a leader, because in the dangerous mountain passes their ancestors had to go in single file. Hogs grunt because their feeding grounds were thick woods, where they could not see one another, and sound was necessary to keep them together.

Dogs have a way of turning around several times before they lie down. This looks very foolish now, but when they were wild things centuries ago, they slept in the tall grass and turned around several times to hollow out a bed, and they have never outgrown this habit, but to this late day they will turn around on a rug just as if they were in the tall grass.

Cats have, perhaps, the most traces of old ancestral habits. Many times they do have a trace of the lion or tiger very near the surface. Their uncertain temper, their purring and growling, their sudden bounds, their tendency to scratch, all come from the forest and the jungle.—Indianapolis News.

Find Skeleton of Giant.

A perfect skeleton was uncovered in Surrey, England, during the work of carrying out alterations to surface water drainage in one of the main streets in Farnham. The chief bones were in a perfect state of preservation, and were sufficient to show that the body was that of a man of unusual stature. Close by was found a bone of a horse. The site of a Norman cemetery is only a little distance from the spot where the body was found, and there some years ago cinerary urns were discovered, which were stated to be perfect examples of first century urns. [illegible] of these are now preserved in [illegible] abbey.

"Why so?"

"Because I'm an old subscriber."

SHE IS JUST LIKE A BEE.

The thought has just occurred to me
How much a girl is like a bee.
She sometimes hums and sometimes sings
And knows just how to wear her wings.
She flits about in sun and showers
And always shows a love for flowers.
She picks out buds and blossoms rare
And often goes up in the air.
To see her work would make drones dizzy
When in her garden she is busy.
She knows just how to use the money,
Which she receives from her own "honey."
Much sweetness to her home she brings,
And yet, alas, she sometimes stings!

LOSS FROM BAD ROADS.

(National Crop Improvement Service.)

The U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates that the farmers of the nation are annually losing $250,000,000 because of their inability to market their produce at certain times of the year. Counties which are rich in agricultural products are burdened with bad roads and it is of much concern to the farmers to see to the building of good roads. Good roads, 365-day roads, are insurance for continued community prosperity.

PLACE OF MEAUX IN HISTORY

The little French city of Meaux, near Paris, has gained an immortal place in history. It marks the high tide of the German advance in 1914, the nearest spot to Paris where the Prussians trod. Thus far the advance patrols penetrated, and here they were recalled to swing off in the great detour that ended in retreat. Over Meaux flashed the German Taubes, looking down in puzzled misunderstanding at the endless scurrying line of Parisian taxicabs that bore the French Sixth army to the front to save the city. It was something new in transport, this army in taxicabs, and the Germans, accustomed to do all things by rule, went so far astray as to interpret it as a rush of the people of Paris to surrender themselves to the invader.

Near Meaux you see one of the most significant things in Europe—the first grave. Less than 30 kilometers from Paris this unknown Frenchman fell. Over his body is a bare oblong wire fencing off a little white cross. There are literally millions of these rude graves dotting the pleasant plains of northern France, but this is the nearest of them all to Paris itself. A little farther and you find them scattered more and more thickly, and now some of them are capped by black crosses instead of white, to mark the spot where a Prussian fell. And over the bodies of German and Frenchman the lush crops are growing in, for this section of France is being intensively cultivated as no region has been before.

A few kilometers northward and eastward is the first of the great monuments raised over a common grave, where the dead lie by hundreds. The French engineers have erected many of these. They tower up in the flat land as the memory of those who lie below will tower in the minds of future generations. The wheat may rustle green about them and the traffic of peace flow by, but the countryside will be forever hallowed by the memory of a crisis when nameless men laid down their lives wholesale that a nation might live.

The First Lessons.

The happy and prosperous children are those who have before all else the education that comes by reverence, writes Amelia E. Barr. This education is beyond all doubt the highest, the deepest, the widest and the most perfect of all the forms of education ever given to man. A child that has not been taught to reverence God, and all that represents God to manhood, honesty, justice, mercy, truth, love, courage, self-sacrifice, is sent into the world like a boat sent out to sea, without rudder, ballast, compass or captain. The multiplication table can wait until the child has been taught to reverence all that is holy, wise and good, and the imagination received its first impulse.

Pigs Feed on Nut Trees.

It is an undisputed fact that in Morocco pigs climb trees in search of nuts, says the Los Angeles Times. Not only pigs but goats. The puzzle is not in the pigs and goats, however, for they are of the common variety that we see here. It is the tree that is strange. It is called the argan nut tree and it grows near Agadir. Usually it shoots out from a steep hillside. The trunk is broad and flat and almost horizontal, and so are the main branches, forming ample and solid foothold for any animal that may be tempted by the olive-shaped nuts growing within easy reach of the main branches.

"MEMORY MAPS" ARE FREAKS

Try to Draw Outlines of the Various Countries and You Will Be Surprised at Your Ignorance.

A man and wife sat at the table at their home trying to draw the outline map of Europe from memory, observes the Ohio State Journal. They soon found that they knew little about it. They had been reading of European events for years, and yet when they came to putting their mind picture of the continent on paper they forgot their geography entirely. The man had read Anabasis and Homer in the original and yet put Greece between the Adriatic and the coast of Spain, and left Austria out altogether. The wife had Spain and France side by side on an east and west line, with Belgium to the north, covering both, while she made the boot of Italy a fashionable $10 gaiter. Anyone looking at the two maps could tell they were not of America or Asia, but of where, he couldn't say.

But seriously, it is a delightful amusement and might with profit be indulged in more. After one gets through with Europe, take the other continents and the countries that belong to them. And then one might come nearer home. It would be really sad to observe the ignorance concerning our own localities, but it would be amusing, too. Just for fun, have a company draw maps of Great Britain and Ireland, of Turkey, China, Kansas and Nebraska, Louisiana, Delaware, etc., and how much surprised you will be to see how this old earth has changed since you trusted [illegible]

STEEL TRUST SELLS AT SAME OLD PRICE

Wall Street Journal Frankly Admits Big Corporation Defies Government.

Although the Big Business Press loudly heralded the reduction of the price of steel products as an indication that the government intended to go down the line in controlling prices of all commodities—farm products included—it is becoming very evident that the Steel Trust—the same institution that controls the politics of Minnesota—had a card up its sleeve all the time, several cards in fact.

The first card was that when the government's price-fixing order went into effect the Steel Trust is said to have had orders on hand which will keep its mills running for at least a year. These orders will be filled at the old contract price. The government reduction does not apply. By the time the Steel Trust exhausts these orders and comes to book new orders at the government price the war may be ended. In the meantime they decline to book new orders at the reduced price.

Admitted by Financial Organ.

This is not mere imagination—it is admitted by the Wall Street Journal, the official organ of Big Business, which in its issue of Oct. 11 had the following to say:

"Steel manufacturers have declined to sell steel at the prices fixed by the government and consumers who have already contracted for steel at prices above the government figures are not specifying very freely." In other words, customers are hoping that their contract prices will be reduced to conform with the government price. The Steel Trust, however, is standing pat and as a consequence, despite the war activity, steel production last month was 573,572 tons less than the previous month.

Stock Not Hit by Order.

The Steel Trust, however, does not seem to be losing much money on this account. September 1 Steel Trust stock was selling at 109¼. September 26—after the government price went into effect—or rather after it was supposed to go into effect—the same stock opened at 113. Now, after a steady bear movement, it still is selling at 106. Evidently the "great patriotic sacrifices" of the Steel Trust have not affected the market value of its stock.

A good many farmers, who saw the price of wheat reduced from $3.05 to $2.20 a bushel—less commission and freight—may wonder why the price of wheat was fixed and became effective as soon as the farmer began to put his product on the market, while the price of steel was not fixed until the Steel Trust had booked lucrative orders for a year ahead.

Government Control is Remedy.

Government control of railroads—and every government in Europe does control its transportation lines—would have provided for this need, known long in advance, and saved this food by distributing cars with a view of handling the crop instead of solely looking for profits.

Stockholders Have Good Thing.

Net earnings of the Carbon Steel Company of Pittsburgh in the year ended Sept. 30 were equivalent to $70 a share on the $3,000,000 common stock. [illegible] In 1916 the company earned [illegible] a share on the common stock.—Wall Street Journal, [illegible]

Mystery of a Fish.

In the economy of nature nothing is more remarkable than the metamorphosis of the flounder, which when young swims in an upright position, as all other fish, but when maturity develops it becomes topheavy, falls over on its side and its existence is passed as a flat fish.

That nature moves in a mysterious way is here freely illustrated, for when the flounder falls over the two eyes, which originally were on either side of the head, are transposed to the upper side of the fish, where they always face the light.

The process by which this strange change is accomplished has never been discovered by scientists and is a marvelous instance of nature's operations, for while the fish usually rests upon the bottom it can readily swim about in any depth of water.—New York Sun.

A Short Business Talk.

In a certain store the merchandise manager sent for the ready to wear and millinery buyers and said to them:

"You men are getting a bad accumulation of stock that is hard to move. Hereafter you will make a daily and weekly inventory and send the report to this office."

Both buyers declared this to be impossible, but the merchandise man told them to go and do it. Especially he wanted them to show the age of the goods in stock, the sizes and the colors.

After attempting to take some of these daily inventories the buyers decided that an easier way would be to get busy and sell the goods faster. This same plan has been used in many departments with fine results.

There is nothing like the spot light to engender selling activity in a store.—Philadelphia Record.

ROADS GO UNDER CONTROL OF U. S.

Government Takes Over Railroads With Secretary McAdoo As Director General

ALL SYSTEMS INCLUDED

President Issues Proclamation Assuming Control of Every Transportation Line Engaged In General Business.

Washington, Dec. 28.—President Wilson proclaims government possession and operation of the nation's railroads to become effective at non Friday, December 28.

William McAdoo, retaining his place in the cabinet as Secretary of the Treasury, is placed in charge as director general of the railroads.

Every railroad engaged in general transportation, with its appurtenances, including steamship lines, is taken over and all systems will be operated as one under the director general.

In a statement accompanying his proclamation the President announced that as soon as Congress reassembles he will recommend legislation guaranteeing pre-war earnings and maintenance of railroad properties in good repair.

Government backing will be given to new issues of railroad securities that a ready market may be found.

Move Proves Great Surprise.

The President's move, though forecast for weeks, came at this time as a great surprise to nearly everybody in Washington, including railroad officials. It had been generally believed he would await the reassembling of Congress before taking any step. He acted under Secretary of War Baker, through authority conferred in the army appropriation act.

Direct management of the roads will remain in the hands of the railroad officials, and the Railroad War Board, comprised of five railroad heads, will continue to direct actual operation under Secretary McAdoo's general supervision.

The chief practical effect of government operation will be to permit complete unification of all rail systems, impossible under private operation by reason of statutes prohibiting pooling of rail traffic and earnings.

The roads themselves had gone as far as they dared in this direction and it just became known that they had been warned by Attorney General Gregory that a violation of anti-pooling laws could not be permitted. This situation was fully realized by President Wilson, who, in his statement, declared the roads had gone as far as they could and already some systems were endangering their earnings in attempting unification.

Earnings to Be Guaranteed.

Although the proclamation applies to all electric lines engaged in general transportation, local interurban systems are specifically exempted. Congress will be asked to guarantee earnings equivalent to the net operating income of each railroad in the three-year period ending June 30, 1917. Railroad experts estimate that this will cost the government next year in the neighborhood of $100,000,000.

The Interstate Commerce commission and other government agencies, which have to do with the railroads, will continue to perform their functions as heretofore, except that they will be subject to orders of the director of railroads.

Wilson Explains Action.

"I have exercised the powers over the transportation systems of the country which were granted me by the act of Congress of August, 1916, because it has become imperatively necessary for me to do so. This is a war of resources no less than of men, perhaps even more than men, and it is necessary for the complete mobilization of our resources that the transportation systems of the country should be organized and employed under a single authority and a simplified method of coordination which have not proved possible under private management and control. The committee of railway executives, who have be cooperating with the government in this all important matter, have done the utmost that it was possible for them to do; have done it with patriotic zeal and with great ability, but there were difficulties that they could neither escape nor neutralize. Complete unity of administration in the present circumstance involves upon occasion and at many points a serious dislocation of earnings, and the committee was, of course, without power or authority to rearrange charges or effect proper compensations and adjustments of earnings. Several roads which were willingly and with admirable public spirit accepting the orders of the committee have already suffered from these circumstances and should not be required to suffer further. In mere fairness to them the full authority of the government must be substituted. The government itself will thereby gain an immense increase of efficiency in the conduct of the war and of the innumerable activities upon which its successful conduct depends.

Public Comes First.

"The public interest must be first served, and, in addition, the financial interests of the government and the financial interests of the railways must be brought under a common direction.

"The financial operations of the railroads need not then interfere with the borrowings of the government and they themselves can be conducted at a greater advantage.

"Investors in railway securities may rest assured that their rights and interests will be as scrupulously looked after by the government as they could be by the directors of the several railway systems. Immediately upon the reassembling of Congress, I shall recommend that these definite guarantees be given:

"First, of course, that the railway properties will be maintained during the period of federal control in as good repair and as complete equipment as were taken over by the government, and

"Second—that the roads shall receive a net operating income, equal in each case to the average net income of the three years preceding June 30, 1917; and I am entirely confident that the Congress will be disposed in this case, as in others to see that justice is done and full security assured to the owners and creditors of the great systems which the government must now use under its own direction or else suffer serious embarrassment.

Best Results Are Sought.

"The Secretary of War and I are agreed that, all the circumstances being taken into consideration, the best results can be obtained under the immediate executive administration of the Hon. William G. McAdoo, whose practical experience peculiarly fits him for the service and whose authority as Secretary of the Treasury will enable him to co-ordinate, as no other man could, the many financial interests which will be involved and which might, unless systematically directed, suffer very embarrassing entanglements.

"The government of the United States is the only great government now engaged in the war which had not already assumed control of this sort. It was thought to be the spirit of American institution to attempt to do everything that was necessary through private management, and if zeal and ability and patriotic motive could have accomplished the necessary unification of administration, it would certainly have been accomplished, but no zeal or ability could overcome insuperable obstacles, and I have deemed it my duty to recognize that fact in all candor now that it is demonstrated and to use without reserve the great authority reposed in me. A great national necessity dictated the action and I was therefore not at liberty to abstain from it.

"WOODROW WILSON."

WILLIAM G. McADOO

Holds two of biggest jobs in the United States.

Secretary of the Treasury, William G. McAdoo has been chosen by President Wilson as director of railroads. He takes up his new duties at noon, Dec. 28, still retaining his cabinet post.

I. W. W. Stage Riot in Jail.

Wichita, Kan., Dec. 28.—Christmas was celebrated by the 33 Industrial Workers of the World, held in the jail here, by an all night riot which it was impossible to quell. The men broke their cots, pounded their cells, groaned, yelled, sang and cursed all night. The city fire department will be held in readiness to give the rioters the "water cure" if the rioting is repeated. Everything excepting clothing has been taken from the cells by the sheriff.

Workers to Get More Pay; Less for Officers

Washington, Dec. 28.—One of the first acts of the government in beginning operation of railroads will be to reduce large salaries now paid to the railway executives and increase in some measure the wages of railway workers.

ALLIES TO GET PEACE OFFER

Teuton Terms To Be Submitted to Entente Powers By Russian Delegates.

PLAN MEANS LITTLE

U. S. and Allies Do Not View Proposal In Favorable Light As It Does Not Assure Trustworthy German Government.

Petrograd, Dec. 29.—Russia is to lay before the Allies Germany's offer of peace without annexations or indemnities.

The Russian delegates to the peace conference at which Count Czernin announced the terms by which the Teutonic powers renounce all claims to conquest have asked for a ten days' recess in the negotiations in order to put the proposal before the Allies.

German Hedge Besets Terms.

London, Dec. 28.—Terms under which the Teutonic nations would be willing to make "an immediate and general peace," have been made known to the Russian delegates engaged in the peace pour parlers at Brest-Litovsk. The terms have been set forth in an address by Count Czernin, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister.

As in previous Teutonic intimations of what will be requqired from the Germanic viewpoint to bring abount a cessation of hostilities and eventual peace, the latest terms are hedged about by conditions which seemingly are insuperable from the standpoint of the United States and the Allies.

Demand Allied Guarantees.

The basic principles of the peace terms of the Russian revolutionary masses—no annexations and no indemnities—Count Czernin said he believed could be made the basis of a general peace, but that the Teutonic allies could not bind themselves to these conditions unless a guarantee were given that Russia's allies would recognize and fulfill them.

Notable omissions in the statement of Count Czernin connected with the concrete demands of the United States, Great Britain and France, as already made known, are the questions particularly of the rebuilding of Belgium and Serbia, the return of Alsace-Lorraine to France and the overthrow of the militaristic government in Germany and the formation in its place of a government that can be trusted—the latter demand as set forth by President Wilson in his address to Congress, calling for war with Austria-Hungary.

WOODEN SHIP PLAN FAILURE

Bowles Tells Committee Timber Supply is Inadequate.

Washington, Dec. 29.—The Shipping boards wooden ship program was called a failure by F. A. Bowles, former naval constructor and now assistant to the general manager of the board's Emergency Fleet corporation. The program cannot be completed on time he told the Senate commerce committee, because the country cannot furnish ship timber, the 458 awarded contracts calling for more lumber than is represented in the entire output of Southern pine producers for a year.

SWITZERLAND GETS U. S. FOOD

None To Get To Germany Is Assurance To Be Given.

Washington, Dec. 29.—The War Trade board in an announcement confirmed dispatches from abroad telling of an agreement to ration Switzerland and gave the rules of procedure for exporters to follow in making shipments. No details of the agreement were given, but it is known it fixes the amount of foodstuffs the United States will ship to Switzerland in return for assurances that none of the shipments will be permitted to go through to Germany.

Red Cross Enemy Goes To Jail.

George, Iowa, Dec. 28.—John Heidebrink of Little Rock, is in jail on a charge of telling a Red Cross worker he would not give that organization a peanut, that he was saving his money for "the children of Germany that call him uncle" and of throwing a saw at the Red Cross solicitor when she approached him. He is 60 years old.

Canadian Flier Killed In Texas.

U.S. Move Sends Rail Shares Up.

New York, Dec. 28.—Stocks soared at the opening of the stock market Thursday denoting the satisfaction of the financial community with the president's decision to take over the railroads. The advances ranged from 2 to 8 points in the railroads list, all the standard shares being bid up furiously. New York Central advanced 7½ points to 71; New Haven 2 1-8 to [illegible] Erie 2 3-8 to 16; Soo 4 points to 81; Reading 2 7-8 to 70¼; Southern Pacific 6½ to [illegible]; Union Pacific [illegible] to 112; Southern Railway [illegible] to [illegible]

CANCER CLAIMS MANY VICTIMS

Causes More Deaths In State Than Tuberculosis, 164 Being Record for Month

HEALTH BOARD MEN OUT

Governor Names New Members and Also Makes Changes In State Advisory Commission to Become Effective January 1.

St. Paul.

Cancer, a preventable disease, which already is causing more deaths than tuberculosis in Minnesota, continues to claim larger numbers of victims each month, according to a bulletin of vital statistics for October, issued by the State Board of Health.

The summary shows that of 1,762 deaths occurring in the state during the month covered, 164 resulted from cancer, while tuberculosis caused but 156 deaths. Accidental deaths totaled 136, an unusually large number, and 1,062 persons died of various organic diseases. Other special classifications follow:

Pneumonia, 102; diarrhoeal diseases of children, 71; diphtheria, 33; typhoid fever, 13; scarlet fever, 7; whooping cough, 6; puerperal septicaemia, 6; spinal meningitis, 5; and infantile paralysis, 1.

Changes In Two Boards.

Governor Burnquist has taken a hand in the old quarrel between the State Board of Health and the State Advisory commission in charge of tuberculosis institutions. The governor removed certain members from both boards and appointetd others in their places.

Dr. W. A. Jones of Minneapolis, for 10 years a member and now president of the State Board of Health, will be succeeded by Dr. George Douglas Head of Minneapolis. Dr. H. Longstreet Taylor of St. Paul, chairman of the Advisory commission, will be succeeded by Dr. C. W. Morse of Eveleth, now a member of the health board.

Dr. Moore will be succeeded on the health board by Dr. Neil M. Watson of Red Lake Falls. Dr. Roscoe Hunt of Fairmont will replace Dr. Ferdinand Hunt of Fairmont on the State Board of Health. All appointments are effective January 1, on expiration of terms of the retiring members.

Since the Advisory commission was created in 1913 by the legislature there has been friction between the two boards. It has been argued that the health work should be controlled by one board.

Public Is Warned.

Collection agencies and attorneys who plan to reap a harvest as a result of the state fuel administrator's order to dealers in the state to make rebates on account of overcharges, were branded as "shysters" and "vultures," by John F. McGee, fuel administrator for Minnesota.

In a statement the state fuel administration warns the public not to fall in the hands of these professional collectors.

"It is apparent that shysters and professional collectors expect a harvest from refunds that coal dealers are required to make throughout the state," says the statement. "I wish to warn the public from falling into the hands of these vultures. They can perform no service whatever of value to the consumer.

"The reports disclosing the sales at excessive margins are beginning to come in. As they do the extent of the overcharge and the towns where made will be given to the press. Any person who has purchased coal from a dealer at an excessive price should go to his dealer and ask for a refund, and if it is refused, notify this office. Any dealer having sold coal on an excessive margin who refuses to refund will find it necessary to seek some other occupation during the period of the war, at least he will receive no more coal.

Fewer But Better Movies.

The cost of free shows has gone up with many other things in these high-cost-o'-living days, Fred D. Sherman, state immigration commissioner, announces, and as a result fewer movie lectures in other states to advertise Minnesota and attract immigrants are planned by the department.

"The high cost of theatres and other things and increases in traveling expenses have necessitated a reduction in the number of town in which lectures will be given," said Commissioner Sherman, "but the more carefully selected towns will have bigger shows. New motion picture films showing interesting things in Minnesota opportunities for farmers and others will be better than ever."

Keep Apartment Halls Lighted, Order.

A warning to owners to keep hall lighted in apartment buildings has been issued by George H. Nettleton, assistant state fire marshal. A campaign to extend especially to Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth, will be started by the department to prosecute landlords failing to keep halls properly lighted in apartment houses. Occupants of such buildings are urged by Mr. Nettleton to report any violations of the state law requiring the owner of apartment houses to light the halls of such buildings.

Sergeant Gellentheim was sitting behind the desk at the Philadelphia police station recently when he beheld a negro struggling with a suitcase. The sergeant asked his business. The negro replied:

"Boss, I want you to answer me a question. The food administration wants us to save a slice of bread a day, and I been doing it for the last three months. I got 'em all here in the suitcase, and now I wants to know what am I going to do with 'em?" He opened the suitcase and revealed about ninety slices of stale bread. Gellentheim recovered, and gave the negro a little lesson on real conservation."

Cups From Tin Cans.

The resourcefulness of women as war workers was given exemplification recently by the Red Cross canteen workers in France. Seven of the women were operating a rest station at one of the aviation camps. Having an insufficient number of cups for the use of the canteen the head worker discovered that there were several plumbers among the German prisoners working about the camps. She gathered a quantity of empty tin cans and set the plumber prisoners to work making drinking cups. The canteen was quickly supplied with plenty of well-made cups with neat handles made from the covers.

MUST FILE RETURN

ALL SUBJECT TO INCOME TAX REQUIRED TO SUBMIT STATEMENTS BY MARCH 1.

HEAVY PENALTY FOR FAILURE

Returns Will Be Rigidly Checked and Assistance Given Taxpayers by Officials in Every County—Tips to Farmers.

Washington.—All good Americans who are making a fair living are now called upon to pay, in the way of an income tax, their share of the cost of the war. Whether or not he is subject to this tax is the question every man must settle at once. In a few words this is the answer: Every unmarried man whose net income is $1,000 or more and every married man or head of a family whose income is $2,000 or over must pay the tax. Before March 1, 1918, he must file his return with the collector of internal revenue in the district in which he lives or has his principal place of business.

The man who thinks to evade this tax is making a serious error. Revenue officials will be in every county to check returns. Failure to make a correct return within the time specified involves heavy penalties.

"Net income" means gross income less certain deductions provided for by the act. The law defines income as profit, gain, wages, salary, commissions, money or its equivalent from professions, vocations, commerce, trade, rents, sales and dealings in property, real and personal, and interest from investments except interest from government bonds, or state, municipal township or county bonds. Incomes from service as guardian, trustee or executor; from dividends, pensions, royalties, or patents, or oil and gas wells, coal land, etc., are taxable.

Normal Rate Is 2 Per Cent.

The normal rate of tax is 2 per cent on net incomes above the amount of exemptions, which is $2,000 in the case of a married person or head of a family and $1,000 in the case of a single person. A married person or head of a family is allowed an additional exemption of $200 for each dependant child if under eighteen years of age or incapable of self-support because defective. The taxpayer is considered to be the head of a family if he is actually supporting one or more persons closely connected with him by blood relationship or relationship by marriage, or if his duty to support such person is based on some moral or legal obligation.

Debts ascertained to be worthless and charged off within the year and taxes paid except income taxes and those assessed against local benefits are deductible. These and other points of the income tax section of the war revenue act will be fully explained by revenue officers who will visit every county in the United States between January 2 and March 1 to assist taxpayers in making out their returns.

Officers to Visit Every Locality.

Notice of their arrival in each locality will be given in advance through the press, banks and post offices. They will be supplied with income tax forms copies of which may be obtained also from collectors of internal revenue.

The bureau of internal revenue is seeking to impress upon persons subject to the tax the fact that failure to see this official in no way relieves them of the duty imposed by law to file their returns within the time specified.

The government is not required to seek the taxpayer. The taxpayer is required to seek the government.

The penalty for failure to make the return on time is a fine of not less than $20 nor more than $1,000, and in addition 50 per cent of the amount of the tax due. For making a false or fraudulent return, the penalty is a fine not to exceed $2,000 or not exceeding one year's imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court, and in addition 100 per cent of the tax evaded.

As to the Farmers.

The number of farmers who will pay income taxes has not been estimated by the government officials, but it is certain they will form a large percentage of the 6,000,000 persons assessed who never before have paid an income tax. The average farmer does not keep books but if he avails himself of the services of government experts who will be sent to aid him, it will not be difficult for him to ascertain the amount of his net income.

The farmer is making out his return may deduct depreciation in the value of property and machinery used in the conduct of his farm, and loss by fire storm or other casualty, or by theft if not covered by insurance. Expense actually incurred in farm operation may be deducted, but not family or living expense. Produce raised on the farm and traded for groceries, wearing apparel, etc., is counted as living expenditures and cannot be deducted.

Take the Short Route.

I had been treated by a physician without results, so decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, and felt better right away. I am keeping house since last April and doing all my housework, where before I was unable to do any work. Lydia E. ECZEMA CAUSED YEARS OF INTENSE AGONY

"I have suffered intense agony from Eczema on my leg and other parts of my body for years, and received only temporary relief from other preparations. It is only a month since I started to use PETERSON'S OINTMENT, and there is no sign of Eczema or itching. You can refer to me."—Geo. C. Talbot, 27 Penfield St., Buffalo, N. Y.

I've got a hundred testimonials, says Peterson, just as sincere and honest as this one. Years ago, when I first started to put out PETERSON'S OINTMENT, I made up my mind to give a big box for a small price, and I'm still doing it, as every druggist in the country knows.

I guarantee PETERSON'S OINTMENT because I know that its mighty healing power is marvelous. I say to every one who buys a box that it is rigidly guaranteed for Eczema, Pimples, Salt Rheum, Old Sores, Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles, Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Chafing, Burns, Scalds and Sunburn, and if not satisfactory any druggist will return your money. 30 cents. Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarrhal Deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Many cases of Deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the Mucous Surfaces.

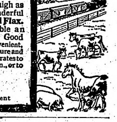
160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE



Scenes of Prosperity
Are Common in Western Canada

The thousands of U. S. farmers who have accepted Canada's generous offer to settle on homesteads or buy farm land in her provinces have been well repaid by bountiful crops of wheat and other grains.

Where you can buy good farm land at $15 to $30 per acre—get $2 a bushel for wheat and raise 20 to 45 bushels to the acre you are bound to make money—that's what you can do in Western Canada.

In the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta you can get a HOMESTEAD OF 160 ACRES FREE
and other land at very low prices.

During many years Canadian wheat fields have averaged 20 bushels to the acre—many yields as high as 45 bushels to the acre. Wonderful crops also of Oats, Barley, and Flax. Mixed Farming is as profitable an industry as grain raising. Good schools, churches; markets convenient, climate excellent. THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUB.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County Minnesota.

$1,000 a year, in advance.

It was a real pleasure to us last Saturday to make out the Questionnairies for John and Morris Nelson of Mayfield Township. Both of the boys are farmers but made no exemption claim. Both reported that they were in good health. One 6 feet tall weight 165. one 5 feet 11 inches, weight 160 lbs. The boys have plenty of farm work to do at home, but said, if it is necessary we have to go. They are the class of men that are not looking for a soft "Job" in the army, but are ready to back up their Country in war, and them is the kind of men that has made America what it is today a land of liberty and opportunity. All honor to our Mayfield boys who are no slackers.

Kaiser Wilhelm might just as well go and whistle against the wind as to offer any peace terms to America. President Wilson kept out of the war, until Kaiser Wilhelm broke his word, and violated all agreements made with this and all other Nations, Now America is in the war, and President Wilson has announced that he would not consider any offers of Peace that came from the present rulers of Germany but was always ready to make peace with the German people, as soon as they had men at the head of their government whose word could be taken. As long as Kaiser Wilhelm is the absolute ruler of Germany, there will be no peace offers considered from him by America. It is now war to a finish Kaiser Wilhelm vs America, and America will win: But do not pay any attention to any peace offers that may be made by the present rulers of Germany. as President Wilson has announced that he will not consider them, and the American people are pretty solid behind him, and any few kaiserites who are not had better get out of America while they have whole hides and the road is open.

MUSIC REACHES THE HEART

Performer Dealing in Emotions Captivates Women More Swiftly Than the Poets or Painters.

The poet deals in words, while the painter deals in color and form, but the musician deals in emotions and therefore his appeal to women is always more swift, as it is always more subtle, than the appeal of any other artist.

Such, summed up by a writer in the Philadelphia North American, is the latest theory to explain the lure of music for women and the attraction of the dark-eyed, long-haired musician himself.

The average woman, say the theorists, is hemmed in with conventions that make her feel a profound discomfort if a book or a poem talks too openly of what she thinks of, but never puts into words. With a picture it is the same way, but in the music she hears with emotional delight all the romanticism, all the beauty, and all the vague dreams which she hides so closely from the world. In consequence she reads into the music her own feelings, and then she confuses the musician with his music. He, too, is keyed up to a high tension; he feels telepathically the emotion he has communicated and so a spark is kindled between them. As for the result—well, sometimes it is love, sometimes a momentary infatuation—that all depends upon how much music they hear together and how much pent-up nervous emotionalism lies buried in the woman's soul.

Asides.

"Do you believe in 'asides' in the drama?"

"No," replied the stage manager, "not when they [illegible] loud enough for the audience to hear. But I have to have the leading woman [illegible] the hero rattled by calling him a pop-eyed [illegible] head right in the middle of a [illegible] scene." [illegible]

ST. PAUL PAPER SAYS IT COSTS NO MORE TO PRODUCE MILK NOW THAN THREE YEARS AGO

This Remarkable Information Certainly Will Delight the Hearts of Dairymen Who Supposed That Feed and Labor Were Much Higher.

"For the dairyman who feeds his own feed and, with the help of his boys, does his own work, it costs no more to produce a hundredweight of milk than it did three years ago."

Doesn't that sound familiar, Mr. Farmer? Doesn't it remind you of what you yourself took for granted three years ago? Where do you think we got it? From some backwoods farmer who has not yet felt the influence of the new economic movement among the farmers? Not at all. It came from the editorial page of that oracle of Big Business, the St. Paul Pioneer Press. It comes from the paper that has doubted the wisdom of curtailing the excess profits of the great industrial trusts, that pleads for an advance in railroad rates, and that from time to time waxes indignant over the high cost of living.

Farmer Stands at Bottom.

Do you, Mr. Farmer, see where you stand in the estimation of the Pioneer Press? Just where you have always stood, at the bottom of the economic system, in the control of which you have no part, in which your labor and that of your sons has no economic value, and in which you cannot bargain for a fair price for what you produce. You pay from two to three or four times as much for the tools you use, the clothes you wear, and the materials that enter into your production than you did three years ago. [illegible]

According to the Pioneer Press, that makes no difference. Since you feed your own feed (which, because you grew it yourself, of course didn't cost you anything), and do your own work, with the help of your boys, you will be expected to sell your milk on the basis of the cost three years ago. And, of course, you remember that you did not make anything three years ago. But that doesn't matter—it is only the work of yourself and your boys.

Children's Work Don't Count.

Only the work of yourself and your boys—and of your wife and daughters and young children! You didn't use to count that anything, and so those to whom you sold your crops got it for nothing. The American farmer has been doing that for half a century, and that is what the interests the Pioneer Press represents would have you keep doing. The average earnings of the American family on the farm is barely over $300 a year. You should see to it that this miserable condition does not continue. Now that you know where you have stood, you will not allow your wives and children to continue the slaves of a system [illegible] the rack. You have seen the light of economic justice and it lights you to your goal. Neither the misrepresentations nor the threats of the men who have eaten your substance can turn you [illegible]

NEWLYWEDS DINE ON STEW

Wifey Prepares Dainty Morsel With Own Little Hands — But Physician Must Be Called for Hubby.

The cook had insisted on a day off, and young Mrs. Freshly-Wedd was in a quandary and her stunning new house gown of twisted percale, muses the Detroit Free Press.

"I'll make a stew—anybody can make a stew," she cried.

And she proceeded to make a stew. In the icebox she found seven frankfurters, a dozen fried oysters and three pickled herring.

"How fortunate—meat is the very importantest thing!" she exclaimed. And she chopped it all up and added three cupfuls of salt and two of pepper so as to be sure not to forget the seasoning. Then—because she knew that a stew must have lots of variety—she put in a glass of olive oil, two tablespoonfuls of grated nutmeg, two packages of Saratoga chips, a can of salmon and a half cake of bitter chocolate.

At 6:30 Freshly-Wedd came home—her Ben, stalwart and handsome, who had never known an hour's illness in his life.

"Phew!" he exclaimed. "What's that smell?"

"It's a stew I made for you with my own little hands," she told him.

"Divine aroma!" cried Freshly-Wedd, and forthwith sat down and ate two big platefuls, while his wife watched him so closely that she forgot to eat any herself.

[illegible] in response to a hurry call, Doctor [illegible] drove up and rang the front doorbell. Query: Who was the patient, and why?

PICKING MEN FOR WAR.

The Selective Draft Was Known in the Time of Moses.

Registration for a selective draft was known thousands of years ago. The first chapter of Numbers tells how Moses in the second year after the exodus from Egypt was commanded to choose from among the various tribes men to tabulate the names of the males over the age of twenty who were able to go to war. The passage, in part, follows:

"Take ye the sum of all the congregation of the children of Israel by their families, by their fathers' houses, according to the number of the names, every male by their polls, from twenty years of age and upward, all that are able to go forth to war, thou and Aaron shall number them by their hosts. And with you there shall be a man of every tribe. (Here are mentioned the men who are to assist in the registration.)

"And Moses and Aaron took these men that are mentioned, and they assembled all the congregation together on the first day of the second month, and they declared their pedigrees after their families, by their fathers' houses, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward."—Chicago Tribune.

BUSINESS MEN RUN STATE LEGISLATURE

One-Tenth of Population Elects Three-Fourths of Law-Making Body.

Theoretically ours is supposed to be a "government of the people, for the people and by the people." Actually this is hardly the case. The American people are ruled by professional politicians, lawyers most of them, who are elected by the people, it is true, but certainly do not conduct a government either "of the people" or "by the people."

According to the 1910 census there were 2,075,708 persons living in Minnesota. Of this number 1,225,414 reside on farms or in small towns and villages. There are only 156,137 farms, however, so it is safe to assume that this is the actual number of farmers. The next largest element of our population is the city workers. There are 242,881 wage or salary earners in the state employed in factories, mines, quarries, railroads, shops and business establishments. And a total of 31,463 persons were either proprietors of manufacturing establishments or engaged in professional occupations.

People Have Few Representatives.

If the people really ruled the farmers and workers, composing nine-tenths of the population of the state, would be represented in the legislature by an overwhelming majority. But how does it go? There are nine farmers and no labor representative in the senate and 58 farmers and three labor representatives in the house. But the 31,463 manufacturers, mine owners, bankers, newspaper editors, doctors, lawyers and merchants are represented by 58 members of the senate and 89 members in the house.

This element only is one-tenth of the population, but they have three-fourths of the members of the legislature, and of this majority 56 are lawyers. One of every 40 lawyers in Minnesota is a member of the legislature. But only one of every 3,332 farmers has a seat in the law making body. Much the same conditions prevail in most of the Western states.

People Must Have More Voice.

To be a democracy in fact as well as in name Minnesota, and indeed, the entire United States, must be governed by representatives of THE PEOPLE. And this condition cannot be said to exist so long as a comparatively few business and professional men have a larger representation in state and national legislatures than have the farmers and working men. So long as this condition continues industrial autocracy may be expected and exploitation will not be remedied.

The National Non-Partisan league is organizing the farmers to the end that the producers may have adequate representation in the government of the state in which they compose a majority of the population. This means a truly representative government—a government "of the people and for the people"—not a government conducted by professional politicians who too often are secretly responsible to Big Business, instead of to those who elected them.

BESSEMER IRON AND STEEL

Original Process Involved Decarbonization, or Burning Out of Excess Carbon, by Blowing Air.

Henry Bessemer, who invented the method named for him in the manufacture of iron and steel, which revolutionized the industry, was granted a patent by the British government on October 17, 1855. This was the first patent given him, notes an exchange. Additional patents were taken out in the following December and February, covering improvements. Bessemer's original process involved decarbonization, or the burning out of the excess carbon, by blowing air through pig iron. This revolutionary invention was due indirectly to the Crimean war.

Bessemer undertook to invent an improved cannon, but found all available metals too weak for the gun he sought to make. He then began experiments in steel making, with the ultimate result of the production of "Bessemer steel." His invention won for him fame and fortune, and the honor of knighthood. Sir Henry Bessemer was born in England, but was of French Huguenot descent. Since his pioneer invention the process of converting iron into steel has been vastly improved.

Four-Arc Rainbow.

A four-arc rainbow was seen by a vessel at sea recently, one pair intersecting the other pair. Two arcs are often seen on land, and three are sometimes seen; but the invariable rule is that these arcs all have a common center lying below the horizon. The explanation of the two pairs of arcs was, however, quite simple. The sea at the time was exceptionally calm, and acted as a gigantic mirror. Two of the arcs, which had a common center below the horizon, were due to the sun itself; the other two arcs, which had a common center above the horizon, were due to the reflection of the sun in the sea.

Rust Dissolver.

An Italian inventor has patented a method of cleansing iron and steel from rust. By his process the metal is made the cathode in a phosphoric acid electrolyte. It is claimed that this acid, unlike others, dissolves away the rust without attacking the solid metal, and also tends to prevent subsequent rusting. The electrolyte is made by adding 10 parts of phosphoric acid to 90 parts of water, or by adding a 10 per cent solution of sodium phosphate to 10 per cent of the acid. A temperature between 50 and 70 degrees Centigrade is recommended.

The people, of course, rarely knew how to read or write, and when any one was wanted for a crime one of the mayor's subordinates would take the cane and the culprit and place it horizontally upon the latter's chest. The proceeding was equivalent to a summons, and the man had to appear before the mayor under the penalty of being cast into prison. Rubbing the nose with sweet oil and camphor and inhaling the fumes of the latter will help matters when the head has a sensation of fullness.

Mystery of a Fish.

In the economy of nature nothing is more remarkable than the metamorphosis of the flounder, which when young swims in an upright position, as do all other fish, but when maturity develops it becomes topheavy, falls over on its side and its existence is passed as a flat fish.

That nature moves in a mysterious way is here freely illustrated, for when the flounder falls [illegible] the two eyes, which originally were on either side of the head, are transposed to the upper side of the fish, where they always face the light.

The process by which this strange change is accomplished has never been discovered by scientists and is a marvelous instance of nature's operations, for while the fish usually rests upon the bottom it can readily swim about in any depth of water.—New York Sun.

A Short Business Talk.

In a certain store the merchandise manager sent for the ready to wear and millinery buyers and said to them:

"You men are getting a bad accumulation of stock that is hard to move. Hereafter you will make a daily and weekly inventory and send the report to this office."

Both buyers declared this to be impossible, but the merchandise man told them to go and do it. Especially he wanted them to show the age of the goods in stock, the sizes and the colors.

After attempting to take some of these daily inventories the buyers decided that an easier way would be to get busy and sell the goods faster. This same plan has been used in many departments with fine results.

There is nothing like the spot light to engender selling activity in a store.—Philadelphia Record.

Wilson Asks Solons For Legislation For Control of Railroads

Bills to carry out the President's ideas already had been prepared under the supervision of the Department of Justice and were immediately introduced with plans for prompt consideration in both House and Senate.

The President spoke as follows:

Gentlemen of the congress:

I have asked the privilege of addressing you in order to report that on the 28th day of December last, during the recess of congress, lasting through the secretary of war and under the authority conferred upon me by the act of congress approved Aug. 29, 1916, I took possession and assumed control of the railway lines of the country and the systems of water transportation under their control. This step seemed to be imperatively necessary in the interest of the public welfare in the presence of the great tasks of war with which we are now dealing.

As our experience develops difficulties and makes it clear what they are, I have deemed it my duty to remove those difficulties wherever I have the legal power to do so. To assume control of the vast railway systems of the country is, I realize, a very heavy responsibility, but to fail to do so in the existing circumstances would have been a much greater. I assumed the less responsibility rather than the weightier.

Must Mobilize Resources.

I am sure that I am speaking the mind of all thoughtful Americans when I say that it is our duty to do everything that it is necessary to do to secure their complete mobilization of the whole resources of America by as rapid and effective means as can be found. Transportation supplies all the arteries of mobilization. Unless it be under a single and unified direction the whole process of the nation's action is embarrassed. It was in the true spirit of America and it was right, that we should first try to effect the necessary unification under the voluntary action of those who were in charge of the great railway properties; and we did try it. The directors of the railways responded to the need promptly and generously. The group of railway executives who were charged with the task of actual co-ordination and general direction performed their difficult duties with patriotic zeal and marked ability, as was to have been expected, and did, I believe, everything that it was possible for them to do in the circumstances.

If I have taken the task out of their hands it has not been because of any dereliction or failure on their part, but only because there were some things which the government can do and the present management cannot. We shall continue to value most highly the advice and assistance of these gentlemen and I am sure we shall not find them withholding it.

Government Control Only Solution.

It had become unmistakably plain that only under government administration can the entire equipment of the several systems of transportation be fully and unreservedly thrown into a common service without injurious discrimination against particular properties. Only under government administration can an absolutely unrestricted and unembarrassed common use be made of all tracks, terminals, terminal facilities and equipment of every kind. Only under that authority can new terminals be constructed and developed without regard to the requirements or limitations of particular roads. But under the government all these things will be possible—not instantly, but as fast as practical difficulties, which cannot be merely conjured away give way before the new management.

The common administration will be carried out with as little disturbance of present operating organizations and personnel of the railways as possible. Nothing will be altered or disturbed which it is not necessary to disturb. We are serving the public interest and safeguarding the public safety, but we are also regardful of the interest of those by whom these great properties are owned and glad to avail ourselves of the experience and trained ability of those who have been managing them.

War Traffic First Consideration.

It is necessary that the transportation of troops and of war materials, of food and of fuel, and of everything that is necessary for the full mobilization of the energies and resources of the country should be first considered, but it is clearly in the public interest also that the ordinary activities and the normal industrial and commercial life of the country should be interfered with and dislocated as little as possible and the public may rest assured that the interest and convenience of the private shipper will be as carefully served and safeguarded as it is possible to serve and safeguard it in the present extraordinary circumstances.

Wants Investors Protected.

While the present authority of the executive offices for all purposes of administration, and while of course, all private interest must for the present give way to the public necessity, it is, I am sure you will agree with me, right and necessary that the owners and creditors of the railways, the holders of the stocks and bonds, should receive from the government an unqualified guarantee that their properties will be maintained throughout the period of federal control in as good repair and as complete equipment as at present, and that the several roads will receive under federal management such compensation as is equitable and just alike to their owners and to the general public. I would suggest the average net railway operating income of the three years ending June 30, 1917. I earnestly recommend that these guarantees be given by appropriate legislation and given as promptly as circumstances permit.

Move Is Mere Justice.

I need not point out the essential justice of such guaranties and their great influence and significance as elements in the present financial and industrial situation of the country. Indeed, one of the strongest arguments for assuming control of the railroads at this time is the financial argument. It is necessary that the values of railway securities should be justly and fairly paid and that the large financial operations every year necessary in connection with the maintenance, operation and development of the roads, should, during the period of the war, be wisely related to the financial operations of the government.

Conserve Common Safety.

Our first duty is, of course, to conserve the common interest and the common safety, and to make certain that nothing stands in the way of the successful prosecution of the great war for liberty and justice, but it is an obligation of public conscience and of public honor that the private interests we disturb should be kept safe from unjust injury, and it is of the utmost consequence to the government itself that all great financial operations should be stabilized and coordinated with the financial operations of the government. No borrowing should run athwart the borrowings of the federal treasury, and no fundamental industrial values should anywhere be unnecessarily impaired. In the hands of many small investors in the country, as well as in national banks, in insurance companies, in saving banks, in trust companies, in financial agencies of every kind, railway securities, the total of which runs up to some $10,000,000,000 or $11,000,000,000, constitute a vital part of the structure of credit, and the unquestioned solidity of that structure must be maintained.

McAdoo Is Agreed Upon.

The secretary of war and I easily agreed that, in view of the many complex interests which must be safeguarded and harmonized, as well as because of his exceptional experience and ability in this new field of governmental action, William G. McAdoo, was the right man to assume direct administrative control of this new executive task. At our request he consented to assume the authority and duties of organizer and director general of the new railway administration. He has assumed those duties and his work is in active progress.

It is probably too much to expect that even under the unified railway administration which will now be possible, sufficient economies can be affected in the operation of the railways to make it possible to add to their equipment and extend their operative facilities as much as the present extraordinary demands upon their use will render desirable without resorting to the national treasury for funds.

Congress Must Provide.

It is not possible. It will of course, be necessary to resort to the congress for grants of money for that purpose. The secretary of the Treasury will advise with your committees with regard to this very practical aspect of the matter. For the present, I suggest only the guarantees I have indicated and such appropriations as are necessary at the outset of this task. I take the liberty of expressing the hope that the congress may grant these promptly and ungrudgingly. We are dealing with great matters and will, I am sure, deal with them greatly.

SEEN AS ALLIES REPLY

Lloyd George's Speech Looked On As Final Answer to Teutons.

In Effect Address Is Rejection of German Terms As Given By Central Powers.

London, Jan. 8.—In an epoch-making speech delivered at what he declared to be the most critical hour of the war, David Lloyd George, the British premier, spurned as insincere Germany's peace proposals and laid Great Britain's war aims before the world both more broadly and more specifically than they have ever before been formulated.

The premier's address is looked on as the final reply of the Allies to the recent German proposals and undoubtedly is the result of the recent conference between Mr. Lloyd George and Premier Georges Clemenceau of France. The premier was addressing the trades unions.

A just and lasting peace is the British aim, the premier reiterated, and this, he declared, must be achieved by the re-establishment of the sanctity of treaties, territorial adjustments on the basis of self-determination and the limitation of armaments carried out by the creation of an international organization.

Great Britain is prepared to make even greater sacrifices in achieving these ends, he declared.

In effect the speech was a reply to and a rejection of the German peace terms as voiced by the spokesman for the Central powers at the Brest-Litovsk conference. No lasting peace is possible on this basis, he asserted, emphasizing the point that mere lip service to the formulas of no annexations, no indemnities, and self-determination will not suffice.

Mexican Councillor Makes Statement In New York Speech.

New York, Jan. 7.—War sooner or later will break out between the two countries if the United States fails to cooperate with Mexico in adjustment of the latter's problems, was the prophecy made by Emetrio de la Garza, Jr., in an address on "The Mexican Situation" delivered at the Mount Morris theater, Harlem.

The speaker, who acted as high councillor in the successive cabinets of President Diaz, Madero and Huerta, added:

"This is the greatest international issue and the most serious problem facing the United States today, aside from its war with Germany. Upon the manner in which America deals with Mexico will depend the future of her trade with all Latin-America."

PEACE PARLEYS ARE SUSPENDED

Russia and Germany Break Off Negotiations When Foe Refuses Transfer.

FEAR ALLY INFLUENCE

"Temporarily Suspended' are Words Used in Announcement—Trotzky Insists Parley Must Go To Stockholm.

Stockholm, Jan. 8.—The Germans operating east of Pittsburgh according negotiations between the Central powers and the Bolsheviki government in Russia.

From the meager advices received, it appears the rock upon which a continuation of the pourparlers split was the demand of the Russians that the conference be resumed at Stockholm, instead of at Brest-Litovsk.

Trotzky Is Insistent.

Dissatisfied with the proposals for peace made by the Teutonic allies before the recess of the Brest-Litovsk conference, Leon Trotzky, the Bolsheviki foreign minister, had been insistent on the deliberations being held on neutral soil instead of at the German eastern headquarters. The Germans, however, had been equally as firm in their determination not to treat with the Russians at any other place than Brest-Litovsk.

The decision of the Germans to discontinue the sittings was arrived at during a crown council held in Berlin which was attended by Field Marshal von Hindenburg and General von Ludendorf, first quartermaster general.

Fear Allies' Influence.

A belated dispatch from Berlin gives as the reason for the refusal of the Germans to consider Stockholm as a place where peace might be advantageously discussed the fear that British, French and American diplomats in the Swedish capital would by intrigue render all endeavors futile.

NO PAY FOR GERMANS IN U. S.

U. S. Stops Allowances Because Enemy Fails to Respond.

Minneapolis, Jan. 7.—Pay allowances to interned German officers held in the United States have been stopped since Dec. 15, according to a letter received in Minneapolis from the state department at Washington. Allowances ceased, it is explained, because the imperial German government failed to respond to an inquiry from the United States regarding the pay allowances made to American officers interned in Germany.

He further states that the Milwaukee County Central committee, the highest Socialist government body, held the same view.

GUATEMALA IS DOOMED

Another Earthquake Completes Destruction of City.

Immediate Relief For People Being Rushed From Panama Canal Zone.

Kansas City, Jan. 8.—As a result of of new earthquake shocks, which have followed those late in December, the destruction of Guatemala City is now complete.

Messages received by the State department said loss of life in these last shocks is estimated to be greater than that resulting from the earlier shocks.

A dispatch from the Central American Telegraph company said:

"Our manager at San Jose, Guatemala, telegraphs the following: 'What is left of Guatemala City is now wiped out. Shocks at 10:33 p. m. fourth, finished everything. Steam is coming up in the streets. Cathedral fallen. Las Vacas bridge to Barritas now down. Slides on railroad, San Jose and city. No trains reported. Further 300 killed.'"

This would bring the total number of deaths in the city in the series of disasters up to 2,300.

A cablegram from the American consul at Guatemala City, said a new series of earthquakes began the night before and were continuing when the dispatch was filed. The weather was cold. A second dispatch, filed later that day, reported shocks still in progress, but gave no details.

Immediate relief for the people will be rushed from the Panama zone.

3 MEXICAN BANDITS SLAIN

Overtaken by U. S. Cavalry After Raid and Killed.

Douglas, Ariz., Jan. 7.—Three Mexicans were killed and four captured by members of a troop of cavalry in a fight two miles south of the Mexican border which followed a raid by Mexicans who surprised two American soldiers at the Slaughter ranch, 20 miles west of here, and took them prisoners across the line.

When word of the capture reached army headquarters some cavalry men were dispatched to rescue the American soldiers. Two miles south of the border they came upon the raiders who were armed. The Mexicans opened fire on their pursuers, who returned the fire. In quick order three Mexicans were killed and the other four captured, some of the latter being wounded. No Americans were killed or wounded in the engagement.

PROVEN SWAMP-ROOT AIDS WEAK KIDNEYS

The symptoms of kidney and bladder troubles are often very distressing and leave the system in a run-down condition. The kidneys seem to suffer most, as almost every victim complains of lame back and urinary troubles which should not be neglected, as these danger signals often lead to more dangerous kidney troubles.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root which, so many people say, soon heals and strengthens the kidneys, is a splendid kidney, liver and bladder medicine, and, being an herbal compound, has a gentle healing effect on the kidneys, which is almost immediately noticed in most cases by those who use it.

A trial will convince anyone who may be in need of it. Better get a bottle from your nearest drug store, and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarrhal Deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Many cases of Deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the Mucous Surfaces.

Silvering Mirrors.

This is by no means an easy business, but if you want to try it, the following method may be used: Place the mirror face downward on a table and clean off the part to be silvered by rubbing it with a pledget of clean cotton. Now spread over the spot a piece of tinfoil, a little larger than the part to be repaired and, after spreading it out carefully and smoothly, let drop on the center of it a drop of metallic mercury, and with a piece of chamois rub the foil until it becomes brilliant. Now place over the new amalgam a sheet of smooth writing paper, and pile books, or weights of any kind upon it, and leave over night. The amount of mercury to be used should correspond as nearly as possible to three drachms to the square foot of surface.

OLDER MEN MAY BE PUT IN DRAFT

Increase Of Age From 31 to 45 Years Is Forecast By Crowder In Report

WILL BE NEEDED TO AID

Draft of Older Men Would Be Mainly For Skilled War Labor But Also To Distribute Burdens of Conflict.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Provost Marshal General Crowder, in his comprehensive report to the secretary of war, says that an increase in the draft age to 40 or 45 years is one of the "probabilities of the future."

The draft of the older men should be mainly for skilled labor, but also to distribute the burdens of the war.

Youth Plentiful.

There are plenty of young men for the first line fighting, Crowder had shown, but he also points out there is a danger of "injuring the coming generation" by taking away too many of the "aggressively patriotic young men."

Out of the 10,683,249 men between the ages of 31 and 35, Crowder estimates 3,525,472 are unmarried and that 39 per cent of the latter figure, or 1,389,388, would be accepted for service under the present regulations.

Best Soldiers Are Young.

Advocating this legislation, Crowder said:

"The younger men are generally deemed to make the soundest and most pliable military material. On the other hand, the older men are more likely to yield in large numbers the occupational skill so necessary in the varied compositions of the modern army.

"Under the national selective service system, which seeks to distribute the burden equally among the willing and unwilling, it is important, if not essential, to include the older men because the smaller proportion of them is likely to enlist."

Position Advantageous.

Under the new system a card index will be compiled in Washington after the questionnaires are all returned. In this way the government will be able to put its finger on men in certain trades just when they are needed.

"The whole labor problem can thus be controlled," Crowder pointed out. "Adjustments in order that this nation may be in the most advantageous position ever occupied by a belligerent power in war would then be possible."

Thousands Fall to Appear.

Fifty thousand real slackers in the United States is Provost Marshal General E. H. Crowder's estimate in his report to Secretary N. D. Baker. That calculation supposes that 10 men in each registration district have escaped service without being caught.

While a few more than 250,000 of the more than 3,000,000 registered men failed to appear when called for examination General Crowder estimates leaves about 50,000 real slackers into military service without notifying local boards.

"This leaves more than 150,000 to be accounted for," says the provost marshal general.

76,545 Aliens in Army.

General Crowder estimates 100,000 probably are aliens. This he estimates leaves about 50,000 real slackers to be accounted for. Only a few more than 16,000 have been identified and a few more than 2,000 have been prosecuted.

The report shows that 928 Germans of draft age have been accepted for service in the national army. A total of 14,161 enemy aliens were accepted, the remainder being Austrians or Hungarians. The enemy alien registration was 279,431, of whom 104,672 were called to produce the 14,161 accepted. All aliens accepted make a total of 76,545.

During the past thirty days 263 lumber-jacks have been shipped from Stillwater to Satona, Minn., where they are employed by J. E. McGrath of Stillwater in a big lumber camp near that place that he is operating.

Breeders of fancy poultry from Canada and the East competed with Minnesota poultry fanciers at the state poultry show which was held at Minneapolis. The show this year was larger than for several years past.

Daniel S. Hayward, proprietor of the Grand Central hotel, St. Cloud, has leased the hotel for twelve years to W. S. Beard of Minneapolis, former proprietor of the Hotel Nicollet. Mr. Hayward has left for Riverside, Cal., to spend the winter.

Five Winona boys, all classmates, have arrived in France, according to messages received by their parents. They are: Privates William Riley, Arthur Gallien, Paul Baumgartner, Stanley Ollhoff and Corporal Clarence B. Barth. All were enlisted early in the spring and left New York as members of the aviation corps two weeks ago.

The northerly division of the Red Cross now has 500,000 members, John Leslie of Minneapolis, head of that division, stated. This is 20,000 more than the apportionment for this division. Of this number St. Paul claims 47,000 and Duluth 25,000. The Minneapolis Red Cross chapter has on hand $71,000 in cash from the membership drive in that city.

Reinhold Kintzi, publisher of "Die Freie Presse," at Glencoe, has been arrested on a charge of perjury in connection with alleged seditious articles published in his paper. Kintzi was brought to Minneapolis by Joseph Buisson, United States deputy marshal and taken before Howard S. Abbott, United States commissioner. He waived examination and was committed to the Hennepin county jail in default of $2,000 bail. He is to be tried at the April term of the United States district court.

Lamb sold in Minnesota the other day for $5.36 a pound, the highest price ever known in the state. Indirectly the war was responsible. Only 54 pounds of lamb brought this price, and proceeds will go to the Red Cross. The sale took place on the University farm campus and was conducted by the Minnesota Sheep Breeders' association. The animal raised by H. H. Pond of Minneapolis, had won first prize in the association's exhibit the day before. Its carcass was auctioned off before a crowd that included most of the folk attending Farmers' and Homemakers' week.

The Northern Minnesota Editorial association will hold its annual meeting in Fergus Falls on Jan. 17 and 18.

A 10 per cent increase in wages, effective Jan. 1, was granted by the Northern Pacific railroad to 3,500 station clerks and employes.

A new automobile fire truck for the Moorhead fire department has been purchased, according to an announcement of Treasurer O. D. Hilde.

E. S. Tolman of Pine River, well known as "Dinkey" Holman, was arrested by Sheriff Mack Kennedy and taken to the county jail at Walker, charged with seditious utterances against the government. At a hearing before Justice Morcel he was released under a bond of $500.

The Rathskeller, one of Moorhead's leading saloons, and which catered exclusively to the elite before the saloons were voted out on May 17, 1915, and where the "little German band" used to give open air concerts nightly from the veranda, is being remodeled into an apartment house. Announcement was made some time ago that the famous "House of Lords" just south of the Rathskeller, would be made into a garage.

Edmund F. Warner, confessed accomplice of Donald Dow alias Fred Anderson in the murder of George Sheffield, night operator of the Great Northern railroad at Moorhead, early in the morning of September 19, 1917, has been taken to the state penitentiary at Stillwater by Sheriff Dan W. McDonald. Following his confession and plea of guilty to robbery in the second degree, Warner was given an indeterminate sentence of three to 15 years.

Minnesota began 1918 business with $6,474,703 cash in the state treasury where a year ago there was but $3,606,291. The increase in the yearend balance is due mainly to deferring payments of state school aid, pending decisions in litigation involving the fund. Treasurer Henry Rines asserted, nevertheless, that the state was never more prosperous on its own financial account.

USE MORE CORN WILSON EXHORTS

State Food Administrator Announces Coming Drive For Greater Use of Grain.

CHILD LAWS IN FORCE

New Statutes Giving Protection to Illegitimates, Dependents and Delinquents Now Effective.

St. Paul.

Minnesotans as well as Iowans are to be cornfed folk if the Federal Food administration for Minnesota has its way. A. D. Wilson, state food administrator, has announced that corn was to be the subject for the next big food drive.

"American housewife, use more corn!" is Mr. Wilson's exhortation.

"We have 30 bushels per person for this year, and our average consumption is less than one bushel per person. Four-fifths of all the farmers in America grow corn and one-third of all the land under cultivation is in corn. Corn cannot be shipped for two reasons: There are no mills over seas for grinding of whole grain, and cornmeal grows rancid in passage. This is due to the large amount of fat which detracts from its keeping qualities, while it adds to its food value. What is the 'bit' for the housewife of today? Corn saves wheat for soldiers.

New Child Laws in Force.

With the war making more urgent the necessity of child conservation, authorities will begin enforcement of Minnesota's new child welfare laws which give children born out of wedlock a better chance; place guardianship over all dependent and delinquent children; broaden the jurisdiction of the juvenile court and increase the scope of the mothers' pension law.

Under the terms of the new laws, the maternity hospitals and infant homes in the state also must be incorporated and licensed annually.

William W. Hodson of Minneapolis, who has been named director of the children's bureau, which will be conducted by the State Board of Control, said that he will confer at once with Mrs. R. J. O'Connor and Miss E. Hayes of St. Paul, Miss Florence Monahan of Minneapolis, and Miss Lucile Way of Northfield, field agents, on their duties.

They will begin their work in the Twin Cities, reporting all unlicensed hospitals and infant homes to the Board of Control so that they can be licensed under the terms of the act passed at the last session of the Legislature.

Under the illegitimacy section of one of the statutes, the father is made responsible in the same degree as though the child were legitimate.

May Charter No More Banks.

With a view toward conserving Minnesota's financial power to aid the government in winning the war, F. W. Pearson, state superintendent of banks states that he has planned to suggest to the State Public Safety commission an order to prohibit chartering new state banks until the end of the war. The results, Mr. Pearson said, would be that prospective stockholders in new banks would be influenced to buy Liberty bonds and use their funds in other ways which would help the government. The Public Safety commission has been passing on applications for charters for new state banks for some weeks, but only with a view of determining the loyalty of the project.

In one instance the commission directed the superintendent to refuse a charter for a new bank on the ground that it was backed in some measures by parties who became displeased with other banks in the same town which had aided in Liberty Loan and other patriotic undertakings.

1918 Crop Survey Unlikely.

No special survey of Minnesota's crops likely will be made next summer other than the customary crop report estimate, A. D. Wilson announced after a conference with Paul H. Kirk, field agent in the crop reporting service of the Department of Agriculture.

The conference came as a result of a letter to Mr. Kirk from Washington, urging him to consult with Mr. Wilson as to the advisability of conducting a state-wide survey of crops, yield, acreage, labor and general resources next summer. It was proposed to do this work through the schools. Several hundred high school agricultural students were to be enlisted in this work.

Delinquents Face Suit.

Hotel and restaurant keepers who failed to pay the state license fee of $2 for 1917 will not escape payment, it has been announced by W. A. Wittbecker, state hotel inspector. Fifteen or twenty places in St. Paul are delinquent and prosecutions may start this week. By February delinquent lists will have been mailed certifying hotel and restaurant keepers to county attorneys for prosecution. Further inspections will be made soon of St. Paul hotels and restaurants, Mr. Wittbecker announced.

Eat Fruit to Save Flour.

The people of the United States have bananas, apples and a dozen perishable foods that are denied our soldiers and the soldiers of our allies in France. If one person will do without a biscuit a day by eating the equivalent in fruit or perishable vegetables, in one year the wheat in 365 biscuits will have been saved for shipment to Europe. And the fruit and vegetable eater will be happier and healthier for the practice. Surely that is worth the doing. Instructions from the government tell exactly what is to be conserved. When those instructions are not observed the consumer is helping Germany to his best ability.—Houston Post.

Must Have the Bronze.

A second requisition of church bells has taken place in Austria to the sorrow of the Catholic population of that country, according to advices received. The government came to the conclusion that further requisitioning was necessary, with the result that the church has had to sacrifice many more of its familiar and cherished bells to the never-satisfied Moloch of war.

The idea of substituting steel bells for bronze has not yet eventuated, owing to the onerous conditions stipulated by bell manufacturers, who demanded, among other things, that the price should be paid in foodstuffs for the workmen in the factories.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off. Adv.

Anti-Leak Device for Brushes.

The following is a good method for preventing the color or wash from running down over the handle of a large brush when overhead work is being done. Take a good, large sponge, oblong in shape, if possible, and cut a slit in it to allow it to slip over the brush handle. Push it up as far as it will go and tie a cord on the handle to prevent it from slipping back. The sponge, we are assured, will take care of all the leaking color, and it can be wrung out at any time while on the brush.

A FIGHT FOR LIFE

It has been fight or die for many of us in the past and the lucky people are those who have suffered, but who are now well because they heeded nature's warning signal in time to correct their trouble with that wonderful new discovery of Dr. Pierce's called "An-u-ric." You should promptly heed these warnings, some of which are dizzy spells, backache, irregularity of the urine or the painful twinges of rheumatism, sciatica or lumbago. To delay may make possible the dangerous forms of kidney disease, such as stone in the bladder.

To overcome these distressing conditions take plenty of exercise in the open air, avoid a heavy meat diet, drink freely of water and at each meal take Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets (double strength). You will, in a short time, find that you are one of the firm indorsers of Anuric, as are thousands of neighbors.

Step into the drug store and ask for a 60c bottle of Anuric, or send Dr. V. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 10c for trial pkg. Anuric, many times more potent than lithia, eliminates uric acid as hot water melts sugar.

Not Fond of Army Life.

Army life did not agree with Ginger, a Boston bull. After a three-weeks' career as mascot in the Canadian army, he has returned to his old haunts, and is happy again. The dog is owned by John Hamilton, a Los Angeles resident of fifteen years' standing, who recently enlisted in the Canadian forces. He took Ginger along, but the dog did not take to the army life. In fact, he was wasting away, until Hamilton decided to send him back to Los Angeles. On his arrival he ate six meals in three hours and now has a joyous bark for all his old friends.

Washington Jan, 3—Provost Marshall General Crowder, reporting to congress to day on the progress of the draft, expressed for the first time definite promise and aim of the government not to take for army duty any men than those listed in the first class of the the new draft questionnaire. This classification excludes married men entirely whose wives are dependent on them for support and other men with dependents. General Crowder does this on the estimate that one million men physically fit for army duty will be available from class one.

The word has gone out that Senator Knute Nelson, though anxious to retire from official life, will accede to the popular desire and will file for another term. His re-election will be practically unanimous, even though others should file.—The Bemidji Sentinel.

We do not anticipate any active opposition to the re-election of Senator Nelson at this time, but the man that tries to beat him in Minnesota at this time will, think that he has been struck by the tail end of a Kansas Cyclone.

When we first read over them Questionnairies that were sent out we thought that there was a lot of unnecessary questions to answer. But now we plainly see the object of the government in getting them out, and when they get them al returned they will know just where they are at. Any husky healthy young man who has not got a steady job or is not actually and necessarily employed in agricultural pursuits, will be pretty apt to obtain steady employment from the government during the war, and them are the ones that should answer the first call, so as not to hinder production, or necessary mechanical work. There must be at least two million of them that registered, that them Questionnairies will show, that they could be spared to go to France, without crippling the farmers. One question asked is could not some one else take your place on the farm? We answer no, there is no boy raised in town that can take the place of a boy raised on a farm.

The people will be so well satisfied with government control of the railroads during the war, that they will demand government ownership after the war. Under government ownership new lines would be built into the newer parts of the country, the same as mail routes are established. If the mail service was under the ownership of corporations, we people up in this end of the county would have to go to Thief River Falls to get our mail because it would not PAY dividends on watered stock to, put in a mial route.

But government ownership of Railroads is coming, as it will be pretty near impossible for a Congressman to be elected this year that does not favor Ownership of Railroads and Telegraph lines by the Government.

The big city dailies have started the fight against government Ownership of Railroads but they will land just where the big Business landed in North Dakota, which they went up against the Nonpartisan [illegible] is now strong enough in this state to hold the balance of power and no man will receive their indorsement for Congress that does not favor the government Ownership of Railroads. So Mr. Would be Congressmen can take his choice, of going to Congress in favor of government Ownership of Railroads, or staying at home and opposing it.

Half Way Work.

We are, none of us, so good architects as to be able to work habitually beneath our strength, and yet there is not a building that I know of, lately raised, wherein it is not sufficiently evident that neither architect nor builder has done his best. It is the especial characteristic of modern work. All old work nearly has been hard work. It may be the hard work of children, of barbarians, of rustics, but it is always their utmost. Let us have done with this kind of work at once; cast off every temptation to it; do not let us degrade ourselves voluntarily, and then mutter and mourn over our shortcomings; let us confess our poverty or our parsimony, but not belie our human intellect. It is not a question of doing much, but of doing better. Do not let us boss our roofs with wretched, half-worked, blunt [illegible]

NONPARTISAN REAL FACTOR IN POLITICS

PROGRAM APPEALS TO FARMER

High Prices Also Help to Swing City Workers Into Line Behind the Organization's Demands.

It is becoming very apparent that the Nonpartisan league is going to be an important factor in the Minnesota state election next year. Politicians bitterly hostile to the league program admit as much. So do political writers on the Duluth and Twin City dailies.

The Nonpartisan league has had a phenomenal growth—upsetting all predictions of those who first sneered at it—and now its opponents are uncertain where it will stop. In two years it has developed from an "obscure agrarian agitation" in one corner of North Dakota to a political party which swept that state at the last election, chose John M. Baer congressman at a special election in May, 1917, and now has a total membership of more than 120,000 in 13 states.

League Not Marking Time.

Nor is the Nonpartisan league marking time. It has 300 organizers in the field and its national membership is increasing at the rate of between 400 and 500 a day. In Minnesota alone it is putting on more than 1,000 new members every week and has a total enrollment of more than 50,000. Less than a year ago it had a bare foothold in this state. The league also has organizers in North and South Dakota, Montana, Colorado, Idaho, Washington, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Texas. It has been asked to form organizations in Oregon, Illinois, Michigan, Oklahoma, California and Utah and probably will enter these states in the near future.

[illegible]

Hard Fight in Prospect.

In Minnesota a hard fight is in prospect. Nonpartisan league officials are optimistic. Even at the present rate of progress they expect to have 70,000 members enrolled before the primary election next June. They also expect the support of union labor in the three larger cities of the state. With this force they expect to be able to control the primaries of either party and name their candidates.

But the Nonpartisan league does not intend to confine itself to state affairs. It proposes to play an active part in the next national election, and, if another situation should arise such as developed in the last presidential campaign, it is not inconceivable that the league might hold the balance of power.

Populist Demands Enforced.

Some politicians sneer at the Nonpartisan league and recall the disintegration of the Populist party. But these same politicians forget, that while the Populists finally disappeared as a party organization, they first gained such strength that both the old line parties were compelled to concede to many of their demands. Railroad regulation, in particular, was brought to pass by Populism, and although the party itself finally perished, its principles survived and were a powerful influence in shaping ensuing legislation.

The Populist party was a protest against unfair economic conditions and the Nonpartisan league, too, was formed to end a system of exploitation which permits middlemen to depress prices to the farmer and elevate them for the consumer. Nonpartisan leaguers believe that a few powerful middlemen, members of an interlocked produce combine, gamblers in the people's necessities, should not be allowed to maintain these artificial toll-gates along all the avenues of commerce which take an unfair, exorbitant and unearned tax from both producer and consumer.

packing plants; and it favors the initiative, the referendum and the recall of all elective officials.

This is the Nonpartisan program, and right or wrong, it is meeting with a popular response among the farmers. And Minnesota's population contains more than 75 percent of farmers. They only lack cohesiveness to make their power felt. The Nonpartisan league is doing the organizing and as a result many old line politicians, who have served the special interests long and faithfully, are commencing to fear that the agricultural interests, which predominate in the state actually are going to insist in having the most to say about how its affairs shall be conducted.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN.

Story of the Growth of a Famous New York City Landmark.

Madison Square Garden, indissolubly associated with the city of New York, was purchased in 1853 by the Harlem railroad after the extinction of the old eastern post road, which ran diagonally across the block. In 1854 the railroad company put up sheds for the handling of the early morning milk supply and farm products.

In 1863 the train sheds were rebuilt to house a passenger terminal of the Harlem on Twenty-sixth street and of the New Haven road on Twenty-seventh street, the trains being broken up at the present Grand Central and the separate cars being drawn down by mules.

The railway ceased to use the building in 1871, and in 1873 it was remodeled and leased to Barnum for the congress of nations. Sheridan Shook and Patrick Gilmore, in joint conduct of a museum, were the next tenants. Barnum returned with the circus and menagerie April 27, 1874. Gilmore took the place for the next season and produced the first of his concerts May 29, 1875.

On May 31, 1879, the place was first designated Madison Square Garden. The tearing down of the old building was begun Aug. 7, 1889. The present structure was formally opened [illegible] 1890.—Argonaut.

THE LOCAL NEWS

Second growth oak posts for sale. Inquire at this office.

The weather has been fair, but cold the past week, with a North west wind.

The Hazel and Sunbeam mail route have been getting their daily mail regulaly this winter, and we have not had one single complaint of mail service.

Carl Magnell, from Mayfield was a business caller here Monday. He reported that they had not had any mail on the Plummer and Rhoda mail route for three days.

Ole Yestesund received, notice to take care of his mail route from Plummer to Rhoda, this week. He had sublet the carrying of the mails and the sub quit.

The roads are not in very good condition for hauling loads on, as there is too much snow for wagons, and the wind keeps the snow swept off of the high grades, so there is no sleighing.

There was a Nonpartisan meeting at Thief River Falls Wednesday evening, and we hear that they were ordered out of the Commercial Club rooms and had to go down to the court house to hold their meeting. We did not learn what the trouble was about and refrain from expressing any opinion. But it looks as if the league had got a rich coat of fertilizer out of the deal.

When there is a contagious disease in the country, it is best not to give many public dances, or entertainments. It is also dangerous to allow children to spend their time at the stores, as they are quite sure to catch any contagious disease that may be in the country, for there has been numerous cases reported of people, having scarlet fever in their homes, and going about their regular business as usual.

One young man, who had claimed exemption on agricultural grounds got returns from his Questionnaires this week, and was placed in Class First. He was given another opportunity however, by reporting how many cows he was milking night and morning. It is now up to our young men to get busy and milk the cows, or get into the army. It appears that no claims will be allowed for exemption on agricultural grounds, unless the young man is actually doing necessary farm work and taking care of stock.

Last week Tuesday Lenard McAndress had a sore throat and went down to Thief River Falls to consult a Doctor. As soon as the Doctor examined him he ordered him to leave town, saying that he had the smallpox. The Doctor assisted him to get an auto and they shipped him back as far as Highlanding and from there he walked home. The next morning Chairman Vaughn came down and tacked up a sign warning all people to keep away from the place, marked Scarlet Fever, Dr. Gamble was telephoned for and came up in the afternoon and said that it was doubtful if it was scarlet fever. Last evening Lenards throat was nearly well and all fever had left him, and he will be able to be around in a few days. A careful quarantine has been kept so as not to spread the disease, if it is scarlet fever. There is no indications of any skin peeling off, as it does in scarlet fever, although he is nearly as well as usual. The County Board have been notified to make further investigation and remove the quarantine, if the sore throat is not scarlet fever.

CREAMERY MEETING

The Annual Meeting of the stock holders of the Highlanding Creamery was held last Monday. The last years business did not show any profit for share holders and it appears that a lot of cream was shipped to Thief River Falls to obtain better prices. It was decided to lease the Creamery for this season to butter maker George Nereson, and he will open the Creamery this spring by paying a price for butter fat, that will cause the farmers to patronize their local creamery. There are two advantages in running the Creamery this way: One is the saving of salaries to secretary and treasurer, and one is, that the butter maker can reduce his own salary for any month in order to keep up the price of butter fat. There was a slight sentiment in favor of closing the creamery and making a cream station of it, which was promptly voted down.

CAPITAL FEARS NEW ALLIANCE

FINANCIAL WRITER ADMITS NON-PARTISAN LEAGUE CONVENTION IS HELPING UNITE PRODUCERS AND CONSUMERS.

Roger Babson, the economist and statistician who is employed to do the thinking for many of our financiers, issues confidential reports to his employers which usually state facts without any equivocation. Mr. Babson—who can tell a hawk from a handsaw—plainly foresees that the jig is up for Big Business when the farmers and city workers combine, and he tells his capitalist clients as much in a report intended for their eyes alone. The report follows:

"Farmers and Unions Join Forces—The Farmers' Nonpartisan league of North Dakota and elsewhere meets with the labor unions in St. Paul to see what can be done toward linking the farmer as a producer and the worker as a consumer in defensive alliance. The same thing has happened in California. In the South is another farmers' organization that is looking in the same direction. This is an entirely new manifestation. The farmer has been classed as a capitalist and has usually been regarded as antilabor. Every economic writer has listed the farmer as a conservative force in this great class war. Here, then, is another tradition being broken down. Developments in the farming business during the last generation tend to push the farmer into the new classification. The labor forces will be much strengthened by this re-enforcement and the new alignment WILL BE MUCH MORE IN AGREEMENT WITH PRESENT CONDITIONS."

Heretofore Big Business has reigned supreme because it has been able to divide the farmers and workers by creating fancied class differences. Now the workers and farmers are coming to realize that their interests are identical and as a consequence Big Business, or at least its more clear-sighted spokesmen like Mr. Babson, are commencing to see the handwriting on the wall.

"MEMORY MAPS" ARE FREAKS

Try to Draw Outlines of the Various Countries and You Will Be Surprised at Your Ignorance.

A man and wife sat at the table at their home trying to draw the outline map of Europe, from memory, observes the Ohio State Journal. They soon found that they knew little about it. They had been reading of European events for years, and yet when they came to putting their mind picture of the continent on paper they forgot their geography entirely. The man had read Anabasis and Homer in the original and yet put Greece between the Adriatic and the coast of Spain, and left Austria out altogether. The wife had Spain and France side by side on an east and west line, with Belgium to the north, covering both, while she made the boot of Italy a fashionable $10 gaiter. Anyone looking at the two maps could tell they were not of America or Asia, but of where, he couldn't say.

But, seriously, it is a delightful amusement and might with profit be indulged in more. After one gets through with Europe, take the other continents and the countries that belong to them. And then one might come nearer home. It would be really sad to observe the ignorance concerning our own localities, but it would be amusing too. Just for fun, have a company draw maps of Great Britain and Ireland, of Turkey, China, Kansas, and Nebraska, Louisiana, Delaware, etc., and much surprised you will be to see how this old earth had changed since you trusted it to your memory.

RUSSIA TO RECLAIM DESERT

Good Pasture Lands Are Destroyed at the Rate of One Hundred Thousand Acres a Year.

The shifting sands of Astrakhan and the measures taken by the Russian government to deal with this problem form the subject of a memoir by J. G. Firstov, published in Petrograd, observes the Scientific American. Ten million acres of the province in question are covered with shifting sands formed during the nineteenth century and subsequently. These sands have been spreading at the rate of 100,000 acres a year, the result being the transformation of good pasture land into a barren waste. The principal cause is over grazing; flocks and herds are kept so long in one place as to result in the complete destruction of the turf. Poor agricultural methods are also responsible. About the beginning of the present century the government took measures of control and reclamation, and between 1904 and 1909 an area of about 46,000 acres was brought under cultivation. In 1913 a special service was ordered to deal with the question. The province was put under the charge of a chief forestry officer and divided into six districts, in each of which a subordinate official was appointed to superintend the work. At the time of writing good progress has been made in planting soil binders and growing herbaceous crops, but it was still problematical whether the province was adapted to the establishment of forests.

EARLY MAN FIGHTING ANIMAL

Ancestors of Present People Were Called Upon to Face Beasts That Inhabited Plains and Rivers.

The first houses were caves. Early man was a fighting animal, and had to contend against the huge and ferocious beasts that infested the plains and rivers, observes a writer. His dwelling naturally had to be a place of security as well as a habitation. Caves were natural and artificial, the latter being hollowed out of solid rock by rude flint instruments. Most of them were formed in the sides of cliffs and among high, rugged hills.

To those early ancestors of ours, the primeval men and women who secured, as one would think, but scanty shelter and protection from these stone caves and holes in the rock, we apply the generic term of cliff dwellers.

They were entirely ignorant of agriculture, and subsisted by hunting and fishing and on the natural products they found growing in a wild state.

What is very remarkable, at our very doors can still be seen the typical houses and handiwork of those pre-historic tribes in the caves of the Lancos river in southern Colorado. These, in most instances, are as well preserved as when their ancient occupants deserted them—perhaps 10,000 years ago. When inhabited they were reached quite frequently by notches cut in the rock, and at other times rope ladders must have been used.

Miranda was an incurable optimist and the embodiment of kindliness. She would never admit that anything was wrong with any one, although sometimes facts pushed her hard. Her young mistress had many suitors, and the latest recruit to the ranks could boast as little in the way of good looks as was humanly possible.

"Grand looking chap, isn't he, Mirandy?" queried Miss Annette's mischievous brother when the guest had departed.

Miranda teetered perilously between truth and charity. "Cose he was," she answered presently, with dignity. "Han'some gintleman—han'some gintleman."

At that point honesty got the upper hand. "'Ceptin'," she added conscientiously, "fer his features."—Youth's Companion.

THE LOCAL NEWS

Second growth oak posts for sale. Inquire at this office.

The weather has been fair, but cold the past week, with a North west wind.

The Hazel and Sunbeam mail route have been getting their daily mail regularly this winter, and we have not had one single complaint of mail service.

Carl Magnell, from Mayfield was a business caller here Monday. He reported that they had not had any mail on the Plummer and Rhoda mail route for three days.

Ole Yestesund received, notice to take care of his mail route from Plummer to Rhoda, this week. He had sublet the carrying of the mails and the sub quit.

The roads are not in very good condition for hauling loads on, as there is too much snow for wagons, and the wind keeps the snow swept off of the high grades, so there is no sleighing.

There was a Nonpartisan meeting at Thief River Falls Wednesday evening, and we hear that they were ordered out of the Commercial Club rooms and had to go down to the court house to hold their meeting. We did not learn what the trouble was about and refrain from expressing any opinion. But it looks as if the league had got a rich coat of fertilizer out of the deal.

When there is a contagious disease in the country, it is best not to give many public dances, or entertainments. It is also dangerous to allow children to spend their time at the stores, as they are quite sure to catch any contagious disease that may be in the country, for there has been numerous cases reported of people, having scarlet fever in their homes, and going about their regular business as usual.

One young man, who had claimed exemption on agricultural grounds got returns from his Questionnaires this week, and was placed in Class First. He was given another opportunity however, by reporting how many cows he was milking night and morning. It is now up to our young men to get busy and milk the cows, or get into the army. It appears that no claims will be allowed for exemption on agricultural grounds, unless the young man is actually doing necessary farm work and taking care of stock.

Last week Tuesday Lenard McAndress had a sore throat and went down to Thief River Falls to consult a Doctor. As soon as the Doctor examined him he ordered him to leave town, saying that he had the smallpox. The Doctor assisted him to get an auto and they shipped him back as far as Highlanding and from there he walked home. The next morning Chairman Vaughn came down and tacked up a sign warning all people to keep away from the place, marked Scarlet Fever, Dr. Gamble was telephoned for and came up in the afternoon and said that it was doubtful if it was scarlet fever. Last evening Lenards throat was nearly well and all fever had left him, and he will be able to be around in a few days. A careful quarantine has been kept so as not to spread the disease, if it is scarlet fever. There is no indications of any skin peeling off, as it does in scarlet fever, although he is nearly as well as usual. The County Board have been notified to make further investigation and remove the quarantine, if the sore throat is not scarlet fever.

CREAMERY MEETING

The Annual Meeting of the stock holders of the Highlanding Creamery was held last Monday. The last years business did not show any profit for share holders and it appears that a lot of cream was shipped to Thief River Falls to obtain better prices. It was decided to lease the Creamery for this season to butter maker George Nereson, and he will open the Creamery this spring by paying a price for butter fat, that will cause the farmers to patronize their local creamery. There are two advantages in running the Creamery this way; One is the saving of salaries to secretary, and treasurer, and one is, that the butter maker can reduce his own salary for any month in order to keep up the price of butter fat. There was a slight sentiment in favor of closing the creamery and making a cream station of it, which was promptly voted down.

CAPITAL FEARS NEW ALLIANCE

Roger Babson, the economist and statistician who is employed to do the thinking for many of our financiers, issues confidential reports to his employers which usually state facts without any equivocation. Mr. Babson—who can tell a hawk from a handsaw—plainly foresees that the jig is up for Big Business when the farmers and city workers combine, and he tells his capitalist clients as much in a report intended for their eyes alone. The report follows:

"Farmers and Unions Join Forces—The Farmers' Nonpartisan league of North Dakota and elsewhere meets with the labor unions in St. Paul to see what can be done toward linking the farmer as a producer and the worker as a consumer in defensive alliance. The same thing has happened in California. In the South is another farmers' organization that is looking in the same direction. This is an entirely new manifestation. The farmer has been classed as a capitalist and has usually been regarded as anti-labor. Every economic writer has listed the farmer as a conservative force in this great class war. Here, then, is another tradition being broken down. Developments in the farming business during the last generation tend to push the farmer into the new classification. The labor forces will be much strengthened by this re-enforcement and the new alignment WILL BE MUCH MORE IN AGREEMENT WITH PRESENT CONDITIONS."

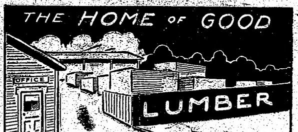
Heretofore Big Business has reigned supreme because it has been able to divide the farmers and workers by creating fancied class differences. Now the workers and farmers are coming to realize that their interests are identical and as a consequence Big Business, or at least its more clear-sighted spokesmen like Mr. Babson, are commencing to see the handwriting on the wall.

"MEMORY MAPS" ARE FREAKS

Try to Draw Outlines of the Various Countries and You Will Be Surprised at Your Ignorance.

A man and wife sat at the table at their home trying to draw the outline map of Europe, from memory, observes the Ohio State Journal. They soon found that they knew little about it. They had been reading of European events for years, and yet when they came to putting their mind picture of the continent on paper they forgot their geography entirely. The man had read Anabasis and Homer in the original and yet put Greece between the Adriatic and the coast of Spain, and left Austria out altogether. The wife had Spain and France side by side on an east and west line, with Belgium to the north, covering both; while she made the boot of Italy a fashionable $10 gaiter. Anyone looking at the two maps could tell they were not of America or Asia, but of where, he couldn't say.

But seriously, it is a delightful amusement and might with profit be indulged in more. After one gets through with Europe, take the other continents and the countries that belong to them. And then one night come nearer home. It would be really sad to observe the ignorance concerning our own localities, but it would be amusing too. Just for fun, have a company draw maps of Great Britain and Ireland, of Turkey, China, Kansas and Nebraska, Louisiana, Delaware, etc., and much surprised you will be to see how this old earth had changed since you trusted it to your memory.



There isn't any place in this state where you can get better Lumber, better prices or better, more prompt service than we give.

RUSSIA TO RECLAIM DESERT

Good Pasture Lands Are Destroyed at the Rate of One Hundred Thousand Acres a Year.

The shifting sands of Astrakhan and the measures taken by the Russian government to deal with this problem form the subject of a memoir by J. G. Firstov, published in Petrograd, observes the Scientific American. Ten million acres of the province in question are covered with shifting sands formed during the nineteenth century and subsequently. These sands have been spreading at the rate of 100,000 acres a year, the result being the transformation of good pasture land into a barren waste. The principal cause is over grazing; flocks and herds are kept so long in one place as to result in the complete destruction of the turf. Poor agricultural methods are also responsible. About the beginning of the present century the government took measures of control and reclamation, and between 1904 and 1909 an area of about 46,000 acres was brought under cultivation. In 1913 a special service was ordered to deal with the question. The province was put under the charge of a chief forestry officer and divided into six districts, in each of which a subordinate official was appointed to superintend the work. At the time of writing good progress has been made in planting soil binders and growing herbaceous crops, but it was still problematical whether the province was adapted to the establishment of forests.

EARLY MAN FIGHTING ANIMAL

Ancestors of Present People Were Called Upon to Face Beasts That Inhabited Plains and Rivers.

The first houses were caves. Early man was a fighting animal; and had to contend against the huge and ferocious beasts that infested the plains and rivers, observes a writer. His dwelling naturally had to be a place of security as well as a habitation. Caves were natural and artificial, the latter being hollowed out of solid rock by rude flint instruments. Most of them were formed in the sides of cliffs and among high, rugged hills.

To those early ancestors of ours, the primeval men and women who secured, as one would think, but scanty shelter and protection from these stone caves and holes in the rock, we apply the generic term of cliff dwellers.

They were entirely ignorant of agriculture, and subsisted by hunting and fishing and on the natural products they found growing in a wild state.

What is very remarkable, at our very doors can still be seen the typical houses and handiwork of those pre-historic tribes in the caves of the Lancos river in southern Colorado. These, in most instances, are as well preserved as when their ancient occupants deserted them—perhaps 10,000 years ago. When inhabited they were reached quite frequently by notches cut in the rock, and at other times rope ladders must have been used.

"At Chattanooga," said a veteran of the Civil war, "one of the men in my company left early in the action, and no one saw him till after the battle, when he appeared in camp unwounded and unabashed. Some of the boys accused him of running away; but he wouldn't admit it.

"'I only retreated in good order,' he declared.

"I heard of the matter, and a few days later I asked him if he had any idea how fast he had 'retreated.'

"'Well, I'll tell you, cap'n,' he said. 'If I had been at home, and going after the doctor, folks that see me passin' would have thought my wife was right sick!'"—Harper's Monthly.

Miranda was an incurable optimist and the embodiment of kindliness. She would never admit that anything was wrong with any one, although sometimes facts pushed her hard. Her young mistress had many suitors, and the latest recruit to the ranks could boast as little in the way of good looks as was humanly possible.

"Grand looking chap, isn't he, Mirandy?" queried Miss Annette's mischievous brother when the guest had departed.

Miranda teetered perilously between truth and charity. "Cose he was," she answered presently, with dignity. "Han'some gintleman—han'some gintleman."

At that point honesty got the upper hand. "'Ceptin'," she added conscientiously, "fer his features."—Youth's Companion.

TWO DOLLAR WHEAT

This Price Will Hold For Some Years.

A well-advised commercial authority gives it as his opinion, "as a slow descent may be counted on in the prices for grain when the war ends—it may take several years to restore the world's stock of foodstuffs to normal—there is good ground for confidence in the outlook for rapid development in agriculture."

If this be correct, it follows that the profession of farming will materially increase its ranks in the next few years.

Today, the price of wheat is set by the United States government at $2.20 per bushel, and in Canada the price has been set at $2.21. This, of course, is less freight and handling charges which brings the average to the farmers at about $2.00 per bushel. This price will pay so long as land, material and labor can be secured at reasonable prices. It remains for the would-be producer to ascertain where he can secure these at prices that will make the production of grain profitable. He will estimate what price he can afford to pay for land that will give him a yield of wheat which when sold at $2.00 per bushel, will return him a fair profit. Local and social conditions will also enter into the consideration. Finding what he wants he would be wise to make his purchase now. Land prices in some portions of the country are low, certainly as low as they will ever be. City property and town property will fluctuate, but farm property will hold its own. The price of grain is as low as it will be for some years. Therefore it would be well to look about, and find what can be done.

There are doubtless many opportunities in the United States, especially in the Western States, to purchase good agricultural lands, that will produce well, at reasonable prices. If the would-be buyer has the time to investigate, and that is needed, for these lands do not exist in any considerable area, he would be well repaid. Not only will his land certainly increase in value—the unearned increment would be an asset—while under cultivation he can find nothing that will give better results. He will at the same time be performing a patriotic act, a needful act, one that would meet with the food controller's plea to increase agricultural production and assist in reducing the deficit of 75 million bushels of wheat reported by the controller.

In addition to the vacant lands in the United States which should be brought under cultivation, Western Canada offers today the greatest area of just the land that is required, and at low prices—prices that cannot last long. Even now land prices are increasing, as their value is daily becoming more apparent, and their location desirable.

As to the intrinsic value of land in Western Canada, hundreds of concrete cases could be cited, which go to prove that at fifty and sixty dollars per acre—figures that have recently been paid for improved farms—the crops grown on them gave a profit of from twenty to thirty per cent and even higher, on such an investment. One instance, is that of a young Englishman, unaccustomed to farming before he took his seat on the sulky plow with which he does most of his work, after allowing himself $1,000 for his own wages last year, made a profit of $2,200 on a $20,000 investment. His total sales amounted to $5,700 and his expense, which included the $1,000 wages for himself, was $3,500. The interest was 11½ per cent.

To the man who does not care to buy or who has not the means to purchase, but possesses wealth in his own hardihood, his muscle, and determination, there are the thousands of free homesteads of which he may have the pick on paying an entry fee of ten dollars. These are high class lands and adapted to all kinds of farming. Send to your nearest Canadian Government Agent for literature, descriptive of the splendid opportunities that are still open in Western Canada. Adv.

Found Wanting

By Horace Stanhope

(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.)

"I say!"

Reeves Darlow, lolling against a tree trunk a few feet beyond a high stone wall, his sketching outfit lying neglected at his side, uttered the ejaculation sharply and sat up.

His hand sought a certain spot on his forehead, with which suddenly, unexpectedly some flying object had come in contact. The blow had been a sharp one, broke the skin and evidenced the possibility of a rising lump. He wondered what had struck him, and why. Then he recalled the sound of merry girlish voices beyond the wall.

"Something thrown—of course not purposely," he soliloquized. "Ah! there's the missile—a slipper."

As he arose he observed the object in question. It lay on the grass, white, small, high-heeled, dainty. He turned it over and over in his hand, somewhat admiringly. Then he roused at the echo of a rustling sound. Where a portion of the wall was gone and there was a breach like a gateway, a graceful feminine figure had appeared. One foot was slipperless. Here was the owner of the innocent missile.

About to advance and tender the slipper, Darlow was a good deal disappointed as its owner uttered a scream and, turning, flashed back out of view like a nimble sprite. A great hubbub arose beyond the wall.

"What scared you Norma—a bear?" cried out an animated voice.

"Worse than that."

"A horrid man?"

"A man, but not particularly horrid. Rather distinguished looking, I judge, from the fleeting glance I got. But oh! me limping on my stockinged foot! Quick, Melba, grab the ball and let us vanish."

There were mock exclamations of fright and dismay. Darlow reached the wall and waved the slipper over it, but, scurrying from the field, a group of half a dozen girls paid not the slightest attention, while with a shocked expression of face the denuded one, she who had lost the slipper, ran the fastest, her white silk-covered foot gleaming in and out of the grass entirely fascinating in its nimbleness and gracefulness of form.

"H'm!" observed Darlow, "she must have footgear galore to disdain the return of the slipper. I see, a bevy of girls playing at football, a wild kick, and hence the slipper. And my bump!" and Darlow ruefully rubbed the abraised spot. "As to the slipper, I'll keep it as a memento. It may suggest a romantic pencil sketch, or a story."

He threw the pretty satin-bowed trifle into his sketching case, closed it and pursued his way. Reeves Darlow's way just now was the way of an idle stroller off on a hit-or-miss jaunt. He forgot about the slipper by morning. Its owner ceased to fill his thoughts before the close of the day following.

Meantime, she of the lost slipper, Norma Edgeworth, and her breathless associates cleared the field and settled down to rational progress.

"It's a pity to leave that slipper behind, Norma," spoke one of her companions.

"Oh, you know I'm bound with the morning for an environment where satin slippers and the like will be a negligible quantity."

"Surely you have got that foolish scheme of yours out of your head, dear?"

"Never!" dissented Norma with vigor. "It isn't a scheme, it's a test."

"And you are bound to go through with it?"

"Barring the possibility of some of you chatterers betraying the fiction."

"Oh, we'll be true blue, Norma!" proclaimed an urgent chorus.

All this would have been Greek to the unadvised. All would have been mystery for that same class, had they seen Norma Edgeworth twenty-four hours later. Whereas, she had borne the presentment of a fashionably dressed young lady and surrounded by companions suggesting the same order, the next day Norma was installed in an old-fashioned farmhouse ten miles distant, as pretty as ever, though arrayed in calico, but engaging in active housework, and seeming to enjoy it.

It was lining a hedge that marked the farm limit on one side that Reeves Darlow found himself two days after the incident of the slipper. Was it fate, or merely natural and coincidental, that, glancing beyond it, he noted a graceful girlish figure hanging some handkerchiefs on a line to dry. A quizzical expression came into the face of his strolling artist as he discovered something else. The girl in view wore odd slippers. On one foot was a black slipper, and on the other one of white satin, the counterpart of the one resting within the sketching case he carried at that moment.

"I declare!" communed Reeves with himself, a token of rare interest in the intonation. "I've found the mate of my Cinderella acquisition."

There could be no doubt of it. He had caught only a momentary glimpse of Norma Edgeworth back at the town meadow. She was now in calico, whereas the maiden of the field had been arrayed in silk, but he was sure despite the puzzling transition, that this girl was the one who had caused that discolored mark just over the left eyebrow.

"She is worth looking at," he declared. "I will supply the missing slipper, and I hope to get better acquainted."

Honk! Honk! Reeves glanced at the roadway in front of the house to discern that a handsome automobile had just halted there. A rather foppishly dressed young man got out of the machine. The girl in calico observed the newcomer. She darted behind the kitchen of the house. She rumpled up her hair, she jerked her apron awry and picked up an old battered milk pail. Then she stepped again into the view of the road and exhibited, or rather feigned, vast surprise as the young man advanced toward her.

"Then it's true?" Reeves heard him say, but no more, for the girl joined him and they walked to a bench under a great spreading oak. The appearance of a possible lover somewhat dampened the former exuberance of Reeves. Still, he was very much puzzled. The newcomer acted uneasy and embarrassed. The twain conversed for some time, then the girl arose. She removed a ring from her engagement finger. The young man accepted it, bowed profoundly and returned to his automobile.

Honk! Honk! It was off and gone. The girl turned toward the house, her face once more in full view of the hedge lurker. She was smiling, as if enjoying some great joke. Reeves groped in his mind vainly to find some solution to this extraordinary circumstance. He fancied the moment had come to reveal himself. He had taken the slipper from his case. He penetrated the hedge with the slipper in his hand.

"Pardon me," he said, "but I think this lost property is yours."

Norma Edgeworth came to a quick halt. She stared blankly at the intruder. Then her quick mind worked out the problems of the moment.

"Yes," she said, flushing slightly. "You are the gentleman who offered it to me once. Thanks, I will take it now."

"It struck me there," observed Reeves craftily, exposing the abrasion on his forehead. "It sort of scattered my wits for the moment, or I would have tried to find its owner."

She essayed a pitying look as he recounted his injury, she began to smile as he drolly dwelt upon the oddity of the incident, and then the ice was broken, and somehow he lingered for an hour, and again somehow he was a visitor to the farmhouse the next day.

A week went by. What could such harmonious companionship lead to but love—real, mutual love? Reeves affirmed it under that same broad spreading oak tree, and Norma did not seek to deny its existence.

"Suppose some day you should realize the vast distance between a poor farm girl and a successful artist?" she suggested artfully.

"I have money and love enough for both," he declared.

"I think I had better confess," said Norma. "The young man who visited me here was a suitor for my hand—and fortune! I suspected that, and saw to it that he heard of my loss of wealth. You know the result. I never cared for him, but I have no father and mother, only money, and I felt lonely and helpless, and my friends urged me to try and like him, but I couldn't. It seems there was only one person I could love."

"Only one?"

"Yes, dear—only you."

ANIMALS OF THE CAUCASUS

Inhabitants Have Preserved Much of the Original Character of Their Stone Age Ancestors.

The Caucasus lies on the road which links Europe to Asia and its high valleys offer a safe refuge to man and his herds. This explains both the mixed and archaic type of its domestic fauna, which shows some curious analogies with the human material of the curious living ethnographic museum of those regions, observes a writer.

In all probability not one of the domestic animals of the Caucasus is autochthonous. The earliest epoch of the importation is prehistoric; the latest is contemporary with our own generation. Even the samples belonging to the stone age have preserved a good deal of the original character of their ancestors, owing mainly to the preservative character of the mountain region.

Turkestan, the countries of the Cretan civilization, North Africa and America have each furnished their quota.

From Europe hail the bull and the dog. The so-called Tartar dog especially, a descendant of the wolf, had its ancestral home in the plains of Volga.

Natural Animal Camouflage.

If you would study camouflage by land go look at the wild animals, says a writer. See how the tawny lion and striped tiger are painted to resemble the tall, yellow bush grass of the jungle. The giraffe is painted with a quaint diamond pattern exactly like the flickering lights among the acacia trees on which he feeds. The leopard, the jaguar, and all spotted cats, the spotted deer, and the dappled horse are painted to imitate light under a shady tree. The pig is patched pink and brown like the sunlight, and the shadow of the denser woods. The elephant is painted a hazy brown like the great trees of the deepest forest. So all the wild beasts are colored for concealment in their natural landscape, while many of them change their clothes with the seasons, wearing white for the snowy winters, brown for the torrid summer.

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

Last year, during the first four days in January, the Bemidji post-office did over $400 worth of stamp business, while during the first four days of this year the office did over $700 worth.

Five thousand and eighty children were born in St. Paul in 1917, according to the report of births completed in the Health department. This is the smallest number in the past four years.

F. H. Shoemaker, who represented the National Nonpartisan league at a meeting held at Walters, pleaded guilty to charges of using indecent and abusive language, tending to provoke assault and was fined $10 and costs.

Two Indian boys from the Flandreau Indian School were captured at Pipestone while running away from the institution. The boys were bound for their home in the northern part of the state and said that they wanted to go hunting.

K. T. Stavn, a 71-year-old bachelor near Willmar, was found dead in a 30-foot well on his farm by boys coming from a party. A ladder with a broken rung in the well indicates that Stavn had gone down to make some repairs and fell into the water when the ladder broke.

There is no law existing which permits soldiers absent from the state to vote at Minnesota elections, according to a statement of Julius A. Schmahl, secretary of state, who said that the socalled absent voter law is inoperative in the case of soldiers. Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith said the soldier vote cannot be taken under any existing laws.

A farm crop survey of Minnesota may be made by town assessors during their canvasses next spring, preliminaries in that direction having been discussed at a special conference at the Capitol. The scheme is similar to that proposed to the State Public Safety Commission last year and this time probably will be carried out under the direction of A. D. Wilson, state food administrator.

Fairmont is proud of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Thieman, who were born in Germany. Mrs. Thieman has knit 24 pairs of socks for the Red Cross and 21 pairs for the boys of E company, 136th infantry. They have two sons in E company and a third in the National army. In the windows of their home are a service flag, a Red Cross emblem and a food conservation card. The Stars and Stripes fly from the roof.

A proposal for abolishment of both the state forestry and timber boards and creation of a new state board to administer laws relating to state owned timber was referred to a committee of five to be appointed by Governor Burnquist and include members of both bodies at a joint meeting of the present boards. Recommendations will be considered at another joint conference and finally presented to the legislature of 1919.

The new city hall at Breckenridge was formally opened to the public with a municipal ball, music for the event being furnished by an orchestra from Fergus Falls. The Breckenridge chapter of the Red Cross served the refreshments.

Federal appropriations of $76,000 having been expended to date on draft expenses in Minnesota, Maj. H. L. Brady, Federal property and disbursing officer, announced that a new allowance of $55,000 will be made available in a few days.

It was the irony of fate that brought death to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Liflin, each 80 years old, at Lake City within the same day. Both were among the oldest residents of Wabasha county, having lived there more than half a century. They died on their wedding anniversary.

The Nonpartisan league meeting, scheduled for Wells, which aroused much feeling and open threats of violence, should the meeting be held, was held on the property of the Farmers' Co-operative Creamery company, out of doors. No seditious utterances were reported. About 100 farmers attended. The loyalty meeting planned to offset the Nonpartisan gathering, attracted the larger crowd. Delegates from all parts of the county, aggregating more than 500 persons, were in attendance.

A new file was established in the office of the Ramsey county register of deeds office when a wedding contract, the first of the kind to be recorded in this state, was placed on file. The contract contained the signatures of Veronica Mihalyi of St. Paul and George Davis, also of St. Paul, now a member of One Hundred and Fifty-first field artillery serving in France. The contract with Miss Mihalyi's signature affixed followed Davis to the trenches, where he signed, in the presence of the captain and adjutant of his regiment.

The Minnesota Federation of County Fairs held its annual meeting at the capitol. The session closed with an annual dinner at the St. Francis hotel, St. Paul. President George E. Hanscom, St. Cloud, and Treasurer C. F. Serline, Mora, were re-elected by members of the federation. F. F. Hall, New Auburn, was elected secretary, and F. F. Millard, Canby, was chosen vice president. C. W. Bouck, Royalton, was elected to succeed the late J. H. O'Neill, Park Rapids, on the directorate and other members whose terms expired were re-elected.

WEEKLY POTATO DAYS ARE URGED

Administrator Wilson Says Minnesota Crop Must Be Utilized By Consumer.

TO VISIT STATE TROOPS

Delegation From Safety Commission to Go To Camps Cody and Dodge Soon to See Minnesota Soldiers.

St. Paul.

Inauguration of a potato day each week by grocers of the state on which special prices for potatoes would be made, and the co-operation of housewives to purchase enough potatoes to last them through the week on such days, would utilize last year's crop to the advantage of the consumer, distributor and grower, says A. D. Wilson, state food administrator.

"It is necessary now as a war measure, for everyone to eat potatoes and to purchase them in fairly regular quantities each week," Mr. Wilson says. "In this way, distribution would be regular everywhere during the next five or six months."

As a result of the food production campaign of last spring, Minnesota planted one of its largest acreages and raised one of its largest potato crops. It now rests with the housewife to use the potato freely in her home or a great part of the value of the crop will be wasted, it was said.

To Visit Minneapolis Troops.

Governor Burnquist, Attorney General Smith and Commissioner March have been designated to visit the military training camps in which more than 16,000 Minnesota men are in training.

"The idea is to obtain first hand knowledge of actual conditions in the camps, although no complaints have been received," Secretary H. W. Libby explained. "The commission wished to keep in touch with the Minnesota boys and show them that the state is behind them."

Governor Burnquist said that because of the commission's action, Adjutant General Rhinow probably will abandon his proposed trip to Camp Cody to investigate criticisms made by a St. Paul clothier, who recently visited there.

May Send Member to France

A member of the public safety commission may be sent to France to receive the vote of Minnesota men there, and arrangements will be made to enable the Minnesota men in the American camps to exercise their right of franchise, according to proposals discussed at a recent meeting. Only the preliminaries were considered, however, as many legal questions remain to be answered, the secretary said, before any definite action can be taken. It is expected, however, that the plan can be put into operation without enactment of amendments to election laws which would necessitate an extra session of the legislature.

Pool Room Plea Denied.

The offer of pool room proprietors to donate a new ambulance monthly to the Red Cross, on condition that they are permitted to keep open until mid night and from noon until 11 P. M. on Sundays, failed to influence the state safety commission to change its recent early closing order.

The commission also denied the petition of a delegation of Blooming Prairie citizens, including four saloonkeepers, for repeal of the commission order limiting liquor sales there to quantities consumed in the saloons.

Guard Against Carelessness.

C. C. Pierson, director of the division of records, has reported to the state board of health that large losses of state-supplied anti-toxin are suffered through carelessness on the part of local health officers, acting as distribution agents. With a view to correcting the condition, the board authorized Dr. H. M. Bracken, executive officer to withdraw supplies from careless health officers, and appoint druggists or town officers as distributing agents.

Many Aliens Bear Firearm.

On Aug. 1, a law went into effect in Minnesota, making it illegal for aliens to hunt in this state, or to have in their possession firearms of any kind, but this does not apply to persons of foreign birth who have taken out their first papers. Under this act, the game wardens have prosecuted and convicted fifty-one persons for illegal possession of firearms and have confiscated 135 firearms of various kinds from aliens.

✣ ✣ ✣

Organizes Social Disease Division.

The State Board of Health created a division on venereal disease and then discussed proposed regulation under which those diseases would be reported to the board and quarantined. Dr. H. G. Irvine, Minneapolis, was elected head of the new division, which will work in connection with the state commission on social hygene, recently appointed by Governor Burnquist. Dr. Egil Boeckmann was elected president of the board of health and Dr. Christopher Graham was re-elected vice president.

AN ATTACK OF GRIP USUALLY LEAVES KIDNEYS IN WEAKENED CONDITION

Doctors in all parts of the country have been kept busy with the epidemic of grip which has visited so many homes. The symptoms of grip this year are often very distressing and leave the system in a rundown condition, particularly the kidneys which seem to suffer most, as almost every victim complains of lame back and urinary troubles which should not be neglected, as these danger signals often lead to dangerous kidney troubles. Druggists report a large sale on Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root which so many people say, soon heals and strengthens the kidneys after an attack of grip. Swamp-Root, being an herbal compound, has a gentle healing effect on the kidneys, which is almost immediately noticed in most cases by those who try it. Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., offer to send a sample size bottle of Swamp-Root, on receipt of ten cents, to every sufferer who requests it. A trial will convince anyone who may be in need of it. Regular medium and large size bottles, for sale at all druggists. Be sure to mention this paper.—Adv.

Dog's Funeral Costly.

So drastic has the curb been placed upon useless automobile driving in England that a taxicab driver in London was recently fined $250 for driving from the city to Molesworth with the coffin of a dog in his car. Sir Maurice and Lady Anderson hired him to give their dog what they considered a fitting burial and saw to it that the obsequies were elaborate. The driver was fined under the motor spirits restriction act, which makes it punishable for any person to use petrol for unnecessary purposes. The petrol is needed badly for use in motor vehicles at the front, and England as evidenced in the hugeness of the driver, John MacCarty's, fine, means to enforce it.

MESSAGE TO WORLD GIVES U.S. WAR AIMS

PRESIDENT STATES TERMS FOR UNIVERSAL PEACE IN EPOCH MAKING ADDRESS.

Gives Specific Declaration of Only Conditions Under Which Peace With German Autocracy Is Possible.

Washington, Jan. 9.—With a new statement of war aims, President Wilson has presented to congress and the world a specific declaration of the terms on which it would be possible to make peace with the German military autocracy.

THE MESSAGE.

The President spoke as follows:

Gentlemen of Congress:

Once more, as repeatedly before, the spokesmen of the Central Empires have indicated their desire to discuss the objects of the war and the possible bases of a general peace. Parleys have been in progress at Brest-Litovsk between Russian representatives and representatives of the Central Powers to which the attention of all the belligerents have been invited for the purpose of ascertaining whether it may be possible to extend these parleys into a general conference with regard to terms of peace and settlement. The Russian representatives presented not only a perfectly definite statement of principles upon which they would be willing to conclude peace, but also an equally definite program of the concrete application of those principles. The representatives of the Central Powers on their part presented an outline of settlement which, if much less definite, seemed susceptible of liberal interpretation until their specific program of practical terms was added.

Proposed No Concessions.

That program proposed no concessions at all either to the sovereignty of Russia or to the preferences of the population with whose fortunes it dealt, but meant, in a word, that the Central Empires were to keep every foot of territory their armed forces had occupied—every province, every city, every point of vantage, as a permanent addition to their territories and their power. It is a reasonable conjecture, that the general principles of settlement which they have at first suggested originated with the more liberal statesmen of Germany and Austria, the men who have begun to feel the force of their own people's thought and purpose while the concrete terms of actual settlement came from the military leaders who have no thought but to keep what they have got. The negotiations have been broken off. The Russian representatives were sincere and in earnest. They cannot entertain such proposals of conquest and domination.

Upholds Russians.

The whole incident is full of significance. It is also full of perplexity. With whom are the Russian representatives dealing? For whom are the representatives of the Central Empires speaking? Are they speaking for the majorities of their respective parliaments or for the minority parties, that military and imperialistic minority which has so far dominated their whole policy and controlled the affairs of Turkey and of the Balkan states which have felt obliged to become their associates in this war? The Russian representatives have insisted, very justly, very wisely, and in the true spirit of democracy that the conferences they have been holding with the Teutonic and Turkish statesmen should be held within open, not closed doors, and all the world has been audience as was desired. To whom have we been listening then? To those who speak the spirit and intention of the resolutions of the German reichstag of the 9th of July last, the spirit and intention of their liberal leaders and parties of Germany, or to those who persist and defy that spirit and intention and insist upon conquest and subjugation? Or are we listening in fact to both unreconciled and in open and hopeless contradiction? These are very serious and pregnant questions. Upon the answer to them depends the peace of the world.

Premier's Talk Praised.

But whatever the result of the parleys at Brest Litovsk, whatever the confusions of counsel and purpose of the utterances of the spokesmen of the Central Empires, they have again attempted to acquaint the world with their objects in the war and have again challenged their adversaries to say what their objects are and what sort of settlement they would deem just and satisfactory. There is no good reason why that challenge should not be responded to with the utmost candor. We did not wait for it. Not once, but again and again we have laid our whole thought and purpose before the world. Not in general terms only, but each time with sufficient definition to make it clear what sort of definite terms of settlement must necessarily spring out of them. Within the last week Mr. Lloyd George has spoken with admirable candor and in admirable spirit for the people and government of Great Britain. There is no confusion of counsel among the adversaries of the Central Powers, no uncertainty of principals, no vagueness of detail. The only secrecy of counsel, the only lack of fearless frankness, the only failure to make definite statement of the objects of the war, lies with Germany and her allies. The issues of life and death hang upon these definitions. No statesman who has the least conception of his responsibility ought for a moment to permit himself to continue this tragical and appalling outpouring of blood and treasure unless he is sure beyond a peradventure that the objects of the vital sacrifice are part and parcel of the very life of society and that the people for whom he speaks think them right and imperative as he does.

Definitions Called For.

There is, moreover, a voice calling for these definitions of principle and of purpose which is, it seems to me, more thrilling and more compelling than any of the many moving voices with which the troubled air of the world is filled. It is the voice of the Russian people. They are prostrate and all but helpless; it would seem, before the grim power of Germany, which has hitherto known no relenting and no pity. Their power, apparently, is shattered. And yet their soul is not subvelent. They will not yield either in principle or in action. They call on us to say what it is that we desire, in what, if anything, our purpose and our spirit differ from theirs. And I believe that the people of the United States would wish me to respond, with utter simplicity and frankness.

Wants Processes Open.

Whether their present leaders believe it or not, it is our heartfelt desire that some way may be opened whereby we may be privileged to assist the people of Russia to attain their utmost hope of liberty and ordered peace. It will be our wish and purpose that the processes of peace, when they are begun, shall be absolutely open and that they shall involve and permit henceforth no secret understandings of any kind.

The day of conquest and aggrandizement is gone by; so is also the day of secret covenants entered into in the interest of particular governments and likely at some unlooked for moment to upset the peace of the world. It is this happy fact now clear to the view of every public man whose thoughts do not still linger in an age that is dead and gone which makes it possible for every nation whose purposes are consistent with justice and the peace of the world to avow now or at any other time the objects it has in view.

We entered this war because violations of right had occurred which touched us to the quick and made the life of our own people impossible unless they were corrected and the world secured once for all against their recurrence.

Safe World To Live In Is Demand.

What we demand in this war, therefore, is nothing peculiar to ourselves. It is that the world be made fit and safe to live in; and particularly that it be made safe for every peace loving nation which, like our own, wishes to live its own life, determine its own institutions, be assured of justice and fair dealing by the other peoples of the world as against force and selfish aggression. All the people of the world are in effect partners in this interest and for our own part we see very clearly that unless justice be done to others, it will not be done to us. The program of the world's peace, therefore, is our program; and that program, the only possible program, as we see it, is this:

First—Open covenants of peace, openly arrived at, after which there shall be no private international understandings of any kind but diplomacy shall proceed always frankly and in the public view.

Second—Absolute freedom of navigation upon the seas, outside territorial waters, alike in peace and in war, except as the seas may be closed in whole or in part by international action for the enforcement of international covenants.

Third—The removal, so far as possible, of all economic barriers and the establishment of an equality of trade conditions among all the national consenting to the peace and associating themselves for its maintenance.

Fourth — Adequate guaranties given and taken that national armaments will be reduced to the lowest point consistent with domestic safety.

Fifth—A free, open minded and absolutely impartial adjustment of all colonial claims, based upon a strict observance of the principles that in determining all such questions of sovereignty the interests of the populations concerned must have equal weight with equitable claims of the government whose title is to be determined.

Sixth—The evacuation of all Russian territory and such settlement of all questions affecting Russia as will secure the best and freest cooperation of the other nations of the world in obtaining for her an unhampered and unembarrassed opportunity for the independent determination of her own political development and national policy and assure her of a sincere welcome into the society of free nations under institutions of her own choosing and, more than a welcome, assistance also of every kind that she may need and may herself desire. The treatment accorded Russia by her sister nations in the months to come will be the acid test of their good will, of their comprehension of her needs as distinguished from their own interests and of their intelligent and unselfish sympathy.

Seventh—Belgium, the whole world will agree, must be evacuated and restored, without any attempt to limit the sovereignty which she enjoys in common with all other free nations. No other single act will serve as this will serve to restore confidence among the nations in the laws which they have themselves set and determined for the government of their relations with one another. Without this healing act the whole structure and validity of international law is forever impaired.

Eighth—All French territory should be freed and the invaded portions restored, and the wrong done to France by Prussia in 1871 in the matter of Alsace-Lorraine, which has unsettled the peace of the world for nearly 50 years, should be righted, in order that peace may once more be made secure in the interest of all.

Ninth—A readjustment of the frontiers of Italy should be affected along clearly recognizable lines of nationality.

Tenth—The peoples of Austria-Hungary, whose place among the nations we wish to see safeguarded and assured, should be accorded the freest opportunity of autonomous development.

Eleventh—Rumania, Serbia and Montenegro should be evacuated. Occupied territories restored; Serbia accorded free and secure access to the sea; and the relations of the several Balkan states to one another determined by friendly counsel along historically established lines of allegiance and nationality; and international guaranties of the political and economic independence and territorial integrity of the several Balkan states should be entered into.

Twelfth—The Turkish portions of the present Ottoman empire should be assured a secure sovereignty, but the other nationalities which are now under Turkish rule should be assured an undoubted security of life and an absolutely unmolested opportunity of autonomous development, and the Dardanelles should be permanently opened as a free passage to the ships and commerce of all nations under international guaranties.

Thirteenth—An independent Polish state should be erected which should include the territories inhabited by indisputable Polish populations, which should be assured a free and secure access to the sea, and whose political and economic independence and territorial integrity should be guaranteed by international covenant.

Fourteenth—A general association of nations must be formed under specific covenants for the purpose of affording mutual guaranties of political independence and territorial integrity to great and small states alike.

In regard to these essential rectifications of wrong and assertions of right we feel ourselves to be intimate partners of all the governments and people associated together against the imperialists. We cannot be separated in interest or divided in purpose. We stand together until the end.

Foe to be Equal But Not Master.

For such arrangements and covenants we are willing to fight and to continue to fight until they are achieved; but only because we wish the right to prevail and desire a just and stable peace such as can be secured only by removing the chief provocations to war, which this program does remove. We have no jealousy of German greatness and there is nothing in this program that impairs it. We grudge her no achievement or distinction of learning or of pacific enterprise such as have made her record very bright and very enviable. We do not wish to injure her or to block in any way her legitimate influence or power. We do not wish to fight her either with arms or with hostile arrangements of trade, if she is willing to associate herself with us and the other peace loving nations of the world in covenants of justice and law and fair dealing. We wish her only to accept a place of equality among the peoples of the world—the new world in which we now live—instead of a place of mastery.

Must Know Who Is Represented.

Neither do we presume to suggest to her any alterations or modification of her institutions. But it is necessary, we must frankly say and necessary as a preliminary to any intelligent dealings with her on our part, that we should know whom her spokesmen speak for when they speak to us, whether for the reichstag majority or for the military party, and the men whose creed is imperial domination.

Aims Clear; Ready for Test.

We have spoken now, surely, in terms too concrete to admit of any further doubt or question. An evident principle runs through the whole program I have outlined. It is the principle of justice to all peoples and nationalities, and their right to live on equal terms of liberty and safety with one another, whether they be strong or weak. Unless this principle be made its foundation no part of the structure of international justice can stand. The people of the United States could act upon no other principle, and to the vindication of this principle they are ready to devote their lives, their honor and everything that they possess. The moral climax of this, the culminating and final war for human liberty has come, and they are ready to put their strength, their own highest purpose, their own integrity and devotion to the test.

ALL MEN AT HOME SHOULD PREPARE FOR WAR

The first test a man is put thru for either war or life insurance is an examination of his water. This is most essential because the kidneys play a most important part in causing premature old age and death. The more injurious the poisons passing thru the kidneys the sooner comes decay—so says Dr. Pierce of Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., who further advises all people who are past thirty to preserve the vitality of the kidneys and free the blood from poisonous elements, such as uric acid—drink plenty of water—sweat some daily and take Anuric, double strength, before meals.

This An-u-ric is a late discovery of Dr. Pierce and is put up in tablet form, and can be obtained for 60c at almost any drug store. For that backache, lumbago, rheumatism, "rusty" joints, swollen feet or hands, due to uric acid in the blood, Anuric quickly dissolves the uric acid as hot water does sugar. Take a little Anuric before meals and live to be a hundred. Send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce for trial package of Anuric.

"No; it wouldn't hold water."

Says Dodd's Kidney Pills, Wonderful Remedy

Mrs. Delia Olson, of New London, Wis., like many others, knows after experiencing the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills that they are unexcelled. Here is what Mrs. Olson recently wrote us:

"I suffered with rheumatism for years. There was a gravel deposit in the urine and I had frequent headaches. I had dark circles around my eyes and was always tired. I bought a box of your Dodd's Kidney Pills and am glad I did, for I secured quick relief and think they are a wonderful remedy."

Mighty few people realize in time that kidney trouble is making its advances upon their health. They put off treatment—they say, "Oh, I'll be all right in a day or two." And the malady tightens its grip. Result: Bright's Disease, hospital treatment, doctors' bills—often death.

When you have backache, dizziness, pain in loins, stiffness in stooping or lifting, spots before the eyes, sediment in secretions, rheumatic pains, or swollen joints, immediately start toning the kidneys by the regular use of the remedy endorsed by hundreds of users—DODD'S Kidney Pills.

WHEN TO TRUST GERMANY

Germany is talking peace—has been talking peace for a year and a half, for that matter; ever since it discovered that it could not win this war. Some time it will be necessary for Germany's enemies to talk peace with Germany.

When will it be safe to talk peace with Germany?

When the Bolshevik government of Russia urges peace "without annexations or indemnities," the German government said "By all means"

When the Russians talked of peace based on the "self-determination of peoples," the German government said: "That's precisely what we believe in."

But when it became clear precisely what the German government meant by that; this was disclosed: that people in territory conquered by Germany were to vote on what government they wanted to live under; but that while they voted the German armies were to mount guard over the polling places, and that in the meantime Germany was to deport forcibly thousands of natives who might vote against German rule!

When will it be safe to talk peace with Germany?

When the government that insolently proposes such tricks as that is destroyed, either by the allied armies or by the awakened German people. In other words, always it comes back to this: "Peace with the German people any day; peace with the Hohenzollern, NEVER!"—Duluth Herald.

Count Luxberg, the German envoy to Argentine, whose famous cablegram advising his government to sink the ships of Argentine, a friendly nation, "without trace" caused a sensation, has been declared insane at Buenos Aires, and experts say he has been insane for ten years. Any man, be he Count or Kaiser, who advocates the drowning of innocent noncombatant persons without warning is insane.—Norman County Index.

Kaiser Wilhelm is also insane, and Germany, may as well admit that fact now, as to wait until Four or Five millions of its people are killed trying to Conquer the world and subject them to his will.

Them German spies that were captured in Baltimore should be promptly shot. America has been handing out too good treatment to traitors and spies. Stand them up against a stone wall and take aim and fire, is the way to fix them.

Quite Musical.

It may be so, and it may not, but a Los Angeles student affirms it in an examination paper, and here it is: "Beethoven discovered the sonata in four moves. Before this it was a sweet. He wrote many piano sonatas for the violin, and they were called string quartets. When a piano sonata was for an orchestra it was called a symphony. The ninth piano sonata he wrote for voices to sing."

Ambiguous.

When Bilkins was away from home on a long business trip he got a letter from his wife that still puzzles him. It ended thus:

"Baby is well and lots brighter than she used to be. Hoping that you are the same, I remain, your loving wife."—Manchester Union.

Tightwad.

"I understand that Mr. Pinchpenny has been operated on for appendicitis," remarked Miss Cayenne.

"Yes. It's the first time any one was known to get anything out of him." "And even then they had to give him chloroform to get that."

DEALER MAKES BIG PROFIT ON POTATO

FARMER GETS 70 CENTS A BUSHEL, CONSUMER PAYS AS HIGH AS $1.60.

CROP IS PRODUCED AT LOSS

Commission Men Blame Railroads And Others Say Warehouses Are Fault — Real Reason Faulty System.

Although potatoes in the Twin Cities since Oct. 1 have been retailing from $1.20 to $1.60 a bushel—a price almost prohibitive to the poorer class of consumers—the farmer has received on an average not more than 75 cents a bushel for his product and at this figure he is selling his crop at an actual loss. In some cases, middlemen have extorted a rakeoff as high as 40 per cent of the ultimate cost to the consumer.

Some commission men blame the present high price of potatoes to a shortage of railroad cars and others say that the farmers are hoarding their crop—which they could not be blamed for doing rather than to sell at a loss. The trail of the potato from farm to city housewives' table has just been followed by Prof. W. G. Roylance, formerly of the University of Utah, who has made public his investigations.

Big Difference In Price.

Oct. 2 farmers of Isanti county were getting 70 cents a bushel for potatoes of the best grade loaded on the car. On the day following the same grade of potatoes were selling in St. Paul grocery stores for $1.26 a bushel, or at the rate of $1.40 to $1.60 a bushel when purchased by the peck.

The freight from Cambridge, Isanti county, to St. Paul is six cents a bushel. Deducting this, the retail price of potatoes the day after they were sold in Isanti county was 44 cents more a bushel than the farmer received for his product. And of this amount the commission man collected a toll of 34 cents a bushel or 28 2-3 per cent of the final selling price.

The entire cost, including freight, of moving potatoes from loading points in Isanti county to St. Paul hardly exceeds 10 cents a bushel. Some commission men place it at 15 cents. Accepting the higher figure, the commission man still gets a clear profit of 25 cents on every bushel of potatoes he handles.

Farmer Sells At Loss.

If the farmer did as well he might clear $25 an acre on his potatoes. As a matter of fact he probably is selling his crop at a loss. Prof. Kohler of the Minnesota Experiment station (Bulletin No. 38) gives the average yield per acre as 94.5 bushels. Between 1908-1912 the cost of producing an acre of potatoes averaged $32.13 [illegible] everything entering into a bushel of potatoes, so that Prof. Roylance estimates the cost this year at $80.45 an acre. This does not include hauling and loading on cars which hardly can be less than $5 an acre. Assuming then that it costs $85.45 to produce an acre of potatoes and load the crop on the cars, the farmer is losing $15.45 an acre if he gets 100 bushels an acre and sells this at 70 cents a bushel.

That this is no exaggeration, that many farmers annually are forced to sell their crops at less than the cost of production is shown by the increase of tenantry and farm mortgages in this state.

Potato Industry Not Exceptional.

The potato industry is not an exceptional case. It is a fair illustration of the entire food situation over the country. There was a large crop production, but in many instances the farmer lost money on his season's work and high prices to the consumer still rule.

"Over production," glutted markets, periodic car shortages, prices manipulated so they are ruinously low to the producer and prohibitively high to the consumer are chronic conditions in our economic system. Temporary price fixing affords no relief. A distributing system is required that will get the farmers' product to the consumer at the lowest possible cost commensurate with a fair profit to the farmer. This the present system fails to do—instead allowing extortionate profits to parasitical middlemen—and this is why the present system must be radically changed.

Middleman Must Be Eliminated.

And more and more farmers—and consumers as well—are coming to believe that the only sane and lasting remedy will be in government ownership of transportation, warehouse and terminal facilities with the consequent elimination of the middleman who is now robbing the producer of his profits and elevating the price to the consumer.

Former Czar's Abode.

No two papers seem to agree on the subject of the former czar's new place of abode, says an exchange. A favorable account speaks of Tobolsk as the "Boston of Russia," the home of the arts, a picturesque old town, and a favorite winter resort in western Siberia. Its refinement and culture are attributed to the large number of Swedish officers who were interned [illegible]

AMERICAN MANNERS OF TODAY

As for manners, we are kindhearted as a people and civil when appealed to; but no one would suspect it if our bearing in thoroughfares and street cars be a criterion. The spirit of the age is first come, first served; to be waived only in favor of the crippled and the positively infirm. Courtesy in the old-fashioned sense—the deference of the young for the seniors, of the stronger for the weaker sex, of the vigorous for the frail—if not extinct is so sporadic as to be noticeable when manifested, Robert Grant writes in the Yale Review. The young men who push their way forward in public conveyances retain without compunction the seats for which they have struggled.

Here again we have the philosophy of the tired business man: "I got there first; we are all equals in the United States, and I want to read my newspaper." The apotheosis of naturalness; and in self-defense we all more or less subscribe to it; but after all, it is natural for pigs to struggle for places at a trough. Well may we ask ourselves if it is impossible to safeguard independence, initiative and equality except at the cost of all the social graces that prevailed when society was more artificial.

Half-Way Work.

We are, none of us, so good architects as to be able to work habitually beneath our strength; and yet there is not a building that I know of, lately raised, wherein it is not sufficiently evident that neither architect nor builder has done his best. It is the especial characteristic of modern work. All old work nearly has been hard work. It may be the hard work of children, of barbarians, of rustics, but it is always their utmost. Let us have done with this kind of work at once; cast off every temptation to it; do not let us degrade ourselves voluntarily, and then mutter and mourn over our shortcomings; let us confess our poverty or our parsimony, but not belie our human intellect. It is not a question of doing more, but of doing better. Do not let us boss our roofs with wretched, half-worked, blunt-edged rosettes; do not let us flank our gates with rigid imitations of mediæval [illegible]

POETS GET INTO FRONT RANK

The literature of the war proves that some soldiers are made into poets, and we know also, of course, that some poets have been made into soldiers. Mobilization and conscription take little account of persons and no account at all of professions. There is one great poet of history, however, and one great painter, too, who were denied entrance into the ranks of the army—Poe and Whistler.

The story of why Whistler did not become a soldier is well known, but it may bear repetition. Like Poe, he was a cadet at West Point, and like Poe, he was discharged from that institution long before the completion of the course. Whistler was found deficient in chemistry, and when he was asked why he did not graduate and become a soldier he answered: "If silicon were a gas, I would be a soldier."

Argentina Cattle.

The Argentina cattle industry is capable of much expansion in time of war stimulation. In the northern end of the pampas are boundless fields of grass where the cattle feed the year round. Sweet water there is in abundance, and windmills dotted over the plains keep the animals plentifully supplied. There are no better beef cattle in the world than those from Argentina, the breed being the excellent result of mixing fine Spanish blooded strains with the hardy native stock. Breeding very easily could raise the total of production materially [illegible]

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINTS.

To Avoid Headaches.

Headaches may be a symptom of indigestion, grippe, typhoid fever, malaria, hysteria, nephritis (inflammation of the kidneys), rheumatism, diabetes, anaemia (impoverished blood), neurasthenia (nerve exhaustion) and neuralgia. There are various kinds of headaches differently localized. A sharp ache, coming in paroxysms and affecting the eyeballs, indicates neuralgia; a sharp and continual pain, hysteria; a dull and diffused frontal and temporal ache is due usually to digestive disturbances, to anaemia or to nephritis; pain at the top of the head (vertex) may come from excessive "nervousness" or from bladder trouble, while sharp aching in the occipital or lower back part of the head may mean a beginning of meningitis, adenoids or merely decayed teeth. To avoid headaches keep the blood pure and the circulation active by proper diet and regular exercise in the open air. Keep the nostrils clear of all obstructions tending to interfere with nose breathing. Have any refractive errors of the eyes promptly corrected and see that the teeth are attended to regularly to prevent dental cavities or [illegible]

RAINS HELP INDIAN VILLAGE

Good Rice Crops Grown in Abundant Moisture and Region Is Noted for Good Cattle.

Sylhet is a city in the most curious part of India—the great, low lying, jungly, flooded, tea and rice districts of the far Southeast. Sylhet tea is known all over the peninsula.

So low do these regions lie that the heavy rains of the rainy season result in their being flooded for many months of the year. Though far inland, after the rains this is literally a sea, where all travel is by boat and even ships of some size can navigate. The torrential downpours flood the lower parts of the country to a depth of many feet. There is one little village at the base of the Khasia hills which had a measured rainfall of 60 feet in one year, an exchange says.

The villages of this curious district about Sylhet are set on the crest of hills. After the rains fall they are islands. The people are very expert boatmen and the children can swim almost as soon as they can walk. This is probably the only part of India where the canoe is in use. A craft not unlike the American is manufactured by hollowing out a tree trunk very thin. Larger canoes, propelled by 20 paddles, are made in the same way, and canoe racing is one of the principal sports.

The villagers of these island villages keep diminutive cattle which they feed largely on marsh grasses cut from boats. As a result of abundant feed and lack of exercise, the cows grow fat and sleek to a degree unusual among the lean Indian cattle. Their milk, butter and cheese are known as delicacies in the nearby cities. These same villages raise unusually fine rice, by planting before the rains begin. As the country is flooded, the stalks of the rice grow with the rising surface of the waters, so that rice stalks ten feet long may be seen when the floods recede.

INVALIDS HAVE DONE MUCH

Comfort for Sufferers in Stories of Careers of Noted Authors and Scientists.

Those who are afflicted with ill-health may derive some comfort from the statement, quoted in a recent book on "Suffering and the War," that "Coleridge claimed that the greatest works of the nineteen centuries were all written by men of feeble health—Spinoza's 'Ethics,' Bacon's 'Novum Organum,' and Kant's 'Critique of Pure Reason.'" As another instance of the triumph of the spirit, Sir Isaac Newton, it is stated, according to London Tit-Bits, was a most unpromising child, with a frail body and poor eyesight. "He showed no aptitude for study, and was first incited by the desire to get ahead of a boy who kicked him."

Another great writer who accomplished much despite the handicap of poor health was Herbert Spencer. Like Newton, as a boy he was backward in his studies. A new life of Spencer by Hugh Elliot says: "He was very backward as a boy in the ordinary subjects of children's lessons. . . . Morally, he was extremely disobedient and contemptuous of authority." At thirteen "he found the discipline (of his school) more severe than he cared about, and ran away home to Derby again, walking 48 miles the first day." Yet as a man, "without money, without special education, without health, he produced 18 large volumes of philosophy and science of many diverse kinds, published a variety of mechanical inventions, and on endless other subjects, great and small, he set forth a profusion of new and original ideas."

MANY 'SUCKERS' IN NEW YORK

Glib Tongue About All That Is Needed to Get the Money in Eastern Metropolis.

Gullible and curious are the two chief characteristics of the smart guy, and there is no one who knows this better than the street fakir. One of those sharp-witted fakirs with a gift of gab made a cleanup in the financial district the other day, remarks the New York Tribune. He went down there just as the deckhands of the big corporations were pouring out of the skyscrapers for a bite to eat. He had a grip full of little black boxes that looked like cameras.

"Here yer are," he shouted, "for two nickels or one dime. The cutest little thing you can imagine. Stand on the sidewalk, fix this little box at the right angle, and you'll be able to look into a second-story window and see what's going on without the slightest inconvenience.

"In the old way, when you wanted to peep through a keyhole you went down on your haunches, at some personal inconvenience. Besides, there was always the danger of being shot in the eye with a hatpin or a knitting needle. Buy one of the cute little toys and you can stand on both feet, and, without endangering life or limb, you can see all that's going on in the room."

Nearly every one who stopped fished out a dime and bought one. Then a cop came along, the fakir slipped away and the crowd melted. Everybody who bought the little "camera" tried to work it 40 different ways, and then discovered that they had been stung.

How Rome Encouraged Birth Rate

To encourage the birth rate the Romans made use of the age-long fight of women with property for the power to control it. This power that it took the women of England and America living under the English common law 2,500 years longer to achieve was granted by Numa Pompilius, in 715 B. C., to women who were mothers of three children, who were privileged to have "free administration of their own affairs without guardian or tutor." To the women who had inherited large fortunes this must have been an exceedingly effective inducement to the rearing of large families, and an excellent counteraction to the various influences in Roman life which would tend to keep the birth rate down. This is probably one of the few isolated examples where militaristic ideals worked for the benefit of women.

Patch Up Telephone Poles.

The ever-increasing cost of lumber has led to the use of many devices to save wood. One of the most ingenious is the method to save telephone poles, which rot at the base just above and below the surface of the ground. The upper portion remains sound for a longer time than the base. A short pole, creosoted so as to withstand decay, is placed in the ground beside the old pole and firmly fastened to it. This adds several years to the length of time the pole will serve. The arrangement also serves as a protection to pedestrians; for since the part buried rots long before the upper part, the fall might occur most unexpectedly.—Popular Science Monthly.

Not Extravagant.

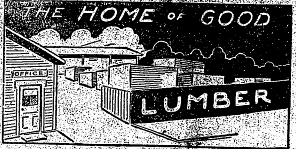
An English, Irish and Scottish soldier were returning to camp after a stroll. They were footsore and tired, and a kindly farmer on his way home from market gave them a lift on the road.

The soldiers were very grateful and wished to reward the farmer for his kindness.

Said the Englishman: "Let's stand him a drink!"

"Sure," said Pat, "that is agin the law. Let's give him some baccy!"

"Hoot, ma laddies!" interjected the Scot. "Don't be extravagant. Let's shake hands with the mon and wish him good nicht."



There isn't any place in this state where you can get better Lumber, better prices or better, more prompt service then we give.

If there is any other accommodation known to the building material line we will supply it.

BARLEY VS. WHEAT.

(National Crop Improvement Service.)

Barley at 60c per bushel will profitably compete with wheat at $1.00. Were it not for the sustaining influence of the high prices for malting barley, it would compete with oats, but as it is the crop of barley for 1915 brought $122,500,000.00. The price of barley is now $1.20 to $1.50 per bushel, but taking $1.30 as a basis, the 1918 crop of 180,000,000 bushels, would bring $[illegible],000,000.

Yields of 40 to 50 bushels of barley per acre are not uncommon and as just a feed value this means a handsome return to the grower. But in addition to this, there is always the incentive of raising a good crop of superior barley that can be sold for malting purposes, at advanced prices, and a good yield of malting barley will hold its own with any other crop.

Washington Monument.

The cornerstone of the Washington monument was laid on its fine site, which overlooks Washington, Georgetown, Arlington and Mount Vernon, by President Polk July 4, 1848. Its marble shaft rises in all the dignity of unadorned simplicity to the height of 555 feet. The base of the shaft is fifty-five feet square, and it gradually tapers until at the 500 foot point it has diminished to less than thirty-five feet. This monument is said to contain 18,000 blocks of marble, each two feet thick. They were lifted on an elevator run by steam, suspended in an inner framework of iron, which was built up at intervals, thirty or forty feet at a time, in advance of the surrounding masonry. The aluminum capstone, nine inches high, was set in position Dec. 6, 1884, thirty-six years and a half after the cornerstone was laid.

The best man was doing his best to make the groom brace up.

"Where's your nerve, old man?" he asked. "Why, you're shaking like a leaf."

"I know I am," chattered the groom. "But this is a nerve wrecking time for me. I've got some excuse to be frightened, haven't I? I've never been married before."

"Of course you haven't," soothed the prospective father-in-law. "If you had you'd be a great deal more scared than you are."—Pearson's.

Body Terribly Swollen

Mr. Madara's Condition Was Critical Until Doan's Were Used. Health Was Restored.

"For six months I couldn't walk, I was so swollen as the result of kidney trouble," says Geo. T. Madara, 15 Mt. Vernon Ave., Pitman Grove, Camden, N. J.: "Backache drove me nearly wild and big lumps formed over each kidney. I bloated until I weighed 407 pounds, and I was a sight to behold. The water in my system pressed around my heart and I sometimes felt as if I was being strangled. The kidney secretions were scanty and contained a thick sediment.

Mr. Madara

"No one can imagine how I suffered. I finally went to the hospital, but when an operation was suggested I would not consent and came home.

"I heard how Doan's Kidney Pills had helped others, so I discarded all the other medicines and started taking them. The second day I began to improve and as I continued, my back stopped paining and the swelling went down. The other kidney troubles left, too, and I was soon as well as ever."

ORDER HALTS ALL BUSINESS TO SAVE FUEL

Drastic Measure Suspends Manufacturing For Five Days To End Coal Famine.

NO WARNING IS GIVEN

All Normal Business Activities To Cease Each Monday For Next Ten Weeks As Further Conservation Measure.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Threatened with a national calamity due to the shortage of coal, President Wilson, through Fuel Administrator H. A. Garfield, ordered a temporary shutdown of factories and other industries and a general halting of business east of the Mississippi, including the entire states of Minnesota and Louisiana.

The shutdown is ordered from next Friday to the following Tuesday, inclusive, and the nine following Mondays.

On these 14 days no manufacturing plants will be operated except those requiring continuous operation to avoid injury to plant, those producing perishable foods and those producing other foods whose operation is desired by the food administrator.

Abstract of Order.

The following abstract of the coal restriction and business holiday order by Dr. H. A. Garfield, fuel administrator, has been given out by the fuel administration:

"Until further order of the United States fuel administrator all persons selling fuel in whatever capacity shall give preference to orders for necessary requirements:

"A—Of railroads.

"C—Of public utilities, telephones and telegraph plants.

"D—Of ships and vessels for bunker purposes.

"E—Of the United States for strictly governmental purposes; not including orders from or for factories or plants working on contracts for the United States.

"F—Of municipal, county or state governments for necessary public use.

"G—Of manufacturers of perishable food or of food for necessary immediate consumption.

"The order further provides that on Jan. 18, 19, 20, 21 and 22, 1918, no fuel shall be delivered to any person, firm, association or corporation for any uses or requirements not included in the foregoing list until the requirements included in the list shall have been first delivered.

Certain Plants to Run.

"On Jan. 18, 19, 20, 21 and 22, 1918, and also on each and every Monday beginning Jan. 28, 1918, and continuing up to and including March 25, 1918, no manufacturing plant shall burn fuel or use power derived from fuel for any purpose except—

"A—Such plants as from their nature must be continuously operated seven days each week, to avoid serious injury to the plant itself or its contents.

"B—Manufacturers of perishable foods.

"C—Manufacturers of food not perishable and not in immediate demand, who may burn fuel to such extent as is authorized by the fuel administrator of the state in which such plant is located or by his representative authorized therefor, upon application by the United States food administrator.

"D—Printers or publishers of daily papers may burn fuel as usual excepting on every Monday from Jan. 21 to March 25, 1918, inclusive, on which days they may burn fuel to such extent as is necessary to issue such editions as such papers customarily issue on important national legal holidays, and where such papers do not issue any editions on holidays they are permitted to issue one edition on the said Monday.

"E—Printing establishments may burn fuel on Jan. 18, 19, 20, 21 and 22, to such extent as is necessary to issue current numbers of magazines and other publications periodically issued.

"On each Monday beginning Jan. 21, 1918, and continuing up to and including Monday, March 25, 1918, no fuel shall be burned (except to such extent as is essential to prevent injury to property from freezing) for the purpose of supplying heat for:

"A—Any business or professional offices except offices used by the United States, state, county or municipal governments, transportation companies or which are occupied by banks and trust companies and by physicians and dentists.

"B—Wholesale or retail stores or any other stores, business houses or buildings whatever, (except that for the purpose of selling food only, for which purposes stores may maintain necessary heat until 12 o'clock noon, and for the purpose of selling drugs and medical supplies only, stores may maintain necessary heat throughout the day and evening.)

"C—Theatres, moving picture houses bowling alleys, billiard rooms, private or public dance halls, or any other place of amusement.

Saloons Not To Be Heated.

"On the above specified Mondays no fuel shall be burned for the purpose of heating rooms or buildings in which liquor is sold on those days. No fuel shall be burned on any of the foregoing specified Mondays for the purpose of supplying power for the movement of surface, elevated, subway or suburban cars or trains in excess of the amount used on the Sundays previous thereto.

"The order provides that nothing in this order shall be held to forbid the burning of fuel to heat rooms or such portions of buildings as are used in connection with the production or distribution of fuel.

"The state fuel administrators are authorized by the order to issue orders on special applications for relief where necessary to prevent injury to health, or destruction of or injury to property by fire or freezing.

"The order is effective in all the territory of the United States east of the Mississippi river, including the whole of the states of Louisiana and Minnesota."

REASONS FOR MEASURE

Outlined By Garfield in Explanatory Statement.

Fuel Administrator Says Order Distributes Burden of Patriotic Denial Impartially.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Fuel Administrator Garfield has issued this statement in connection with his order suspending operations of manufacturing enterprises:

"Adverse weather conditions in the recent week and inadequacy of present coal supply and transportation facilities to meet war-time demands have made necessary immediate restrictive measures as to use of coal in that part of the United States east of the Mississippi river.

"The movement of coal in transportation must be so directed as to aid director-general of railways in dealing with the railroad emergency created by recent blizzard conditions. Domestic consumers of coal must be kept warm and other absolutely necessary consumers must be supplied.

"All industry must be fully restricted in its use of coal in order that available supply for the remainder of the winter may be properly distributed and be made sufficient for absolutely esential need during the remainder of the winter.

Emergency Measure

"To meet these necessities the fuel administration has ordered as an immediate emergency measure that on the days of January 18, 19, 20, 21 and 22 preference and priority in use of coal shall be given only to those consumers whose consumption of coal is absolutely necessary. These include in order, railroads, domestic consumers, hospitals and charitable institutions, public utilities ships at tidewater for bunker purposes, United States government use, municipal or county governments for necesary public use, manufacturers of perishable food, or food for immediate consumption.

"During the five days designated no manufacturing industry shall be allowed to operate, even if it has its own coal supply on hand. By this means all industry will be placed on an equal footing and each will be called on to make its share of the sacrifice necessary to maintain the nation at the highest possible point of military and economic efficiency for prosecution of the war.

Burden of Denial.

"The order under which these restrictions are made is designed to distribute with absolute impartiality the burden of patriotic denial. All classes of business are treated alike.

"The United States Fuel Administration counts on complete patriotic co-operation of every individual firm and corporation affected by the order in its enforcement. Every effort will be made by the fuel administration and other government officials charged with enforcement of the order to carry out the plan proposed without undue interference with the ordinary course of business.

"It is the earnest desire of the fuel administration to prevent entirely any permanent dislocation of industry or labor."

"U" Has 900 Men in War Service

Minneapolis, Jan. 18.—The University of Minnesota has 900 men in various branches of the United States war forces, and 152 of them have enlisted since the college year began Oct. 10, Dean J. B. Johnston of the academic college announces. Registrar E. B. Pierce said that 658 additional men in the engineering, medical and dental colleges have enlisted in the technical reserve and will be called into service on graduation.

To Lose Millions In Wages.

New York, Jan. 18.—More than $97,000,000 will be lost to workers in New York state in unpaid wages for the five day period and the Monday holidays during which industries must close, it is estimated. Fuel Administrator H. A. Garfield's order for coal conservation means a condition approaching starvation to New York's poorer classes, it was declared, as some workers live virtually from hand to mouth. State, county and city administrators were astounded.

INDUSTRIAL U. S. PROTESTS ORDER

American Business Men Send Avalanche of Telegrams to Federal Fuel Administrator.

GARFIELD IS ACCUSED

Charged With Usurping Power He Does Not Possess—Claims Lever Bill Gives Authority—U. S. to Take Coal Saved.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Industrial America has risen in violent protest against the order of Fuel Administrator Garfield suspending the operation of virtually all great plants in the Eastern half of the country for five days.

Under an avalanche of thousands of telegrams Dr. Garfield laid plans with state aides for putting the order into effect at midnight.

Avalanche of Protests.

Dismay, confusion and vigorous charges of inefficiency were revealed in the protests of business men. That the country does not believe the need exists for the drastic step is plainly evidenced. Unprecedented numbers of telegrams flooded the White House, protesting, demanding revocation of the order, calling for Dr. Garfield's removal from office, and pointing out the dangers, nationally and internationally, of throwing the economic status of the country into a furore.

Claims Authority.

Charges that Mr. Garfield had usurped powers he does not possess were heard from all points, including both Houses of Congress. To these the fuel administration replied that under the Lever bill and priority powers, authority is granted for restricting fuel, the measures providing powers to stop shipments of fuel to any consumer who fails to obey government mandates.

Government Confused.

The war government itself was confused as to the scope of the Garfield order. Hasty conferences between Mr. Garfield and shipping board officials resulted in the declaration that some plants—among them the fabricating steel plants, will close. There will be no delay in the shipping program, however, because sufficient supplies are now en route to yards to supply all demands.

Explains Monday Order.

Hundreds of questions revealed unclearness of the order to thousands of communities affected.

The Monday holiday order has caused general confusion throughout the country.

This order, Mr. Garfield explained today, affects only the Eastern half of the United States, but fuel administrators in the Western states have the power to enforce the Monday holiday there also.

Must Rely on Newspapers.

For the time being all must rely on newspapers for information, and detailed orders will be sent out as soon as possible, Mr. Garfield said. He will issue, probably during the day, a public appeal to employers to continue the pay of their employes during the time they are idle because of the fuel order. The government has no power to enforce this request, but will call on employers to take the step as a patriotic duty.

Would Protect Labor.

A request that labor be not allowed to suffer during the five days or subsequent Mondays affected by the drastic fuel order was made by Fuel Administrator Garfield, who sent a telegram to John P. White of the United Mine Workers of America saying:

"Please state that orders closing industries for five days will not slow down mines. I am making provision for that and also include in my appeal request that labor be not allowed to suffer during the five days or subsequent Mondays affected by the order. I feel confident the great mass of employers throughout the country will regard this as a necessary incident of the war to be borne by them and not shifted to labor."

Government to Buy Coal.

Under a provision it was decided to insert in the order the government will become the purchaser of virtually all coal produced in the five-day closing period.

Mines producing coal under contract to industries which will be closed will be directed to turn their output over to state fuel administrators under bill of lading attached. The Treasury department will set aside $25,000,000 for the purchase of this coal.

Does Not Apply to Oil Wells.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The fuel order does not apply to oil wells, gas wells or oil refineries.

General Meat Shortage Possible.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—"A very real possibility of a general meat shortage within a few months," is forecast by Joseph P. Cotton, meat division chief of the federal food administration. "Conditions in the Allied countries make it essential to send them much more meat," he said. "It will be necessary to continue meatless days." However, meatless days in Pacific coast states will be discontinued for two months. Drouth has made necessary the slaughter of much cattle. It is impracticable to export.

NEW YEAR'S GREETINGS

The Heads of Canada's Western Provinces, and Their Message.

The United States having been in the great world's war for about nine months, the touch of war's spirit has permeated the great commonwealth, and in every hamlet and district is felt and shown the interest that was to be expected from a people whose love of liberty and justice rises supreme to all else. Day by day their appreciation of what it means to give up now for the future happiness of themselves and the generations that follow grows greater and greater. There will be losses of loved ones, but there will be no badge of mourning to indicate the great sorrow that will be felt. It is realized that the sacrifice is the toll that is demanded for making the whole world better, and, sensing this, there is preparation and willingness to sacrifice until the goal—the defeat and downfall of despotism—is assured. When the people look back, and see what Canada has done, and learn that Canada today is bigger and better than ever, they will take heart, and with increasingly growing vigor carry on with a greater courage. Canada has been in the war for three and a half years. She has sent 400,000 out of a population of eight million, she has subscribed to Victory Bonds over and over again and there is no sound of a whimper. At each demand that is made upon her resources, she meets it, and gets ready for the next. Recently her people were asked to subscribe $300,000,000. She handed over $460,000,000.

Having already contributed 400,000 soldiers, Canada was recently asked to approve of sending another 100,000. With a sweeping majority, consent was given.

How the war affects Canada is best shown by the willingness of the people to contribute. They, too, realize the great and noble part they are taking in this great conflict. They are a unit on making the world better. Canada's wealth was never shown to better advantage than in the present struggle. It possesses great wealth in the soil, in its mines, its other natural resources, and wonderful riches in the tenacity and courage of its men and its women. The soil and the climate, and the hardihood and determination of the farming class to win, by cultivating and cultivating, growing wheat and raising cattle to build up the resources so necessary to carry on the war, are factors that will count.

Probably the best word of encouragement comes from the Premiers of the three great provinces where the bulk of the food products will come from. When one reads what these men, prominent in their country say, it gives inspiration. If there are any who may be pessimistic of the future, the message that these gentlemen send forward should remove all doubt. Three and a half years in the war, able to speak as they do, the future should look bright to those who may have their seasons of doubt!

Hon. T. C. Norris, Premier of Manitoba, says:

"Manitoba has prospered exceedingly during the year 1917, and the new year finds us not only still ready and willing, but unceasingly able to bear whatever burdens the fourth year of the war may bring.

"Manitoba farmers, generally speaking, have never been in better condition to carry on. Out of her prosperity Manitoba is giving lavishly toward the winning of the war. Every appeal for funds has met with quick and generous response. The people of the Province are well settled into the collar in all war efforts. There's a spirit of determination, of willingness to make sacrifices, of confidence in the certain outcome, of which there is no room for pessimism. Manitoba will carry on."

Saskatchewan had a prosperous and successful year in 1917, and when Premier Martin sent out his New Year message it was filled with an optimism that was fully warranted.

"There is no doubt that the province today is in a better condition financially than ever before. True, the effects of the town and city real estate boom have not altogether passed away, but speaking generally, the farmers on the plains and the merchants in the towns are in a better financial position today than at any previous time. Our people are industrious and progressive.

"While we have in some portions of the Province a mixed population, education and scientific methods are making rapid strides and we are looking forward with every confidence to a glorious future and the development of a people on the central plains of Canada, of which the whole Dominion and the British Empire will have every reason to be proud."

While Alberta has given over to the war thousands of her virile manhood, thus taking from the farmer a large percentage of its producers, it still stands up big and buoyant. The farm help thus temporarily removed means a demand for farm help and increased farm effort to till its highly productive acres. Hon. Chas. Stewart, Premier of Alberta, in a message to the people on the 1st of January, speaks with such buoyancy and hope of the future and so highly of the work of the past year, that his statement is reproduced. He says:

"The prosperity of the farming communities is reflected in the towns and cities by increased wholesale business and bank clearances. Wholesalers report increases from 20 per cent to 25 per cent and their collections the best in the history of the Province. Alberta is essentially an agricultural Province at the present time, these conditions are a source of great gratification to our people, and no doubt will be to Canada as a whole—taking into consideration the fact that Alberta forms no small part of the granary to which the Empire at present looks as the source of its food supply."—Advertisement.

Wife Had No Intention of Letting Hubby Forget He Had Not Married Needle Worker.

Speaking at a dinner party, Senator James W. Wadsworth of New York referred to the poor memory possessed by some people, and fittingly contributed this anecdote:

One evening a business man, who had married his pretty stenographer, went to his room to dress for a session of his favorite lodge. A few minutes later he was heard calling at the head of the stairway.

"Jessie, dear," said hubby in a kind and gentle voice, "can't you come here just for a minute?"

"I suppose I can," indifferently answered Jessie, arising from her easy chair and starting for the stairway. "What do you want?"

"There is a little ripped place in the shirt that I want to wear to the lodge tonight," returned hubby. "Can't you sew it up for me?"

"Of course not," was the prompt rejoinder of wifey. "I will get Jane to do it. You seem to forget that you married a typewriter, not a sewing machine."

Cider was at one time manufactured on a large scale in the south of Ireland, but the industry became extinct. In 1904 the department of agriculture revived it to such an extent that whole villages were engaged in the employment. Since the outbreak of the present war most of the large firms interested in the project have suspended operations for one reason or another.

Says Dodd's Kidney Pills, Wonderful Remedy

Mrs. Della Olson, of New London, Wis., like many others, knows after experiencing the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills that they are unexcelled. Here is what Mrs. Olson recently wrote us:

"I suffered with rheumatism for years. There was a gravel deposit in the urine and I had frequent headaches. I had dark circles around my eyes and was always tired. I bought a box of your Dodd's Kidney Pills and am glad I did, for I secured quick relief and think they are a wonderful remedy."

Mighty few people realize in time that kidney trouble is making its advances upon their health. They put off treatment—they say, "Oh, I'll be all right in a day or two." And the malady tightens its grip. Result: Bright's Disease; hospital treatment, doctors' bills—often death.

When you have backache, dizziness, pain in loins, stiffness in stooping or lifting, spots before the eyes, sediment in secretions, rheumatic pains, or swollen joints, immediately start toning the kidneys by the regular use of the remedy endorsed by hundreds of users—DODD'S Kidney Pills.

Full Meaning.

"Why do they call that one a crack regiment?" "Because there is so much snap about it."

Sicilian Nut Crop Small.

The crop of almonds this year has been very small in Sicily, being only about 15,000 bags of 220 pounds. There are, however, 40,000 bags remaining from last year. In consequence of the short crop prices have remained high, and buyers are paying 335 lire per bag. At normal exchange the lire is worth 19.3 cents, United States currency.

The filbert crop has been abundant this season and is estimated at 150,000 bags of 220 pounds. There is none of the old crop left. The price is 142 lire a bag.

The new pistachio crop is good and there is a considerable quantity of the old crop still remaining in the shell. The price is about 2s. 6d. (60 cents) a pound.—Commerce Reports.

Falsification.

George Cohan was advising an older playwright who had not yet achieved fame.

"You must give the public happy endings," Mr. Cohan said. "A happy ending must be given, even if you have to falsify the truth.

"We all falsify the truth at times. Thus, on the stage, when the lovers kiss, their troubles are over, whereas, in real life, of course, it's when they kiss that their troubles begin."

The road to sell is paved with good inventions.

Covetousness is the one sin many a man is guilty of without knowing it.

There is no purer or more healthful food for children than Grape-Nuts its natural sweetness appeases the child's appetite for added sugar, and the quanity of milk or cream needed is about half that required for the ordinary cereal.

GRAPE-NUTS IS AN ECONOMICAL FOOD

SAYS ALLIES NEED MORE MEN TO WIN

NO REPUBLIC CAN ENDURE IF MEN WON'T DIE FOR IT, SAYS PREMIER.

U. S. AND BRITISH AIMS SAME

President Wilson and He, Laid Down Similar Programs of Demands Without Consultation, Premier Says.

London, Jan. 19.—Premier Lloyd George, addressing the labor delegates Friday said no man standing on the watch tower could deny the urgency of the need for raising more men.

The prime minister said no democracy has ever long survived the failure of its adherents to be ready to die for it.

Aims Conform.

Lloyd George said he and President Wilson, without previous consultation—there was no opportunity—had laid down substantially the same demands for the termination of war.

There was no man willing to make peace without complete restoration of Belgium and reparation, the premier said. From Germany there had been but one answer, he added, "and it came from Von Tirpitz's soul, 'Never'."

Hardly a Voice of Criticism.

Mr. Lloyd George said his and President Wilson's war aims had been acclaimed throughout the Entente Allied countries. There had been hardly a voice of criticism save from a few who wished he had made more extreme demands. The socialists of France, Italy and Great Britain, he said, had accepted them.

Germans Answer "Never."

The premier said that Germany had answered "Never," to his demand for a reconsideration of the wrong of Alsace-Lorraine and had declared that Germany would go on until Mesopotamia and Palestine were restored to the tyranny of the Turks. No single war aims condition made by the British trade unionists had been answered by any German auxiliary, he added.

"Must Go On Or Go Under."

Mr. Lloyd George said there had been no answer from Germany to the recent statements of the Entente Powers on war aims.

"Why?" asked the premier, "Because the Prussian military power is dominant. The answer to be given will be given from the cannon mouth."

"If any man here can find an honorable and equitable way out of this conflict without fighting it through," the premier continued, "let him tell it. My conviction is this: The people must either go on or go under."

GRAVE UNREST BREWING IN AUSTRIA-HUNGARY

Strikes And Riots Due To Prolongation of Brest-Litovsk Negotiations.

Zurich, Jan. 19.—Grave unrest is brewing throughout Austria-Hungary. Closely censored dispatches indicated serious bread strikes and tieups at numerous munitions factories, as well as civil clashes between police and crowds at numerous Austro-Hungarian cities. Gratz, Brunn, Lutz, Wienerneustad and Prague were all reported to have been the scenes of demonstrations, some of them violent. Other cities were said to have shown unrest.

The troubles, it is asserted, are due to the prolongation of the peace negotiations at Brest-Litovsk, the continuation of the reduced bread rations—one half the former allotment—and police measures against meetings of the workers.

AUSTRIANS TO DIE FOR SYMPATHY WITH SLAVS

Whole Units Ordered Executed Petrograd Hears—Germans Also Becoming Dissatisfied, Report.

Petrograd, Jan. 19.—Whole companies of Austrian troops have been ordered shot for their sympathy with Russian Socialist views, according to ports reaching here.

According to reports here, many units of Austrian forces of the Italian front have been ordered executed for their refusal to obey their officers.

Dissatisfaction against their militarist masters is spreading among German troops also.

Seniority Ends in British Navy.

London, Jan. 19.—Commodore Reginald Y. Tyrwhitt has been appointed acting rear admiral. Daily Mail calls attention to the fact Commodore Tyrwhitt was promoted over the heads of nearly 50 other officers, ignoring seniority tradition. Commodore Tyrwhitt has been in command of the destroyer flotillas of the First fleet since 1913. He was in command of the destroyers in Helgoland Bight in December, 1914, and off the Dogger Bank in 1915, in both of which battles the British fleets were victorious over the Germans.

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

The State Public Safety commission has made an order prohibiting the shipment of liquor into Clay county.

The safe in the office of Dr. John Schacht, dentist, at Fergus Falls was robbed of $265 while he was at lunch. No suspects have been arrested.

The new $500,000 building erected to house the Minnesota Historical society, across from the capitol building in St. Paul, has been thrown open to the public.

On complaint of Game Warden Peter J. Karpen of St. Peter, Ernest Laabs and Julius Domer of LeSueur were fined $33 each for killing two raccoons out of season.

Five inmates of the state prison at Stillwater have been committed to insane asylums under examinations by Court Commissioner O. E. Lee, Doctors B. J. Merrill and E. O. B. Freligh.

The Pipestone firemen are making plans for a big patriotic meeting to be held here Lincoln's birthday. Prof. Jaeger of the University of Minnesota has been invited to be the principal speaker of the occasion.

Smaller cities of the state may be supplied with "standard" white bread at fixed prices by the State Public Safety commission, as Minneapolis is already supplied, under plans outlined. As order on the subject, the secretary said, may be made in a few days.

Arrest of six Minneapolis men and recovery of 184 automobiles stolen from that city during the last few months are announced by deputy sheriffs who have been investigating automobile thefts. Information which will lead to the recovery of more than 100 additional machines has been obtained, officials state.

Ben Dohling, of Freeport, driving a team of horses, heard the bell which told of the approach of Great Nothern passenger train No. 1, but thought he could beat the train to the crossing. The engine and horses ran a dead heat, and though Mr. Rohling escaped by an apparent miracle, both steeds were killed.

Park Rapids is the first Minnesota town to report that it has entirely substituted wood for coal to aid in averting a possible coal shortage, according to an announcement by C. R. Tillotson, a wood expert sent to Minnesota by the Federal fuel administration to aid in organization of the wood-for-fuel movement.

Automobile owners driving their cars without new state license tags, are taking chances of being arrested, Secretary of State Julius A. Schmal said. The state law requires that 1918 tags shall be displayed after January 1, he explained, and car owners have been given about two months' opportunity to obtain new licenses, sales having started about November 15, 1917.

The law which permits one school district to send its pupils to a high school in another district without paying tuition will be tested in a case arising from the refusal of the Mankato school district longer to accept the high school pupils from North Mankato unless tuition is paid.

Sheriff Charles Fellman will never get rich boarding prisoners at the Red Lake county jail if the occupants number no more than they did in 1917. During the year he had but nine prisoners, one of whom was a girl. Only $60 was paid by the county during the year for the board of prisoners.

Attorney General Smith of Minnesota advises against the prosecution of the excessively loyal men that broke into the house of George Peters of Hawley and destroyed the picture of the Kaiser. County Attorney C. G. Dosland referred the matter to the state's attorney when appeaed to, to prosecute the men.

Simplicity will be the keynote at the half-century anniversary this spring of the University of Minnesota. All unnecessary expense in connection with the affair will be eliminated. The formal inauguration of Dr. Marion Le Roy Burton as president probably will consist only of handing over the keys of the institution by the new president of the board of regents of the university.

Rev. William McKinley, dean of Minnesota Methodism, author and lecturer, died at Winona after an illness of several months. He had been identified with Minnesota Methodism since 1854, serving at one time as pastor of the First M. E. church of Hamline and at Minneapolis. He was also once pastor of two Winona Methodist churches and was pastor emeritus of both when he died. He retired from the active ministry several years ago.

F. H. Shoemaker, who represented the National Nonpartisan league at a meeting held att Walters, pleaded guilty to charges of using indecent and abusive language, tending to provoke assault and was fined $10 and costs.

F. E. Weld, president of the Moorhead state normal school predicts a great shortage of school teachers for the next four or five years. He stated that a call had come in for many more teachers than the normal could furnish. "A great effort will be made by the educators to keep up the standard for teachers in spite of the shortage," said President Weld.

Instead of the Nonpartisan meeting at Sauk Center, which was forbidden by Mayor Dubau, a largely attended patriotic rally was held here. [illegible] Frederick Perry, Red Cross member spoke.

ORDER GRADING POTATOES MADE

Food Administrator Wants To Keep Diseased and Undesirable Tubers Off Market.

GO TO INSPECT CAMPS

Governor and Party To Visit Minnesota Soldiers at Three National Cantonments Before Returning Home.

St. Paul.

Grading of potatoes so as to keep off the market diseased and otherwise undesirable tubers will be insisted on in large producing sections by the federal food administration. A. D. Wilson, its chief representative in Minnesota has been so advised.

The administration holds the failure to grade is wasteful, unfair and therefore, violative of the food act. Mr. Wilson explains that while grading was suggested at the time regulations regarding potato marketing were published it was not made compulsory because of lack of understanding of grades. Now it is thought enough time has elapsed to overcome this lack.

The food administration urges producers to do the grading at home, sorting into two grades, leaving out small ones to avoid useless handling and transportation of waste material and to save heavy expense of shippers' grading, and to retain for use at home all unmarketable tubers that have food value for man and beast.

Officials Inspecting Camps.

Governor Burnquist, Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith, Colonel C. H. March and Adjutant General W. F. Rhinow have gone on a trip to three military camps to investigate the health and other conditions of about 17,500 Minnesota men in training at those places.

The investigation was ordered by the State Public Safety Commission after conflicting reports of conditions especially at Camp Cody, were received.

The tentative plan is to go direct to Camp Cody and thence to Camps Pike and Dodge, and to return about Janury 23 to St. Paul. Camp Pike was included in the itinerary because many drafted men have been transferred there from Camp Dodge, to which 8,000 men have been sent from Minnesota.

Officials Change Quarters.

Removal of the offices and library of the State Horticulture society to the new historical society building nearby, marked the first assignments of the rooms in the capitol.

The State Department of Education will move its offices to the historical society building soon, and its present suite on the first floor of the capitol will be given to the State Banking department. Ground floor rooms, now occupied by the banking department, will be assigned to the Board of Control and to Secretary of State Schmall, who will establish the state automobile license department there.

An important change will add the third floor rooms of the south wing to the suite of the State Supreme Court. The State Tax Commission will move its offices to those just vacated by the historical society.

The state forestry department will have the office formerly occupied by the secretary of the historical society.

The engineering department of the State Railroad and Warehouse commission will remain on the ground floor, but move to the old newspaper file rooms of the society.

The adjutant general's office will be transferred to the suite now occupied by the railroad engineers.

To Use State's Surplus Water Power.

The government is preparing to use the surplus water power of Minnesota and Wisconsin for war industries.

A survey will be the first step. It was ordered yesterday by the power committee of the Council of National Defense. C. O. Frisbie of Chicago, president of the Cornell, Wis., Wood Products company and head of the Chippewa Valley Co-operative association, was selected for the task and will begin at once.

Gunners Eligible for Draft.

About 250 men of draft age enlisted in the Second Minnesota field artillery are subject to draft, Provost Marshal General E. H. Crowder has notified Governor Burnquist in response to a request for a special ruling. The Federal draft chief said that, although recognized by the war department, the new Minnesota regiment was not included in the order of Aug. 5, mobilizing National Guard units and that members between 21 and 30 years old are not exempt from the selective draft.

OUR BOYS IN FRANCE AND HOME PROTECTION

The men on the firing line represent the pick of our American youth. One in four of our boys at home was sick, rejected because of physical deficiency. Many times the kidneys were to blame.

If we wish to prevent old age coming on too soon, or if we want to increase our chances for a long life, Dr. Pierce of the Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., says that you should drink plenty of water daily before meals. Then procure at your nearest drug store Anuric (double strength). This An-u-ric drives the uric acid out and cures backache and rheumatism.

If we wish to keep our kidneys in the best condition a diet of milk and vegetables, with only little meat once a day, is the most suitable. Drink plenty of pure water, take Anuric three times a day for a month. It sells for 60c.

Step into the drug store and ask for a sixty-cent package of Anuric, or send Dr. Pierce 10c for trial pkg. Anuric, many times more potent than lithia, eliminates uric acid as hot water melts sugar. A short trial will convince you.

JUST A LITTLE EXCITED

In time of war people are likely to get excited over a trifling matter that they would not consider worthy of notice in time of peace. This seems to have been the case with the president of the Commercial Club, of Thief River Falls, when he refused to allow an advertised meeting of the Nonpartisan League to be held in the club rooms. Now hold on there, my Nonpartisan friend don't you go to getting excited, as we do not want at Pennington county war between a man that takes the St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press as his guiding star, and a man who takes the Nonpartisan Leader for his. That there was a misunderstanding by the President of the club of the purpose of the meeting is evident from the following resolution passe d by the club, and now let the matter drop, and all unite to use all the energy of Pennington county to help our Nation to win the war, and not be like Russia, start to fighting among ourselves, when Germany is trying to take our country.

THE RESOLUTION

At a special meeting of the Commercial Club held at the club rooms the following resolution was offered and unanimously carried:

Resolved, That the Commercial Club of Thief River Falls regrets the action of its President in excluding from its rooms the meeting of the Non-Partisan League of Pennington County, advertised for January 16 1918, and that such action was owing to a misunderstanding of the rules and regulations of the Club, and was not due to any ill feeling towards our friends and neighbors, and particularly the farmers of Pennington County.

That's good work, but it isn't enough. What really needs to be done is yet undone—and that is the dishonorable discharge of such men from public office.

The people at this year's election should dishonorably discharge from office every congressman or other officer who has failed his country in its hour of need. They should also dishonorably discharge from consideration for public office every candidate who does not make entirely clear his complete and uncompromising loyalty to his country and its cause. —Duluth Herald

Kilted Troops.

The Greek kilted troops, the Evzones, bear a variant of a name which was given to troops in the days of ancient Greece. Euzonoi, meaning well girdled and so girt up for exercise as kilted men are, were light troops or even the heavily armed hoplitai, but without their weighty shields. At first, however, the term, as in Homer, was used only regarding women, the "zone" being the lower girdle worn by them about the waist, but by an easy and natural transition this came to mean a man's belt. Then as the belt supported the short skirts, kilted men were called well belted.

It is now a hundred years since gas was first used for illumination in this country, and this is supposed to be "the age of electricity," yet the amount of gas consumed is still increasing. Former Czar's Abode.

No two papers seem to agree on the subject of the former czar's new place of abode, says an exchange. A favorable account speaks of Tobolsk as the "Boston of Russia," the "home of the arts," a picturesque old town, and a favorite winter resort in western Siberia. Its refinement and culture are attributed to the large number of Swedish officers who were interned there after Peter the Great's victory at Poltava. The town never lost the influence of their advanced civilization.

packing plants; and it favors the initiative, the referendum and the recall of all elective officials.

This is the Nonpartisan program, and right or wrong, it is meeting with a popular response among the farmers. And Minnesota's population contains more than 75 percent of farmers. They only lack cohesiveness to make their power felt. The Nonpartisan league is doing the organizing, and as a result many old line politicians, who have served the special interests long and faithfully, are commencing to fear that the agricultural interests which predominate in the state actually are going to insist in having the most to say about how its affairs shall be conducted.

PLACE OF MEAUX IN HISTORY

The little French city of Meaux, near Paris, has gained an immortal place in history. It marks the high tide of the German advance in 1914, the nearest spot to Paris where the Prussians trod. Thus far the advance patrols penetrated, and here they were recalled to swing off in the great detour that ended in retreat. Over Meaux flashed the German Taubes, looking down in puzzled misunderstanding at the endless scurrying line of Parisian taxicabs that bore the French Sixth army to the front to save the city. It was something new in transport, this army in taxicabs, and the Germans, accustomed to do all things by rule, went so far astray as to interpret it as a rush of the people of Paris to surrender themselves to the invader.

Near Meaux you see one of the most significant things in Europe—the first grave. Less than 30 kilometers from Paris this unknown Frenchman fell. Over his body is a bare oblong wire fencing off a little white cross. There are literally millions of these rude graves dotting the pleasant plains of northern France, but this is the nearest of them all to Paris itself. A little farther and you find them scattered more and more thickly, and now some of them are capped by black crosses instead of white, to mark the spot where a Prussian lies. And over the bodies of German and Frenchman the lush crops are crowding in, for this section of France is being intensively cultivated as no region has been before.

A few kilometers northward and eastward is the first of the great monuments raised over a common grave, where the dead lie by hundreds. The French engineers have erected many of these. They tower up in the flat land as the memory of those who lie below will tower in the minds of future generations. The wheat may rustle green about them and the traffic of peace flow by, but the countryside will be forever hallowed by the memory of a crisis when nameless men laid down their lives wholesale that a nation might live.

A Difficult Case.

BESSEMER IRON AND STEEL

Original Process Involved Decarbonization, or Burning Out of Excess Carbon, by Blowing Air.

Henry Bessemer, who invented the method named for him in the manufacture of iron and steel, which revolutionized the industry, was granted a patent by the British government on October 17, 1855. This was the first patent given him, notes an exchange. Additional patents were taken out in the following December and February, covering improvements. Bessemer's original process involved decarbonization, or the burning out of the excess carbon, by blowing air through pig iron. This revolutionary invention was due indirectly to the Crimean war.

Bessemer undertook to invent an improved cannon, but found all available metals too weak for the gun he sought to make. He then began experiments in steel making, with the ultimate result of the production of "Bessemer steel." This invention won for him fame and fortune and the honor of knighthood. Sir Henry Bessemer was born in England, but was of French Huguenot descent. Since his pioneer invention, the process of converting iron into steel has been vastly improved.

Camphor For Colds.

In its early stages an acute cold may be avoided by the use of camphor. If the chest seems "tight" rub it thoroughly with equal parts of sweet oil and camphor and wear a compress during the night of flannel saturated with the mixture, heated and covered with dry flannel. Three or four drops of camphor in a glass of hot water taken at night is excellent. If the throat is a little sore use a gargle of ten drops of camphor to a tablespoonful of water, being careful not to swallow this. Rubbing the nose with sweet oil and camphor and inhaling the fumes of the latter will help matters when the head has a sensation of fullness.

VICTIM OF HIS OWN JOKE

Senator Had Not Intended Jocose Remark to Be Taken as Seriously as It Was.

An official of the house of representatives met a distinguished United States senator in the halls of the capitol. They were old friends, and both were born in Kentucky. It was at a time when there was not much stirring about the big building, and the two sat down to talk. The conversation turned on what the doctors of America were doing, and discussion of specialists. The official suggested that he had a relative who was a distinguished alienist.

"There would seem to be a good field for work along his line right here in the capitol," remarked the senator. "I know some members of the house and senate whom he might examine."

"Well, I expect him in Washington very shortly," returned the official, in all innocence, "and I want him to meet you."

It was not until several seconds later when the senator laughed that the official realized that an explanation was in order.

Superstition Concerning Moon.

That the moon can make people mad is still a prevalent belief, and even most of those who pride themselves on being free from all superstition would hesitate to lie where the moon can shine upon them while they sleep. For would they not run the risk of being "moon struck?" Does not Othello in the agony of his soul exclaim:

'Tis the very error of the moon,
She comes more near the earth than she was wont,
And makes men mad.

Wanted Officers to Learn Dancing.

That the great Lord Nelson urged his midshipmen to learn dancing has been discovered through the publication of a letter written by the hero of Trafalgar to the earl of Cork. Captain Nelson as he then was wrote: "It is necessary that your son should be made complete in his navigation, and if the peace continues, French is absolutely necessary. Dancing is an accomplishment that probably a sea officer may require. You will see almost the necessity of it, when employed in foreign countries; indeed, the honor of the nation is so often entrusted to sea officers that there is no accomplishment which will not shine with peculiar luster in them."

FACE the FACTS

LET us face the facts. The war situation is critical. Unless the Allies fight as they never yet have fought, defeat threatens. Hungry men cannot fight at their best; nor hungry nations. France, England, and Italy are going hungry unless we feed them.

Wheat Saving—They must have wheat. It is the best food to fight on. It is the easiest to ship. We alone can spare it to them. By saving just a little—less than a quarter of what we ate last year—we can support those who are fighting our battles. And we can do it without stinting ourselves. We have only to substitute another food just as good.

The Corn of Plenty—Corn is that food. There's a surplus of it. Providence has been generous in the hour of our need. It has given us corn in such bounty as was never known before. Tons of corn. Trainloads of corn. Five hundred million bushels over and above our regular needs. All we have to do is to learn to appreciate it. Was ever patriotic duty made so easy? And so clear?

America's Own Food—Corn! It is the true American food. The Indians, hardiest of races, lived on it. Our forefathers adopted the diet and conquered a continent. For a great section of our country it has blong een the staff of life. How well the South fought on it, history tells. Now it can help America win a world war.

Learn Something—Corn! It isn't one food. It's a dozen. It's a cereal. It's a vegetable. It's a bread. It's a dessert. It's nutritious; more food value in it, dollar for dollar, than meat or eggs or most other vegetables. It's good to eat; how good you don't know until you've had corn-bread properly cooked. Best of all, it's plentiful and it's patriotic.

Corn's Infinite Variety—How much do you know about corn? About how good it is? About the many delicious ways of cooking it? And what you miss by not knowing more about it? Here are a few of its uses:

There are at least fifty ways to use corn meal to make good dishes for dinner, supper, lunch or breakfast. Here are some suggestions:

HOT BREADS	DESSERTS
Boston brown bread.	Corn-meal molasses cake.
Hoecake.	Apple corn bread.
Muffins.	Dumplings.
Biscuits.	Gingerbread.
Griddle cakes.	Fruit gems.
Waffles.

HEARTY DISHES

WESTERN CANADA'S CEREAL CROP

One of the Best Ever Harvested.

The cereal crop of Western Canada for 1917 was the most valuable one ever harvested; the returns from all classes of live stock have been equally satisfactory. The wool clip was not only greater than in any previous year, but the price obtained was double that of 1916, which in turn was almost double that of the year before.

As was the case in 1915 and 1916, many farmers were able to pay for their land outright with the proceeds of their first year's crop. Further evidence of the prosperity of Western Canada is shown by the fact that one in every twenty of the population is now the owner of an automobile. If the farming community alone is taken, it will be found that the proportion of automobile owners is still greater. The bank clearings of the leading cities of Western Canada were consistently higher than they were in the corresponding periods of 1916, and then they were higher than the year preceding. In Winnipeg $500,000,000 more was cleared in the 11 months ending November 30 than in the same months a year ago.

The entry of the United States into the war has strengthened the bonds between that country and Canada. We are now working together for the same ends. Those who are not fighting are promoting a greater production of foodstuffs. In this connection Western Canada offers a wonderful opportunity. Not only can larger quantities of staple foodstuffs be produced, but the cost of production is lower and the remuneration greater than where land is more expensive. Notwithstanding the fact that the price of farm products has doubled during the past three years, there are millions of acres of arable land in Western Canada which can still be bought at a low price.

Western Canada has an enormous acreage prepared for seeding to wheat in 1918. It is larger than in 1917, and will probably surpass the record area put into crop in the year 1915, when the largest crop ever known in the West was harvested. The year 1918 should also see a further increase in live stock activity.

Farmers have been investing considerable sums in cattle; the high prices secured for wool and mutton have opened the eyes of Western farmers to the possibilities of sheep, and such was the demand for breeding animals last fall that it was impossible to meet it adequately; the campaign for greater hog production is expected to yield an increase of between 25 and 50 per cent in 1918.

Those who are contemplating coming to Western Canada cannot do better than come early in the spring when they can put in a crop and harvest it in the fall. In this way they will be able to achieve something that will not only be of great benefit to themselves, but also to the great cause for which the Allies, including the United States, are now fighting.—Advertisement.

I have had itching piles ever since my earliest recollection. I am 53 years old and have suffered terribly. I have tried many remedies and doctors, but no cure. About 8 weeks ago I saw your ad for Peterson's Ointment. The first application stopped all itching, and in three days all soreness. I have only used one 25c box and consider I am cured. You have my heartfelt thanks, and may everyone that has this trouble see this and give Peterson's Ointment, that is worth a hundred dollars or more a box, a trial. Sincerely yours, A. "It makes me feel proud to be able to produce an ointment like that," says Peterson. "Not only do I guarantee Peterson's Ointment for old sores and wounds, but for Eczema, Salt Rheum, Ulcers, Itching Skin, Pimples, Blackheads and all skin diseases. I put up a big box for 50 cents, a price all can afford to pay and money back from your druggist if not satisfied." Adv.

FOE'S DEMANDS ARE REJECTED

Russian Delegates To Brest-Litovsk Refuse To Accept Terms Offered.

NOW UP TO CONGRESS

Question of Peace Or War Must Be Decided By Soldiers' and Workmen's Delegates Assembled In Petrograd.

Petrograd, Jan. 26.—A unanimous decision to reject the peace terms offered by the Germans, has been reached by Russia's delegates to the Brest-Litovsk conference.

M. Kamaneff, who returned from Brest-Litovsk with Foreign Minister Trotzky, said the remainder of the Russian delegation had stayed there in order to avoid the appearance of an immediate rupture.

"We were told," he added, "that the German terms were the last they would offer.

"We were unanimous that they should be rejected. Final decision, however, must rest with the soldiers' and workmen's delegates."

Tte terms of the Germans, as enunciated by General Hoffman, one of their chief delegates to the peace conference, so far form an insuperable barrier for the Bolsheviki government, which has expressed a determination to carry out the policy of no annexations and no indemnities.

Germans After Annexations

Courland in its entirety and all of Russia's Baltic provinces are to be retained by Germany, according to Genearl Hoffman, in what is termed as Germany's last proposal to the Russians and the added threat was given that if the Russians failed to acquiesce in the demands, further inroads would follow and the important port of Reval, near the mouth of the Gulf of Finland, would be occupied.

In theatric fashion General Hoffman delineated on a map before the astonished Russian delegates the new Russian frontier as the Germans intend it to run—from the shores of the Gulf of Finland eastward to the Moon Sound islands and then to the west of Minsk and thence to Brest-Litovsk—leaving within German boundaries some of Russia's choicest territory.

Slavs Amazed at Audacity.

Amazed at the audacity of the German program, the Russian delegates asked for time to consider the demands. This was grudgingly given, together with the announcement that it was the last postponement that could be expected. Later the Russians unanimously rejected the German terms.

What the new situation will bring forth is problematical. With the political situation in Russia still in turmoil and the battle line depleted of fighting men through defections, it is hardly probable that the Russians will be able to withstand at the present moment any great show of force by the Germans toward the capture of Reval, which would prove a handy base from which to operate against Petrograd or to push their line further forward from the old battle line.

The whole crew of the A-73 perished, while only 17 of the A-79 survived. Nineteen of the men were saved, but two have since died.

He may later be removed to another internment camp. Breitung has been at liberty on $25,000 bonds since his indictment on Oct. 9, 1915. His recent arrest here is believed to have resulted from the discovery of new evidence in connection with the alleged conspiracy.

REPLIES TO PRESIDENT

Chamberlain Says Wilson Does Not Know Truth.

Oregon Senator Takes Floor as Thousands Clamor for Admission To Senate Galleries.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Rising to a question of personal privilege in the senate, Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the military affairs committee, replied to President Wilson's recent statement charging that the senator, in a speech in New York advocating government war reorganization and declaring inefficiency existed in all branches of the government, had made "an astonishing and absolutely unjustifiable distortion of the truth."

On Question of Personal Privilege.

Six thousand persons clamored for admittance to Senate galleries, which hold fewer than 1,000. Not since the President's war declaration message has there been such excitement at the capitol as developed.

Senator Chamberlain took the floor on question of personal privilege. He decided on this course because of repeated threats of administration leaders to prevent his speech.

Senator Chamberlain repeated the statement which drew the President's fire, and declared the President himself does not know the truth.

Blame for Deaths in Camps.

Senator Chamberlain said he would show that the deaths of the hundreds and thousands of men at cantonments and camps were due to the War department and "that all epidemics could have been prevented if the War department had been effective."

In beginning his address Senator Chamberlain said the President had attacked both his veracity and integrity, heretofore unchallenged, but that in replying he did so without any personal feeling against the President.

ROOSEVELT PRAISES NAVY

Blasts War Department, However, In Capital Speech.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Praise for the Navy department, praise and constructive criticism for the Shipping board, and utter condemnation for the War department, featured Colonel Roosevelt's address to the National Press club on the conduct of the war.

Interwoven with the three was a strong argument in behalf of Senator George E. Chamberlain's fight for a stronger, more centralized handling of War department affairs.

"The prime need now is the need of haste," declared the Colonel, and second only to it is the need for team work. We've had too many star players here in Washington, but too little team work."

And with this as his text, Colonel Roosevelt hammered for an hour to get his points home.

U. S. LOAN TO IRELAND SEEN

Government and Capitalists Held About to Advance Big Sum.

London, Jan. 25.—Telegram's Dublin correspondent says a report from Washington the United States is prepared to loan Ireland $100,000,000 to obtain the fullest measure of home rule and American capitalists are ready to invest a like sum in Ireland if the question is settled, is prominently displayed in all Irish papers and has caused lively interest.

Labor Indorses Lloyd George Regime.

Nottingham, Eng., Jan. 25.—The Labor convention granted powerful support to Premier Lloyd George's coalition government by rejecting, by a vote of 1,885,000 to 722,000, the resolution demanding that the Labor party members in the coalition government withdraw at once. Arthur Henderson, formerly a member of the war council, made an eloquent appeal against passage of the resolution. He declared its effect would be to break up the government's strength and delay the advent of peace.

VIENNA REBELS FORM MINISTRY

Austria In Throes of Revolution According To Report To Petrograd.

MAY BE GERMAN HOAX

Wireless Message by Smolny Institute Taken "With Grain of Salt" In America—Seeds Sown by Bolsheviki Bear Fruit.

Petrograd, Jan. 26.—A revolution in Vienna is announced in a wireless message received by the Bolsheviki.

The dispatch was received by Smolny institute, headquarters of the Tortzky-Lenine government.

It declared that the revolutionists have named a provisional cabinet.

Under Foreign Minister Nelotsky made the message public.

He declared the report as received did not give the names of the provisional ministry nor any further details than bare mention of the revolution.

First Report of Actual Revolt.

The message to the Smolny institute is the first rumor of an actual revolutionary movement in Austria-Hungary.

United press dispatches for the past week have reported great social and economic unrest in the dual empire. The people were reported incensed at the militarist, pro-annexationists attitude of Teutonic peace delegates at Brest-Litovsk. They were represented as crying out for peace to end a war-weariness constantly increasing, and manifest through a general strike throughout the dual monarchy.

Warning By U. S.

United Press dispatches from Washington during the past two days have expressed the American government's warning to all people that Teuton autocrats would not be above a gigantic hoax in spreading broadcast the impression that conditions in the Teuton empire was near the breaking point—the scheme being thus to relax war preparations under the belief that President Wilson's plea to the German people to form a Democratic government had borne fruit.

LEAGUE SECRETARY IS HELD

Gilbert Attempts to Talk at Lakefield Despite Orders.

Fairmont, Minn., Jan. 25.—The arrest of Joseph Gilbert, state secretary of the National Nonpartisan league, broke up a meeting which he and speakers were conducting in Lakefield, seat of Jackson county.

Contrary to the orders of county officials, Gilbert tried to have a meeting in the yard of a livery barn after failing to obtain a hall.

HOARDING OF HIDES CHARGED

Packers Force Leather Prices Up, U. S. Board Finds.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Hoarding of hides by meat packers while shoe prices have been climbing upward, and excessive profits to the packers, who practically control the hide market, are charged in a report by the Federal Trade commission, submitted to congress.

On Trial on Treason Charge.

New York, Jan. 25.—Paul C. Hennig, said here to be the first person in the United States to face a charge of treason growing out of the war with Germany, went on trial in the federal court in Brooklyn. Federal authorities allege that as foreman of the assembling department of the plant of E. W. Bliss & Co. Hennig, a naturalized American of German birth, "maliciously mutilated" parts of gyroscopes for use in torpedoes made for the United States government. Selection of a jury will be difficult.

WILL FIGHT TO THE END

Roumania To Remain Faithful To Allies Despite Russia.

Member of King Ferdinand's Cabinet Asserts Country Will Keep Its Word.

Jassy, Roumania, Jan. 25.—The present position of Roumania and what that country would expect as a condition of peace were discussed with the Associated Press by Take Jonescu, one of the leading statesmen of Roumania, and vice president of the council of ministers, whose resignation from the cabinet King Ferdinand recently declined to accept.

As to the future course of Roumania, M. Jonescu declared the Roumanian people would remain faithful to the Allies until the end, "whatever that end might be." The vice president of the council said that Roumania, like the United States, has drawn its sword in defense of freedom and justice and that the nation would never rest until those principles had been achieved.

Roumania to Fight Until End.

"The problems and sufferings of Roumania are little known in America. We have been rather silent about them, as there are many things about which we could not talk. For example, the consequences to the Allies of the failure of Russia have been enormous, but to Roumania the results of that failure have been almost tragical. Yet, we have borne the burden in silence, in spite of all our misfortunes, however, I am convinced that my country will continue to fight until the end. We can follow only one course and that is the path of honor. We are under a pledge to remain loyal to the Allies until the end."

BISHOP McGOLRICK PASSES

Was Head of Duluth Diocese For 27 Years.

Duluth, Jan. 25.—Bishop James McGolrick, for 27 years head of the diocese of Duluth, and for 50 years a priest, died here suddenly. Death was caused by acute indigestion.

During the afternoon he was in consultation with a local specialist regarding charity hospital work and the physician, noticing that he was failing rapidly, called in an associate who advised his immediate removal to the hospital. An ambulance was called, but before it arrived it became apparent that death was near. He passed away in his home, murmuring a soft prayer.

Canada's Food Controller Quits.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 25.—W. J. Hanna, food controller of Canada, has tendered his resignation and it has been accepted. He will be succeeded by H. B. Thompson of Vancouver. Mr. Hanna explained in his letter of resignation that he could not continue to exercise the duties of food controller without serious impairment to his private interests.

Three Sammies Die In Action, Pershing Says

Washington, Jan. 24.—General Pershing has just reported three American infantrymen killed in action on January 21. He gave no details of the engagement.

No British Premium Bonds.

London, Jan. 24.—The government has decided against the issue of premium bonds, Andrew Bonar Law, chancellor of the exchequer, has told the house of commons. The decision was taken, the chancellor said, after consideration of the report of the committee appointed to inquire into the advisability of the plan. The committee had found that the step was inadvisable at the present time, or until further efforts had been made to make the present issues more attractive to investors.

Back Given Out?

Housework is too hard for a woman who is half sick, nervous and always tired. But it keeps piling up, and gives weak kidneys no time to recover. If your back is lame and achy and your kidneys irregular; if you have "blue spells," sick headaches, nervousness, dizziness and rheumatic pains, use Doan's Kidney Pills. They have done wonders for thousands of worn out women.

A Minnesota Case

Mrs. C. C. Lohmann, S. Main St., Zumbrota, Minn., says: "The first symptom of my kidney trouble was a pain through the small of my back; before long it extended down into my limbs. I had nervous headaches and often got so dizzy, I couldn't see. I felt languid and was all worn out mornings. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me quick relief and after I had used a few boxes, I was cured. I have had no further trouble."

RACES QUICK TO AMALGAMATE

Intermarriage of French and English in St. Louis Began Promptly and Continued.

"Mimi" was a pet name for girls in the old French families a century ago. It was Indian and meant little pigeon. "Virginia" was a favorite name for daughters among the French families. The suggestion did not come from the Old Dominion state. Baby girls were christened Virginia because the mothers had read, tearfully, the story of Paul and Virginia. Bernardine de Saint Pierre's novel came out in 1797. It circulated all over the world and reached St. Louis. The romance made the first literary impression on the village. It prompted the use of the name of the heroine many times.

Commingling of the elements of the population of St. Louis came promptly. There was no line of exclusion in business or matrimony. The evolution of the typical St. Louisan was rapid. Of the more than one thousand descendants of Madame Chouteau, the mother of St. Louis, not two hundred have borne French names. In the present generation these descendants are represented in families of six former nationalities.—From "Missourian One Hundred Years Ago," by Walter B. Stevens.

"There's a Reason"

Snowfoot

By Alger Ray Penne

(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.)

"Give us an exhibition, Mr. Dacre, won't you?"

"Oh, I'm past all that, lads."

"No, no," pressed an eager, excited coterie of schoolboys. "There's some new fellows here and we've been bragging about your acts."

"All right, I'll see if Snowfoot has forgotten his lessons. Don't let any of you fellows get the circus fever out of this, though. The glare and glitter don't last long, and I wasted the best years of my life in the sawdust ring and you see what I've turned out to be."

"The jolly friend of everybody!" shouted an enthusiastic chorus of voices.

"Yes, but a shiftless rover, never settling down, Jack-of-all-trades, a meal today, none tomorrow—Houpla! Snowfoot!"

Everybody in town knew Snowfoot. He was a big built, gentle but strong and steady and belonged to Widow Brayton. Everybody, too, knew Widow Brayton and pitied her, for she was desperately poor and an invalid. There were two children, Ned a lad of eleven and Alma just turning sixteen. When the father died these two had stepped into the breach so far as their limited capacity of earning could count. Alma was receiving a mere pittance in a sort of apprenticeship to the village milliner. Ned, young as he was, earned ten dollars a week with old Snowfoot.

This was how he did it: A Mr. Dalby, sickly and a cripple, with his wife and a hired helper, ran a small farm a short distance from the Brayton place. There were fifteen cows, and he made a proposition to Mrs. Brayton to have Ned help milk these and supply the milk to regular customers. Mrs. Brayton had Snowfoot and a wagon, Ned was a loyal, enterprising lad, worked early and late and it looked as though the family was on the road to better times.

"As soon as I am able to trim hats instead of sewing braid only, we shall have all kinds of money, mother," Alma used to say.

Paul Dacre had dropped into Ferndale one morning early when Ned stood leaning in dismay over Snowfoot on the public street. Snowfoot had collapsed when some equine ailment came suddenly upon him and was lying prone upon the ground between the shafts, writhing and gasping.

"He's a goner" an old timer had pronounced.

"Let me see. I know considerable about horses," said Paul, coming up. He examined the eyes and mouth of the animal, took a pencil, wrote the names of two ingredients on a chip of wood and said: "Go to the drug store mix these powders in a quart of hot water and hurry back as fast as you can."

Ned sped away with the prescription. He returned with a steaming jar. Deft and skillful, the stranger administered the medicine. In five minutes old Snowfoot was regarding him with a look as though he fully comprehended his attention, and when he at length gained his feet he lovingly laid his cheek against Paul's shoulder.

They became great friends, those three. Then a new token of interest came into Paul Dacre's life. He naturally met Alma and they became quite friendly. Head-strong, erratic, ne'er-do-well as he was, there was something beautiful in his love for Ned and old Snowfoot. Paul did odd jobs in the town, but every morning he was on hand to help Ned get over his route.

As to Alma, he idolized her, and told her so. "Some day I'll make a fortune," he declared. "I'll make you all rich and you'll have so many suitors you can pick some prince or major general for the husband you deserve."

And now Paul, homeward bound, was surrounded by a crowd of juvenile admirers. He pretended to whisper in Snowfoot's ear. Immediately the clever animal he had trained in old-time circus tricks started running around in a ring. Paul described a running jump, to land squarely upon the back of the horse. A dozen times they sped around the ring. Then Paul made Snowfoot steal a handkerchief from his pocket, locate a hidden ear of corn and nod his head seven times when asked how many days there were in the week.

Paul stood spellbound with dread and doubt, when, late the next afternoon, he went up to the house to accompany Ned on his evening delivery rounds. Ned was seated on the step of the wagon, a picture of disconsolate dismay. From inside the house came the wailing of Mrs. Brayton. Alma came out wiping the tears from her eyes.

"Oh, Mr. Dacre," she cried, "Snowfoot is gone!"

"Gone!" repeated Paul, aghast.

"Yes, there was an old debt of poor dead father. It was beyond our power to pay it. Our creditor promised to wait, but two hours ago he appeared with the sheriff and a writ. They seized the horse, auctioned him off, and a man taking a string of horses to sell at the stock yards in the city bid in Snowfoot and drove him off."

Paul was speedy activity personified. He hurried to a neighbor and arranged for a horse until his return. "I'll get back Snowfoot if I have to go to jail for it!" he declared, and was off on the trail of the man with the market-bound string of horses.

It was the next morning when Paul reached the city and located the horse market at the stock yards, close on the heels of Snowfoot. He found where his favorite and some twenty other horses were housed in a pen, to be sold at auction the next morning.

Paul had but one idea, to make away with Snowfoot. He would wait till dark. Then his old friend should find freedom. Paul put in the time wandering about the great yards to finally come to a great building arched over with glass and just being completed. It was a vast auditorium, built to house farmers' conventions and stock shows. At one end was a stage. Nothing was yet set in place, and pulleyed ropes and platforms were suspended from the roof rafters, from which workmen were suspended putting in chandeliers and otherwise perfecting the lighting system.

About the middle of the building stood a well-dressed, important-looking man, holding his little four-year-old daughter by the hand. He was giving orders as to certain construction details to the contractors, and, Paul learned casually, was head officer of the cattle exchange, a man of enormous wealth who made a hobby of improved live stock.

His restive little daughter, a bright, lovely little midget, had taken advantage of her father's preoccupation and had run about fifty feet to the other end of the building. She had clambered up the steps leading to the stage and was running up and down the platform, pleased at the hollow echo of her pattering feet on the smooth boards.

"Hi, there!" suddenly rang out a frightful yell aloft. Within a flashing second of time the scene was one of indescribable confusion. The fusing lamp of one of the overhead workers had exploded. The dripping contents had scattered everywhere; up aloft the whole inside framework was ablaze. The burning liquid, dropping to the floor, had set a great heap of shavings, block and bench frames on fire.

Paul chanced to be near the stage. As he saw an impassable barrier of fire shut off the entire front end of the building he heard the vain shouts of the agonized father, beaten back by the curtain of fire, pleading for the rescue of his darling child. The brick wall behind the stage was solid. The fire was advancing to lick up the new framework. Paul ran to the child.

"Little one," he said hurriedly, "for papa's sake will you do just as I say? If I set you on my back with your arms around my neck, will you hold fast—fast?"

"But won't I burn?"

"You won't burn, darling. You shall be safe with your father in a jiffy, if you just hold on and never let go."

It was well that the old skill of his one-time trapeze experience held Paul Dacre in good stead now. The little one kept her word like a Trojan. She did not even whisper as, half way up one of the long ropes, a sweep of cinders came against them like a blast. Then they were at the rafters. Seizing a board, Paul smashed out a broad sash. Now they were on the roof. He drew up the eighty-odd feet of rope, let it trail down over the roof, and inch by inch descended down the slant, over the edge, and the gathered crowd cheered and grouped about the hero rescuer and the little child.

Paul Dacre did not have to steal Snowfoot to get him back home. He could have redeemed the animal had it taken thousands, for the father of the little Evaline could not sufficiently show his gratitude. He offered Paul the charge of a stock farm at a high salary. He even came down to the Brayton home to visit him. And Alma began to see the nobleness of character in the ex-circus rider. And little Evaline was showing Alma how she had clung to Paul the day of the fire, and putting out her hands drew the face of Alma close to her own.

And as it nestled there, the chubby hand drew that of Paul in loving contact, and Alma's eyes met those of Paul, and the revelation of perfect love was complete.

Lumber Raft to Cross Sea.

One of the marvels of the age, according to the marine authorities, an invention which will make possible the towing of 216,000 cubic feet of lumber safely across the Atlantic ocean, has been completed at a provincial port.

No matter how severe the storms or how dangerous the undertaking, the big raft is so constructed that it will be able to make the long trip without any possibility of loss or damage. Most of the machinery used in this initial craft can be used over again, and so the cost of construction, estimated at close to $30,000, will not affect the business end of the undertaking.

The lumber, said to be sorely needed on the other side, is valued at $150,000. The big raft has been under construction for several months, 70 men being employed all the time on the work of building it.

The Poultry Flock.

Reports recently gathered concerning 5,298 flocks of poultry show that the average number of hens per flock is 107, as compared with 146 in 191[illegible]. This information, which was obtained by an incubator manufacturer in the middle West, indicates that shortage of supply has been an important factor in producing present high prices for poultry and eggs.

Value of "Holding On."

The bulldog grip—the grace of holding on—is a powerful asset in any boy's life, declares a writer. A good many who start out with "Great Expectations," as Dickens puts it, peter out. A man past middle life brought some of his paintings to the great English painter, Rossetti, for examination and judgment. Rossetti was obliged to tell the man that the works were lacking in strength and power. Then the man drew out other paintings and drawings, saying that they were the work of a young student. Rossetti declared them full of talent and promise, and asked who the student was. The middle-aged man, with pathos in his voice, admitted that they were the products of his younger days. He had failed to live up to the promise and possibilities of his young manhood; he had failed to hold on to his ideals. It's a good plan to learn to "hold on."

An Apt Student.

A young woman who went to Columbia to take her degree of doctor of philosophy married her professor in the middle of her second year. When she announced her engagement one of her friends said:

"But, Edith, I thought you came up here to get your Ph.D."

"So I did," replied Edith; "but I had no idea I would get him so soon."

Defeat Backache and Kidney Trouble With Anuric

Many people in this section have suffered from rheumatism and kidney trouble and have found that Anuric was the most successful remedy to overcome these painful and dangerous ailments.

The lucky people are those who have suffered, but who are now well because they needed nature's warning signal in time to correct their trouble with that wonderful new discovery of Dr. Pierce's called "An-u-ric" (double strength). You should promptly heed these warnings, some of which are dizzy spells, backache, irregularity of the urine or the painful twinges of rheumatism, sciatica or lumbago. To delay may make possible the dangerous forms of kidney disease, such as stone in the bladder. If you want quick relief buy Anuric now (60c a package)—or send Dr. Pierce 10c for trial pkg. This will prove that "Anuric" eliminates uric acid as hot water melts sugar.

NEWS OF ST. PAUL

St. Paul, Minn.—"For years I suffered from disordered kidneys. My back ached terribly, also my head. I let it run on until just lately, when I read in the papers of Anuric, and having known of Dr. Pierce and some of his other medicines, I decided to try out this Anuric. I have been greatly benefited by it, and certainly advise everyone suffering as I did to take the Anuric Tablets."—MRS. F. E. MARSHALL, 1007 Gaultier St.

Dr. Pierce's reputation is back of Anuric and you know that his Pleasant Pellets for the liver and his Favorite Prescription for the ills of women have had a splendid reputation for the last 50 years.—Adv.

This Is Our Winter of Test

SERVING food is a local problem for each community. Prices and definite rules for every one cannot be formulated. It is a duty for each one to eat only so much as is necessary to maintain the human body healthy and strong. This winter of 1918 is the period when is to be tested here in America whether our people are capable of voluntary individual sacrifice to save the world. That is the purpose of the organization of the United States Food Administration—by voluntary effort to provide the food that the world needs.

U. S. FOOD ADMINISTRATION

NEED BIG HERDS

Europe's Meat Supply Must Come From America.

Warring Nations Have Depleted Live Stock at Enormous Rate, Even Killing Dairy Cattle For Food.

American stock breeders are being asked to conserve their flocks and herds in order to meet Europe's tremendous demands for meats during the war and probably for many years afterward.

The United States food administration reports that American stock raisers have shown a disposition to co-operate with the government in increasing the nation's supply of live stock.

Germany today is probably better supplied with live stock than any other European nation. When the German armies made their big advance into France and then retreated virtually all the cattle in the invaded territory — approximately 1,800,000 head—were driven behind the German lines.

But in England—where 2,400,000 acres of pasture lands have been turned into grain fields—the cattle herds are decreasing rapidly. One of the reasons apparently is the declining maximum price scale adopted by the English as follows: For September, $17.76 per 100 pounds; October, $17.28; November and December, $16.08; January, $14.40. The effect of these prices was to drive beef animals on the market as soon as possible.

In France the number of cattle as well as the quality have shown an enormous decline during the war. Where France had 14,807,000 head of cattle in 1913, she now has only 12,341,900, a decrease of 16.6 per cent. And France is today producing only one gallon of milk compared to two and one-half gallons before the war.

Denmark and Holland have been forced to sacrifice dairy herds for beef because of the lack of necessary feed.

Close study of the European meat situation has convinced the Food Administration that the future problem of America lies largely in the production of meat producing animals and dairy products rather than in the production of cereals for export when the war will have ceased.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT HELPS PAY FOR BREAD

There has been much misunderstanding about the bread program in England. It is true that the Englishman buys a loaf of bread for less than an American can, but it is poorer bread, and the British government is paying $200,000,000 a year toward the cost of it.

All the grain grown in Great Britain is taken over by the government at an arbitrary price and the imported wheat purchased on the markets at the prevailing market price. This is turned over to the mills by the government at a price that allows the adulterated war bread loaf of four pounds to sell at 18 cents, the two pound loaf at 9 cents and the one pound loaf at 5 [illegible]

BORN OF DESIRE FOR SPEED

From Earliest Ages Man Has Sought Methods of Transportation Other Than His Feet.

Doubtless the first form of constructive transportation was by the boat in the form of a float and our earliest and simplest conception is a man astride a log, propelling it by hand and foot.

The idea of propulsion stimulated to activity the inventive genius of man's mind, and we find him developing various modes of land conveyances. The camel was drafted into service with the elephant, the horse and other animals. Then came the sledge, the first of nature's own construction, simply a forked tree limb.

This gradually developed into a more perfect mode of conveyance, being mounted on rollers or logs, and here began the development of the axle and the wheel. The most primitive form of wheel was the simple roller made from a tree trunk, afterward differentiated into a pair of fixed wheels, by trimming down the middle portion of the cylinder in such a manner as to leave the center of the trunk as a rotating axle.

The next step was the substitution of two shorter sections of tree trunks attached to a rotating axle; flat, round cylinders of stone doubtless were used as well, and later a considerable advancement was marked by the substitution of the fixed axle on which the cylinders rotated.

The cart wheel similar to that which may today be seen in the remote districts of Mexico, is doubtless the next noteworthy advance, and from these primitive steps we find Aristotle and other Greek philosophers interesting themselves in these important advancements and earnestly agitating the minds of the mechanics of that period in the effort to stimulate even greater improvements.

USE MOVIES TO TEST EYES

If Pictures That Are Properly Focused Hurt, It Is Always Well to Consult an Oculist.

You can use the movies to test your eyes. If your optical organs are correct and normal you can go to the shadow theaters as much as you want without fear of harming the delicate mechanism of your eyes.

But if you see well-operated pictures, where the focusing is properly done, and find that your eyes hurt hunt an oculist; don't blame the movies, says Dr. C. A. Balm, writing on the annals of ophthalmology.

"There is no surer way to inform yourself of optical defects. The normal eye accommodates itself readily to the flitting films of high grade, while the subnormal eye makes its complaint very apparent after a steady focusing upon pictures.

"Persons with no defect of sight mechanism should be able to enjoy at the very least four sittings of from one and one-half to two hours' duration each per week without discomfort," says Doctor Balm. "No permanent harm has come or can come to eyes from well-focused motion pictures."

Barrier to Sight of Stars.

A theory gaining scientific acceptance is that in the void of interstellar space there is a substance which veils from our view the stars beyond a certain limit of distance. Consisting presumably of microscopic and widely scattered particles, it nevertheless makes a barrier to vision when distances are sufficiently great.

In other words, if we were far enough away from the sun there would be enough of these particles between ourselves and that luminary to render it invisible to us.

Dr. C. G. Abbott of the Smithsonian institution, said thus the estimated density of this substance is one trillionth of that of the air we breathe. Pretty thin, one might say. And yet a sphere (in space) whose radius was [illegible]

Varieties of Pearls.

Among the varieties of so-called pearls there are at times small dark grey or blackish pearls, which are more or less flattened and lack the jet-black luster and perfect shape of the so-called black pearls. These are true pearls, probably secured from pinna shell, and possess some small value. They may be easily distinguished from the false pearls by their color and shape. Very small round pearls of a golden luster are secured from a small avicula that has a beautiful golden luster on the inside. The avicula shell is usually less than six centimeters in diameter and I have never seen a pearl produced by this shell that was larger than a No. 8 shot. The big perfectly round yellow pearls offered for sale are usually frauds.

But, of course, in this regard it is possible to overdo. There are those who leave so quickly that they create a sense of abruptness and possibly of concern as well. Their departure may be followed by such remarks as "Why did he leave in that way?" or "Could she have been hurt about anything?"

WHEATLESS BISCUITS.

Parched cornmeal is the feature of these excellent wheatless biscuits. First, the cornmeal—one-half a cup—is put in a shallow pan placed in the oven and stirred frequently until it is a delicate brown. The other ingredients are a teaspoon of salt, a cup of peanut butter and one-and-a-half cups of water. Mix the peanut butter, water and salt and heat. While this mixture is hot stir in the meal which should also be hot. Beat thoroughly. The dough should be of such consistency that it can be dropped from a spoon. Bake in small cakes in an ungreased pan. This makes 16 biscuits, each of which contains one-sixth of an ounce of protein.

Nature.

The best definition of nature is perhaps Mill's in his "Three Essays on Religion." In that work Mill says, "Nature is a collective name for all facts, actual and possible, or a name for the mode, partly known to us and partly unknown, in which all things take place." Continuing, Mill says: "The nature of a thing means its entire capacity of exhibiting phenomena. As the nature of any given thing is the aggregate of its powers and properties, so Nature, in the abstract, is the aggregate of the powers and properties of all things."

Soup Eating Lost Art.

Owing to the high cost of ingredients soup eating may become a lost art. America today holds the medal for spectacular and musical soup eating. There is no nation so accomplished in the art of eating soup audibly as ours. No race of people extant can eat soup and keep up a steady conversation (without slopping it on its shirt bosom) as successfully as the American. A foreign writer once remarked that he dearly loved to hear an American eat soup. Some nations drink their broth and bouillon in silence or sop it up noiselessly with bread, thus robbing the process of all its interest. But America blows its broth cool, then musically sucks it from the spoon, allowing it to hit the base of the empty stomach with the chug of a pile driver. The way some of us strain soup through our mustaches is decidedly artistic. But, like many of the lost arts of our aborigines, the doom of soup eating is in sight.—Cartoons Magazine.

Thrown Out Of Court

The case of Edward Singer vs W. G. Hunt, was dismissed, after the jury had been called, Wednesday, owing to a faulty complaint. As this is the second dismissal of this case, it can not again be taken into court. The case of Stephen Singer against W. G. Hunt was dismissed on motion of the Plaintiff, which would give Stephen one more chance to get into court if he wants a bill of costs of about the same size as the one taxed against Edward this week. But he may be sure that none of the Singers will get another opportunity to drag the publisher of this paper into court. The articles complained of were published over a fight between Singers and Hunt over mail routes, in which we won out and got a daily mail route established for the accommodation of the people that has not got a Singer at either end of it.

And now we are willing to let the matter rest until they start more lawsuits digging up old dead cats, when we will promptly defend, both in court and THE SUNBEAM.

TO MUCH POLITCTS

Efforts to swing the States into line for a dry nation are now under way and Minnesota is included. At the same time the Minnesota leaders of the movement are working to put over the dry constitutional amendment which will be voted on next November. Liquor has sure had a hard row to hoe during the past ten years, but it is still very much on the job. Millions of dollars have been subscribed toward putting it out of business and thousands of people have reveled in soft jobs created for its suppression, still the consumption of the cup that cheers is undiminished. In Minnesota the temperance forces are badly split. Those interested in making the state dry are the prohibition party and the Anti-saloon League, but each refuses to recognize the other. Centralization of effort would mean the elimination of a number who thrive off the clamor for the suppression of John Barleycorn and such the leaders do not favor. Some day a longsuffering public will get wise and then, Look out!—Ex.

The people got wise in Iowa and Defeated the bone dry amendment and that is about what will happen in Minnesota.

Frenchman Invented Microphone.

The inventor of the fundamental principle of the microphone on the modern telephone is said to have been the Abbe Rouselot, a French phonetician, born at Saint Cloud (Charente) in 1846. He became a vicar and curate at Cognac and Jarrezac, then assistant professor of French philology at the Catholic Institute of Paris, and two years later he opened the first course of experimental phonetics ever established. In 1897 he was appointed director of the laboratory of experimental phonetics at the College de France, the plan for which originated with him. He is the inventor of phonetic instruments, the maker of several discoveries tending to cure deafness and stuttering and the author of a number of works on his specialty.

Salmon's Many Foes.

From the time the mother salmon, in answer to the primal urge, leaves the ocean, until the young return, the salmon faces and is preyed upon by more varied enemies than perhaps any other denizen of the deep. Man, bears, birds, eat the mature fish, as do also the hair seal and the sea lion. The eggs are a rich and eagerly sought food by trout and ducks and other fresh water fish and birds. The young fish, too, are preyed upon by many species of the larger fish. Yet in face of such tremendous odds the salmon for countless ages has maintained the balance of numbers largely in its favor.

ONE OF WORLD'S CURIOSITIES

Fir Tree in Belgium Has Characteristics Unlike Any of Its Kind So Far as Known.

What is claimed to be one of the most curious trees in the world was found in Belgium by M. Louis Pire, president of the Royal Botanical Society of Belgium. It is a fir tree, still standing at last account, in the forests of Allaz, Canton of Vaud.

"This particular tree," reports Professor Pire, "stands 4,500 feet above the sea and is surrounded by a forest of firs, which it exceeds in height by 30 to 40 feet.

"The trunk of this tree is ten meters, or a little more than thirty feet, in circumference at the base. At about a yard from the ground it puts out, on the south side, seven offshoots, which have grown into trunks as strong and vigorous as those of the other trees in the forest. Bent and gnarled at the bottom, these side-trunks soon straighten themselves up and rise perpendicularly and parallel to the main stem.

"Another most curious fact is that the two largest side-trunks are connected with the principal stem by subquadrangular braces resembling girders. These beams have probably been formed by an anastomosing of branches, which, common enough among the angio-sperms, is extremely rare among conifers."

Ben Franklin's Simple Diet.

It is amusing to read how Ben Franklin thrived on a biscuit, or a slice of bread, a handful of raisins, or a tart from the pastry cook and a glass of water, varied at times by boiled rice or a potato, or a hasty pudding of his own making. Upon this fare grew America's greatest statesman and the world's greatest philosopher. The rich and ambitious youth of these days would scorn such a diet, holding that it was the eating that made the man. But Benjamin not only saved time and money by his new diet, but as he says: "I made greater progress from that greater clearness of head and quicker apprehension which generally attended temperance in eating and drinking." This abstemious life did not seem to detract from his health, but rather contributed to his longevity, for he lived to be eighty-four years old.

Formation and Color.

The iridescence of nacre, or mother-of-pearl, is a matter of form and not actual color. In fact, all "changeable" colors are more or less the result of form even where there is pigmentation beneath, such as in certain ribbed silks. When sunlight bears directly upon finely ribbed metal, as a file, there is the same play of colors.

In the case of mother-of-pearl an interesting experiment has been made. An impression of the pearl was taken upon pure white wax. It was then found that the apparently smooth surface of the pearl had still sufficient irregularities to impress upon the wax a surface that resulted in similar color manifestations.—Edmin Tarrisse.

Regret Interference With Nature.

Australia is regretting the laws passed some years ago ordering the slaughter of hawks, owls, carrion crows or other birds that prey on young animals and birds, says a Sydney dispatch to the Cleveland Press.

These have now been almost wiped out, with the result, as described by a recent writer, that decaying bodies numerous on sheep farms have been left to be demolished by the larvae of blowflies, which, have now increased to such an appalling extent as to threaten the sheep on the runs with destruction, the animals becoming "flyblown" and eaten up alive by this dangerous pest.

The Opium Habit.

There are three different forms of taking opium. Some people, for example the Turks, eat it; others, like the Chinese, smoke it, while the inhabitants of more civilized countries usually drink it as laudanum. The drug is obtained from the unripe fruit of the common white poppy. Incisions are made in the heads of the plant, from which a creamy juice exudes, hardening on its exposure to the air. This is scraped off and made up into small cakes, in which form it is sold. The confirmed opium eater or smoker reduces himself to an indescribably wretched state of mind and body, and very seldom lives to be forty if the practice has been acquired at an early period in life.

Yiddish.

Yiddish is a term used to designate a language which is spoken at the present moment by some millions of people. Strictly speaking, Yiddish is not a language, nor a dialect, but a jargon—the jargon used by Judeo-German communities dwelling chiefly in Germany and Russia, and by the immigrants coming from those countries to the United States. Yiddish owes its existence to the persecution to which the Jews were subjected in Germany at the time of the Reformation. Its essential basis is high German, with an admixture of Hebraic and Slavic elements.

"At Chattanooga," said a veteran of the Civil war, "one of the men in my company left early in the action, and no one saw him till after the battle, when he appeared in camp unwounded and unabashed. Some of the boys accused him of running away, but he wouldn't admit it.

"'I only retreated in good order,' he declared.

"I heard of the matter, and a few days later I asked him if he had any idea how fast he had retreated.

"'Well, I'll tell you, cap'n,' he said. 'If I had been at home, and going after the doctor, folks that see me passin' would have thought my wife was right sick!'"—Harper's Monthly.

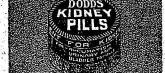
Says Dodd's Kidney Pills, Wonderful Remedy

Mrs. Della Olson, of New London, Wis., like many others, knows after experiencing the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills that they are unexcelled. Here is what Mrs. Olson recently wrote us:

"I suffered with rheumatism for years. There was a gravel deposit in the urine and I had frequent headaches. I had dark circles around my eyes and was always tired. I bought a box of your Dodd's Kidney Pills and am glad I did, for I secured quick relief and think they are a wonderful remedy."

Mighty few people realize in time that kidney trouble is making its advances upon their health. They put off treatment—they say, "Oh, I'll be all right in a day or two." And the malady tightens its grip. Result: Bright's Disease, hospital treatment, doctors' bills—often death.

When you have backache, dizziness, pain in loins, stiffness in stooping or lifting, spots before the eyes, sediment in secretions, rheumatic pains, or swollen joints, immediately start toning the kidneys by the regular use of the remedy endorsed by hundreds of users—DODD'S Kidney Pills.



Insist on the name with three D's and enjoy freedom from kidney ills. At all druggists.

DENTIST'S IDEA OF HUMOR

Seems Mean to Invite a Man to Lunch and Then Fix Him So He Can't Eat.

It was noon when we dropped into the dentist's office. The doctor greeted us cordially as we fell into his chair and prepared to submit ourselves to torture.

There was the usual clatter of instruments on the white tray as we opened our jaws and the dentist peered into them. This time his object of attention was the cavity from which he had recently extracted a tooth.

"What are you going to do after I get through?" said the doctor mildly.

Between his fist and his mirror we blurted out something about lunch.

"Go to lunch with me, will you?"

We nodded our assent and then it happened. Something that felt as big as a crowbar is and was as sharp as a new safety razor blade is supposed to be went up into the roof of our mouth. When we landed down again on the chair and the pain had eased off a trifle we started to laugh.

"You're good," we exclaimed. "Invite a man to lunch, and then fix him so he can't eat."—Detroit Free Press.

Wouldn't Keep Sugar He Found.

Washington has another honest man. He's Edward B. Maddox, who, after suffering for the last two months from the sugar famine, turned 340 pounds of the "precious stuff" over to the Washington police. He had found a barrel of granulated sugar near the substation of the Potomac Electric company. Evidently the barrel had been dropped by a truck. Maddox has been able to get less than two pounds of brown sugar a week, he said. The amount of sugar he found, on the war basis, would have lasted him four years. He was not regretful, however, that he had turned the sugar over to the police to find its rightful owner.—Washington Times.

Physicians' Deaths.

As an example of how malicious and seemingly innocent is German propaganda in the United States may be cited the rumors and the actual facts about mortality among the allied physicians at the western front.

Recently the actual statistics were produced, which showed that the battle risks of a physician are scarcely more than those of civil life. Between the beginning of the war and June 25, 1917, only 195 French and English doctors have been killed, 707 wounded and 62 cut down by disease.

UNLIKE other cereals Grape-Nuts requires only about half the ordinary quantity of milk or cream Likewise because of its natural sweetness it requires no sugar. Grape-Nuts the ready cooked food, is an all-round saver.

"There's a Reason"

WILSON SAYS WAR TO END THIS YEAR

ASSERTS CRISIS HAS COME AND URGES FARMERS TO RAISE BIG CROPS.

ADDRESS READ AT URBANA

President Sets Forth Need of Self-Sacrifice in Record Production—Tells Ruralists 1917 Mark Must Be Passed.

Washington, Feb. 1.—"The culminating crisis of the struggle has come. The achievements of this year on one side or the other must determine the issue."

Thus President Wilson warned the farmers of the country. The message was delivered by President James of the University of Illinois in the absence of Secretary of Agriculture D. F. Houston, who was to have represented the president at the farmers conference at Urbana. The president had expected to attend, but indisposition made it impossible and he delegated Mr. Houston, who was prevented from participating by the railroad tieup. The president's message said:

"I am sorry indeed that I cannot be present in person at the Urbana conference. I should like to enjoy the benefit of the inspiration and exchange of counsel which I know I should obtain but in the circumstances it has seemed impossible for me to be present and therefore I only can send you a very earnest message expressing my interest and the thoughts which such a conference must bring prominently into every mind.

Facing Great Task.

"I need not tell you for I am sure you realize as keenly as I do that we are as a nation in the presence of a great task which demands supreme sacrifice and endeavor of everyone of us. We can give evrything that is needed with the greater willingness and even satisfaction because the object of the war in which we are engaged is the greatest that free men have ever undertaken.

War Cause Is Righteous.

"You will not need to be convinced that it was necessary for us as a free people to take part in the war. It had raised its evil hand against us. The rulers of Germany had sought to exercise their power in such a way as to shut off our economic life so far as our intercourse with Europe was concerned and to confine our people within the Western hemisphere while they accomplished purposes which would have permanently impaired and impeded every process of our national life and have put the fortunes of America at the mercy of the imperial government of Germany.

Whole Future at Stake.

"We are fighting, therefore, as truly for the liberty and self-government of the United States as if the war of our own revolution had to be fought over again, and every man in every business in the United States must know by this time that his whole future fortune lies in the balance. Our national life and our whole economic development will pass under the sinister influence of foreign control if we do not win. We must win, therefore, and we shall yin. I need not aesk you to pledge your lives and fortunes with those of the rest of the nation to the accomplishment of that great war.

This Year Will Decide War.

"You will realize as I think statesmen on both sides of the water realize, that the culminating crisis of the struggle has come and that the achievements of this year on the one side or the other must determine the issue. It has turned out that the forces that fight for freedom of men over the world as well as our own depend upon us in an extraordinary and unexpected degree for sustenance for the supply of the materials by which men are to live and to fight and it will be our glory when the war is over that we have supplied those materials and supplied them abundantly and it will be all the more glory because in supplying them we have made our supreme effort and sacrifice.

Farmers Paramount Factors.

"In the field of agriculture we have agencies and instrumentalities, fortunately, such as no other government in the world can show. The department of agriculture is undoubtedly the greatest practical and scienific agricultural organization in the world. The banking legislation of the last two or three years has given the farmers access to the great lendable capital of the country and it has become the duty both of the men in charge of the federal reserve banking system and of the farm loan banking system to see to it that the farmers obtain the credit, both short term and long term, to which they are entitled not only, but which it is imperatively necessary should be extended to them if the present tasks of the country are to be adequately performed. Both direct purchase of nitrates and by the establishment of plants to produce nitrates the government is doing its utmost to assist in the problem of fertilization.

Giving Farmers Every Aid.

"The department of agriculture and other agencies are actively assisting the farmers to locate, safeguard and secure at cost an adequate supply of sound seed. The department has $2,500,000 available for this purpose now and has asked the congress for $6,000,000 more.

"The labor problem is one of great difficulty and some of the best agencies of the nation are addressing themselves to the task of solving it so far as it is possible. Farmers have not been exempted from the draft. I know they would not wish to be. I take it for granted they would not wish to be put in a class by themselves in this respect. But the attention of the war department has been very seriously centered upon the task of interfering with the labor of the farms as little as possible, and under the new draft regulations I believe farmers of the country will find their supply of labor is much less seriously drawn upon than it was under the first and initial draft, made before we had our present full experience in these perplexing matters.

Americans Best Producers.

"And let me say that the stimulation of the agencies I have enumerated has been responded to by the farmers in splendid fashion. I dare say you know the farmers of the country are as efficient as any in the world. They do not produce more per acre than the farmers of Europe. It is not necessary. It would perhaps be bad economy. But they prodcce three or four times more per man, per unit of labor and capital, than the farmers of any European country. They are more alert and use more labor saving services. And their response to the demands of the present emergency has been remarkable. Last spring their planting exceeded by 12,000,000 acres the largest planting of any previous year. The crops were record breaking yields. Last fall a wheat acreage of 42,170,000 was planted, which was 1,000,000 larger than for any preceding year, 3,000,000 greater than the next largest, and 7,000,000 greater than the preceding five year average.

Must Outdo 1917 Records.

"But it is not only necesary that these achievements should be repeated, but that they should be exceeded. I know what it involves. It involves not only labor but sacrifice, the painstaking application of every bit of scientific knowledge and every tested practice available. It means utmost economy, even where the pinch comes. It means the kind of concentration and self-sacrifice which is involved in the field of battle itself, where the object always looks greater than the individual. And yet the government will help, and help in every way possible.

Farmers Are Protected.

"The impression that while the government has sought to fix prices of foodstuffs, it has not sought to fix other prices which determine the expenses of the farmer is a mistaken one. The government has actively and successfully regulated prices of many fundamental materials underlying all the industries of the country and has regulated them not only for purchase of the government but also for the purchase of the general public, and I have every reason to believe the congress will extend the powers of the government in this even essential matter, so that profiteering which is showing itself in too many quarters may be effectively checked. In fixing prices of foodstuffs the government has sincerely tried to keep the interests of the farmer as much in mind as the interests of the communities which are to be served, but it is serving mankind as well as the farmer and everything in these times of war takes on the rigid aspect of duty.

Farmers Are Not Slackers.

"I will not appeal to you to continue and renew and increase yocr efforts. I do not believe that necessary. I believe you will do it without appeal from me, because you understand as well as I the needs and opportunities of this great hour when the fortunes of mankind everywhere seem about to be determined and when America has the greatest opportunity she has ever had to make good her own freedom and in making it good to lend a helping hand to men struggling for their freedom everywhere. You remember that it was farmers from whom came the first shots at Lexington, that set aflame the revolution that made America free.

"I hope and believe that the farmers of America will willingly and conspiculously stand by to win this war also. The toil, their intelligence, the energy, the foresight, the self-sacrifice and devotion of the farmers of America will, I believe, bring to a triumphant conclusion this great last war for the emancipation of men from the control of arbitrary government and the selfishness of class legislation and control, and then, when the end has come, we may look each other in the face and be glad that we are Americans, and have had the privilege to play such a part."

"SOCIAL REVOLT IN EUROPE"

Bolshevikl Prepares to Support "Coming Upheaval."

Petrograd, Feb. 1.—An official statement issued by the bolsheviki government says that the "New workmen's and peasants' red army will serve to support the coming social revolution in Europe."

"A hard fight for peace remains," said the government telegraph bureau.

"Peace probably will not be concluded in the Casino at Brest-Litovsk, but in the streets of Vienna and Berlin—if the Russian revolution does not betray the principles under which it was born, and refuses to compromise with the Hohenzollerns and Hapsburgs."

Seeks Fact of Teuton Uprising.

Washington, Feb. 1.—The most important events in the history of the war are believed impending in the Teuton empires. Withholding official comment on reports of great strikes in Germany and Austria, uprisings against the government in Austria-Hungary, revolt of the Czechs and Socialists in the Austrian army and destruction of vast quantities of war supplies in both countries, the State department is utilizing every source to learn the truth.

Rations Cost Boosted By War.

Washington, Feb. 1.—Increases in living costs have sent army and navy substistence bills soaring. The bureau of labor statistics has made public a comparison of prices pair for feeding soldiers and sailors showing that the army ration costs 33.25 cents daily, or $121.36 annually while the navy ration costs 43.81 cents daily and $159.91 annually. The daily army ration was 27.99 in 1916 and the annual ration was $102.17. The navy ration in 1916 was 37.66 cents daily.

FOOD CONTROLLER OF CANADA GIVES WARNING

Food Production Should Be Increased at All Cost.

In his letter to the public on the 1st of January, Hon. W. J. Hanna, Canada's Food Controller, says:—

"Authoritative information has reached me that food shortage in Europe is terribly real, and only the sternest resolve on the part of the producers, and equally stern economies on the part of all as consumers, can possibly save the situation.

"France last year had a crop between one-third and one-half that of a normal year. Women did the work of draught animals in a determined effort to make the impoverished soil of France produce every possible ounce of food. They now look to us to make up their deficiency of essential supplies.

"The harvest in Italy was far below normal and will require much larger supplies to feed her people until next harvest.

"It is impossible for the allies to spare many cargo carriers to transport foodstuff from India, Australia, New Zealand and even the Argentine Republic. This means that the allied nations are practically dependent upon North America to supply them with the food which must be forthcoming if terrible suffering is to be avoided and the fighting efficiency of the armies maintained.

"On December 1, the United States had not a single bushel of wheat for export, after allowance was made for domestic requirements on the basis of normal consumption, and the United States Food Administration is endeavoring to bring about a reduction of 20 per cent in home consumption of wheat and flour. This would release 100,000,000 bushels for export, but the Allies will require nearly five times that amount before the 1918 harvest.

Canada is the only country in the world, practically accessible to the Allies under present conditions of shipping shortage, which has an actual exportable surplus of wheat after allowance for normal home requirements. The surplus today is not more than 110,000,000 bushels. A reduction of 20 per cent in our normal consumption would save an additional 10,000,000 bushels for export. The outlook for production of food stuffs in Europe next year is distinctly unfavorable.

"Such is the situation—grave beyond anything that we thought possible a few months ago. Unless our people are aroused to a realization of what the world shortage means to us, to our soldiers and to our Allies, and of the terrible possibilities which it entails, disaster is inevitable.

"Production, too, must be increased to the greatest possible extent. Present war conditions demand extraordinary efforts, and every man, woman, boy or girl who can produce food has a national duty to do so.

"I am confident that when the people of this country realize that the food situation is of utmost gravity they will willingly adjust themselves to the necessities of the case and make whatever sacrifices may be required. The call which is made upon them is in the name of the Canadian soldiers at the front, the allied armies, and the civilian populations of the allied nations who have already made food sacrifices to an extent little realized by the people of this country."

Here is an appeal made by a man, upon whom rests the great responsibility of assisting in providing food for the allies and the soldiers at the front, who are fighting the battles in mud and blood. It cannot be ignored. At home we are living in luxury and extravagance inclined to idleness and forgetfulness. This must cease. We must save and produce. Our lands must be tilled no matter where it may be, in Canada or the United States. It is our duty to cultivate. Splendid opportunities in the United States are open for further cultivation of lands. Western Canada also offers opportunities in high producing lands at low prices. Decide for yourself where you can do the most good, on land in the United States or in Canada, and get to work quickly.—Advertisement.

The State Safety Commission adjourned without taking definite action on petitions for an order closing Minnesota saloons and breweries during the war. Members said the proposal will be given further consideration at the next meeting.

A verdict of not guilty was returned in the Minneapolis district court by a jury in the case of Harry Reichert, owner of a saloon, charged with extortion. Reichert was alleged to have promised immunity from fires to A. Z. Fitterman, owner of a bottling works.

Many cars of hay and straw are being distributed among settlers in Northern Minnesota through State Public commission's agencies, according to S. W. Frazier, special director, and as a result many dairy and beef cattle are being saved from forced slaughter.

Bemidji citizens and others of Beltrami county will have the opportunity Tuesday, Feb. 26, to hear first-hand of the food conditions in France and England, when Julius Lincoln, who was Herbert Hoover's personal representative in these coutries, will speak in the city.

According to A. D. Wilson, director of agricultural extension and federal food administrator of Minnesota, the plan of the Federal government to organize a farm bureau association and place an agricultural agent in every county by Feb. 1, 1918, has made wonderful progress. According to late reports, all but nine counties in the state have complied with the plan.

Corporal John McArdle of Sandstone, Minn., and Miss Catherine Connlie, of Red Granite, Wis., were married at St. Paul's Episcopal church at Waco, Tex. Mr. McArdle's parents reside at Sandstone, and he is one of their three sons who are serving their country. For the past two years or until they joined the army he was employed at Red Granite, where he met the young lady, who traveled to Texas to become his bride.

Until the authorities can reach a decision as to whether William Scramlin of Weyburn, Sask., was murdered at Mankato, or whether he slipped on icy steps and fell and fractured his skull, two strangers in the city, book canvassers, are being held. One has a black eye, thought to have been inflicted by Scramlin during a controversy. The coroner's jury found that Scramlin might have come to his death by violence or accident.

Every business house in Osakis was closed on heatless Monday and the men took to the woods for the day. Saws, axes and sleds on which to pile wood chopped made up the working equipment. Later in the day they were followed by the women, who met at the home of a loyal farmer who supplied the timber tract from which the wood was cut and opened his home for their entertainment. The wood cut by the "soft handed" businessmen was delivered to needy people and churches.

A modern electric corn testing machine has been added to the equipment of the Wells high school for the benefit of the farmers of that section, and testing of seed is now under way under the direction of A. E. Engebretson, agricultural instructor.

A service flag has been unfurled with appropriate exercises at the Lincoln high school at Thief River Falls. The banner contains 72 stars, one for each of the former students of the institution who are now serving their country in either army or navy.

Vincent Kills, a fireman in the Winona department, set a new record for the city by finishing a knitted Red Cross sweater in five days. The garment, it is said by women in charge, is more expertly made than any other yet offered the chapter.

The Minnesota Home Guard will be doubled in the spring if pending requests for new organizations, planned in various communities, are granted by the State Public Safety commission. There are now 49 Home Guard companies in the state and a like number of towns are seeking recognition, 40 having formal appliction on file.

Suit for $14,860 has been started by the state of Minnesota against the Lion Bonding and Surety company of St. Paul in connection with the cutting of timber from state lands by James Richardson, Crookston, Minn., for whom the company was surety. Richardson is alleged to have cut a large amount of timber which was not included in the first scaling given by the state auditor.

Federal aid funds available for roads under the Bankhead law to be received this year in Minnesota will amount to $853,041, which includes $425,865, the apportionment for 1918. This fund is apportioned among the counties on a 50-50 basis, the county putting up the same amount for road improvements as it receives from the federal funds. This money also is expended under the direction of the commissioner of highways.

OLD PRESCRIPTION FOR WEAK KIDNEYS

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfil the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says, "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy that I know of has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmers' Swamp-Root is due to the fact that, so many people claim, it fulfils almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Adv.

DOCTOR URGED AN OPERATION

Instead I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Was Cured.

Baltimore, Md.—"Nearly four years I suffered from organic troubles, nervousness and headaches and every month would have to stay in bed most of the time. Treatments would relieve me for a time but my doctor was always urging me to have an operation. My sister asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before consenting to an operation. I took five bottles of it and it has completely cured me and my work is a pleasure. I tell all my friends who have any trouble of this kind what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—NELLIE B. BRITTINGHAM, 609 Calverton Rd., Baltimore, Md.

Had Kidney Trouble From Childhood and Was Discouraged. Doan's, However, Brought Health and Strength.

Mrs. C. Anderson, 4104 W. 22nd St., Chicago, Ill., says: "I had kidney trouble from childhood and three years ago a severe spell developed. If I stooped, a terrible pain took me in the small of my back, and for several minutes I couldn't straighten. Often at night the pain in my back was so bad I had to prop myself up with a pillow. It seemed as if my back would break. Watery sacs formed under my eyes and my feet were so swollen I had to wear slippers. Sudden dizzy spells came on and pains in my head drove me almost frantic.

Mrs. Anderson

"I felt tired and weak and had hardly enough ambition to move. Nothing seemed to help me and I was discouraged until I commenced taking Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured me completely and my health has been of the best ever since. Doan's surely deserves my endorsement." Sworn to before me,

USE LESS WHEAT IS EDICT GIVEN BY WILSON

NEW FOOD CODE EFFECTIVE NOW

America Put On War Bread Diet By Proclamation of President Wilson.

TO HELP ALLIES IS AIM

Government Depends Upon American Women to See That New Food Rules Are Obeyed—Two Wheatless Days Weekly.

Washington, Jan. 29.—As a part of a war rationing system prescribed by President Wilson, and the food administration, the American people have gone on a war bread diet. "Victory bread," the food administration calls it.

The reduced rations are asked to create a larger export surplus of food for the European Allies. Curtailment of consumption will be accomplished largely by voluntary effort, but force will be employed wherever permitted under the food control act.

The rationing system, as presented by the President in a proclamation and by Food Administrator Hoover in a list of regulations, forms the food administration's 1918 food conservation program.

The Regulations.

The food administration has issued this statement:

"The following is a summary of the rules that have been formulated by the United States food administration, with the approval of the President, in order to effect the further conservation in foodstuffs necessary to support the Allies and our own armed forces over the next four months. These rules are effective from the morning of Monday, Jan. 28.

Rests With People.

"The effectiveness of these rules is dependent solely upon the good will of and the willingness to sacrifice by the American people. In the last analysis the success or failure of any plan such as here outlined rests with the people. We are dependent upon the co-operation of the trades. We have but one police force—the American woman—and we depend upon her to organize in co-operation with our state and local food administrators to see that these rules are obeyed by that small minority who may fail. Part of the rules will be enforced under the Lever food act; other parts are voluntary and will depend for their success upon public sentiment. Our experience hitherto has shown a willingness of the vast majority of consumers and a full co-operation of the trades, to undergo the self-sacrifice necessary to render such measures effective. The small minority who refuse to co-operate should not be allowed to defeat the nation's necessities.

Equal Purchases Asked.

"1. As their part in reducing the consumption of wheat flour, the consumers of the country are called upon, in purchasing such flour to buy at the same time an equal weight of the other cereals (cornmeal, cornstarch, corn flour, oatmeal, rolled oats, buckwheat flour potato flour, sweet potato flour, soya bean flour and feterita flours and meals.) The housewife may use these products separately in making bread, cakes and pastry, or mix them as she thinks best. Retailers are to sell wheat our only with an equal weight of these other cereals.

Bakers to Supply Mixed Breads.

"2. Consumers will be able to obtain mixed cereal bread from their bakers, who will be required under the license regulations to mix 5 per cent (5 per cent) of other cereals with their wheat flour. both in bread and rolls and will be required gradually to increase this substitution until beginning Feb. 24, a minimum of 20 per cent of such cereals is to be used. The food administration strongly urges on consumers the buying of this bread, which will be known as Victory bread, and will contain not less than 20 per cent of cereals other than wheat. Graham or whole wheat bread will also be given that name, because, containing as they do, 25 per cent more of the wheat grain than ordinary white bread, they, too, will serve the purpose of saving wheat flour.

"If you bake bread at home use wheat substitutes; if you buy it, buy only Victory bread.

White Flour Use Curtailed.

"3. Manufacturers of macaroni, spaghetti, noodles, crackers, breakfast foods, pie, cake and pastry are not to purchase to exceed 70 per cent (70 per cent) of the wheat flour they used during the corresponding months of 1917. These manufacturers will be performing a patriotic service by using cereals other than wheat in their productions.

"4. Wholesalers will be required under license regulations not to buy more than 70 per cent of their purchases of flour from millers as based on their purchase for the corresponding months of the preceding year and their sales to the retail trade must be in the proportion of one pound of wheat flour to one pound of other cereals, this being in the same proportion in which the seller sells to the consumer unless the wholesalers satisfies himself that the substitutes have already been purchased from another source.

CHIEF PROVISIONS OF NEW U. S. FOOD CODE

A BAKER'S BREAD OF MIXED FLOURS, a 5 per cent substitution of other cereals for wheat until a 20 per cent substitution is reached Feb. 24.

SALE BY RETAILERS TO HOUSEHOLDERS of an equal amount of substitute flours for every pound of wheat flour purchased at the time the wheat flour is bought.

SALE BY MILLERS TO WHOLESALERS and wholesalers to retailers of only 70 per cent of the amount of flour sold last year.

TWO WHEATLESS DAYS A WEEK—Monday and Wednesday—and one wheatless meal a day.

ONE MEATLESS DAY A WEEK — Tuesday — and one meatless meal a day.

TWO PORKLESS DAYS A WEEK—Tuesday and Saturday.

No Profiteering.

"A ruling has been made that in making any combination sales under this program, dealers shall name a price for each of the articles so sold which shall not represent more than a normal pre-war profit on any one of the articles sold.

"5 Millers of flour are to distribute their output through their customary channels and markets in such a manner that each city, town and district may receive its usual proportion. The wheat millers have been required to produce one barrel of flour (196 pounds) from 264 pounds of wheat. This is a white flour and represents from 2 per cent to 4 per cent higher extraction than from last year's harvest.

Two Wheatless Days.

"6. To assist further in conservation, Monday and Wednesday of each week are to be observed as wheatless days and one meal of each day as a wheatless meal. This applies both in the home and in the public eating place and on such days and meals no crackers, pastries, macaroni, breakfast food or other cereals containing wheat should be used. The only exception to this is such small amounts of flour as may be needed for thickening soups or gravies or as a binder in cornbread or other cereal breads.

"7. On wheatless days and at wheatless meals, the food administration urges that bread baked in the home be other than wheat bread. Where bread is purchased either for use in public eating places or in the home, Victory bread should be used, if no wheat substitutes can be found.

State Chief to Name Meal.

"The federal food administrator in each state will announce the meal to be observed as a wheatless meal in his state. If no meal is designated, the United States food administration prefers that the evening meal be wheatless.

"8. It is further desired, in order that meat and pork products be conserved, that one meatless day (Tuesday) in every week, and one meatless meal in every day, be observed, and, in addition, two porkless days (Tuesday and Saturday) in every week, be strictly kept. By 'meatless' is meant without hog, cattle or sheep products. On other days use mutton and lamb in preference to beef or pork. By 'porkless' is meant without pork, bacon, lard or other pork products, fresh or preserved. Use fish, poultry and eggs.

"9. For local situations where exceptions are necessary application should be made to the state food administrators."

STOPPING UP LOOPHOLES

Rules for Heatless Monday Are Tightened.

Washington, Jan. 28.—Fuel Administrator H. A. Garfield has tightened holiday Monday regulations to stop up loopholes for evasion and obtain "100 per cent compliance" with the fuel order.

Rulings and interpretations were given, both with the idea of reducing fuel use and checking discrimination against places closed in favor of those remaining open because other parts of the building in which they were located were exempted.

The exemption of one or more offices in a building does not exempt the balance of the building. The spirit of the order is that heat should be turned off the nonexempt offices.

Hotel, cigar and news stands may not sell cigars, cigarets or tobacco. All news stands, cigar and stationery stores may remain open only for the purpose of selling newspapers and periodicals.

Lodges and fraternal orders with Monday night meetings are exempt and entertainments advertised on or before Jan. 19 may be held as planned.

"The sale of liquor everywhere should be discontinued on Monday," Dr. Garfield ruled, "to accord with the spirit of the order."

Five Years' Sentence for Woman.

PRESIDENT PUTS U. S. ON WAR DIET

Issues Proclamation Calling On People To Cut Wheat Consumption Further.

BURDEN ON AMERICA

Reduced European Productivity and Destruction of Shipping Increases Load Which U. S. Must Carry, Says Executive.

Washington, Jan. 29.—Calling upon the people to make their greatest effort toward coservation of food for the Allies, President Wilson has issued a proclamation in which he says the reduced productivity of Europe, the partial failure of crops and the destruction of shipping have placed practically the entire burden upon the shoulders of this country.

The message follows:

A Proclamation.

Many causes have contributed to create the necessity for a more intensive effort on the part of our people to save food in order that we may supply our associates in the war with the sustenance vitally necessary to them in these days of privation and stress. The reduced productivity of Europe because of the large diversion of man-power to the war, the partial failure of harvests and the elimination of the more distant markets for foodstuffs through the destruction of shipping places the burden of their subsistence very largely on our shoulders.

The food administration has formulated suggestions, which if followed will enable us to meet this great responsibility, without any real inconvenience on our part.

30 Per Cent Reduction Asked.

In order that we may reduce our consumption of wheat and wheat products by 30 per cent—a reduction imperatively necessary to provide the supply for overseas—wholesalers, jobbers and retailers should purchase and resell to their customers only 70 per cent of the amounts used in 1917.

All manufacturers of alimentary pastes, biscuits, crackers, pastry and breakfast cereals should reduce their purchases and consumption of wheat and wheat flour to 70 per cent of their 1917 requirements, and all bakers of bread and rolls to 80 per cent of their current requirements.

Consumers should reduce their purchases of wheat products for home preparation to, at most, 70 per cent of those of last year, or when buying bread should purchase mixed cereal breads from the bakers.

To provide sufficient cereal food, homes, public eating places, dealers and manufacturers should substitute potatoes, vegetables, corn, barley, oats and rice products and the mixed cereal bread and other products of the bakers which contains an admixture of other cerals.

In order that consumption may be restricted to this extent, Mondays and Wednesdays should be observed as wheatless days each week and one meal each day should be observed as a wheatless meal.

In both homes and public eating places, in order to reduce the consumption of beef, pork and sheep products, Tuesday should be observed as a meatless day in each week, one meatless meal should be served in each day, while in addition Saturday in each week should further be observed as a day upon which there should be no consumption of pork products.

It is imperative that all waste and unnecessary consumption of all sorts of foodstuffs should be rigidly eliminated.

Maintenance of Health Necessary.

The maintenance of health and strength of our own people is vitally necessary at this time and there should be no dangerous restriction of the food supply, but the elimination of every sort of waste and the substitution of other commodities of which we have more abundant supplies for those which we need to save, will in no way impair the strength of our people and will enable us to meet one of the most pressing obligations of the war.

I, therefore, in the national interest, take the liberty of calling upon every loyal American to take fully to heart the suggestions which are being circulated by the food administration and of begging that they be followed. I am confident that the great body of our women who have labored so loyally in co-operatoin with the food administration for the success of food conservation will strengthen their efforts and will take it as a part of their burden in the national service to see that the above suggestions are observed throughout the land.

A FIGHT FOR LIFE

It has been fight or die for many of us in the past and the lucky people are those who have suffered, but who are now well because they heeded nature's warning signal in time to correct their trouble with that wonderful new discovery of Dr. Pierce's called "An-u-ric." You should promptly heed these warnings, some of which are dizzy spells, backache, irregularity of the urine or the painful twinges of rheumatism, sciatica or lumbago. To delay may make possible the dangerous forms of kidney disease, such as stone in the bladder.

To overcome these distressing conditions take plenty of exercise in the open air, avoid a heavy meat diet, drink freely of water and at each meal take Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets (double strength). You will, in a short time, find that you are one of the firm indorsers of Anuric, as are thousands of neighbors.

Step into the drug store and ask for a 60c package of Anuric, or send Dr. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 10c for trial pkg. Anuric, many times more potent than lithia, eliminates uric acid as hot water melts sugar.

AMERICAN SUGAR SENT TO FRANCE

American Price Rigidly Regulated by United States Food Administration.

CONSUMERS HERE PAY 9c.

Sugar Cost 35 Cents a Pound During Civil War—Refiners' Profits Now Curtailed.

Sugar is selling today throughout America at from 8½ to 9 cents a pound to the consumer, even though there is a world shortage which has reduced this nation's sugar allotment to 70 per cent. of normal.

Through the efforts of the United States food administration the sugar market has been regulated as far as the producer, refiner and wholesaler is concerned. The food administration has no power to regulate retail prices except by public opinion. Even though more than 85,000 tons of sugar have been shipped to France in the last four months the retail grocer's sugar price is around 8 to 8½ cents. He should sell this sugar at 8½ to 9 cents, the food administration believes, and asks the American housewife to pay no more than this amount.

Last August when the food administration was organized the price of sugar rose suddenly to 11 cents a pound. During the Civil War sugar cost the consumer 35 cents a pound. By regulation of the sugar market and reducing the price to 8½ and 9 cents and keeping it from advancing to 20 cents the food administration has saved the American public at least $180,000,000 in four months, according to a statement made by Herbert Hoover the other day.

"It is our stern duty to feed the allies, to maintain their health and strength at any cost to ourselves," Mr. Hoover declared. "There has not been, nor will be as we see it, enough sugar for even their present meagre and depressing ration unless they send ships to remote markets for it. If we in our greed and gluttony force them either to further reduce their ration or to send these ships we will have done damage to our abilities to win this war.

"If we send the ships to Java for 250,000 tons of sugar next year we will have necessitated the employment of eleven extra ships for one year. These ships—if used in transporting troops—would take 150,000 to 200,000 men to France."

Reason for World Shortage.

As Mr. Hoover pointed out, the United States, Canada and England were sugar importing countries before the war, while France and Italy were very nearly self supporting. The main sources of the world's sugar supply was Germany and neighboring powers, the West Indies and the East Indies.

German sugar is no longer available, as it is used entirely in Germany, which also absorbs sugar of surrounding countries.

England can no longer buy 1,400,000 long tons of sugar each year from Germany. The French sugar production has dropped from 750,000 to 210,000 tons. The Italian production has fallen from 210,000 tons to 75,000 tons. Thus three countries were thrown upon East and West Indian sources for 1,925,000 tons annually to maintain their normal consumption.

Because of the world's shipping shortage the allied nations started drawing on the West Indies for sugar; East Indian sugar took three times the number of ships, since the distance was three times as great. Suddenly the west was called on to furnish and did furnish 1,420,000 tons of sugar to Europe when 300,000 tons a year was the pre-war demand. The allies had drawn from Java 400,000 tons before the shipping situation became acute.

"In spite of these shipments," Mr. Hoover stated the other day, "the English government in August reduced the household sugar ration to a basis of 24 pounds per annum per capita. And in September the French government reduced their household ration to 13 2-10 pounds a year, or a bit over 1 pound of sugar a month. Even this meagre ration could not be filled by the French government it was found early in the fall. America was then asked for 100,000 tons of sugar and succeeded in sending 85,000 tons by December 1. The French request was granted because the American household consumption was then at least 55 pounds per person, and it was considered the duty of maintaining the French morale made our course clear."

FARM FOR SALE

Owing to ill health I will sell my Homestead farm on section 5 Town of Deer Park at a sacrifice.

Address Owner,
Miss Lena Sande,
Georgetown, Minn.

Today the sugar situation may be summarized by stating that if America will reduce its sugar consumption 10 to 15 per cent. this nation will be able to send 200,000 more soldiers to France.

Sugar today sells at seaboard refineries at $7.25 a hundred pounds. The wholesale grocer has agreed to limit his profit to 25 cents a hundred plus freight, and the retail grocer is supposed to take no more than 50 cents a hundred pounds profit. This regulation was made by the food administration, which now asks the housewife to reduce sugar consumption as much as possible, using other sweeteners, and also reminds her that she should pay no more than 9 cents a pound for sugar.

Control of Cane Refiners' Profits.

"Immediately upon the establishment of the food administration," Mr. Hoover said, "an examination was made of the costs and profits of refining and it was finally determined that the spread between the cost of raw and the sale of refined cane sugar should be limited to $1.30 per hundred pounds. The pre-war differential had averaged about 85 cents and increased costs were found to have been imposed by the war in increased cost of refining, losses, cost of bags, labor, insurance, interest and other things, rather more than cover the difference. After prolonged negotiations the refiners were placed under agreement establishing these limits on October 1, and anything over this amount to be agreed extortionate under the law.

"In the course of these investigations it was found by canvass of the Cuban producers that their sugar had, during the first nine months of the past year, sold for an average of about $4.24 per hundred f. o. b. Cuba, to which duty and freight added to the refiners' cost amount to about $5.66 per hundred. The average sale price of granulated by various refineries, according to our investigation, was about $7.50 per hundred, or a differential of $1.84.

"In reducing the differential to $1.30 there was a saving to the public of 54 cents per hundred. Had such a differential been in use from the 1st of January, 1917, the public would have saved in the first nine months of the year about $24,800,000."

Next Year.

With a view to more efficient organization of the trade in imported sugars next year two committees have been formed by the food administration:

1. A committee comprising representatives of all of the elements of American cane refining groups. The principal duty of this committee is to divide the sugar imports pro rata to their various capacities and see that absolute justice is done to every refiner.

2. A committee comprising three representatives of the English, French and Italian governments; two representatives of the American refiners, with a member of the food administration. Only two of the committee have arrived from Europe, but they represent the allied governments. The duties of this committee are to determine the most economical sources from a transport point of view of all the allies to arrange transport at uniform rates, to distribute the foreign sugar between the United States and allies, subject to the approval of the American, English, French and Italian governments.

This committee, while holding strong views as to the price to be paid for Cuban sugar, has not had the final voice. This voice has rested in the governments concerned, together with the Cuban government, and I wish to state emphatically that all of the gentlemen concerned as good commercial men have endeavored with the utmost patience and skill to secure a lower price, and their persistence has reduced Cuban demands by 15 cents per hundred. The price agreed upon is about $4.60 per hundred pounds, f. o. b. Cuba, or equal to about $6 duty paid New York.

"This price should eventuate," Mr. Hoover said, "is about $7.30 per hundred for refined sugar from the refiners at seaboard points or should place sugar in the hands of the consumer at from 8½ to 9 cents per pound, depending upon locality and conditions of trade, or at from 1 to 2 cents below the prices of August last and from one half to a cent per pound cheaper than today.

"There is now an elimination of speculation, extortionate profits, and in the refining alone the American people will save over $25,000,000 of the refining charges last year. A part of these savings goes to the Cuban, Hawaiian, Porto Rican and Louisianian producer and part to the consumer.

"Appeals to prejudice against the food administration have been made because the Cuban price is 34 cents above that of 1917. It is said in effect that the Cubans are at our mercy; that we could get sugar a cent lower. We made exhaustive study of the cost of producing sugar in Cuba last year through our own agents in Cuba, and we find it averages $3.39, while many producers are at a higher level. We found that an average profit of at least a cent per pound was necessary in order to maintain and stimulate production or that a minimum price of $4.37 was necessary, and even this would stifle some producers.

"The price ultimately agreed was 23 cents above these figures, or about one-fifth of a cent per pound to the American consumer, and more than this amount has been saved by our reduction in refiners' profits. If we wish to stifle production in Cuba we could take that course just at the time of all times in our history when we want production for ourselves and the allies. Further than that, the state department will assure you that such a course would produce disturbances in Cuba and destroy even our present supplies, but beyond all these material reasons is one of human justice. This great country has no right by the might of its position to strangle Cuba.

"Therefore there is no imposition upon the American public. Charges have been made before this committee that Mr. Rolph endeavored to benefit the California refinery of which he was manager by this 34 cent increase in Cuban price. Mr. Rolph did not fix the price. It does raise the price to the Hawaiian farmer about that amount. It does not raise the profit of the California refinery, because their charge for refining is, like all other refiners, limited to $1.30 per hundred pounds, plus the freight differential on the established custom of the trade.

"Mr. Rolph has not one penny of interest in that refinery."

MONK FIRST TO USE CORK

Discovery That Is Universally Made Use Of Was the Result of Chance.

The discovery of cork for stoppers is ascribed to the monk Dom Perignon, who managed the cellars of the abbey of Haut Villiers in 1675. One day he ran short of the usual stoppering, which was pads of hemp or cloth steeped in oil, and being something of a botanist, he had noticed that the outer layer of the bark of certain species of the oak tree was of comparatively soft wood. He procured some of this porous material and shaped it so that it would fit into some partially fermented bottles of wine.

Later, on opening the bottles he found that the effect of the confined carbonic acid gas which this new stopper did not allow to escape acted on the wine so as to make it effervesce. From then on for a long time it was supposed that this phenomena was due to the action of the cork on the wine, and effervescing or hissing wine became the rage. Enterprising merchants saw the possibilities of this wood, and they introduced it for general purposes as stoppers.

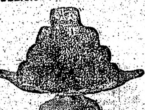
DELICIOUS CORN MUFFINS.



Here's an old fashioned recipe for corn muffins that has recently been revived and used with unusual success in several of the larger New York hotels: To make three and a half dozen muffins take one quart milk, six ounces butter substitute, twelve ounces of light syrup or honey, four eggs, pinch of salt, two ounces baking powder, one and a half pounds cornmeal and one and a half pounds rye flour. The butter and syrup should be thoroughly mixed; then add the eggs gradually. Pour in the milk and add the rye flour mixed with cornmeal and baking powder.

Yellow was originally adopted by the woman suffragists as their color because of the suffrage victory in Kansas in 1887. A REALISTIC ANSWER.

The Sentry Didn't Have to Go Into Details With the Officer.

During one of Haig's attacks on the Hindenburg line a "Minnie" had come over and knocked all the stuffing out of a sentry. He staggered to his feet—except for the tremendous shaking, practically unhurt—fighting for breath which he could not get back for some minutes. While he was so standing a young officer, newly out, turned the corner of the trench. There was a heavy bombardment on. The unexperienced young officer, not knowing what had happened and seeing the sentry rifleless (his rifle had been blown many yards away), knees bent, body limp, eyes half out of his head and mouth (half full of dust) gaping open like a loosened sack head, inquired, "Well, what's the matter with you?"

The man tried to answer, but had no breath to do so, and, knocked silly as he was by the shock, gaped helplessly and idiotically at the officer, who said again, this time more sharply, "What's the matter with you?"

At that moment over came another "Minnie," falling sufficiently near the officer to serve him exactly as the previous one had served the sentry. As half blinded, wholly smothered and three-quarters stunned the officer stumbled to his feet the sentry ran forward to help him up. Then, standing the regulation two paces away, the sentry came smartly to attention and, ceremoniously saluting, said: "Beg pardon, sir, I couldn't answer before, but that's what was the matter with me."—London Chronicle.

CORN WILL WIN DEMOCRACY'S WAR

America's Greatest Cereal Crop Is Now Moving to Market.

MAINSTAY IN NATION'S CRISIS.

Surplus Wheat of the United States Has Been Sent to Famine Threatened Europe.

America's great corn crop, exceeding 3,000,000,000 bushels, will save the world's food situation, officials of the United States food administration believe.

Corn is the nation's best food cereal, housewives are beginning to realize. It contains all the elements needed to keep the body in a state of health and when used according to the scores of tried recipes, especially when combined with an added portion of oil or fat, will sustain life indefinitely. Indian warriors in colonial days lived on parched corn alone for many days at a time, and at Valley Forge parched corn was at times the sole ration of the Continental soldiers.

Owing to transportation difficulties caused by the war the corn crop moved more slowly to market this year than ever before. Now, however, the cereal is reaching the millers and consumers. In the meantime the nation's surplus wheat has been sent to Europe.

Today there are approximately 30 bushels of corn for every American. This quantity is greater by five bushels than in former years.

Corn has become the nation's mainstay in the crisis of war.

Just as this cereal saved the first American colonists from famine on many occasions, just as it served as a staple food during the War of the Revolution and during the Civil War, King Corn has again come to the front in the nation's battle with autocracy.

Corn meal is finding greatly increased use in the making of ordinary white bread. Hundreds of housewives and many of the larger bakers are mixing 20 per cent. corn meal with wheat flour to make leavened bread. This kind of a mixture is worked and baked in the same recipes and with the same methods that apply to straight wheat bread.

Corn bread—using corn meal entirely—is gaining a greater popularity than ever before. Housewives are coming to realize that every pound of wheat saved in America means a pound of wheat released for shipment to the nations with which America is associated in the war.

There are a score of corn products that today possess unusual importance for Americans. Corn syrup for sweetening corn cakes and buckwheat cakes and for use in the kitchen instead of granulated sugar is one of the leading products made from corn.

Corn oil, excellent for frying and for every other purpose filled by salad oils, is appearing on the market in large quantities. It comes from the germ of the corn.

MADE-IN-GERMANY LIES CIRCULATED IN CANADA

Canada is also having trouble with Made-in-Germany lies calculated to hinder Canadian food conservation according to an official statement received from the Canadian food controller by the United States food administration.

The stories bothering Canada are of the same general character as those the United States food administrator recently denounced in this country, such as the ridiculous [illegible] in a battalion of soldiers.

"Stories without even a vestige of foundation have been scattered broadcast," said the Canadian statement. "Nor have they come to life casually. They have started simultaneously in different parts of the country and in each instance have been calculated to arouse public indignation.

"They are insidious, subtle, persistent. Bit by bit they dissipate public trust, the great essential in the work of food control.

"It lies with every individual to forbear from criticism; to refrain from passing on the vagrant and harmful story, and thus the more effectively to co-operate in work which is going to mean more than the majority of people yet realize."

WASH THE KIDNEYS!

All the blood in the body passes thru the kidneys every few minutes. This is why the kidneys play such an important role in health or disease. By some mysterious process the kidney selects what ought to come out of the blood and takes it out. If the kidneys are not good-workmen and become congested—poisons accumulate and we suffer from backache, headache, lumbago, rheumatism or gout. The urine is often cloudy, full of sediment; channels often get sore and sleep is disturbed at night. So it is that Dr. Pierce, of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute in Buffalo, N. Y., advises "Washing the Kidneys," by drinking six to eight glasses of water between meals and then if you want to take a harmless medicine that will clear the channels and cure the annoying symptoms, go to your druggist and get Anuric (double strength), for 60c. This "Anuric," which is so many times more potent than lithia—will drive out the uric acid poisons and bathe the kidneys and channels in a soothing liquid.

If you desire, write for free medical advice and send sample of water for free examination. Experience has taught Doctor Pierce that "Anuric" is a most powerful agent in dissolving uric acid, as hot water melts sugar.

Send Dr. Pierce 10c for trial package.

SENSE OF GUILT IN ANIMALS

Proof That They Know When They Are Doing Wrong, and Seek to Evade Consequences.

In military stables horses are known to have pretended to be lame in order to avoid going to a military exercise. A chimpanzee had been fed on cake when sick. After his recovery he often feigned coughing in order to procure dainties.

The cuckoo, as is well known, lays its eggs in another bird's nest, and, to make the deception surer, it takes away one of the other bird's eggs. Animals are conscious of their deceit, as is shown by the fact that they try to act secretly and noiselessly; they show a sense of guilt if detected; they take precautions in advance to arouse discovery; in some cases they manifest regret and repentance. Thus, bees which steal hesitate often before and after their exploits, as if they feared punishment.

A naturalist describes how his monkey committed theft. While he pretended to sleep the animal regarded him with hesitation, and stopped every time his master moved or seemed on the point of awakening.

Increased Respect.

DEATH LIST PUT AT 166 BY BRITISH

Report Four U. S. Officers And 143 Enlisted Men Lost On Tuscania.

CAPITAL STILL IN DARK

Admiralty Says That Bodies of 126 American Soldiers Have Been Recovered—Washington Figures Vary.

London, Feb. 9.—Revised figures indicate that the loss of life on the Tuscania probably was considerably in excess of earlier estimates of 101. It is now believed complete returns will show the number of dead to be nearer 200 than 100. As the list of Americans on board the Tuscania was lost when the vessel went down, it will be impossible to ascertain the names of those lost until the names of the survivors have been cabled to the United States.

An Irish Port, Feb. 9.—The bodies of 44 of the missing 101 victims of the Tuscania disaster have been washed up on the rocks 15 miles from the scene of the torpedoing. All were Americans and their bodies were mutilated beyond recognition. Although all the soldier victims wore tags, no identification numbers had been put on them because these Americans had not as yet been assigned to definite army units. Therefore there is no way to identify them and they will be buried in one grave.

London, Feb. 9.—The British admiralty has informed the Associated Press that latest figures available on the Tuscania, torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine, showed 2,235 persons had been saved and about 166 were missing, of whom 147 were American soldiers—four officers and 143 enlisted men.

The saved, it was added, included 113 American officers and 1,917 American men; 16 officers and 183 men of the crew, and six passengers.

The bodies of 126 American troops have been recovered .

Of 148 survivors landed on the Scottish coast, 134 belonged to the United States army, including seven officers. Of these, one officer and 25 men are remaining where they landed to attend to funeral arrangements for American dead.

Washington Figures Vary.

Washington, Feb. 9.—Seventy-two hours after the Tuscania was torpedoed and sunk the War department last night still was unable to relieve increasing anxiety of relatives of those on board by announcing the list of survivors.

Even an unofficial report on circumstances attending the sinking was lacking and official figures still failed to accord with press accounts of the number lost.

The War department has had nothing to change the report that 210 persons were missing, 113 of them being American soldiers.

Despite realization that the loss was remarkably small, considering the number carried by the liner, the revised report of the British admiralty was received here with bitter disappointment. Press dispatches Thursday night indicating that the dead all told might not exceed 100 had led to the hope that possibly not more than 50 of the soldiers had perished.

Washington, Feb. 8. — Carrying 2,179 American soldiers, the Cunard liner Tuscania has been torpedoed off the Irish coast, but late official reports said 2078 of the officers and men had been saved, indicating the loss of 101 lives. These reports suggested the list of rescued might prove even larger.

The troops were composed chiefly of detachments of Michigan and Wisconsin National guardsmen.

The Tuscania is a British vessel, and was under convoy of British warships.

Greater Loss First Reported.

A brief dispatch to the War department from London early in the evening announced the disaster and reported the landing of only 1,100 survivors and for more than two hours it was feared that probably 1,400 men, including members of the liner's crew, had gone down.

When a message came to the State department from the embassy at London later saying 1,912 of the Americans had been accounted for, the joy of officials almost swept away the distress occasioned by the earlier news.

The first 1,100 survivors were landed at Larne and Buncrana, two widely separated Irish ports, and this, coupled with the evident fact that rescue ships were quickly at hand gave rise to hope that nearly everybody on board the Tuscania except those injured by the explosion might have been saved.

List of Units Aboard.

Because of the nature of the military organizations carried by the ship the War department announced that it would be impossible to say definitely what troops were aboard until the list of survivors was received. Later, however, the adjutant general's office made the list public. It follows:

170th Engineer train; 107th Enginee train; 107th Military police; 107th Supply train; No. 100 Aero squadron; 158th Aaro Squadron; 213th Aero Squdron; Replacement detachments Nos. 1 and 2 of the 32nd division; Headquarters Detachment and Companies D, E, and F of the 20th Engineers; the 32nd division is composed of National guard of Michigan and Wisconsin. The division trained at Camp McArthur, Texas.

Thus, all the soldiers are former Wisconisn and Michigan guardsmen except those in the aero squadron, who probably were recruited from all parts of the country.

First Ship With Troops.

The Tuscania was the first ship carrying American troops to Europe to be sunk by German submarine, but the American transport Antilles was torpedoed and sunk in the war zone while returning to the United States from France and 14 soldiers were lost, with 156 other persons, including several members of the naval armed guard.

Ship Bound for England.

Since then, however, there has been no report of an attack on a ship carrying American troops to Europe.

Recently the Navy department has feared that the Germans would make a concentrated effort to intercept transports and the call of many of the submarines to their bases being interpreted as preliminary to a campaign.

The position of the Tuscania when she was sunk is taken to indicate that she was bound to England. Her sinking definitely discloses that British ships are being used to carry American troops abroad, supplementing American transport tonnage.

Story of Eyewitness.

London, Feb. 8.—Survivors of the Tuscania, United States transport ship sunk by a torpedo from a German submarine, asserted that two torpedoes were fired. The first passed just astern of the vessel, while the second struck in the vicinity of No. 1 boiler.

The behavior of the greater part of the soldiers and members of the crew was splendid.

A few of them became excited, hindering the lowering of the boats. In some cases the entire crews were thrown out while the boats were being lowered. Other boats were let down hurriedly on men who were swimming around the liner. Many casualties were occasioned in this way.

Within Sight of Land.

The Tuscania, one of a convoy of troop and provision ships which after a long voyage across the Atlantic, was entoring what until recently were considered comparatively safe waters, was within sight of land, which was just distinguished in the dusk of evening, when the torpedo hit it amidships.

The transport steamer took a heavy list, which made proper lowering of the boats impracticable. Many men jumped into the sea. Others were thrown into the water when the boats were lowered.

An eyewitness—a passenger on one of the vessels near the transport—said the captain of the ship saw the wake of the torpedo and diverted the course of his own steamer successfully.

The Tuscania was signalled: "Torpedo coming. Dodge!" The transport started to turn, but was caught broadside, not having had time to swerve into the clear. The Tuscania was hit a little astern of midships.

AWAITING DEATH LIST ANXIETY GRIPS NATION

British and American wireless stations were searching the remotest points in Ireland and Scotland in the hope of locating further survivors from the ill-fated ship.

No attempt has been made by the War department to prepare a list of the lost or missing. Only the names of a few survivors have been received and indications are that names of survivors would continue to come in slowly as they are assembled in Ireland by representatives of the War, State and Navy departments.

Finland Forces Route Red Guard.

Stockholm, Feb. 7.—General Mannerheim, commanding government forces in Finland that were organized to enforce the authority of the Finnish diet, has defeated the Finnish Red Guard and the Russians at Uleaborg and taken possession of the city. This is the most important victory yet scored by the White Guard, as Uleaborg was the chief military depot of the Russians in northern Finland and contained stores of military [illegible] and artillery.

Beating U-Boats, Daniels Declares.

Washington, Feb. 8.—Secretary Daniels said the United States and the Allies were winning the fight against Germany's submarines. "We are having our ups and downs," he said, "but the fight is being won." The results of the anti-submarine campaign might be described as pendulum like, Mr. Daniels said, with the return swing becoming shorter and shorter as the Allies gradually perfected their operations. The secretary expressed optimism regarding the conditions.

NEWS OF STATE TERSELY TOLD

Recent Happenings In Minnesota Given In Brief Items For Busy Readers.

Minneapolis.—F. L. Howard was held up at Twenty-fifth street and Eleventh avenue south by two masked men who relieved him of $1.50 and his watch.

Stillwater.—All of the mail carriers of the city have taken up knitting sweaters for the local Red Cross, many having already made good progress along that line.

Chisholm.—Over 40 families must move their houses from Pig Town between April 1 and 15 to make way for the extension of mining operations in the Tioga mine, which are now under way.

Moorhead. — Thrift Stamp day at Concordia college resulted in the collection among the students of the college of a total of $1,700 to be used in the purchase of government thrift stamps.

Winona.—H. S. Bolcomb, for many years a lumberman of Winona and for the last 10 years an operator of a lumber company at Seattle, Wash., died Jan. 31, according to a message received here.

St. Cloud.—A new building for the Melrose district school, four miles west of Melrose, has been suggested owing to the fact that the school is rapidly growing in number of pupils. There are 70 pupils now.

East Grand Forks. — Government civil service examinations for clerks in the departmental service will be held at the postoffice on Feb. 15, and on Feb. 16 there will be examinations for clerks in the field service.

St. Paul.—Frank A. Weld, president of the state normal school, Moorhead, has been appointed chairman of Governor Burnquist's school aid commission. J. P. Vaughan, superintendent of schools, Chisholm, is secretary.

Crookston.—Word has been received from Los Angeles, Cal., of the death of John R. Becker, a former resident of this city. Mr. Becker spent his boyhood in Crookston, his father being engaged in the ice business.

Mankato.—More than 1,500 persons heard F. Ostensachen, former Prussian nobleman, at the loyalty rally here. He condemned the philosophy of militarism which exists in Germany and pointed out the restrictions which that government places on its inhabitants.

Duluth. — Slowly but surely the stocks of anthracite coal on the docks at the head of the lakes are being depleted, and according to C. P. Craig, chairman of the Duluth fuel administration board, only the greatest economy in its consumption can prevent a shortage in the spring. The bituminous coal situation is slightly better.

Moose Lake.—J. L. Thomas, engineer of the locomotive which crashed into a bus load of school children here, was exonerated from blame for the accident and the killing of seven children and injuring of 17 others. Thomas almost broke down while on the stand at the inquest. Two months ago his engine struck and killed two men driving an automobile over a crossing at Willow River.

Minneapolis.—"Lutherans in Minnesota will be called on to raise $100,000 for social and religious work among American soldiers and sailors in this country and abroad," S. H. Holstad announced on his return from Pittsburgh, where he represented Western synods at a meeting of the National Lutheran commission for soldiers' and sailors' welfare. "Statistics showed that Minnesota has the second largest number of Lutherans of any state in the Union, Pennsylvania leading," Mr. Holstad said.

St. Paul.—Brewery owners and liquor distributors of St. Paul were taken by surprise by the action of the State Public Safety commission in extending the bone dry order, but none who was interviewed could give in detail an opinion as to how far the order will affect his business. All admitted that the order necessarily will prevent the shipment of considerable liquor and beer which heretofore has been permitted in the 54 counties now made bone dry by the commission's latest order.

Fairmont.—Chris Schmidt, German alien of Truman, was arrested on two charges of disloyalty and County Attorney Allen said a dozen counts could be brought against him. He was held to the grand jury in $2,000 bail. The complaints charged that Schmidt advised a drafted man not to go to the war till he had to and that he stated "the United States had no reason to go to war with Germany. You ought to have a government like we have in Germany." Schmidt makes no pretense of being loyal, saying he is German and favors Germany in the war.

Duluth.—The shortage of substitutes for wheat flour is making it impossible for Duluth bakers to follow out the government's war bread order. Cornmeal and barley flour, the chief substitutes, practically are called off the market because there has been such a big demand for them and because most of the mills have machinery for making wheat flour only.

St. Paul.—An order for 2,000 box cars to be sent into Southern Minnesota to move corn in storage has been issued by the federal car service board. Notice was given the state railroad and warehouse commission.

Duluth.—Ernest La Due, [illegible] old, nationally known mining and lumberman, died here. He was born in Calumet, Mich.

Litchfield.—The Equity Co-operative Exchange of St. Paul has opened an office at Litchfield, for the purpose of buying cattle for shipment to the exchange.

Wadena.—An organizer for the Nonpartisan league appeared in Wadena and attempted to arrange for a meeting of the organization in Wadena village, but failed.

International Falls.—The county exemption board sent a Greek to Camp Dodge at the request of the registrant, who volunteered his services and gave his residence as Hibbing.

Hinckley.—C. Voris, pastor of the Presbyterian church, resigned after a successful pastorate of four years. He goes to Two Harbors as pastor of the Presbyterian church there.

St. Cloud.—At St. John's university the students have taken a hearty interest in co-operation with the authorities to comply with the wishes of the government in food saving.

Bemidji.—Mrs. E. H. Smith, Mrs. C. W. Jewett, Attorney E. E. McDonald, F. S. Lycan and F. B. Lamson were appointed on the civic relief committee by the executive committee of the Bemidji Red Cross chapter.

St. Paul.—Two bandits, who a month ago held up seven persons in St. Paul, are under arrest and have made full confession, according to a statement by J. J. O'Connor, chief of police.

Mankato.—A. H. Schroeder has sold his 240-acre farm to S. A. Ludeman for $32,435. The purchaser is a former Iowa man. This farm is located at Waldorf, Waseca county, and is considered a splendid piece of land with good buildings.

Bemidji.—By a decision of Judge Stanton this city wins its suit against the Minnesota Light & Power company. The ruling of Judge Stanton means that the company is restrained from increasing the expense to consumers of light $1.10 per month.

Ada. — Funeral services were held here for Henry L. Anderson, 29, whose remains were shipped here from Jefferson Barracks, Mo. Short service were held at the Henry Storslie residence, after which services were held at Our Savior's church, Rev. Hinderlie preaching in English, and Rev. Brekke in Norwegian.

St. Paul. — Investigations of accidents in which nine school children were killed and 20 others were injured when busses in which they were riding to school were struck by trains near Nelson and near Moose Lake have been ordered by the state railroad and warehouse commission.

Bemidji.—When the Beltrami county district court convenes Feb. 11 one of the first criminal cases to be called will be against Roland Henrionnet, who will face a charge of murder in the first degree for alleged slaying of Oscar Nelson, young teller of the Northern National bank, after a controversy over enlistment on Nov. 15.

Duluth.—When Thomas Wood, said to be the heaviest man in Northern Minnesota, appeared for physical examination for the draft, it was found that the government scales could not operate when loaded with his huge physique. He was taken to the city weighmaster and on the 10-ton scales his weight was recorded at 502 pounds.

Virginia.—The efforts of agitators to stir up trouble among woodsmen, many of whom are getting out lumber to be used by Uncle Sam in his fight for democracy, appears to have fizzled out. Deputy sheriffs who returned here from the north woods bring back rosy stories of conditions and of the continuing at work with only a few quitting.

Fairmont. — Lemuel Wickham, an 80-year-old recluse, was found frozen to death in his bed when police officers broke into his shack, following information that he had not been seen for several days. Wickham, who had lived in his little shack for nearly 40 years, is believed to have frozen to death one night recently, when the thermometer registered nearly 35 below zero.

Mankato.—The Southern Minnesota contest of the State Discussion league of high schools took place in this city and was won by Melvin Meirbachtol of Faribault, with Thomas Phelps of Rochester and Earl Loomis of St. Peter tied for second place. Schools represented were those of Mankato, Faribault, Rochester, St. Peter, Waseca, Kasson and Fulda. The subject was, "How shall the world be organized so as to prevent wars in the future?"

St. Paul.—Charge of a deliberate attempt to blow up the St. Regis apartment here which might have caused the death of scores of persons living in the 50 flats was made by V. E. Patnaude, state boiler inspector. The janitor, an Austrian, who had taken out his first papers, was discharged. Mr. Patnaude declared that at 4 a. m. the boilers had been full of water but that two hours later they were completely drained by some one who deliberately turned a valve.

Olivia.—Painters and employes of the Krause Mercantile company of Olivia worked all day removing a coat of yellow paint applied to the company's building the previous night by unidentified persons. This is the first time paint has been applied in Olivia although in other parts of the state paint has been applied to pro-German enterprises. No motive has been assigned by local authorities for the paint party.

Keep Yourself Fit

You can't afford to be laid up with sore, aching kidneys in these days of high prices. Some occupations bring kidney troubles; almost any work makes weak kidneys worse. If you feel tired all the time, and suffer with lame back, sharp pains, dizzy spells, headaches and disorderd kidney action, use Doan's Kidney Pills. It may save an attack of rheumatism, dropsy, or Bright's disease. Doan's have helped thousands back to health.

A Minnesota Case

Every Picture Tells a Story

Anthony P. Kern, R. R. No. 7, Faribault, Minn., says: "I suffered from kidney trouble from infancy. My life was a burden. I had such dizzy spells that I hardly realized where I was. I was tired and worn out and my back got terribly lame after a day's work. I kept growing worse until I was a total wreck. After I used Doan's Kidney Pills the ailments gradually left me until I was well. Doan's gave me a new lease on life."

I. W. W. LEADERS PLOT SABOTAGE

U. S. Agents Bare Plot For Nation-Wide Plan to Overthrow Government.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED

Wholesale Destruction of Industries And Shipping, Fomenting Strikes and Hampering Draft Included In Program.

Washington, Feb. 11—Wholesale destruction of industries and shipping and other interference with the prosecution of the war have been planned by Industrial Workers of the World on the Pacific coast, it is said at the department of justice.

The indictment of 55 at Sacramento by a federal grand jury is the result of recent investigations by government agents, who discovered that leaders were plotting systematic sabotage.

The investigation was a direct result of the recent attempt to blow up the governor's residence at Sacramento. Agents discovered a nest of plotters, whose activities extended throughout the Pacific coast territory.

In addition to blowing up factories, plotters had planned to foment strikes among workmen engaged in war industries, destruction of fruit trees and crops and destruction of ships being built in yards along the coast.

Fifty-five Are Indicted.

Sacramento, Feb. 9.—An indictment charging 55 persons with conspiring with William D. Haywood, secretary of the Industrial Workers of the World, and others to hinder execution of laws of the United States, in prosecution of the war with Germany, has been returned by the United States grand jury.

The indictment alleged the defendants had entered into a general conspiracy with the other 300,000 members of the I. W. W. to overthrow the government and carry on a "widespread campaign of sabotage."

Assistant District Attorney Johnson said that evidence "had revealed acts of sabotage in many sections of the United States.

He said the campaign was aimed at the destruction of railways and crops.

U. S. AGENTS CAPTURE SPY

Confesses to Employment By German Government.

An Atlantic Port, Jan. 11.—A German spy was reported to have been found among 40 first and second cabin passengers of the Dutch liner Nieuw Amsterdam, who were detained by federal agents for examination.

After 12 thin sheets of paper, covered with letters and figures of a code had been found upon him, the man is said to have confessed that he was in the pay of the German government and had come here in order to furnish spies operating in this country with the new code.

He is also said to have stated that he received a large sum of money for undertaking the mission, but refused to give the names of the persons to whom the code was to be delivered.

The man was said to be a naturalized American citizen of Dutch and German origin.

Liquor Shipment Prohibition Beaten.

Columbia S. C., Feb. 9.—The South Carolina senate, by a majority of three votes, defeated a bill passed by the house of representatives prohibiting the shipment of any whisky or other alcoholic liquors into South Carolina for any purpose. Both houses already have adopted the national constitutional prohibition amendment.

ROOSEVELT IS BETTER; OUTLOOK ENCOURAGING

New York, Feb. 9.—Marked improvement during the preceding 24 hours in the condition of Col. Theodore Roosevelt was indicated in a bulletin issued by physicians attending him at Roosevelt hospital. The bulletin said:

"Dr. Buel called on Col. Roosevelt at 8:15 o'clock. Col. Roosevelt has had a very comfortable day and is progressing favorably in every way. Temperature and pulse have been normal during the day and the violent symptoms of his internal ear inflammation are subsiding rapidly. The outlook is very encouraging."

Turkey Pledges Support for War.

Amsterdam, Feb. 9.—"While we are aware of the great value of peace Turkey will never conclude a separate peace at any price," Halil Bey, new Turkish foreign minister, declared in an address before the chamber, according to a Constantinople dispatch. Halil said Turkey was in complete agreement with Hertling and Czernin and added: "We will hold on until some concrete success is attained. We will make only such concessions as are compatible with our honor and national dignity."

A KLONDIKE TO THE REAL FARMER

A Western Canada Crop Estimated at $12,000, Makes $19,000.

Messrs. Harris, formerly of Audubon, Iowa, wrote the "Audubon Advocate" expressing their satisfaction of things in Western Canada. They located at Makepeace, Alberta. They say there are those who make good, and those who fail. The former are those that land agents refer to when advertising their land. "But," continues the letter, "A great many of the farmers in this vicinity pay for their land with their first crop. A man near here bought a section of land in the year 1915 for $23 per acre. He broke 300 acres of the land during the summer of 1915. In the fall of 1916 he threshed 16,000 bushels of wheat, which paid for his land, all expenses and had a balance of $4,000. In the fall of 1917 he threshed nearly as much off the other half of the section. At the present time he would not take $50 per acre for his land.

"We have had five crops in Alberta. The two dry years (1914-1917) our wheat made 20 and 30 bushels to the acre respectively. In 1916 we raised 50 bushels of wheat to the acre on summer fallow. The best results are obtained by plowing or breaking in the summer, working it down in the fall so that it will retain the moisture. Thus farming one-half your ground each year.

"Persons owning land here and still living in the States should, if they don't feel themselves able to come up here and finance themselves until they could get their first crop, get some of their land broken and worked down in the fall before they come. The next spring they could come and put in the crop, fence and put up their buildings. This way they have to wait only one summer for their first crop.

"It is not advisable for a person to come here in the spring, break out land and put it in crop the first year, because the moisture is not in the ground and a failure is almost certain unless it is an exceptionally wet year.

"One of the boys from that locality, Mr. Peder M. Jensen came to Alberta last spring. He bought a 30-60 Rumely Oil-Pull engine on the 8th day of June, 1917. After that date he broke 1,100 acres of prairie sod for which he received an average of $5.00 per acre.

"Mr. Hansen from your community, was up here last fall with several prospective land buyers from that neighborhood. At that time he inquired the value of the crop on the section we were farming. We told him that it would probably make in the neighborhood of $12,000. This same crop when sold brought nearly $19,000. The most of it being sold when prices were low for the year."—Advertisement.

Win the War by Preparing the Land
Sowing the Seed and Producing Bigger Crops
Work in Joint Effort the Soil of the United States and Canada
CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a son we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interest.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than April 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

The torpedoing of the American Transport ship Tuscania last week, and the loss of about 100 American Soldiers on their way to France has given the American traitors an opportunity to howl; "I told you so." While this loss is sincerely regretted by true American Patriots, it will have no more affect on the prosecution of the war than a pint of water thrown into Red Lake River.

VERY GOOD ADVICE

Wouldn't the senate be more likely to gain public approval and applause if it would spare a little time from the absurd cross-examination of Secretary Baker, which is keeping him from his vitally important work and use it to analyze the case of LaFollette?

Surely a senate that condones LaFollette to persecte Baker is in about as absurd a position as anybody could imagine.—Duluth Herald.

SIT UP AND TAKE NOTICE

Judging from the strong resolution passeed by the Trade Minn League convention held in the twin Cities there is likely to be a split in the labors party and the Farmers Nanpartisian League on the Bone dry amendment to be voted on next November. The Resolution read as follows:

Farmers Warned Against Prohibition. (Resolutions Adopted by Trade Union League Convention)

Whereas, the forces which seek to make jobless the workers of the beverage industry of Minnesota, the Steel Trust, Standard Oil Company, Timber Barons and Banking Trust by putting into force socalled prohibition, are the same interests which ever have opposed and do now oppose and oppress the organized worker and farmers who seek justice for themselves and families, and

WHEREAS, Prohibition has been proven to be unworkable, unjust and not the proper way of solving the problems of the beverage industry, and

WHEREAS, The Organized Workers of the city know that the slanderous statements made regarding the farmers by the exploiters are for the purpose of dividing the workers of the country and the city, and

WHEREAS, The minds of the Organized Workers are ever open to the arguments of the organized farmers themselves regarding their problems,

BE IT RESOLVED, That we warn the farmers of Minnesota against the wolves in sheep's clothing who go about preaching prohibition not because they believe in it, but for revenue only, and that we request the Farmers of Minnesota to withhold judgment upon the matter of closing the breweries and saloons of Minnesota until the workers of those industries themselves may explain their position for like the farmers the workers belive in temperance and sobriety, but the workers have learned that neither temperance nor sobriety are achieved through prohibition, and the workers and farmers of Minnesota will be able to settle the problems of the liquor business with equity and justice to all without the interference of those selfish, grafting interests which have ever sough to divide the workers of the country and the city.

NONPARTISAN LEAGUE CALL

Dear League Member:

This is to notify you that Minnesota members of the National Nonpartisan League will hold their precinct meetings at 2:00 P. M. on February 22nd.

Every League member is hereby called to meet at the voting place in his own precinct to elect one delegate from each precinct. In a few days after February 22nd, these precinct delegates will be called to meet in their respective districts to endorse men for legislative office.

Be at the voting place in your precinct promptly at 2:00 P. M., February 22nd. Bring your credentials, membership certificate or receipt given you by the organizer.

Each member must attend the meeting in the precinct in which he lives, unless he is an incorporated village city.

No meeting will be held in cities or incorporated villages. Retired farmer members living in cities or incorporated villages may, by vote of the resident members take part in the nearest country precinct meeting. No delegate will be recognized from any city or incorporated village village precinct.

At the meeting, observe the following rules:

The meeting is open to League members only.

Elect a chairman and secretary of the meeting. Both must be League members and farmers.

Elect three League members as a Credentials Committee.

The Credentials Committee will examine the credentials of those present and report to the chairman.

The chairman will read aloud the names of members entitled to take part in the meeting. Meeting is authorized, by a vote of the members present to receive membership of farmers present who want to join the League and take part in the election of a delegate.

New members, so admitted must pay the $16.00 membership fee in cash or check to the Secretary who will report. Nominate by ballot candidates for precinct delegate. Precinct delegate must be a League member and a bona fide farmer. Only one delegate shall be elected from your precinct. Vote upon the three highest until some one has a majority. The Chairman and Secretary will report at once to National Nonpartisan League of Minnesota, Box 655, as follows:

Number of Legislative District.

Numbers or name of precinct from which delegate is chosen.

Name and address including township and range, of precinct delegate chosen.

Names of all members present.

Names of new members admitted. Report by registered letter. (As soon as this report is received, precinct delegates notice of time and place of legislative convention.)

Fraternally,
A. C. Townley
President.

Airplane Wrecks Train.

An airplane has often proved itself more than a match for its antagonist in an unequal encounter. A French aviator once penetrated far behind the German lines and chanced upon a heavily laden troop train. The speed of his craft being fully twice that of this unusual antagonist, it gave him an advantage he was quick to use. The airplane flew so low that its machine gun was brought to bear upon the cars, raking them with disastrous results. Still flying very low, the airman increased his speed and, on coming abreast of the locomotive, shot both engineer and fireman. Left to itself, the locomotive raced forward uncontrolled, and taking a sharp curve at high speed was wrecked with great loss of life.

Regret Interference With Nature.

Australia is regretting the laws passed some years ago ordering the slaughter of hawks, owls, carrion crows or other birds that prey on young animals and birds, says a Sydney dispatch to the Cleveland Press. LIFE REVOLVES ABOUT CLUBS

Institutions in Havana Have an Influence Probably Not Felt in Any Other City.

In Havana the whole political, social and commercial life pivots on the clubs. They are a tremendous influence in every way. They are of all kinds, of all sizes, of all degrees of expensiveness and exclusiveness. The largest are the so-called "centros," which were founded under Spanish rule, by men of Spanish birth, in order to furnish a bond and a meeting place for men from the same province of Spain. Thus the "Centro Gallego" was founded for Galicians, and the "Centro Astruino" for Austrians. The former of these is now the largest club in the world.

Besides these centros, there are numerous other sorts of clubs. There are clubs for the laboring man, where for $1.50 a month he gets not only the social and convivial privileges of the clubhouse, but benefit and protective insurance, night school advantages for his family, a hospital for himself, even the services of dentists and opticians. One club goes so far as to maintain an asylum. On the other hand exclusive clubs of the conventional type are not lacking—clubs for the rich, yacht clubs, athletic clubs and political clubs. Havana's motto seems to be: "To each man a club according to his needs."

Practically without exception these clubs, large and small, have housed themselves in beautiful buildings. White marble walls, statuary and mural painting, pillared halls and fountained courtyards reflect the artistic spirit of Latin America. Havana's clubs go far toward making her a beautiful city.

SELLING AS AN ART.

The Road to Success, and the Reason Some Salesmen Fail.

In a story about a wonderful salesman a writer says in the American Magazine:

"Asked for his views on salesmanship and to give suggestions that would be helpful to others, he said: 'Any person can sell to any man who wants to buy, but it takes a salesman to sell to the man who doesn't want to buy. It took me five months in one case to work my way into the confidence of a wealthy man who hated life insurance agents, and we had been acquainted a month before he discovered that I was selling insurance. He later had me write him up for a $10,000 policy.

Soup Eating Lost Art.

Owing to the high cost of ingredients soup eating may become a lost art. America today holds the medal for spectacular and musical soup eating. There is no nation so accomplished in the art of eating soup audibly as ours. No race of people extant can eat soup and keep up a steady conversation (without slopping it on its shirt bosom) as successfully as the American. A foreign writer once remarked that he dearly loved to hear an American eat soup. Some nations drink their broth and bouillon in silence or sop it up noiselessly with bread, thus robbing the process of all its interest. But America blows its broth cool, then musically sucks it from the spoon, allowing it to hit the base of the empty stomach with the chug of a pile driver. The way some of us strain soup through our mustaches is decidedly artistic. But, like many of the lost arts of our aborigines, the doom of soup eating is in sight.—Cartoons Magazine.

THE UNITED STATES FOOD ADMINISTRATION SAYS:

First Introduced Canes.

The Mexicans first used canes in America. When the Spanish conquered the country, a queer custom was introduced. The chief executive of the towns carried a stick with a gold or silver head. It was a kind of scepter.

The people, of course, rarely knew how to read or write, and when anyone was wanted for a crime, one of the mayor's subordinates would take the cane, find the culprit and place it horizontally upon the latter's chest.

The proceeding was equivalent to a summons, and the man had to appear before the mayor under the penalty of being cast into prison. This action was borrowed from Spain, where it still prevails in the more important actions.

MAKING MEATLESS DAYS PERMANENT.

In the meatless menu there is a fertile field for developing new and nourishing dishes, according to E. H. Niles, writing in the Hotel Gazette, who believes that the present shortage of meat and fats will not end with the coming of peace, but may grow more acute and continue for five or six years, thus making it worth while to develop menus of grain, vegetables and fish on a more or less permanent basis. Meat can be replaced by cereals and other protein foods, or may be served in very small portions as a flavoring for other food. In making up meatless menus this author finds our American Creole and southern cuisine a broad field for investigation.

Even a canary must be cared for judiciously if its life is to be happy. Regular exercise outside its cage is desirable, if its owner has time to look after this exercise. A scrupulously clean cage, fresh water and seed every day, greens of some sort—lettuce, celery, plantain—once or twice a week, and enforced abstinence from sugar, sweet biscuits and other odds and ends that are often fed to birds—these details insure health and, therefore, happiness to the caged bird. For Safety's Sake.

Two brothers who live in an East Lancashire manufacturing town were noted for being exceptionally well served with nasal organs.

One of the ring spinners at the mill where they worked invited them to a wedding and promised to send a cab for them.

The cab duly arrived and the two brothers entered and planked themselves down, one in each window.

In order to create an impression during the drive to the wedding, the two brothers were looking out of the cab, one on either side, so that the people could see them.

All went well until the cab came to a rather narrow railway arch, which our travelers had to pass through. The cabman looked back to take his bearings, and, seeing the two brothers' noses sticking out of the windows on either side, shouted:

"Put them elbows in, please!"—Toronto Mail and Empire.

WILSON REJECTS KAISER'S TERMS

PRESIDENT, IN ADDRESS TO CONGRESS, INVITES PEACE NEGOTIATIONS WITH AUSTRIA.

TERMS FROM BERLIN VAGUE

Executive Answers Speeches of Teutonic Officials, Declaring Czernin's Reply Encouraging and Hertling's Unsatisfactory.

Washington, Feb. 12. — President Wilson has openly invited Austria to further discussion of peace with the United States.

In a remarkable address to Congress in joint session the President laid down the basis for such negotiations. Austria, he said, "seeing and conceding the essential principles involved and the necessity of candidly applying them, can respond to the purpose of peace as expressed by the United States with less embarrassment than could Germany."

President's Address.

Gentlemen of the Congress:—On the eighth of January I had the honor of addressing you on the objects of the war as our people conceive them. The prime minister of Great Britain had spoken in similar terms on the fifth of January.

To these addresses the German chancellor replied on the 24th, and Count Czernin for Austria on the same day. It is gratifying to have our desire so promptly realized that all exchanges of view in this great matter should be made in the hearing of all the world.

Calls Czernin's Speech Friendly.

Count Czernin's reply, which is directed chiefly to my own address on the eighth of January, is uttered in a very friendly tone.

He finds in my statement a sufficiently encouraging approach to the views of his own government to justify him in believing that it furnishes a basis for a more detailed discussion of purposes by the two governments. He is represented to have intimated that the views he was expressing had been communicated to me before hand, and that I was aware of them at the time he was uttering them; but in this I am sure he was misunderstood. I had received no intimation of what he intended to say. There was, of course, no reason why he should communicate with me. I am quite content to be one of his public audience.

Hertling Confusing.

"Count von Hertling's reply is, I must say, very vague and very confusing. It is full of equivocal phrases and leads it is not clear where. But is is certainly in a very different tone from that of Count Czernin and apparently of an opposite purpose. It confirms, I am sorry to say, rather than removes the unfortunate impression made by what he had learned of the conferences at Brest-Litovsk. His discussion and acceptance of our general principles lead him to no practical conclusions. He refuses to apply them to the substantiative items which must constitute the body of any final settlement. He is jealous of the international action and of international counsel.

"He accepts, he says, the principle of public diplomacy, but he appears to insist that it be confined, at any rate in this case, to generalities, and that the several particular questions of territory and sovereignty, the several questions upon whose settlement must depend the acceptance of peace by the 23 states now engaged in the war must be discussed and settled not in general council, but severally by the nations most immediately concerned by interest or neighborhood.

"He agrees that the seas should be free, but looks askance at any limitation to that freedom by international action in the interest of the common order. He would without reserve be glad to see economic barriers removed between nation and nation, for that could in no way impede the ambitions of the military party with whom he seems constrained to keep on terms. Neither does he raise objection to a limitation of armaments. That matter will be settled of itself, he thinks, by the economic conditions which must follow the war. But the German colonies, he demands, must be returned without debate.

German Peace Not Ours.

"He will discuss with no one but the representatives of Russia what disposition shall be made of the peoples and the lands of the Baltic provinces; with no one but the government of France the "conditions" under which French territory shall be evacuated; and only with Austria what shall be done with Poland. In the determination of all questions affecting the Balkan states he defers, as I understand him, to Austria and Turkey, and with regard to the agreement to be entered into concerning the non-Turkish people of the present Ottoman empire, to the Turkish authorities themselves. After a settlement all around, effected in this fashion, by individual barter and concession, he would have no objection, if I correctly interpret this statement, to a league of nations which would undertake to hold the new balance of power steady against external disturbance.

"It must be evident to everyone who understands what this war has wrought in the opinion and temper of the world that no general peace, no peace worth the infinite sacrifices of these years of tragical suffering, can possibly be arrived at in any such fashion. The method the German chancellor proposes is the method of the Congress of Vienna. We cannot and will not return to that. What is at stake now is the peace of the world.

No Peace of Patches.

"What we are striving for is a new international order, based on broad and universal principles of right and justice—no mere peace of shreds and patches. It is possible that Count von Hertling does not see that, does not grasp it, is in fact living in his thought in a world dead and gone. Has he utterly forgotten the reichstag resolutions of the nineteenth of July, or does he deliberately ignore them? They spoke of the conditions of a general peace, not of national aggrandizement or of arrangements between state and state. The peace of the world depends upon the just settlement of each of the several problems to which I adverted in my recent address to the Congress.

"I, of course, do not mean that the peace of the world depends upon the acceptance of any particular set of suggestions as to the way in which those problems are to be dealt with. I mean only that those problems each and all effect the whole world, that unless they are dealt with in a spirit of unselfishness and unbiased justice, with a view to the wishes, the natural connections, the racial aspirations, the security and the peace of mind of the peoples involved, no permanent peace will have been attained. They cannot be discussed separately or in corners. None of them constitutes a private or separate interest from which the opinion of the world may be shut out. Whatever affects the peace affects mankind, and nothing settled by military force, if settled wrong, is settled at all. It will presently have to be reopened.

All Nations in Judgment.

"Is Count von Hertling not aware that he is speaking in the court of mankind, that all the awakened nations of the world now sit in judgment on what every public man, of whatever nation, may say on the issues of a conflict which has spread to every region of the world? The reichstag resolutions of July themselves frankly accepted the decisions of that court. There shall be no annexations, no contributions, no punitive damages. Peoples are not to be handed about from one sovereignty to another by an international conference of an understanding between rivals and antagonists. National aspirations must be respected; peoples may now be dominated and be governed only by their own consent.

"Self-determination" is not a mere phrase. It is an imperative principle of action, which statesmen will henceforth ignore at their peril. We cannot have general peace for the asking, or by the mere arrangements of a peace conference. It cannot be pieced together out of individual understandings between powerful states.

"Ready to Be Shown."

"The United States has no desire to interfere in European affairs or to act as arbiter in European territorial disputes. She would disdain to take advantage of any internal weakness or disorder to impose her own will upon another people. She is quite ready to be shown that the settlements she has suggested are not the best or the most enduring. They are only her own provisional sketch of principles and of the way in which they should be applied. But she entered this war because she was made a partner, whether she would or not, in the sufferings and indignities inflicted by the military masters of Germany against the peace and security of mankind; and the conditions of peace will touch her as nearly as they will touch any other nation to which is entrusted a leading part in the maintenance of civilization. She cannot see her way to peace until the causes of this war are removed, its renewal rendered as nearly as may be impossible.

"This war had its roots in the disregard of the rights of small nations and of nationalities which lacked the union and the force to make good their claim to determine their own allegiances and their own forms of political life. Covenants must now be entered into which will render such things impossible for the future; and these covenants must be backed by the united force of all the nations that love justice and are willing to maintain it at any cost.

Foe Offer Not Peace.

"If territorial settlements and the political relations of great populations which have not the original organized power to resist, are to be determined by the contracts of the powerful governments which consider themselves most directly affected, as Count von Hertling proposes, why may not economic questions also? It has come about in the altered world in which we now find ourselves that justice and the rights of peoples affect the whole field of international dealing as much as access to raw materials and fair and equal conditions of trade. Count von Hertling wants the essential bases of commercial and industrial life to be safeguarded by common agreement and guarantee, but he cannot expect that to be conceded him if the other matters to be determined by the articles of peace are not handled in the same way as items in the final accounting. He cannot ask the benefit of common agreement in the one field without according it in the other.

"I take it for granted that he sees that separate peace and selfish compacts with regard to trade and the essential materials of manufacture would afford no foundation for peace. Neither, he may rest assured, will separate and selfish compacts with regard to provinces and peoples.

Czernin Sees Clearly.

"Count Czernin seems to see the fundamental elements of peace with clear eyes and does not seek to obscure them. He sees that an independent Poland, made up of all the indisputable Polish peoples who lie contiguous to one another, is a matter of general concern, and, of course, must be conceded; that Belgium must be evacuated and restored no matter what sacrifices and concessions that may involve, and that national aspirations must be satisfied, even within his own empire, in the common interest of Europe and mankind.

"If he is silent about questions which touch the interest and purpose of his allies more nearly than they touch those of Austria only it must of course be because he feels constrained, I suppose, to defer to Germany and Turkey in the circumstances. Seeing and conceding, as he does, the essential principles involved and the necessity of candidly applying them, he naturally feels that Austria can respond to the purpose of peace as expressed by the United States with less embarrassment than could Germany. He would probably have gone much farther had it not been for the embarrassments of Austria's alliances and of her dependency upon Germany.

"After all, the test of whether it is possible for either government to go any further in this comparison of views is simple and obvious. The principles to be applied are these:

"First, that each part of the final settlement must be based upon the essential justice of that particular case and upon such adjustments as are most likely to bring a peace that will be permanent.

"Second, that peoples and provinces are not to be bartered about from sovereignty to sovereignty as if they were mere chattels and pawns in a game, even the great game, now forever discredited, of balance of power; but that,

"Third, every territorial settlement involved in this war must be made in the interest and for the benefit of the populations concerned, and not as a part of any mere adjustment or compromise of claims amongst rival states, and,

670—SPECIAL—THREE H A

"Fourth, that all well-defined national aspirations shall be accorded the utmost satisfaction that can be accorded them without introducing new or perpetuating old elements of discord and antagonism that would be likely in time to break the peace of Europe and consequently of the world.

Foundation for Peace.

"A general peace erected upon such foundations can be discussed. Until such a peace can be secured we have no choice but to go on. So far as we can judge, these principles that we regard as fundamental are already everywhere accepted as imperative except among the spokesmen of the military and annexationist party in Germany. If they have anywhere else been rejected, the objectors have not been sufficiently numerous or influential to make their voices audible. The tragical circumstance is that this one party in Germany is apparently willing and able to send millions of men to their death to prevent what all the world now sees to be just.

War of Emancipation.

"I would not be a true spokesman of the people of the United States if I did not say once more that we entered their war upon no small occasion, and that we can never turn back from a course chosen upon principle. Our resources are in part mobilized now, and we shall not pause until they are mobilized in their entirety. Our armies are rapidly going to the fighting front and will go more and more rapidly. Our whole strength will be put into this war of emancipation—emancipation from the threat and attempted mastery of selfish groups of autocratic rulers—whatever the difficulties and present partial delays.

"We are indomitable in our power of independent action, and in no circumstances consent to live in a world governed by intrigue and force. We believe that our own desire for a new international order under which reason and justice and the common interests of mankind shall prevail is the desire of enlightened men everywhere. Without that new order the world will be without peace and human life will lack tolerable conditions of existence and development. Having set our hand to the task of achieving it, we shall not turn back.

"I hope that it is not necessary for me to add that no word of what I have said is intended as a threat. That is not the temper of our people. I have spoken thus only that the whole world may know the true spirit of America—that men everywhere may know that our passion for justice and for selfgovernment is no mere passion of words, but a passion, which once set in action, must be satisfied. The power of the United States is a menace to no nation or people. It will never be used in aggression or for the aggrandizement of any selfish interest of our own. It springs out of freedom and is for the service of freedom."

American Taken for German Killed.

With the American Armies in France, Feb. 12.—An American private, mistaken for a Boche in the dark, was shot and killed by one of his own patrols, following the patrol encounter with the Germans. The private became separated from the patrol, which was seeking the bodies of those killed a short time before. Attempting to rejoin them he was challenged by a sergeant. He suspected another ambuscade and failed to respond and was killed.

Kaiserism Blamed for Church Fire.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Feb. 12.—Fire which destroyed the St. Thomas Catholic church in Madison, is believed to have been started by a pro-German agent. Several persons living near the church heard two explosions and upon making an immediate investigation they found the interior of the edifice all ablaze. The flames spread so rapidly that it indicated kerosene or some other inflammable liquid had been poured around the interior before the match was applied.

No Immediate Offensive In Sight.

London, Feb. 12.—There is no indication of an immediate great German offensive on the West front, according to the correspondent of the Express. Indications are, he said, the present condition will last for at least a fortnight. From authoritative sources it can be stated, the correspondent declared, that the transfer of German troops from the East to the West front is not faster nor greater than anticipated. Franco-British forces are superior in [illegible] and guns.

Shipyard Strike Called Off By Hutcheson When President Sends Reproof.

STRIKE WOULD AID FOE

Question Put Squarely To Union Chief By Executive With Result That Men Are Told To Return To Jobs.

New York, Feb. 19.—The shipyards strike at the port of New York and other eastern points has been called off by William L. Hutcheson, general president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners. Definite action was taken after Hutcheson had received a telegram from President Wilson, rebuking him with a query as to whether he stood ready to "co-operate or obstruct" the progress of the war.

Mr. Hutcheson immediately sent messages to all of the brotherhood representatives that could be reached last night, instructing them to send word out to the men to report at their places of work at once. Moore than 6,000 men out will return immediately at Mr. Hutcheson's order.

The message from the President deeply impressed the labor leaders here. They held a long conference at which all phases of the situation were discussed. The order to call off the strike was issued after it was decided to take up the adjustment of their differences with the shipyard employers directly with President Wilson.

The President's message to Hutcheson said:

Points Need of Ships.

"I have received your telegram of yesterday and am very glad to note the expression of your desire as a patriotic citizen to assist in carrying on the work by which we are trying to save America and men everywhere who work and are free.

"Taking advantage of that assurance, I feel it to be my duty to call your attention to the fact that the strike of the carpenters in the ship yards is in marked and painful contrast to the action of labor in other trades and places.

"Ships are absolutely necessary for the winning of this war. No one can strike a deadlier blow to the safety of the nation and of its forces on the other side than by interfering with or obstructing the shipbuilding program.

"All the other unions engaged in this indispensable work have agreed to abide by the decisions of the shipbuilding wage adjustment board. That board has dealt fairly with all who have resorted to it. I must say to you very frankly that it is your duty to leave to it the solution of your present difficulties with your employers, and to advise the men who you represent to return at once to work pending the decision.

"Will You Co-operate or Obstruct?"

"No body of men have the moral right under the present circumstances of the nation to strike until every method of adjustment has been tried to the limit. If you do not act upon this principle you are undoubtedly giving aid and comfort to the enemy, whatever may be your own conscious purpose.

"I do not see that anything will be gained by my seeing you personally until you have accepted and acted upon that principle. It is the duty of the government to see that the best possible conditions of labor are maintained, as it is also its duty to see to it that there is no lawless and conscienceless profiteering and that duty the government has accepted and will perform. Will you co-operate or will you obstruct?"

The message was signed by the President.

17 FOES PLANES ARE DOWNED

British Also Disable Seven More In Day's Fighting.

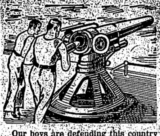
London, Feb. 19.—Great aerial activity by British airmen is the subject of an official report just issued.

"More than five tons of bombs were dropped on various targets," it says. "There was much air fighting. Fourteen German machines were brought down and seven others were disabled, while British anti-aircraft guns shot down two other machines, one of which, a large bombing machine, fell inside the British lines. Its four occupants were taken prisoners.

"Another German airplane, making the seventeenth accounted for during the day, in addition to those disabled, landed near a British airdrome and its occupants were captured. Five British machines are missing."

Turks Operate In Armenia.

London, Feb. 18.—Armenian bands which have been operating west of Erzingan and along the roads from Erzingan to Ardassa and the coast village of Goerele have been scattered by the Turks, says a Reuter dispatch from Constantinople, via Vienna. The dispatch makes this significant statement: "The resistance of armed bands has been broken in villages west of Erzingan and in Erzingan itself, as well as north of the city." This indicates Turkish forces are operating in Armenia.



Our boys are defending this country on the high seas and on the land. Our own defense against a common enemy is to keep the system clean by ridding the body of the toxins, or poisons, which are bred in the intestines. When you feel tired, sleepy, headachy, when your breath is offensive, or pimples appear on the face and neck, it is time to recognize the danger and protect your bodily health by taking something for the liver such as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

The machinery of the body needs to be oiled, kept in good condition, just as the guns or machinery of a ship. Why should a human person neglect his own machinery more than that of his automobile or his guns? Yet most people do neglect themselves. Their tongue has a dark brown color, skin sallow, breath bad, yet they fail to see that their machinery needs attention.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets have been known for nearly half a century. They are made of May-apple, leaves of aloe and jalap, made into a tiny pellet and coated with sugar. They are standard and efficacious. You can obtain them at any drug store in vials for twenty-five cents. Ask for Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets—and get no other!

Where He Was Struck.

"Where did the automobile strike you?" asked the judge of the colored complainant.

"Right 'long 'tween Fiftfy-six and Fifty-seven street, judge."

"I mean what part of your body was struck by the car?"

"Oh, de car didn' strike m' body, judge."

"But I thought the car struck you?"

"Dat's what it did, judge."

"But how could it strike you if it didn't strike your body?"

HEALTH RESTORED

Serious Kidney Trouble Was Removed by Doan's and Results Have Been Permanent.

"Kidney trouble put me in a bad way," says Thomas A. Knight, 624 N. Ninth St., East St. Louis, Ill. "It came on with pain across my back and the attacks kept getting worse until I had a spell that laid me up. Morphine was the only relief and I couldn't move without help. The kidney secretions were scanty, painful and filled with sediment.

"I was unable to leave the house, couldn't rest and became utterly exhausted. The only way I could take ease was by bolstering myself up with pillows. For three months I was in that awful condition and the doctor said I had gravel. Doan's Kidney Pills brought me back to good health and I have gained wonderfully in strength and weight."

Getting the Facts.

A scouting airman returned one day with a bit of valuable information about the enemy which no one believed. He, therefore, flew back again and returned with his machine riddled with bullets.

"Yes, it's all right," he reported; "it was the Nth Regiment. You're such a lot of unbelieving beggars that I had to make sure. I just landed in a field and had a look at the number on their tunics. Had rather a job starting again, but they're rotten shots."

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off. Adv.

AND NOW THEY ARE COOKING TOBACCO TO MAKE IT BETTER

For a good many years The American Tobacco Company have been conducting a series of experiments having as their object the improvement of smoking tobaccos.

And it is interesting to know that one of the greatest of their discoveries was one of the simplest, and that was, that cooking or toasting tobacco improved it in every way, just as cooking most foods improves them.

They took a real Burley tobacco, grown in this country; toasted it as you would toast bread; moistened it to replace the natural moisture driven off by toasting; made it into cigarettes, called them "LUCKY STRIKE, the toasted cigarette," and offered them to the public.

The result has been the greatest demand ever created for any tobacco product in a similar length of time.

The change produced by toasting is not only most wholesome, but the flavor is greatly improved, just as cooking improves meat, for example.—Adv.

NEWS OF STATE TERSELY TOLD

Recent Happenings In Minnesota Given In Brief Items For Busy Readers.

International Falls.—A large number of citizens met with the county board and discussed the road situation in the county.

Warroad. — The Warroad light plant made a gain of $300 over all expenses, including interest on bonds, during the last year.

Crookston.—The board of education accepted the bid of J. Kohler for $105 for the old Lincoln school building, and sold him the structure for that amount.

Washington.—General Pershing reports Private Bentley A. Nelson of Holt, Minn., wounded in action February 13. The death of Corporal Gordon E. Gilman of Medford, Minn., from pneumonia was also reported.

Walker.—At the Cass county farm bureau meeting held here there were three applications for county agent, and the application of M. P. Ostby, professor of agriculture in Pine River school, was acted favorably on and he was elected.

Hallock. — The state fire marshal has condemned the Pacific hotel building here and ordered it removed from the premises within 60 days. The hotel is a 60-room house, steam heated, equipped with baths and has water and sewer connections.

Morris.—The West Central school of agriculture is holding a tractor school for the benefit of the farmers who are operating tractors or who plan to purchase them the coming season. About 175 farmers from all parts of West Central Minnesota are in attendance.

Faribault. — August Ruther, on trial for the murder of his brother-in-law, August Fiske, was found guilty by a jury in district court here. Ruther is alleged to have poisoned Fiske by placing paris green in a bottle of liquor on September 9, 1917, and was indicted for the crime in November.

Pine River.—George Bell has traded his farm near the village to the First State bank for the corner building, where the bank was formerly located. Mr. Bell is already moving in with his family into the apartments in the rear. He will make a number of changes in the store building which he will remodel into a confectionery store and a restaurant.

Alexandria. — Celebrating the formal opening of the new Alexandria hotel, 200 citizens assembled as the guests of the Alexandria Commercial club. Although the hotel has been in operation for a short time, a banquet was made the occasion for the formal opening and the entire building was given over to the visitors, who were received by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ginther, the proprietors and guests of honor.

Duluth. — More than 500 Duluth business men gathered to discuss federal food control measures and voted unanimously to see that they are observed in this city. A committee was appointed to force all grocery stores to curtail sales to the required limit. Nothing but war bread will be manufactured after this week. Efforts will be made to increase the consumption of potatoes for the conservation of wheat.

St. Paul. — Discontinuance of the Saturday closing order at the state capitol, adopted three weeks ago as a fuel saving measure, is announced by Gustav Lindquist, secretary to the governor. State departments began complaining that work is in arrears because of the extra holiday, he said, and the number of business visitors at the building last Saturday exceeded the usual average, despite the closing order. The building will be open until noon Saturdays in the future.

Duluth.—Four months ago Dr. Alden Cwi of this city was notified through the United States government that his wife had died more than three years ago while fleeing from advancing Germans in Russia. Their three children, born here and who had accompanied their mother to Russia on a visit, are missing. Dr. Cwi has just received a registered letter from his wife that had been written four months and ten days before her death, mailed October 29, 1914.

Moose Lake.—Joseph Dvorak, who was injured when struck by a falling tree in the woods near here, escaped from the hospital just before it became known that he is listed in St. Paul as a deserter. Dvorak, when he became conscious, asked the attending physician if he had seen his questionnaire. The physician questioned a draft board in St. Paul, which replied that Dvorak had been sent his questionnaire in August, but had failed to return it. The physician said Dvorak was in a serious condition when he left the hospital.

Rochester.—Organization of a war medical museum, with data and research reports on practically every medical fact brought out in the present war will be undertaken by a special mission which will include physicians and scientists of the Mayo clinic here. The unit has left for a mobilization point preparatory to sailing for France.

Spring Valley.—Russell Schimerhorn, 24 years old, was electrocuted here. Climbing a pole, he came in contact with a live wire. He was employed by the Northwestern Utilities company.

Hallock.—Mrs. N. D. Swanson broke her left arm below the elbow by a fall down a stairway at her home.

St. Peter.—Mrs. Jacob Bowles, 90 years old, died at her home in Le Sueur county. She had been a resident of the county for 47 years, coming from Nister, England.

Little Falls.—Charles Anderson of Swanville, who recently injured his right eye and was brought to St. Gabriel's hospital, has had to lose the use of that member and the eye was removed.

Moorhead.—Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Benner, joint proprietors of the Lally hotel, pleaded guilty before Police Magistrate E. U. Wade to running an unlicensed drinking place. Both were fined $100 and costs.

Hastings.—George W. Morse, a pioneer and retired business man, is dead. He served as a volunteer with the Mounted Rangers during the Sioux Indian expedition in 1863. He is survived by his wife.

Moorhead.—Treasurer G. Paulson of Clay county has tendered his resignation. The resignation was accepted by the county and Arthur C. Fevig, deputy county auditor, was elected by the board to fill the vacancy.

Williams. — William Griffin, who has spent the last month in town, was out to his homestead, 17 miles south of here, and discovered that in his absence some marauder had ransacked his cabin and carried off all his supplies, including 200 pounds of flour.

St. Paul.—Dr. A. H. Doty, physician, has been arrested charged with performing an illegal operation on a 19-year-old girl from Almena, Wis., working here as a domestic. The girl died January 31 at the city hospital. The doctor's bail is $10,000 pending hearing.

New Ulm. — Charles Schreiner of New Ulm, charged with failing to register; Max Bisoke and August Rost, farm laborers living near here, charged with refusing to have their finger prints taken at the police station as required from aliens, are in the county jail awaiting the action of the authorities.

Fairmont.—County Attorney Albert R. Allen, on his return from Lakefield, where he helped to prosecute Joseph Gilbert, manager of the Nonpartisan league, sentenced to three months in jail for holding a meeting in defiance of orders, instructed Sheriff W. S. Carver of Martin county to prevent all league meetings attempted in this county.

East Grand Forks.—Mrs. Peter Eichhammer, mother of John Eichhammer, one of the Tuscania victims, is doing her share in the war. Peter Eichhammer, another son, is a member of the machine gun company, 164th infantry, U. S. E. F., and a third son, Michael Eichhammer, expects to depart with the Polk county quota for Camp Dodge.

Fergus Falls.—Deputy Sheriff Slatten has returned from Billings, Mont., bringing J. J. Rode, who will answer to a charge of larceny in the town of Compton a year or more ago. A building burned and it was presumed that there was considerable clover burned, but later events indicated that the clover had been stolen. Rode was indicted but left the country.

St. Cloud.—With five sons already in the service—three in the army and two in the navy—Thomas Condon, 60 years old, of St. Cloud, appeared before a local recruiting officer with three more sons. The father and three sons sought to enlist. The recruiting officer found two of the applicants were too young and the father is, of course, too old. The fourth, who is 19, was accepted.

Lakefield.—Warrants have been issued here charging A. G. Townley, president of the National Nonpartisan league, with conspiring to discourage enlistments in the military and naval forces of the United States, and accusing Joseph Gilbert, secretary and organizing manager, of the same charge, and also with violating Section 3, Chapter 463, Minnesota statutes of 1917, the law concerning disloyalty.

Mankato.—The annual business session of the St. Paul district of Swedish Lutheran churches closed in this city. Rev. O. J. Arthur of Mankato was re-elected president; Rev. C. O. Lund of Norseland was chosen vice president; Dr. V. H. Hegstrom of St. Peter secretary, and Rev. J. F. Erickson of Waseca treasurer. Annual reports showed that the district had a prosperous year. Discussion of the proposed merger of all Lutheran synods of America was taken up, and most of the speakers favored it, but no definite action was taken.

St. Cloud.—Acting upon instructions from the first assistant postmaster general, Postoffice Inspector M. I. Ryan went to Rockville and removed the postmaster, Jacob Weisman, and put the office in charge of Joseph J. Mertes, who will act as postmaster at that place until an appointment is made in the regular way. Mr. Weisman's removal from the office is due to the fact that he has allowed seditious utterances to be made in his store, which was used as the postoffice. He also is alleged to have said, "Germany will lick them all."

Mankato. — Heatless day was celebrated again when 200 business men cut down a number of trees near the city and sawed them up into cordwood. About 150 cords have been prepared and hauled to the city as a result of this work, and next Saturday a big community auction is to be held for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Sauk Rapids.—E. E. Gloege, for two years head of the Sauk Rapids schools, has resigned to take effect at the end of the present school year. Mr. Gloege has been a stockholder in a bank at Belingham, Minn., for some time and will go with the bank.

RUSS-GERMAN ARMISTICE OFF

Statement From Berlin Says Kaiser Reserves Free Hand In Every Direction.

GERMANS FIGHT SELVES

Petrograd Dispatch Indicates Boches Have Refused To Obey Commanders To Move To French Front.

London, Feb. 19.—According to an official communication issued in Berlin the armistice between the Germans and Bolsheviki government has been declared off. This communication contains the grave statement that Germany reserves a free hand in every direction. Whether the Germans anticipate an immediate attack on the Russians has not developed, but undoubtedly there is tense feeling between the German military officials and the Bolsheviki by reason of the fact that Leon Trotzky, the Bolsheviki foreign minister, has not met the desires of Germany to frame a separate peace treaty with that country.

Germans Fight Selves.

Dispatches from Petrograd indicate that German soldiers have declined to obey their commanders to move to the French front and even have given battle to brothers in arms who endeavored to force them to do so. In Petrograd, at last accounts, marked disorders were still prevailing, there being indiscriminate shooting and looting.

An Amsterdam dispatch says that Roumania intends under conditions to enter into peace negotiations with the Teuton powers.

Gives Two Days' Notice.

Amsterdam, Feb. 18.—An official statement issued by the German imperial government states that the Petrograd government by its conduct has renounced the armistice which had been in existence on the Russian front. This renouncement is regarded as having occurred February 10.

In conformity therewith, the statement says, the German government must, after a lapse of seven days, give notice of the termination as provided for under the treaty and reserve a free hand in every direction.

Trotzky Makes Protest.

London, Feb. 18.—A Russian government wireless dispatch received here gives a message from Leon Trotzky to the German government, dated February 17. It asks whether the statement received, to the effect that General Hoffman on February 16 declared that a state of war would be resumed at noon the 18th between Germany and Russia was correct, "because it seems a provocative act to give only two days' notice instead of seven, as stipulated in the armistice agreement."

LABOR ENDORSES WAR AIMS

Says Common People Must Join Fight to Finish.

Washington, Feb. 19.—American labor's indorsement of war aims as stated by President Wilson, and recognition that the war against Prussianism is a workingman's war, is recorded in a declaration issued by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor at the close of a seven-day session at headquarters here.

The declaration says the peace parleys between Russia and Germany have shown the futility of diplomatic negotiations until the German militarists are convinced they cannot superimpose their will on the rest of the world, and that spontaneous uprisings in Germany have demonstrated that the militarist government still is stronger than the movement there for emancipation.

A gigantic struggle lies ahead and now is a time when all workers must soberly face the grave importance of their daily work, says the declaration, and it adds:

"Either the principles of free democracy or of Prussian militaristic autocracy will prevail. There can be no compromise. So there can be no neutrality among nations or individuals—we must stand up and be counted with one cause or the other. For labor there is but one choice."

Two More Army Sanatoriums.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Sanatoriums for the treatment of soldiers suffering from tuberculosis are to be established at New Haven, Conn., and at Whipple Barracks, Prescott, Ariz., in addition to those to be built at Asheville, N. C., and Denver, Colo. It is understood they will cost about $550,000 each.

To Direct Lake Shipping.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Coastwise and Great Lakes steamship lines operated by railroads have been placed by Director General McAdoo under the supervision of W. H. Pleasants of New York, president of the Ocean Steamship company, designated manager of the marine section of the railroad administration. Special attention will be given to organization of water transportation facilities to insure greater movement of coal to New England next winter and better use of lake shipping in coal hauling.

TREMENDOUS VALUE FOR 15c

The Pathfinder, Leading Weekly Magazine of Nation's Capital, Makes Remarkably Attractive Offer.

Washington, D. C., (Special)—People in every section of the country are hurrying to take advantage of the Pathfinder's wonderful offer to send that splendid illustrated review of the whole world thirteen weeks for 15 cents. It costs the editor a lot of money to do this, but he says it pays to invest in new friends, and that he will keep the offer open until the Pathfinder passes the 250,000 circulation mark, which will be in a few weeks. Tea Long Used in China.

Tea was used and cultivated in China as far back as the third century, A. D., but it was not until the twelfth century that it became known in Japan, when an abbot of a Buddhist monastry learned about it in China where its virtues were already well known. Obtaining seed, he planted some near Kyoto. In later years some of this was transplanted near Shizuoka, which vicinity has ever since been the center of the tea industry of Japan. It was not until about the seventeenth century that tea became generally known in Europe, when it was exploited by the Dutch East Indian company as a new article of commerce. The first tea sold in England brought $15 to $20 a pound.

Joke on Phrenologist.

A phrenologist, visiting a village, offered to examine anyone's bumps for a small sum.

A burly blacksmith's helper said he would have his bumps examined, and as he took his place, another man whispered in the phrenologist's ear, "He's very fond of veal."

At this hint the phrenologist nodded gratefully. He then read out the blacksmith's bumps, crediting him with all sorts of virtues, and finally he said, in a loud, positive voice, "Now I come to your diet. Gents, if there is one thing in the world our subject dotes on it is veal. Why—"

But the sentence was never finished. The blacksmith rose suddenly and knocked the phrenologist down. "What's it to do with you if I did steal a calf?" he cried.

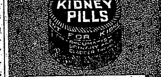
Says Dodd's Kidney Pills, Wonderful Remedy

Mrs. Della Olson, of New London, Wis., like many others, knows after experiencing the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills that they are unexcelled. Here's what Mrs. Olson recently wrote us:
"I suffered with rheumatism for years. There was a gravel deposit in the urine and I had frequent headaches. I had dark circles around my eyes and was always tired. I bought a box of your Dodd's Kidney Pills and am glad I did, for I secured quick relief and think they are a wonderful remedy."
Mighty few people realize in time that kidney trouble is making its advances upon their health. They put off treatment—they say, "Oh, I'll be all right in a day or two." And the malady tightens its grip. Result: Bright's Disease, hospital treatment, doctors' bills—often death.



Insist on the name with three D's and enjoy freedom from kidney ills. At all druggists.

Win the War by Preparing the Land
Sowing the Seed and Producing Bigger Crops
Work in Joint Effort the Soil of the United States and Canada
CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY
TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than April 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

CARPENTERS WANTED

The United States shipping board has called for a quarter of a million volunteers from among the skilled mechanics of the country to help build ships.

The call is as vital as the call for men to fill the army. Right now it is even more vital, and the service these volunteers are called for is as important as any associated with the war.

The winning of the war is a question of ships. Ships is a question of ship construction. Ship construction is a question of skilled labor.

If we had ships enough, we could win the war this year; ships enough to carry troops and supplies and munitions so that America's might could be felt by the Kaiser's hordes.

We can not build ships without labor, and the labor supply is short.

If you can help build ships enlist in the public service reserve.

The man who enlists in the ship-building service and who works faithfully for eight hours six days a week will be doing as vital a service to his country as any man can do.—Duluth Herald

The first isue of The Minnesota Leader, the Official paper of The Nonpartisan League, reached us last Friday and it is certainly a hummer. League members will receive it free, as part of their membership fee. We advise old line politicians not to read it, just before bed time as it might cause them to loose a nights sleep.

SEND OUT YOUR SPEAKERS

The St.Paul Dispatch suggests as a right way of meeting the "Un-American propaganda" of the Nonpartisan league, that speakers be sent all over Minnesota in the wake of League speakers to answer the charges made by the latter.

That is the stuff. Send out the speakers; and if you can convince the Minnesota farmers that the Nonpartisan League is Unpatriotic, and is not backing up President Wilson in this war, you have got them crushed. But you can not gain anything by persecuting and prosecuting League speakers. Send out your speakers, by all means, as lots of the Minnesota farmers came from Missouri, and "would like to be shown", why it is a crime for Minnesota farmers to organize for their mutual benefit, and why a speaker that advises them to organize deserves to be "Lynched" as they attempted to do at Lakefield.

Of course this does not apply to Pennington County, where the people are more enlightened, and President Townley of the League, spoke to the largest audience of farmers last week that ever was in the Auditorium building in Thief River Falls. After the speech of Mr. Townley a collection of $183 was taken up for the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A. Does that look like an unpatriotic meeting?

Mr. Townley was the guest of honor at a luncheon given at the Thief River Cafe, at which there were 150 townspeople and farmers present. After supper these adjourned to the Commercial club rooms where a number of short speeches were made and a social session enjoyed.

That's the way we treat strangers in the enlightened County of Pennington.

Any of the Soldier Boys who are drafted to go to war from Pennington County will receive THE SUNBEAM weekly free of charge as long as they are in the service if they will send us their address.

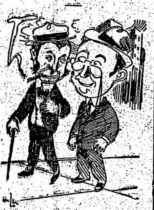
If you do not feel that you can afford to buy a Liberty Bond, get on record as one who helped your Country in time of war by buying a War Saving Stamp Book. Invest $4.13 and make out the loan in favor of your Boy or girl who can get $5.00 for it in 1923.

MEANING OF JACOBITE TOAST

Glasses Raised to "the Little Gentleman in Velvet" Had a Peculiar Significance Centuries Ago.

"To the little gentleman in velvet" was a favorite Jacobite toast in the reign of Queen Anne. By "the little gentleman in velvet" the Jacobites meant the mole that raised the hummock against which the horse of King William III (William of Orange) stumbled while riding in Hampton court. The king was thrown heavily to the ground, breaking his collar bone. A severe illness ensued under which the king's feeble constitution gave way, and he died early in the year 1702. He left no children and the crown passed to Anne, a sister of William's deceased wife, Queen Mary, and a daughter of the deposed king, James II. It was the plan of the Jacobites to bring back to the throne James the Pretender, a son, it was claimed, of James II by his second wife, Mary of Modena. The execution of their plans was not attempted until the house of Hanover came to the throne. The attempt of the Pretender James in 1715 was a miserable failure, but the attempt of his son, Prince Charlie, in 1745, was a more formidable affair. He collected a considerable force in Scotland, invaded England and reached Derby before compelled to retreat. He was finally defeated at Culloden.

LOOKING FORWARD



"In fifty years they will be serving meals by electricity."

"That will be nice. I suppose then they can be charged."

OPERATED BY "HAY-BURNERS"

Motive Power of One of the Civil War Railroads Was Primitive in the Extreme.

The history of railway operation in this country offers many curious and interesting details. Among them none are stranger than those that concern the Memphis, El Paso & Pacific railroad, a 40-mile line operated between Marshall, Tex., and Shreveport, La., during the Civil war.

The owner was John Higginson. He had many titles: chairman of the board, president, vice president, superintendent, trainmaster, roadmaster, freight and passenger agent, fireman, conductor and master mechanic. The motive power was of the best in those days, and consisted of several yoke of oxen, commonly known as "hay-burners." The oxen were, it is said, generally on time.

Mr. Higginson ran his train on a tri-weekly schedule. When he had gathered up a "cargo" and everything was ready for the trip he loaded the oxen into the first box car in the train. In the next car he had put the freight and the passengers, and in the third he himself rode. The cars started down the steep grade out of Marshall and, after they had rolled as far as they would Mr. Higginson set the brakes and proceeded to unload the oxen and hitch them to the coupling of the car. Then he released the brakes and started the train up the grade. At the top the oxen were again loaded into their car and another start was made downhill. By repeating this operation several times Mr. Higginson and his train would finally reach Shreveport.

The passenger rate was 25 cents a person. Freight charges were anything the owner of the line could get. Since there was no competition, Mr. Higginson made money. All freight was marked "red ball" and handled as soon as received.

This, however, was not the first "hay-burning" railway in the United States. Most of the early lines made use of animals [illegible] at one time employed [illegible] freight and passengers [illegible]

Airplane Wrecks Train.

An airplane has often proved itself more than a match for its antagonist in an unequal encounter. A French aviator once penetrated far behind the German lines and chanced upon a heavily laden troop train. The speed of his craft being fully twice that of this unusual antagonist, it gave him an advantage he was quick to use. The airplane flew so low that its machine gun was brought to bear upon the cars, raking them with disastrous results. Still flying very low, the airman increased his speed and, on coming abreast of the locomotive, shot both engineer and fireman. Left to itself, the locomotive raced forward uncontrolled, and taking a sharp curve at high speed was wrecked with great loss of life.

LIFE REVOLVES ABOUT CLUBS

Institutions in Havana Have an Influence Probably Not Felt in Any Other City.

In Havana the whole political, social and commercial life pivots on the clubs. They are a tremendous influence in every way. They are of all kinds, of all sizes, of all degrees of expensiveness and exclusiveness. The largest are the so-called "centros," which were founded under Spanish rule, by men of Spanish birth, in order to furnish a bond and a meeting place for men from the same province of Spain. Thus the "Centro Gallego" was founded for Galicians, and the "Centro Astruino" for Austrians. The former of these is now the largest club in the world.

Besides these centros, there are numerous other sorts of clubs. There are clubs for the laboring man, where for $1.50 a month he gets not only the social and convivial privileges of the clubhouse, but benefit and protective insurance, night school advantages for his family, a hospital for himself, even the services of dentists and opticians. One club goes so far as to maintain an asylum. On the other hand exclusive clubs of the conventional type are not lacking—clubs for the rich, yacht clubs, athletic clubs and political clubs. Havana's motto seems to be: "To each man a club according to his needs."

UNFAIR DISCRIMINATION

President Townley of the Nonpartisan League has expressed himself as opposed to any advance in the price of wheat, for the reason that it will increase the burdens of the laboring man. This was a surprise to us in view of the fact, that actual figures show that the farmer is not getting enough for his wheat in proportion to what he has to pay for what he has to buy. He says that other things should be reduced in price, but if he will take a look at the markets he will find that everything a farmer has to buy is steadily and rapidly advancing in price, soap for instance, we used to buy 6 bars soap for 25cts, and now we only get 4. Why should the farmer be the one to be discriminated against? Has Mr. Townley drifted away from the farmers since he moved to St. Paul? If he has the Northwest farmers are not going to follow him to their own slaughter.

Stop the advance in the price of farm machinery, before stopping the raise in the price of wheat or any other farm produce, as it takes more wheat to buy any kind of farm machinery now than it did two years ago. The farmers should now have $2.75 a bushel for his wheat, and a fair grade if he is to have any profit for his labor.

It seems that they can lower or raise the price of what the farmers have to sell by a nod of the head and a stroke of the pen, but but they seem to be utterly powerless to prevent the International Harvester Co. from raising the price of a binder, mower or wagon ten dollars whenever they feel like it. That is why the farmers are now organizing a corporation called the Nonpartisan League, that will make all the other corporations look like 50 cents, to see if other big corporations are not compelled to reduce the price of their products, the same as the farmers are compelled to do.

FARMER ALLY OF DEMOCRACY IN GREAT WAR

Tiller of Soil as Essential to Success as the Soldier or the Gun Maker.

IMPORTANCE REALIZED

Agricultural Interests Receive Early Consideration From Public Safety Commission—Help and Inspiration Given—State to Double Production.

Democracy's principal ally in this great war for the dethronement of Prussianism is the farmer. Though guns may thunder and cities crumble before the onslaughts of the millions now engaged in the great cause, peace, everlasting peace can come only through the lowly tiller of the soil.

To the thoughtless this may not appeal, but how inseparably the great cause and the farmer are linked is indicated in the unusual deference being shown him by those directing the allied interests. No battle is complete without the farmer. God speed him, is the constant supplication.

Among the first of the state war units to recognize the importance of the farmer in his relation to the great conflict was the Minnesota State Safety commission. Early was the consideration given the agricultural interests of the state by this body and in its twelve months of existence little has been overlooked in the way of help and patriotic inspiration. Returns in consequence have been many fold and further help is contemplated.

This year should see Minnesota's food production doubled and as the main source of that production is the farmers of the state the task the Minnesota safety commission has before it can be appreciated. And that the Commission will succeed there is little doubt, as it has the confidence of the farmers and they will respond to a man.

One of the most active of the Minnesota Safety body in an agricultural way is C. H. March, vice president of the commission and a farmer himself. As the head of the agricultural division of the state organization both his time and his money have been freely given in its furtherance. Recently Mr. March returned from Washington where he went at the instance of Gov. Burnquist and the members of the Commission and his visit was not only of value to the agricultural interests of Minnesota, but to the entire Northwest. It only the promise of an increased fixed price for the 1918 wheat crop, which was one of the objects of the visit, is realized, this intervention alone will be worth many millions of dollars to the farmers of the state.

At the command of Gov. Burnquist and the Minnesota Safety commission Mr. March placed before President Wilson and those interested in food production a number of things necessary to the success of the farmers and the additional production which is so urgently desired, and was successful in the [illegible] undoubtedly follow. Not the least of the promises obtained was aid in behalf of a substantial increase in the government fixed price for wheat and a partial return to state grain grades which have been superseded by federal standards. Acting on behalf of the commission Mr. March pointed out to President Wilson and his war aides the great work Minnesota farmers are doing and urged as generous a government compensation as other lines of endeavor are now receiving. Such was only justice.

One of the early agricultural activities of the commission was the supplying of farm help made necessary by the draft. With the usual sources of supply cut off by the national call to arms the Commission at once took over the free employment machinery of the state and much financial loss was averted as a result. This year even greater plans are in preparation for the harvest call.

Another of the early problems was transportation and how it was handled by the Commission is best told in the thousands of freight cars that have been forwarded to every section of the state at the urgent call of farmers and communities generally. Any dearth in this respect has been kept down to the minimum.

One of the chief features of the success of the Commission in an agricultural way has been the confidence its activities has inspired. Education and patriotic appeal, instead of official commands have been the main feature of its propaganda and as a result general cooperation is greater than ever in the history of the state. Today the commission has more intimate relations and is in closer touch with the farmers of Minnesota than any other known agency.

With the opening of the new crop year efforts of the Minnesota Safety commission will be redoubled in making it a record breaker and there is every reason to believe that the fondest hopes of those in charge will be realized. Anticipating such, plans that will carry the commission well into the harvest season are in the making and these cover every phase of farm work and state help.

"SOME" AS AN ADJECTIVE

Popular American Slang Has Attached a Wealth of Meaning to the Word.

The American habit of coining new meanings for words already known is closely allied to that of coining words, writes C. Jefferson Weber in the North American Review. Take, for example, the current slang use of that much used word "some." What a wealth of meaning and insinuation the American has invented for the word!

"Some" as an adverb may be heard in many places. For instance, in the Teign valley district of Devon, the natives may say, "It did rain zum yesterday." But the American would use the word as an adjective and say, "That was some rain yesterday." This use is hard to define. In the middle of the last century "some," meaning considerable, or notable, was called "a modern slang word." Today "some" is almost limitless in its capacity for application. It implies approval, enthusiasm, sarcasm, wonder, admiration, disgust—or amusement.

The seeds may have been sown in Cornwall, in Devon or in Lancashire, but I seriously doubt if a native of any of these counties would ever say enthusiastically, "We had some fun last night," or sarcastically, "This is some book!" Another word to which Americans have given a new meaning is the verb "raise." In England men raise crops; in America they also raise children.

Coleridge must be added to the list of authors who have found inspiration in dreams, for he himself has told us that he composed over 200 lines of the "Kubla Khan" during a sleep of three hours. On awaking he wrote down the fragment now existing, but the interruption of a visitor banished the rest from his mind. The first idea of "The Ancient Mariner," too, was suggested to the poet by a dream of his friend Cruikshank. BIG INCREASE IN FOOD SUPPLY IS DEMANDED

Agricultural Department's Program for 1918 Points Out Needs of Nation and Allies.

GROW MORE SPRING WHEAT

Necessity of Producing Large Supply of Foods and Feedstuffs Is Emphasized—More Hogs Demanded —South Is Urged to Feed Itself.

Washington, D. C.—The planting of an increased acreage to spring wheat and the production of an increased supply of other food products and of live stock, especially hogs, is recommended in a supplementary food production program issued by the United States department of agriculture.

This program re-emphasizes and amplifies the food-production program for 1918 issued by the department in August, 1917, and other suggestions made in the fall and the first of this year regarding increased pork production and increased production of foodstuffs in the South. Taken in connection with the recommendations previously made, it suggests in full the proposals which the department thinks it desirable to offer with a view to secure enough meat and dairy products, cereals, sugar and other staple and perishable foods, wool and cotton for the nation, its armies, and the allies. It gives suggestions for the approaching spring operations, based upon the latest available information as to the condition of the fall-planted crops of winter wheat and rye and as to the number of meat and dairy animals reported for 1917. They represent the best thought of the specialists of the department who have had the benefit of advice from agricultural leaders throughout the country.

Our Best Efforts Required.

"Notwithstanding an increased production of staple crops in the United States in 1917, there is need for more food," the program states. "Taking into account our own needs, the needs of the nations associated with us in this war, and the needs of friendly neutral nations, our best efforts will be required to provide enough food in 1918. Whether the war continues or not, the demands on this country, because of the increasing population and the needs of Europe will be great. An especially strong demand will be made on this country for meats and live stock. In 1917, notwithstanding the many difficulties encountered, the farmers planted the largest acreages in the history of the nation, harvested record crops of most things except wheat, and succeeded in greatly increasing the number of live stock."

"The situation is such that chief emphasis should be given to the production of the great staple food products, with special stress on wheat and hogs, the leading war foods."

The South is urged to provide food for its own people and feed for its live stock and then to plant as much cotton as can well be cultivated and harvested. To raisers of hogs and beef animals the world need for meats and fats is made clear. Farmers are urged to join with the men on the ranges in providing sheep whose wool is needed to equip soldiers.

The program discusses the farm labor problem, points out the lines of effort for relief, and outlines the activities of the federal and state agencies to furnish assistance.

Spring Wheat.

In dealing with the question of spring wheat, the program states:

The acreage of spring wheat should be increased in order to make certain that we shall have an adequate supply of wheat for our own uses and to meet the needs of the allies.

"While the area of winter wheat sown in 1917 was the largest on record, the condition of the crop, as reported on December 1, was the lowest ever recorded, indicating a probable production of only 540,000,000 bushels. Whether the actual production will be greater or less than the estimate will depend upon conditions prevailing between now and the time of harvest. If there were planted to spring wheat in the United States this year, an acreage equal to the sum of the record planting in each spring wheat state within the last ten years, there would be sown approximately 23,300,000 acres. If there should be planted an acreage equal to the sum of the record planting for each state within the last five years there would be sown approximately 21,000,000 acres. The record planting for any year was 20,381,000, in 1911. The acreage for 1917 was 18,511,000.

"The department of agriculture has carefully studied all these records and other data in connection with the present war conditions and needs, and believes that it will be possible this year to secure an acreage in excess of the record acreage which was planted in 1911. It is believed that increased acreages can be secured in states and sections where spring wheat production is known to be reasonably promising and that such increases can be made without upsetting farm plans.

The total acreage will be greatly influenced by what is done in Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana and Idaho, where the conditions have not been the most favorable and where in some sections they have been decidedly unfavorable during the past two years. North Dakota's acreage in the last five years was that of 1917—7,000,000; Minnesota's, 3,200,000 in 1917; Montana's, 390,000 in 1913, and Idaho's, 200,000 in 1913. North Dakota's record acreage in the last five years was 8,850,000 in 1915; Minnesota's 4,150,000 in 1913; Montana's 1,122,000 in 1917, and Idaho's 375,000 in 1917. North Dakota's five year average (1912-1916) was 7,657,000; Minnesota's, 3,995,000; Montana's 588,000; and Idaho's 231,000. Montana's annual planting has shown increases during the last four years as follows: 1914-15, 321,000; 1915-16, 185,000; 1916-17, 187,000. What these states can do this spring it is difficult to determine.

It is hoped that many farmers, especially in the northern part of the corn belt, will find it possible to plant five to ten acres additional in wheat. In some cases they will plant more. In a number of states in the eastern and central portions of the country where spring wheat has not been grown in recent years, the crop is now being reestablished and it is recommended that this movement be encouraged.

To a small extent the acreage in oats, if necessary, could be reduced in the interest of wheat. Likewise, a very small portion of the acreage which normally would be planted to corn in the northern part of the corn belt might be sown to spring wheat.

If the acreage of spring wheat indicated for some of the states cannot be planted, the barley acreage, which is known to grow better in some localities, might be increased. The use of barley for food is increasing in this country and it is a welcome food in Europe.

Summary of Other Recommendations.

Following is a summary of other important recommendations regarding cereals, meat, poultry, and perishables.

Hogs. The number of hogs should be increased by at least 15 per cent during the year 1918.

Sugar. Effort should be made to maintain the acreage of sugar cane and sugar beets, and to increase these areas in so far as these crops are well established or are necessary to sound agricultural practice.

Production of satisfactory substitutes for sugar, including sorghum, corn and cane sirup, maple products and honey can and should be increased.

Sorghum sirup, it is pointed out, may be produced in nearly every state in the Union, and increased production of sorghum sweets would enable the public to conserve still further the sugar supply in the form most available for transportation to our soldiers.

Dairy Products. The supply of dairy products should be maintained to meet the needs of this country and to help supply the increasing demands of the allies.

Poultry. Poultry production should be increased greatly, especially in back yards and on farms where waste material is available and the purchase of expensive grains and other material is not required.

Corn. An acreage of corn approximately equal to that of 1917 should be planted, with possible slight reductions in certain sections to free areas for spring wheat.

Oats, Barley, Rice, Buckwheat and Flaxseed. The area in oats should be maintained, especially in regions and on soils which are not so well adapted to other grains, but with a small reduction to provide for increasing the wheat acreage. Barley production should be increased in regions where it grows best, especially in the northern edge of the corn belt and in sections north and west of the belt; and rice, buckwheat and flaxseed production should be maintained and, if possible, increased.

Grain Sorghums. The production of grain sorghums (kafir, milo, feterita, etc.) should be increased greatly throughout the drier portion of the Plains region. Kafirs are the most certain grain crops in this section and they can be made to supplement wheat as human food and to replace corn as animal food.

Potatoes. The normal acreage of Irish and sweet potatoes should be maintained in 1918, notwithstanding the large crops in 1917.

Hay, Forage and Pastures. Wherever feasible, the area devoted to hay, forage and silage crops should be increased and these products should be used to a greater extent in place of grains and other concentrates.

Beef Animals. The number of beef animals should be maintained and, in areas where it is clearly the best range and farm practice, should be increased.

Beans, Peas and Peanuts. The production of beans and peas should be increased in regions to which they are adapted, because of their high food value, keeping qualities, and availability for domestic or export trade. Soy beans and peanuts should be increased in order to supplement beans and peas as human food, as a source of much needed oil, and as animal feeds.

Perishables. (a) Market gardens near large consuming centers should be increased so as to meet, as nearly as possible, the needs of the community, and in order to obviate the necessity of transporting such products from distant points.

It is important to do all that is possible to relieve the strain upon transportation facilities.

(b) The planting of home gardens, especially for family needs and for preserving food for future use, again should be emphasized.

(c) The commercial production of perishables generally should be increased above normal wherever it is reasonably clear that transportation and marketing facilities will be available.

CALL FOR 250,000 SHIPYARD HELPERS

Each State Asked to Contribute Volunteers to Speed Merchant Fleet.

FORM RESERVE ORGANIZATION

Workmen to Stand Ready When Called—Standard Scale of Wages and Good Housing Conditions Assured.

Two hundred and fifty thousand workmen are to be enrolled in a reserve organization of American mechanics, skilled workers in many lines, to bring to completion the gigantic shipbuilding program to win the war. The organization is known as the United States Shipyard Volunteers of the Public Reserve. Those who enroll will stand ready to respond when they are called to report at the shipyards for duty.

An appeal for volunteers has been made by the department of labor, the council of national defense, the shipping board, the 20,000 four-minute men, governors of the various states, organized labor and business men. The aim is to fill all the present and future needs of the government's shipyards.

Pay of volunteers will be in accordance with the prevailing wage in the shipyards at the time they are called. Construction of houses for the workers is being pushed with energy, and the necessary homes will be ready when the men are called.

Cards are issued to all applicants, bearing statements of the purpose of the shipyard volunteers, classifying them according to trades and asking signers to respond when called. Buttons will be given to volunteers bearing the inscription, "U. S. Shipyard Volunteers." In addition, the worker will receive a certificate signed by Chairman Hurley, which reads:

> "This is to certify (name of volunteer) of (city, state), has enrolled in the United States Shipyard Volunteers of Public Service Reserve to aid the nation in its imperative needs for merchant ships with which to overcome the submarine menace and maintain our forces at the front."

Shipyards to Win or Lose.

"The world war will be won or lost in the American shipyards. Every rivet driven is a blow at the kaiser. Every ship turned out brings America nearer to victory."

"Those who give their strength and influence to the speedy construction of ships render service that is patriotic and highly essential to the successful termination of the war."

Plans for the organization of the Shipyard Volunteers were laid with the view to interfere as little as possible with the private industrial concerns and to cause the minimum of inconvenience to the workers themselves.

Under this system, when an acetylene or electrical welder, blacksmith, boiler maker, carpenter or any other of the skilled workers or laborers is enrolled, he need not fear that he will be called upon to quit his present position without notice and go immediately to a shipyard. The government does not contemplate issuing calls to the volunteers until the yards are ready to receive them.

When a man is enrolled he may make his personal plans in accordance with the government's wishes and be ready when the call comes. He will then have awaiting him a definite job at a definite place, at a definite, generous rate of pay.

American Women No Slackers

We can well be proud of our American girls and women. In France and England women are taking up the work of men resolutely, and have shown their ability to do almost all kinds of work. When it becomes necessary women will show their worth in countless shops, stores, factories and offices. No one hears them complain of their hard work. These are the days when American men have cause to respect, love and honor their mothers, wives and sisters. If a woman is borne down by the weakness and sufferings of womankind, she should be helped by a herbal tonic made with glycerin which has had such uniform success during the past half century. She should be well, instead of sick and suffering; healthy and vigorous, instead of worn-out and weak; bright eyes, clear skin, rosy cheeks—you wouldn't think it was the same woman, and it's all due to the use of a few bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. PRESIDENT SETS 1918 WHEAT PRICE

NO CHANGE FROM LAST YEAR

Grain Must Be Harvested in United States This Year and Sold Before July, 1919—Statement Issued.

Washington, Feb. 25.—A price of $2.17 a bushel at Minneapolis and $2.20 at Chicago—the same as for last year's crop—has been fixed by President Wilson for the coming season's wheat crop. The price is for No. 1 northern spring.

President Makes Statement.

In a statement accompanying his proclamation, the President said:

"Under the food control act of August 10, 1917, it is my duty to announce a guaranteed price for wheat of the 1918 harvest. I am, therefore, issuing a proclamation setting the price at the principal interior primary markets. It makes no essential alteration in the present guaranty. It is a continuation of the present price of wheat with some adjustments arising from the designation of additional terminal marketing points.

"This guaranteed price assures the farmer of a reasonable profit even if the war should end within the year and the large stores of grain in those sections of the world that are now cut off from transporation should again come into competition with his products. To increase the price of wheat above the present figure or to agitate any increase of price would have the effect of very seriously hampering the large operations of the nation and of the country's Allies by causing the wheat of last year's crop to be withheld from the market. It would, however, dislocate the present wage levels that have been established after much anxious discussion and would, therefore, create an industrial unrest which would be harmful to every industry in the country.

"I know the spirit of our farmers and have not the least doubt as to the loyalty with which they will accept the present decision. The fall wheat planting, which furnishes two-thirds of our wheat production, took place with no other assurance than this. The farmers' confidence was demonstrated by the fact that they planted an acreage larger than the record of any preceding year, larger by two million acres than the second largest record year, and seven million acres more than the average for the five years before the outbreak of the European war.

"It seems not to be generally understood why wheat is picked out for price determination and only wheat among the cereals. The answer is that while normal distribution of all our farm products has been subject to great disturbances during the last three years because of war conditions only two commodities, namely, wheat and sugar, have been so seriously affected as to require governmental intervention.

Must Prevent Speculation.

"The disturbances which affect these products, and others in a less degree, arise from the fact that all of the overseas shipping in the world is now under government control and that the government is obliged to assign tonnage to each commodity that enters into commercial overseas traffic. It has, consequently, been necessary to establish single agencies for the purchase of the food supplies which must go abroad. The purchase of wheat in the United States for foreign use is of so great volume in comparison with the available domestic supply that the price of wheat has been materially disturbed and it became necessary, in order to protect both the producer and the consumer, to prevent speculation. It was necessary, therefore, for the government to exercise a measure of direct supervision as far as possible to control purchases of wheat and the processes of its exportation. This supervision necessarily amounted to price fixing, and I, therefore, thought it fair and wise that there should be a price stated that should be at once liberal and equitable.

Farmer Relied Upon.

"Those peculiar circumstances governing the handling and consumption of wheat put the farmer at the very center of war service. Next to the soldier himself he is serving the country and the world and serving it in a way which is absolutely fundamental to his own future safety and prosperity. He sees this and can be relied upon as the soldier can.

"The farmer is also contributing men to the army, and I am keenly alive to the sacrifices involved. Out of 13,800,000 men engaged in farm industries, 205,000 have been drafted, or about 1.48 per cent of the whole number. In addition to these there have been volunteers, and the farmers have lost a considerable number of laborers because the wages paid in industrial pursuits drew them away. In order to relieve the farming industry as far as possible from further drains of labor, the new [illegible] regulations have been drawn with a view to taking from the farms an even smaller proportion of men, and it is my hope that the local exemption boards will make the new classifications with a view of lightening the load upon the farms to utmost extent.

Marketing to Be Facilitated.

"The federal railway administration is co-operating in the most active, intelligent and efficient way with the food administration to remove the difficulties of transportation and of the active movement of the crops. Their marketing is to be facilitated and the farmers given the opportunity to realize promptly upon their stocks.

"The department of agriculture and the food administration will continue to co-operate as heretofore to assist the farmers in every way possible. All questions of production, of the marketing of farm products, of conservation in the course of production, and of agricultural labor and farm problems generally, will be handled by the department of agriculture, while all questions of distribution of food supplies to the Allies and of conservation in consumption will be handled by the food administration, but the chief reliance is upon the farmer himself, and I am sure that that reliance will be justified by the results. The chief thing to be kept clearly in mind is that regulations of this sort are only a part of the great general plan of mobilization into which every element in the nation enters in this war as in no other. The business of war touches everybody. It is a stern business, a co-operative business, a business of energy and sacrifice, a business of service in the largest and best and most stirring sense of that great work."

Proclamation Given.

After this explanatory preamble comes the proclamation proper, which reads as follows:

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States, by virtue of the powers conferred upon me by said act of congress, and especially by Section 14 thereof, do hereby find that an emergency exists requiring stimulating of the production of wheat, and that it is essential that the producers of wheat produced within the United States shall have the benefits of the guaranty provided for in said section; and, in order to make effective the guaranty by congress for the crop of 1918 and to assure such producers a reasonable profit, I do hereby determine and fix, and give public notice of reasonable guaranteed prices for No. 1 northern spring wheat and its equivalent at the respective principal primary markets, as follows, to wit:

Prices at Different Points.

Minneapolis, $2.17; Chicago, $2.20; Omaha, $2.15; Kansas City, $2.15; St. Louis, $2.18; Duluth, $2.17; New York, $2.28; Philadelphia, $2.27; Baltimore, $2.27; Newport News, $2.27; Charleston, S. C., $2.27; Portland, Ore., $2.05; Seattle, $2.05; San Francisco, $2.10; Los Angeles, $2.10; Galveston, $2.20; New Orleans, $2.20; Salt Lake City, $2.00; Great Falls, Mont., $2.00; Spokane, Wash., $2.00; Pocatello, Ida., $2.00; Fort Worth, Tex., $2.09; Oklahoma City, Okla., $2.05; Wichita, Kan., $2.08.

Reasonable Profit Assured.

"And that the guaranteed price for other grades established under the United States grain standards by the act approved August 11, 1916, based on said price for No. 1 northern spring wheat at the respective principal primary markets, above mentioned, will assure the producers of wheat produced in the United States a reasonable profit, the guaranteed prices in the principal primary markets above mentioned being fixed by adopting No. 1 northern spring wheat for its equivalent at the principal interior markets, as the basis.

Prices Guaranteed by U. S.

"The sums thus determined and fixed are guaranteed by the government of the United States at the respective principal primary markets of the United States above mentioned, to every producer of wheat of any grade so obtained under the United States grain standard act, upon the condition that said wheat is harvested in the United States during the year 1918, and offered for sale before the 1st day of June, 1919, to such agent or employe of the United States, or other persons as may be hereafter designated, at any of the above mentioned cities, which are, for the purpose of this act, hereby declared to be the principal primary markets of the United States, and provided that such producer complies with all regulations which may be hereafter promulgated in regard to said guaranty by the president of the United States.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be fixed.

"Done in the District of Columbia, this 21st day of February, in the year of our Lord 1918, and of the independence of the United States of America 142.

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

Mankato.—The school of the Sisters of Notre Dame of this city has been bequeathed three valuable city lots by the will of the late Miss Nellie Thompson, a former resident of Mankato.

Heron.—While the small children in Rudolph Stensel's family in Weimer township were playing war in an upstairs room, one of the little boys procured a 32-caliber rifle and shot and instantly killed his seven-year-old sister.

Foley.—C. E. Watson, who was recently appointed county agent for Benton county, has arrived in Foley and will maintain an office in the courthouse. Mr. Watson was formerly the agricultural instructor in the Milaca high school.

Bemidji.—At a meeting of the Patriotic league entertainment committee it was decided that the departure of the draft quota to leave Bemidji under the next general call should not go unnoticed and arrangements will be made for a fitting sendoff.

Mankato.—Frank E. Lundquist, 27, a well known young man of St. James, who was formerly employed in this city, died at San Antonio, Tex., in an army camp, death being caused by meningitis, and will be buried at St. James. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lindquist of St. James.

Bemidji.—George Kirk, until recently superintendent of the water works, appeared before Judge Stanton and entered a plea of not guilty to an indictment by the grand jury on the charge of embezzlement of funds from the water department. Kirk was held in bonds of $1,000, which were furnished.

Winona.—If the sentiment of Winona school heads can be taken as a criterion of the statewide reception of the Commission of Public Safety's suggestion that high schools and colleges close April 1, as a means of helping farmers put in a bumper war crop, the commission will receive little encouragement.

Minneapolis.—Arthur M. Keith, one of the most prominent attorneys of the city, who had been visiting his son, who is in the military service, died at Camp Cody. Mr. Keith had been ill for several days, having suffered an attack of ptomaine poisoning followed by pnuemonia. The body was brought to Minneapolis for interment.

Minneapolis.—Mae Snow, member of the Minneapolis board of education for the last seven years, and before that a teacher in the public schools for 16 years, died near Northfield, Minn., on a Rock Island train bound for Minneapolis. Death was due to cerebral meningitis, which attacked Miss Snow shortly after she boarded the train at Cedar Rapids.

Bemidji. — W. P. Dyer, for eight years superintendent of the local schools, who resigned to assume his new duties in the agricultural department of the state university, will be succeeded by W. G. Balcolm, for two years head of the Staples schools. Prior to coming to Staples Mr. Balcolm was for two years superintendent of the Pipestone schools.

Blue Earth.—An attempt to defy orders issued by County Attorney Henry J. Frundt, that no meetings of the Nonpartisan league be permitted in Faribault county, was frustrated by Deputy Sheriff Yost when he stopped a league rally at Walters. Two hundred farmers had gathered to hear Joseph Gilbert, manager of the league, recently sentenced to serve three months in Jackson county jail.

Eveleth.—Deputy Coroner Dr. W. S. King said that the tragedy enacted at the Nyman homestead, in the township of Corbin, 13 miles south of Eveleth, when Fred Nyman shot and killed his four children and his wife and then killed himself was evidently a case of murder and suicide and that an inquest would be unnecessary. The funeral of the six was held from a morgue here, Rev. Mr. Johnson, Swedish pastor, officiating.

St. Paul. — The Minnesota Central Co-operative Livestock Shipping association at its recent meeting here voted to make an assessment of 10 cents on each car of livestock shipped by members of the association as a means of raising funds to promote the work of the organization. It is believed that such an assessment will provide a fund of about $5,000 annually with which a man can be employed to look after legislation, the regulation of rates and local shipping troubles. Officers of the association elected were: President, H. L. Halverson, Litchfield; vice president, C. B. Crandall, Randolph; treasurer, Selby Peterson, Waconia; secretary, W. A. McKerrow, University Farm, St. Paul; directors, W. M. Ellason, Cokato; J. T. Isaacson, Kandiyohi.

St. Paul.—Governor Burnquist went to Chicago to attend a three-day congress of national service under the auspices of the National Security league. The governor was accompanied by [illegible]

FRED W. PUTNAM.

Fred W. Putnam, new member of the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse commission, having been appointed by Governor Burnquist to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Charles E. Elmquist.

Wahkon.—H. J. Steel, former superintendent of public schools, was recently re-elected to the principalship of two of the Duluth schools at a salary of $1,600.

Crookston.—The total amount realized by the local chapter of the Red Cross society by the auctioning off of donated articles at the farm crops show was $621.73.

Grand Marais.—The first roller feed and flour mill in Cook county is now set up and ready for operation. It was given its first trial and good results are reported.

Hawley.—Hawley branch of the Red Cross sent 708 finished articles to Moorhead to be forwarded to division headquarters between December 6 and February 14. Of these 387 were knitted.

Crookston.—Mrs. McVey, who was recently acquitted of kidnaping her seven-year-old daughter, Helen Mortinson, from her foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lee, has been granted the custody of the child by her former husband, N. Mortinson of Angus.

Little Falls.—Anna, the 16-year-old daughter of F. Nolander of Pike Creek, was injured while watching Peter Olleen chop a large tree down, the tree falling on her head and shoulders, knocking her unconscious. She was brought to St. Gabriel hospital.

Mankato.—Seiners in nearby lakes made good hauls last week. About 30,000 pounds of rough fish were in the seine at Lake Ballentyne at one draw and 20,000 pounds in a draw at Duck lake. The state received more than $500 as its share of the receipts of the seiners.

Camp Cody.—The body of Private Lawrence T. Kuhlman, hospital detachment, 136th infantry (Second Minnesota), who died at the base hospital here of pneumonia, was sent to the soldier's former home, Kenyon, Minn., where his mother, Mrs. Amelia Kuhlman, resides.

Moorhead. — An all-Lutheran meeting was held at Trinity Lutheran church, participated in by all Lutheran congregations in the city. The purpose was an explanation of the movement to raise $5,000 in Clay county for the welfare work for soldiers and sailors in the American armies who are Lutherans.

Winona.—The teaching of a course in making surgical dressings and another in first aid will be a departure at the Winona state normal school at the spring term, thus establishing another step in war activities there. Seventy young women have signified a desire to enter one of the classes. The school will give the study on a half credit basis.

St. Cloud. — Rev. E. V. Campbell, the oldest Presbyterian minister in Minnesota from point of service, preached his first sermon in the new Presbyterian church on Fourth avenue south. The new church is one of the most beautiful in the city, being entirely of St. Cloud granite, with a rough finish. The interior is finished in weathered oak. The new church was dedicated Sunday by the synod and Rev. John D. Bushnell of Westminster church of Minneapolis preached the sermon.

St. Paul.—Mrs. T. G. Winter, Minnesota director of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, was unanimously recommended for indorsement for the office of second vice president of the general federation by the executive board of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs at the annual mid-winter conference here. The question of inviting the council of the general federation to meet in Minneapolis in 1919, the women decided, would depend largely on war conditions and the matter was left in the hands of a committee.

Minneapolis.—Perfection of organization and adoption of by-laws for the Tri-State Country Grain Shippers' association took place at the Hotel Dyckman when 50 grain shippers from Minnesota and North and South Dakota met in a special meeting called for the purpose. [illegible]

Win the War by Preparing the Land
Sowing the Seed and Producing Bigger Crops
Work in Joint Effort the Soil of the United States and Canada
CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY
TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 Is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than April 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

For particulars as to routes and places where employment may be had apply to: U. S. EMPLOYMENT SERVICE, DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Scenes of Prosperity
Are Common in Western Canada

The thousands of U. S. farmers who have accepted Canada's generous offer to settle on homesteads or buy farm land in her provinces have been well repaid by bountiful crops of wheat and other grains.

Where you can buy good farm land at $15 to $30 per acre—get $2 a bushel for wheat and raise 20 to 45 bushels to the acre you are bound to make money—that's what you can do in Western Canada.

In the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta you can get a

and other land at very low prices.

During many years Canadian wheat fields have averaged 20 bushels to the acre—many yields as high as 45 bushels to the acre. Wonderful crops also of Oats, Barley, and Flax. Mixed Farming is as profitable an industry as grain raising. Good schools, churches; markets convenient, climate excellent. WITH A CLUB.

Are there still sanguine people nursing the hope that the war will be settled by a German revolt? If there are, they should reconcile themselves immediately to the realization that there is no such hope, that the war can be settled only by whipping Germany, and that the job is going to call for the utmost in service and sacrifice from every one of us—man, woman and child.

When the brute power that rules Germany turned upon distracted, divided and prostrate Russia, bent upon plain, undisguised plunder, the sanguine said: "Now watch! The German liberals, radicals, Socialists and what-not will never stand for this. There will be a revolt!"

Germany marched upon the helpless Russian people, and began its wholesale grabbing of territory. There was no revolt. So far as we have heard there was not even a protest. If there was a protest, it is inaudible. So far as appearances go, German rulership and German people are one!

The spectacle of the Trotzky-Lenine "government" abandoning its defenseless fellow-citizens of the Baltic provinces to German lust for power and pelf, and hurriedly offering an abject and contemptible peace, is one from which the world must avert its eyes in shame—shame for Russia, above all shame for Germany!

The too-sanguine ones had hoped that Germany had learned a lesson. Manifestly it has learned nothing. The only way to teach it what it needs to know is with a club; and the club needed is the united army of the allies, with the force of the allied nations behind it.—The Duluth Herald.

STEENERSON GETS BUSY

Congressman Steenerson has introduced a bill in Congress to increase the price of No. 1 northern wheat to $2.75 a bushel. In addition the bill provides that for all other wheat, the price shall be based on the milling value thereof, as compared with No. 1 northern, and where dockage is taken the value thereof, less cost of separation, is to be added.

Explaining the purpose of the bill, Mr. Steenerson said: "The grain grades established by the department of agriculture are so numerous and strict that they are almost impossible of application. If we had an open competitive market wheat would, of course, to a great extent, sell upon its milling value, regardless of what grades some learned professor might place upon it, but the food control act stepped in right after these grades were established, and the result was a difference of 3 cents between No. 1 and No. 4, between No. 1 and No. 5 and sample grades still lower. Of these six classes of wheat, there are 96 different grades, and the mixture of one with the other to any appreciable extent, lowers the grade, regardless of the milling value of the mixed wheat.

Under the present system, where there is a dockage consisting of other grains or separable seeds, the farmer gets no pay for them, though they may be worth almost as much as the wheat. The bill proposes the value of the wheat shall be based upon its milling qualities, and that dockage, less the cost of separation, shall be added.

The passage of my bill would be a quick remedy for all the grievances we are now suffering and would give us time to rewrite the grain inspection law upon more practical lines in time to be used after the war ceases, and price control ends."

It is not the purpose of the Nonpartisan League, to interfere in County politics, but the farmers will not be stuck for information, such as it is, of who to vote for, as one man by the Name of Bjerke has taken it upon himself to let them know who to elect for sheriff. He says that his Candidate is a city resident and could not join the league, but he should have the support of the league, (for office,) as he is the first one to seek office, by league assistance. Any league member that would support Mr Bjerkes candidate, violates the first principal of the League, which is to not support any office seeker, but choose your own candidate. But we expect that about the next news we will hear is, that T. H. Bjerke, and Andrew Trovaton have held a meeting and given Ove E. Berge, the unanimous indorsement of the Nonpartisan League for Sheriff of Pennington County and will be out with another letter advising League member to give him their unanimous support, so to be sure to land the first man that is "SEEKING OFFICE."

JOKE ON SCHOOL VISITOR

Fortunately Hamilton Mabie Was Well Able to Appreciate Unconscious Humor of the Children.

The late Hamilton W. Mabie, the well-known American essayist, was one of those genial men who enjoyed a joke on themselves. Illustrating this phase of Mr. Mabie's character, it is told that when he was a student Mr. Mabie made an address in which he told this story:

He had visited a school in Philadelphia in which there was a daily fire drill. The teacher regularly asked the students, "Children, what would you do if fire were to break out in this building?" The children all repeated in chorus, "We would rise in our places, step into the aisle, and march quietly out of the building." On the morning when Mr. Mabie visited the school, while he was sitting quietly on the platform, the teacher stepped before the pupils and said: "Children, what would you say if I were to tell you that Mr. Mabie is to speak to you this morning?" The children [illegible] replied in chorus: "We would rise in our places, step into the aisle, and march quietly out of the building."

First Irish Coaching Company.

In 1815, an Italian, named Bianconi, started the first coaching company in Ireland, running long cars over various regular routes. Long cars soon became the safest and most reliable means of traveling over Ireland, and Bianconi turned rich and prosperous. Writing in or about 1842, Mr. and Mrs. Hall, who have written much of Ireland, tell us that "persons of the highest respectability" used the long cars for traveling. At this time, although these cars passed through 128 towns, they had not made their way into the north of Ireland. The cars varied considerably in size, requiring from one to four horses. The fare, even over the rockiest roads in the West, was twopence farthing a mile. The Halls carefully explain that passengers were provided with "dry and comfortable horsehair cushions and aprons" and that, in wet weather, the long cars never journeyed more than two stages without changing the cushions.

Eucalyptus Valuable Tree.

Eucalyptus will grow under many adverse conditions, so long as they are protected from frost. The young trees cannot stand frost, and this fact has restricted the growth of the species to certain favorable sections of California and the Southwest. On the other hand, the trees will thrive on very poor soil and they do not require very much attention. Some of the largest commercial plantations, maintained by railroad companies for tie making purposes, are located along the shores of the Pacific ocean near San Diego, where their principal moisture comes from the heavy fogs that roll in from the sea and which are absorbed by the leaves.

BARLEY NEXT TO CORN.

(National Crop Improvement Service.)

Barley has a feeding value next to corn. Indeed some feeders place it ahead of corn for hog food and at the present prices, barley will make as much and more profit than wheat. The wheat crop has now "gone to the jury." We cannot do much more about wheat but we have two or three weeks yet in order to put all of our acreage remaining into barley.

Barley is more profitable than oats. In fact, very few farmers make any money out of oats under the best circumstances and very few barley farmers ever lose money on barley. There is always the fascination of getting a fancy price for fancy barley, and although less than one per cent of all grains are used for malting purposes, the additional price which it gives to barley over oats always makes money for the farmers. While perhaps one per cent of the grain crop is used in brewing, the loss of feed value is much smaller because fully one half goes back to dairy farmers in the form of dried grains and other by-products, which for feed purposes is among the best available.

Odd Marriage Belief.

An unmarried man or woman of marriageable age is something that is rarely seen in the Fiji islands. The reason of this is not far to seek. The natives believe that if a person dies while in an unmarried state his or her soul is doomed to wander about through endless ages of eternity in an intermediate region between heaven and hades. At the end of each moon they are allowed to look into heaven, but are never permitted to enter.

Ancient Pillory.

The prophet Jeremiah was confined in the pillory (Jeremiah xxix, 26), which appears to have been a common mode of punishment in his time. Ancient Hebrew prisons contained a special chamber for the pillory. This was termed "the house of the pillory" (II Chronicles xvi, 10).

We have not heard of any arrangements having been made in the town of Highlanding to fly flags at half staff, over their departure for their "new field of labor."

Anyone wanting to buy fence posts from the Sunbeam farm, should get them before the spring work starts, as we will not unhitch our teams from the grain drill to bother with fence posts. So if you don't know what posts you will want before seeding starts, you can wait until November, when we will have time to attend to posts.

The mails are flooded with literature nowadays in opposition to the Nonpartisan League. Shark Leather Here.

From being an implacable enemy to man science is making the shark expiate its crimes by helping to reduce the high cost of living. For the tiger of the sea has now become a source of leather to clothe millions of pairs of feet.

Experiments with shark leather indicate that it may be used for practically everything now made of cattle leather. It is even claimed that shark hides have one great advantage over cowhides in that the "splits" are amazingly strong. A "split" is simply a peeling of the hide—something like the veneer cut from a slab of wood.

WHO IS A SOCIALIST?

The rot that is being put out to fight the farmers Nonpartisan League organization, by calling it a socialist movement wont reach far. We are no socialist, but a patriotic American who is right behind the present administration to fight this war to a finish. WHAT A NEWSPAPER MEANS

Some Truths That the Average Man May Not Have Realized, but Here They Are.

What does the newspaper mean to you?

There is so much news no one can carry all of it. Someone must make selection. Do you appreciate how much depends upon this selection? Upon the selection and emphasis of the news depends the picture of the world upon which your judgments are based.

If a business man, your decision in business is affected by the newspaper you read.

In politics your opinions as a voter are swayed by them.

By what your wife reads you can see the trend of many of her interests and needs.

You have your thought turned in a new channel perhaps by what you read, and, when you find others concerned as you are and that the idea has been followed in their brains as in yours, you possibly discover how you can do collectively what you alone never could accomplish.

The newspaper enlarges the viewpoint of life for your boy in his college years. Stories of high purpose of achievement strengthen and uplift his standards. The great world of life which he has not touched exists to him only as presented by the newspaper.—New York Evening Mail.

ALL WILLING TO PAY FARES

Reason Why Citizens of Lima, Peru, Do Not Seek to Evade Their Street Car Obligations.

If fare registers were to be placed in the street cars of Lima, Peru, there would be a loud protest. This is not because it is easier to dodge the conductor under the prevailing system. On the contrary, the travelers of Lima are willing, even anxious, to pay their fares. Perhaps that doesn't seem human, but the explanation is that upon receipt of the fare a numbered ticket is presented to the passenger, and it is a valuable lottery ticket.

The car lines are divided into four sections for the monthly and semimonthly drawings conducted by the railway company. In the three important sections a cash prize of $150 is offered. The fourth section offers a prize of $50.

Does the public approve of the lottery? Does it? Well 28,500,000 persons rode last year.

Silkworms of the Sea.

Plenty of worms live in the sea, and some of them are very beautiful creatures. Which latter fact ought to be consoling to ourselves, inasmuch as there are naturalists who contend that the earliest ancestor of the human race was a marine worm. But the so-called "silkworm of the sea"—the designation being purely figurative and poetical—is a bivalve mollusk properly known as the "pinna" and native to the Mediterranean. It spins a silk so beautiful that in ancient days the fiber was reserved exclusively for the weaving of royal garments. This silk is spun by the mollusk to furnish an anchor line by which it fastens itself to a convenient rock. It is extremely fine and very strong. Cleaned, dried and passed through combs, it is reduced to delicate threads of a lustrous brownish-yellow hue, which are woven into gloves, stockings and other articles. A pair of stockings of this material today costs $6.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Great Tibetan Industry.

By far the largest herds of musk deer are to be found on the southern shores of the Koko-Nor, and the supply of musk there (at Taochou) is larger than the quantity that comes through Sungpan. In fact, great quantities of musk do not come to Sungpan at all, but are sent east to Yuchow, in Honan, where a fair is held in the ninth and tenth moons, many of the Sungpan traders visiting this place. At Tachienlu musk is the most valuable export, practically every [illegible] with it, and nearly all the [illegible] who come from the far interior bring some with them. MEAN TO STAMP OUT OBEAH

Authorities Will Put Stop to Practice Too Long Prevalent in the Virgin Islands.

The American officials of the Virgin islands have taken steps to deal with the novel but serious crime of obeah, which has long been practiced in the islands. Matilda Francois has been arrested and incarcerated as an obeah woman, and announcement has been made that prompt action will be taken by the Americans to show that this wicked and shameful practice must cease.

The obeah is a sort of first cousin of the voodoo of darkest Africa, which is said to be still practiced in the interior of Hayti, and which has not been entirely stamped out in other islands of the West Indies group. The obeah man or woman sets up as a sort of witch doctor professing to cure all ills by use of charms, to be skilled in the preparation of love philters, and of concoctions that are believed to be certain to bring harm to the enemy of the victim who pays.

Superstition still has such strong hold on the minds of those who believe in obeah that they pay their good money and protect them in court until obeah cases at times have become the bane of officials. Often convictions are only brought about through deep-laid plots and skillful work on the part of the police.

SUCH A SMART BROTHER

But It Is Entirely Probable Sister Did Not Appreciate His Peculiar Form of Wit.

A young lady in Lakewood is of the opinion that she is grown up—in which opinion she is not encouraged either by her parents or her older brother. She is fifteen, brother is sixteen. She thinks that young men should be allowed to call on her in the evening; brother jeers, parents shake their heads.

Finally the girl's mother consented to her having a certain approved boy call, provided he came on a Friday evening. And the excited damsel called the favored youth up on the phone and imparted the glad news. It is presumed that the young man (he was all of eighteen years old) spent a good deal of time at his toilet that evening—certainly the young lady took great care of hers. She was still primping when the swain rang the doorbell. Brother answered.

"Ah," began the caller, clearing his throat. "Is Miss Jones at home?"

"Come in," answered Brother, equivocally. Then he went to the foot of the stairs and called—

"Molly! Quit cuttin' paper dolls an' come downstairs. One of your playmates wants to see you!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Airplane Wrecks Train.

An airplane has often proved itself more than a match for its antagonist in an unequal encounter. A French aviator once penetrated far behind the German lines and chanced upon a heavily laden troop train. The speed of his craft being fully twice that of this unusual antagonist, it gave him an advantage he was quick to use. The airplane flew so low that its machine gun was brought to bear upon the cars, raking them with disastrous results. Still flying very low, the airman increased his speed and on coming abreast of the locomotive shot both engineer and fireman. Left to itself the locomotive raced forward uncontrolled, and taking a sharp curve at high speed was wrecked with great loss of life.

Clearer Values.

All life and action upon the snow have an added emphasis and significance. Every expression is understood. Summer has few finer pictures than this winter one of the farmer foddering his cattle from a stack upon the clean snow—the movement, the sharply defined figures, the great green flakes of hay, the long files of patient cows, the advance just arriving and pressing eagerly for the choice morsels—and the bounty and provision it suggests.

A severe artist! No longer the canvas and the pigments, but the marble and the chisel. . . . . I see the hills, bulging with great drifts, lift themselves cold and white against the sky, the black lines of fences here and there obliterated by the depth of the snow. Presently a fox barks away up the next mountain, and I imagine I see him sitting there in his furs upon the illuminated surface, and looking down in my direction.—John Burroughs.

Little Known of Shooting Stars.

Our knowledge of shooting stars extends into the oldest history of humanity, back into prehistoric times. Yet today no one knows exactly what a shooting star is, or from where it comes. An hypothesis proposed in 1875 and generally accepted today, is that meteorites are fragments broken from small planetary masses by volcanic explosions, brought about by a sudden expansion of gasses, steam and probably hydrogen. The broken bits, after their separation, are believed to arrange themselves in swarms which cross the orbit of the earth in accordance with a definite law. Shooting stars, then, undoubtedly come from within our solar system and are broken bits of a world body destroyed by volcanic events. Many meteorites have been found in Arizona.—Popular Science Monthly.

The Sixth Sense.

Human beings have a real sixth sense, says Science, in the shape of a sense of equilibrium. This sense is coming in for much intensive study today, because it is probably the most important qualification for the successful aviator. It has been found to reside in three tiny canals in the inner ear. These three canals are located in the bone of the skull and are filled with a liquid in which nerve filaments from the auditory nerve terminate. In some way not yet clearly understood, through these canals and nerves the individual can tell, without being able to see or feel, just how nearly upright his position is. The sense is much more keenly developed in some people than in others.

Inspiration in Dreams.

Coleridge must be added to the list of authors who have found inspiration in dreams, for he himself has told us that he composed over 200 lines of the "Kubla Khan" during a sleep of three hours. On awaking he wrote down the fragment now existing, but the interruption of a visitor banished the rest from his mind. The first idea of "The Ancient Mariner," too, was suggested to the poet by a dream of his friend Cruikshank. And Kipling's "Greatest Story in the World" was but the half remembered dream of a commonplace young man.—London Mail.

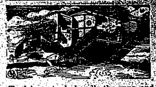
DEFECTIVE PAGE



To drive a tank, handle the guns, and sweep over the enemy trenches, takes strong nerves, good rich blood, a good stomach, liver and kidneys. When the time comes, the man with red blood in his veins "is up and at it." He has iron nerves for hardships—an interest in his work grips him. That's the way you feel when you have taken a blood and nerve tonic, made up of Blood root, Golden Seal root, Stone root, Cherry bark, and rolled into a sugar-coated tablet and sold in sixty-cent vials by almost all druggists for past fifty years as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This tonic, in liquid or tablet form, is just what you need this spring to give you vim, vigor and vitality. At the fag end of a hard winter, no wonder you feel "run-down," blue, out of sorts. Try this "Medical Discovery" of Dr. Pierce's. Don't wait! To-day is the day to begin! A little "pep," and you laugh and live.

The best means to oil the machinery of the body, put tone into the liver, kidneys and circulatory system, is to first practice a good house-cleaning. I know of nothing better as a laxative than a vegetable pill made up of May-apple, leaves of aloe and jalap. This is commonly sold by all druggists as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and should be taken at least once a week to clear the twenty-five feet of intestines. You will thus clean the system—expel the poisons and keep well. Now is the time to clean house. Give yourself a spring house cleaning.—Adv.

KIDNEY TROUBLE NOT EASILY RECOGNIZED

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected

An examining physician for one of the prominent life insurance companies, in an interview of the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

We find that Swamp-Root is strictly an herbal compound and we would advise our readers who feel in need of such a remedy to give it a trial. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

RUSSIANS SIGN GERMAN PEACE

Slavs Give Way Fearing More Onerous Conditions Would Follow Further Delay.

TURKS SHARE IN SPOILS

Berlin Claims That Military Movements in Great Russia Have Ceased—Little Information as to Details of Meeting.

Petrograd, March 5.—A German airman bombed various parts of the city. Three persons were killed and five wounded. The material damage was unimportant.

The peace treaty with Germany has been signed.

The Ukrainian army has occupied Kiev, Gomel and Berdichev.

Take 65,000 Russians.

Berlin, March 5.—The Germans in their advance through Russia have captured, according to the official communication from General headquarters, 6,800 officers and 57,000 men, 2,400 guns, 5,000 machine guns, thousands of motor vehicles, 800 locomotives and thousands of railroad trucks.

Treaty Is Signed.

London, March 4.—According to an official statement from Berlin Russia has bowed to the Teutonic allies. The Bolsheviki commissioners sent to Brest-Litovsk have signed the treaty of peace presented by the Germans. The statement adds that military movements in East Russia have now ceased.

At the same time reports from Poland by the way of Amsterdam, say Leon Trotzky, the Bolsheviki foreign minister, did not return to the peace conference at Brest-Litovsk because Germany objected to his continuance as a Russian delegate. It is stated that Trotzky's resignation will be forthcoming as a result.

Signed Without Discussion.

It was reported by the Bolshevik commissioners that they were about to sign the treaty. This report was telegraphed to Lenine and Trotzky after the delegates sent to Brest-Litovsk had met the German emissaries.

There is little information available as to the details of the meeting between the peace delegations, but the Bolsheviki said they realized that any further delay would mean more onerous conditions, and they would sign the treaty without further discussions.

Turkey was the beneficiary of the changes in the peace terms. The new demands included that Russia relinquish the regions of Batoum, Kars and Karaband (Karabagh) to the Turks. These regions are in Transcaucasia and mark a considerable addition to the sultan's dominion in that section of the world.

NINE AMERICANS ARE KILLED

North Dakota Private Slain and Minnesotan Wounded.

Washington, March 4.—Five Americans, including Second Lieut. Harold F. Eadie, of Tilton, N. H., were killed, five were severely wounded and four slightly wounded in the fight with the Germans north of Toul on March 1, the War department announces.

Those killed besides the lieutenant were: Sergeant Anthony Amodei, Baltimore, Md.; Privates Edgar Parsons, Obids, N. C., Henry J. Henry, Logansport, Ind., and Mathew Brew, Fayette, N. D.

The department also announces the following killed in action:

Sergeant Joseph P. Chaisson, Derby, Me., February 24; Corporal Eph Boggs, Red Jacket, W. Va., March 2; Private Hugh Weatherman, Beaman, Ia., March 2, and Cook Thomas S. Hardesty, El Paso, Tex., February 28.

Those severely wounded March 1 were: Corporal Elliott Fortner, Herrin, Ill.; Privates Isaac Howard, Evarts, Ky.; Roy E. Ness, R. F. D., No. 3, Duluth, Minn.; Reuben J. Finkle, Highwood, Mont., and Cook Glen H. Work, Obert, Neb.

This name appears on the last list: Killed in action: G. Prummer, Oronoco, Minn.

SEED LOAN BILL NOT DEAD

Washington, March 4. — The Baer bill, providing $50,000,000 for the purchase of feed and seed for farmers on credit will be reconsidered by the House agricultural committee.

The bill was rejected by the committee, but strong pressure upon Chairman Lever now seems to assure a favorable report. Mr. Lever cast the deciding vote against the bill.

Foodstuffs Wastage Feared.

Washington, March 2.—Great quantities of foodstuffs will go to waste in Northwestern states unless immediate steps are taken by the railroad administration to furnish cars so they can be transported to markets, according to a telegram read in the Senate from producers in Idaho and Washington. Senator Borah of Idaho said he had received a large number of telegrams declaring it is impossible to transport thousands of carloads of apples and potatoes to markets.

GIVES PROCLAMATION FOR WAR CLUB WEEK

St. Paul, March 2.—Governor Burnquist has issued the following proclamation for war club week:

Whereas, the people of the United States are at war with the German empire and the empire of Austria-Hungary and for the successful prosecution of the war systematic and organized thrift, saving and economy are absolutely necessary in all of our citizens and permanent agencies to carry on the work of thrift, saving and economy during the full period of the war are essential, and the government of the United States has requested its citizens to form themselves into war saving societies and in such societies to carry on, during the period of the war, a systematic, and continuous campaign for the encouragement and practise of thrift, saving and economy and for the purchase of Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps and has outlined a plan for the organization of such societies;

Now, Therefore, I do set aside and designate the week commencing Sunday, the 10th day of March, 1918, as

WAR CLUB WEEK

and during said week I do earnestly urge and request the citizens of the state of Minnesota,

FIRST—To purchase liberally and enthusiastically War Savings Stamps and Thrift Stamps.

SECOND—To form war savings societies and within such societies solemnly and formally to declare unto the government of the United States that they will, while the war continues,

Practice in their personal affairs thrift and economy.

Abstain from expenditures which are not reasonably necessary to their health and well-being.

Save and invest the proceeds of their savings in Thrift Stamps and War Saving Stamps and Advise and solicit their friends, neighbors and associates to practise thrift, saving and economy and to purchase such stamps and in this manner to write upon the nation's honor roll the names of all those who are loyal and patriotic for the coming generations to read.

And I hereby call upon all women's clubs and organizations; all labor unions and railway brotherhoods and other labor organizations; all universities and colleges; all public, private parochial and denominational schools and colleges; all churches, lodges and benevolent and fraternal organizations; all state, county and city officials, fire departments, police departments and hospitals; all Y. M. C. A.s, Y. W. C. A.s, Christian Endeavor societies and Boy Scout organizations; all business houses, office forces, office buildings, mills, factories, commercial clubs, hotels and apartment houses and all other like and similar organizations to form within themselves one or more war savings societies and thereby to affiliate themselves with the National War Savings committee.

—J. A. A. Burnquist.

Hallock. — Grandma Jenkins celebrated the 89th anniversary of her birthday recently. A surprise party was given here by a number of her friends and admirers. A birthday cake decorated with 90 candles was presented to her.

Stillwater. — Many cords of excellent firewood have been gathered during the past week or ten days by the residents of "Dutchtown" from along the shores of the famous St. Croix river between this city and Marine-on-St. Croix.

International Falls.—E. B. Fisher, superintendent of the Minnesota, Dakota and Western railroad, with headquarters here, was arrested for making remarks tending to discourage enlistments. He was placed under bonds pending a hearing.

Akeley.—Government Indian agents destroyed 475 gallons of cider here. The cider was found to contain 7 per cent alcohol. It was reported several days ago that school children had become intoxicated after drinking the cider and an investigation was started.

St. Paul.—A small sample of "hard grape cider," said to have "turned the heads of many at Roosevelt," was received from a citizen of the Kittson county village at the offices of the State Public Safety commission. The same was forwarded to the University of Minnesota laboratory for analysis. The letter accompanying the package said that there is a blind pig somewhere in Roosevelt and that the strong cider was dispensed in a pool hall which is operated seven days a week.

Plans to End Rail Coal Shortage.

Washington, March 2.—Federal officials, Eastern railroad men and coal operators of Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia conferred here at the invitation of the fuel administration to determine the best means of assuring an adequate supply of railroad fuel coal particularly adapted for use in other channels for the prosecution of the war. Disposition of 175,000,000 tons of coal is involved in the subject of railroad fuel coal and will be considered.

NEWS OF STATE TERSELY TOLD

Recent Happenings In Minnesota Given In Brief Items For Busy Readers.

Bemidji. — Receipts from "Wood day" amounted to $700.90. From this will come incidental expenses, leaving net $633.15 for the Red Cross.

Milaca.—The Arlington hotel, brick veneered, has been burned. The loss is estimated by G. F. Warren, the owner, at about $20,000, and he carried $10,000 insurance.

Buffalo.—The local flour mill shipped out a carload of wheat flour to the government on government orders directly to New York, and from there it goes across the sea.

Brainerd.—When Albert Krueger, a farmer living near here, visited his sheep pen he found a ewe nursing five lambs. Births of a quintet of lambs is said to be very unusual.

St. Peter.—To stamp out disloyalty in Nicollet county, a Home Guard company was organized here by Major G. A. Lewis of Mankato, who said he thought no trouble would be found in securing the required number of men.

St. Paul. — President Wilson was personally appealed to by the State Public Safety commission for relief from a phase of the car shortage situation which is tying up 13,000,000 bushels of potatoes in Northern Minnesota.

Mahnomen.—Rev. Hoss of Hebron, N. D., who preached at the Congregational church here recently, received a unanimous call to become the pastor of the Congregational church at a business meeting following the services.

Moorhead.—The city board of education re-elected all the teachers of the Moorhead city schools at a $10 a month increase. The selection of a new principal of the high school will be made after the new superintendent is elected.

Minneapolis. — County auditors of the state met in the county commissioners' rooms at the courthouse and listened to talks by Al P. Erickson, auditor of Hennepin county, A. E. Fritz, public examiner, Assistant Attorney General Oakley and others.

St. Paul. — The Great Northern Railway company and its subsidiaries will pay the state taxes of $883,761 on gross earnings in Minnesota during the last six months of 1917, according to its reports filed with the state tax commission. The Great Northern reported gross earnings of $17,462,222, against $16,530,208 for the last half of 1916.

St. Paul. — Carl P. Olson, Litchfield, with a score of 96½, was the prize winner in the butter-making contest in a series conducted by the state dairy and food department. Commissioner James Sorenson has announced. Will Donnelly, Cologne, was second and Fritz Lehnberg, Hills, was third. About 150 butter makers entered the contest.

Minneapolis. — The Minneapolis Typographical union has withdrawn from the Minneapolis Trades and Labor assembly, charging that control of that organization has passed into the hands of the Socialists and I. W. W members not in sympathy with its aims, and that the constitution and by-laws are disregarded by the majority membership. Formation of a new assembly is planned.

St. Paul. — State aid totaling $2,637,545 which litigation has tied up since last October will be apportioned immediately and paid to Minnesota public schools entitled to it. Announcement was made after dismissal by the state supreme court of an appeal in mandamus proceedings brought by school district No. 50, Benton county, to compel state officials to make the distribution.

Brainerd. — The district meeting of the Minnesota conference of the Augustana synod of the Lutheran church, just held here, voted against the proposed merger of some of the Lutheran bodies in the so-called United Lutheran Church of America. Officers elected were: Chairman, Rev. Eloi Peterson of Little Falls; secretary, Rev. T. J. Peterson of Aitkin; statistician, Rev. N. A. Almer; treasurer, Rev. P. S. Miller of Upsala.

Minneapolis.—D. W. Smith of Pipestone was elected president of the Minnesota Retail Jewelers' association at the annual meeting of the organization in the Hotel Radisson. Resolutions pledging support to the government were adopted. Other officers are: Vice president, A. E. Barker, Minneapolis; treasurer, C. A. Sherdahl, Montevideo; secretary, E. M. Schwenke, New Richland; directors, C. D. White, R. H. Winter, Minneapolis, and N. S. Nelson, Hutchinson.

Mankato.—Mrs. Johanna Kron, the mother of the first white child born in Mankato, is dead, aged 88 years. She was born in Baden, Germany, and came to America in the early 50s and located in Mankato soon afterward. Her husband, Clements Kron, died 40 years ago.

Moorhead. — Clay county is now mobilized for the third Liberty loan drive with an army of 200 workers including the members of the ward committees of Moorhead and Barnesville. Under a plan devised a share of the work is allotted to each committeeman.

LYNDON A. SMITH

Attorney General of Minnesota Suffers Stroke of Paralysis.

Lyndon A. Smith, attorney general of Minnesota, suffered a stroke of paralysis at his home in St. Paul. His physician, Dr. George Senkler, says the patient's symptoms are all favorable, and no setbacks are expected.

Fergus Falls.—Mrs. Anna Mattson, one of the earliest settlers of the town of Dane Prairie, died at her home there, aged 75.

St. Cloud.—Superintendent Hoke of Duluth visited the normal school here recently and selected quite a number of June graduates for positions in the Duluth schools.

Fergus Falls.—The Ninth battalion of the Minnesota Home Guard will hold its first annual encampment in this city June 13 to 20. The battalion consists of Company A of Morris, Company B of Breckenridge, Company C of Moorhead, and Company D of Fergus Falls, and will be under command of Major Hopeman of Moorhead.

Pine City. — Dr. Wiseman of this city, a member of the exemption board, when approached by the father of a young man drafted and asked what it would cost to get the boy off, resented the overture, according to reports, and later after the boy was passed and the same person offered him $25 to exempt the boy, knocked him down.

Camp Dodge. — Minnesota's full draft quota is in Camp Dodge. With the assignment of the last schedules of drafted men ordered to report at Camp Dodge, the movement of the Minnesota contingent of selective fighters, which began last September, will be finally completed. Nearly 20,000 Minnesotans have reported at Camp Dodge since September.

St. Paul. — Five hours' conference of the State Public Safety commission with representatives of the Nonpartisan league behind closed doors at the capitol left unchanged the policy of the commission relating to the league and its activities. "The commission never has assumed the prerogative of the local authorities and will not do so now," said a member later.

St. Paul.—Proceedings will be begun soon to dissolve the state charter of the Albert Lea college, a Presbyterian boarding school for girls at Albert Lea, and for the appointment of a receiver to wind up its affairs, according to Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith, after hearing and favoring a decision of the application of the Albert Lea State bank, a creditor of the institution.

Winona. — Edward Fakler, Winona business man, who has been missing since October 12, is not in the Mississippi river, as has been generally believed. Information has come that he had been seen in Butte, Mont., by an acquaintance. The latter made arrangements to meet him later, but Fakler failed to keep the appointment. Relatives have offered large rewards for information that will reveal his whereabouts.

St. Paul.—Major W. Curtis, chief of Adjutant General Rhinow's staff, has returned after having mustered in four new Home Guard companies in Northern Minnesota. Buhl has an organization of 109 men, in command of Captain Arthur L. Smith; Cass Lake, a company of 84, under Captain George L. Marshall; Akeley, 78, under Captain Charles Scheers, and Nevis, 54 men, commanded by Captain Fred Giese.

Minneapolis. — Retail meat dealers of Minnesota met at the West Hotel to form a state organization. About 10 per cent of the meat dealers of the state have signed membership cards. John S. Taylor, secretary of the Minneapolis Retail Grocers' association, talked on the benefits of organization. A. D. Wilson, state food administrator, addressed the members on "How Meat Dealers Can Co-operate With the Administration."

Hallock. — Former Senator Sundberg is informed that his son, Roy, is safe. Roy's name appeared in the list of the ill-fated Tuscania victims, but it seems that while a portion of his regiment had sailed on this boat, the greater portion had embarked in a transport that was safely landed in a French harbor.

Crookston.—What is probably the greatest of examples of personal sacrifice and patriotism in this part of the country was revealed when Mrs. T. S. Stevenson of McIntosh arrived in this city to give her sixth son to Uncle Sam.

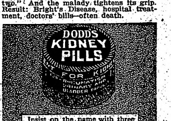
Says Dodd's Kidney Pills, Wonderful Remedy

Mrs. Della Olson, of New London, Wis., like many others, knows after experiencing the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills that they are unexcelled. Here is what Mrs. Olson recently wrote us:

"I suffered with rheumatism for years. There was a gravel deposit in the urine and I had frequent headaches. I had dark circles around my eyes and was always tired. I bought a box of your Dodd's Kidney Pills and am glad I did, for I secured quick relief and think they are a wonderful remedy."

Mighty few people realize in time that kidney trouble is making its advances upon their health. They put off treatment—they say, "Oh, I'll be all right in a day or two." And the malady tightens its grip. Result: Bright's Disease, hospital treatment, doctors' bills—often death.



Insist on the name with three D's and enjoy freedom from kidney ills. At all druggists.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off. Adv.

"Blue" and Worried?

"Blue," worried, half-sick people should find out the cause of their troubles. Often it is merely faulty kidney action, which allows the blood to get loaded up with poisons that irritate the nerves. Backache, headaches, dizziness and annoying bladder troubles are added proofs that the kidneys need help. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands thank them for relief from just such troubles.

A Minnesota Case

Mrs. C. C. Lohmann, S. Main St., Zumbrota, Minn., says: "The first symptom of my kidney trouble was a pain through the small of my back; before long, it extended down into my limbs. I had nervous headaches and often got so dizzy, I couldn't see. I felt languid and was all worn out mornings. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me quick relief and after I had used a few boxes, I was cured. I have had no further trouble."

Sowing the Seed and Producing Bigger Crops

Work in Joint Effort the Soil of the United States and Canada

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 Is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than April 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

TELLS CHANCES FOR AGREEMENT

Hertling Says Germany Accepts Wilson's Four Principles as Basis for Peace Parley.

ONE CONDITION MADE

Declares All Peoples Must Endorse Offer and That Goal of World Arbitration Court Has Not Been Reached.

Amsterdam, Feb. 27.—The imperial German chancellor, Count von Hertling, speaking before the Reichstag, made this declaration:

"I can fundamentally agree with the four principles, which in President Wilson's view must be applied in a mutual exchange of views, and thus declare with President Wilson that a general peace can be discussed on such a basis.

"Only one reserve need be made in this connection: These principles must not only be proposed by the President of the United States, but also must actually be recognized by all states and peoples.

"But this goal has not yet been reached. There is still no court of arbitration established by all the nations for the preservation of peace in the name of justice. When President Wilson incidentally says that the German chancellor is speaking to the tribunal of the entire world, I must decline this tribunal as prejudiced, joyfully as I would greet it, if an impartial court of arbitration existed and gladly as I would co-operate to realize such ideals.

"Unfortunately, however, there is no trace of similar statements on the part of the leading powers of the Entente. England's war aims are still thoroughly imperialistic and she wants to impose on the world a peace according to Englanad's good pleasure.

Challenges Britain's Claim.

"The world is longing for peace," the chancellor said, "but the governments of the enemy countries again are inflaming the passion for war. There are, however, other voices to be heard in England; it is to be hoped these voices will multiply.

"The world now stands before a final decision. Either our enemies will decide to conclude peace—they know on what conditions we are ready to begin a discussion—or they will continue the insanity by their criminal war of conquest."

He continued: "Our people will hold out further, but the blood of the fallen, the agonies of the mutilated and the distress and sufferings of peoples will fall on the heads of those who insistently refuse to listen to the voice of reason and humanity."

The Four Principles.

The four principles outlined by President Wilson in his address of February 11, referred to by Count von Hertling, the German chancellor, in his speech before the Reichstag, are:

"First, that each part of the final settlement must be based upon the essential justice of that particular case and upon such adjustments as are most likely to bring a peace that will be permanent.

"Second, that peoples and provinces are not to be bartered about from sovoreignty to sovereignty as if they were mere chattels and pawns in the game, even the great game, now forever discredited, of balance of power; but that,

"Third, every territorial settlement involved in this war must be made in the interest and for the benefit of the population concerned, and not as a part of any mere adjustment or compromise of claims amongst rival states, and,

"Fourth, that all well defined national aspirations shall be accorded the utmost satisfaction that can be accorded them without introducing new or perpetrating old elements of discord and antagonism, and that would be likely in time to break the peace of Europe and consequently the peace of the world.

"A genral peace erected upon such foundations can be discussed. Until such a peace can be secured we have no choice but to go on. So far as we can judge, these principles that we regard as fundamental are already everywhere accepted as imperative, except among the spokesmen of the military annexationist party in Germany."

Proof that Some Women do Avoid Operations

Mrs. Etta Dorion, of Ogdensburg, Wis., says:

"I suffered from female troubles which caused piercing pains like a knife through my back and side. I finally lost all my strength so I had to go to bed. The doctor advised an operation but I would not listen to it. I thought of what I had read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and tried it. The first bottle brought great relief and six bottles have entirely cured me. All women who have female trouble of any kind should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

How Mrs. Boyd Avoided an Operation.

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well.

"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MARIE BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

22 Million Families in the United States

IF EACH FAMILY saved one cup of wheat flour it would amount to 5,500,000 pounds, or more than 28,000 barrels. If this saving was made three times a week, it would amount to 858,000,000 pounds, or 4,377,000 barrels in a year.

You can do your share in effecting this saving and really help to win the war by omitting white bread from one meal today and baking in its place muffins or corn bread made according to this recipe:

Corn Meal Muffins

3/4 cup corn meal
1 1/4 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
2 tablespoons sugar
No eggs
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons shortening

Sift dry ingredients together into bowl; add milk and melted shortening and beat well. Bake in greased muffin tins in hot oven about 20 minutes. Same batter may be baked as corn bread in greased shallow pan.

FOOD WILL WIN THE WAR

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUB.

Published every Friday at Sunbeam, Pennington County Minnesota.

$1.00 a year, in advance.

People who have enjoyed the freedom and privileges of America for 10 or fifteen years, and now claim exemption from draft, may not think they are so smart when they get notice to pack up and get ready to be returned to the Country from which they came, and to never again set foot on American soil.

Minnesota established a record during the month of February, according to Major John D. Yost, Recruiting Officer of the Minnesota District, when 764 men were secured for the army. Of the total number of recruits, 607 were for the Regular Army and 157 for the various regiments of the National Army. "While the month has been a short one", says Major Yost, "the results have been most gratifying, the average daily enlistments for the month totaling 27 men as compared with 24 men during the month of January, which heretofore has been a banner month."

When the fact is taken into consideration that men of the draft age from 21 to 31 years of age are barred from voluntary enlistment, the showing is a good one, and it putting the Gopher state in its rightful position, near the head of the column in the matter of enlistments. The final increment of the first draft, which left for Camp Dodge, during the last week of the month, was over 8,000 men, this combined with voluntary enlistments and men inducted into the service, during the month, will bring Minnesota's contribution to the army for the month of February well over the 10,000 mark. Departure of the draft men did much to arouse enthusiasm among their friends, and recruiting at all stations in the district, during the last week of the month was more than double the daily average.

The saving of food as established by our government seems to set some people into a panic, for fear they are going to starve to death. We noticed this last summer, when flour was steadily advancing in price, the majority of farmers began to lay in a years supply, which of course increased the price, by increasing the demand. Do not now try to lay in a big stock of flour for future use, but buy it as you need it, for you may be sure that there is not going to be any famine in America, although the government, is going to save the flour supply so as to not get out later on. When you are out of flour, only buy one sack instead of four or five.

The arrest of President Townley, of the Nonpartisan League, on an old trumpeted up charge, for Literature sent out last June is great League Fertilizer. Every move made by "Big Business," Backed up by Politicians to persecute the League serves to increase its membership and strength. The farmers always construe any opposition as a reason for them to get more solidly in line to defend their rights, and them and the laboring men are now so well organized that they will carry this state by an overwhelming majority next November. That the interests now begin to realize their danger is evident from their frantic efforts to stem the storm which started from a small cloud in N. D. and is now sweeping over the entire nation

District Judge Nye, of Moorhead, who is a captain in the National army in France, writes: "There must be no turning back now—the question whether we be a subject nation or an independent one must be settled with blood and steel."

Before the United States becomes a subject Nation to Kaiser Wilhelm, there will only be a few left to become subjects. America now fully understand the situation, and they will drive that old Kaiser into his hole and make him pull the hole in after him.

How Toasts Originated.

The custom of drinking the health of the most popular man at the table has its foundation in the ancient practice originated by the Greeks and adopted by the Romans of drinking to the gods and the dead, observes an exchange.

The Greeks and Romans later began the practice of drinking to each other, and from this arose the custom of toasting living men. But health drinking in its modern form, originating in England in the roystering days of Charles II, begins with the custom of drinking to the ladies or to any woman who happened to be the reigning belle of the court.

Many and various were the quaint customs associated with the toasts of those days. For example, in certain companies of military officers etiquette demanded that the cup should be passed from hand to hand.

In many midnight gatherings of Alsatia gallants stabbed themselves in order to drink with their blood the health of the woman on whom their hearts were set.—Kansas City Journal.

When to Shut Your Eyes.

In an article about Thomas Edison in the American Magazine, William Maxwell, the vice president of the Edison company, said:

"One bit of executive strategy that I learned from Edison has stood me in good stead a dozen times. He had the wise habit of knowing when to shut his eyes. There are times in every organization when controversies [illegible] between even the most loyal and well intentioned subordinates. Sometimes it is the wisest thing for the man [illegible] to know nothing whatever about them, to let them work [illegible] years ago," said Lincoln, "that in a fight between man and wife, a third party should never get between the woman's skillet and the man's ax helve."

Tact and Charm.

Dinner conversation offers the opportunity to eliminate all disagreeable topics. To lay aside one's worries and keep one's troubles from obtruding. The same should be said of all occasions and good form particularly denotes that dinners, and formal dinners at that, should be freed of personal burdens retailed.

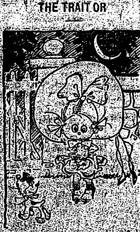
At all times give interest as well as try to inspire it and one of the emphatic ways is to let the person who happens to be speaking have your undivided attention. Attention and concentration amount to about the same thing and should apply to what one is oneself saying as well as hearing.

In Prehistoric Times.

Bonechisel—Say, you! Whaddye mean by sneakin' into my cave an' beatin' up my daughter?

Stonehammer—Yes. I did call on your daughter and beat her up some. But I assure you, sir, my intentions were honorable.

THE TRAITOR



The Lady—Dear me! Jimmy borrowed my nine cents to get his dress suit out to take me to a show, an' here I've waited for him six hours!

LIVING IN JAPAN.

Hard Work For the Middle Classes to Make Both Ends Meet.

Dr. Takata, Japanese minister of education, has recently published a book concerning economic conditions in Japan. The pinch comes harder upon the middle classes than upon the lower classes since the former must not only live, but must keep up a respectable appearance on salaries no greater than those that men who work at trades receive.

For example, according to Dr. Takata, a primary school teacher earns $15.30 a month, but his lowest budget for a family of four persons is $17.[illegible]. His wife must do work at home to earn the deficit. A [illegible] the editor and writer who has a wife, two children and a maid spends $32.75 monthly on household sundries. His earnings are irregular, but always below his expenses. He has been compelled to borrow money from his wife's relatives, and her trousseau is not unknown to the pawnshops.

LOOKS THAT WAY.

Does The League Want To Win?

IF YOU WANT TO ELECT A CONGRESSMAN INDORSE STEENERSON

The grain gamblers and big millers who make up the membership of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce are now enjoying their biennial pastime of picking out a successor for Congressman Halvor Steenerson of this district. These same elements have been busily engaged in this same occupation for more than twenty years and are farther from success now than ever.—T. R. Falls Times.

Congressman Steenerson has always been opposed to this wheat gambler gang, and there is only one act that the Non-Partisan League could do that would please them and their backers, the Daily papers of the cities, and that would be to fail to indorse Congressman Steenerson and give the indorsement to a weak candidate in his place. It would please them for two reasons, viz: They know that Congressman Steenerson will be a candidate for re-election, and that he has pretty near the solid backing of the wheat growers of the Ninth District, who will not cast their vote against him at this time. But they would have the satisfaction of seeing the League candidate defeated by his re-election. So the gang is bound to get the Gloria out of it, no matter how the election goes, if the League fails to indorse Steenerson. For if Steenerson wins, they get the League beat, and if the League wins they have Steenerson beat. Take no chances would be our advice at this time, as there is not a member of the League in this district that can give one good valid reason for the removal of Steenerson at this time, and placing a new man in his place, and the farmers will not do it.

Prepare to put in every acre to crops possible this spring, as the high prices that are sure to prevail next fall will not do you any good, if you have not got the grain to sell.

The horse feed speculator should be watched this year, to see that he don't shove feed up to a prohibitive price.

Habitual Tendency.

"This show was written for the tired business man," remarked the manager. "The production cost a fortune."

"That's the one thing," replied Mr. Dustin Stax, "that bothered me. I'm a tired business man myself, and I got so busy figuring how you are going to pay interest on your investment that I couldn't keep my mind on the performance."

When the Laugh Is on You.

People are not very much inclined to laugh at the girl who is always ready to join in the laugh against herself. It is the one who assumes airs of tremendous superiority, and seems to feel herself infallible, who needs to be afraid of making a slip. Even if people laugh at the girl who laughs at herself, there is always a tenderness in it, a kindliness that takes out all the sting. Learn to enjoy a joke on yourself.—Exchange.

Spoiled the Good Thing.

Bobby had a bad habit of waking up in the middle of the night and crying dismally until one of his parents would walk him to sleep again. One night Bobbie began to cry and his mother said to her husband, "Dear, you'd better walk the baby." Father grumbled and baby howled and finally spoke up sobbingly: "Yes, dear, I fink you had better walk the baby." After this his habit was no longer indulged.

PLANTS PURIFIERS OF AIR

Their Consumption of Carbonic Acid Gas, Always Going On, Is of Great Benefit.

Plants do not breathe or have any action corresponding to the breathing of animals. Oxygen is essential to the sustaining of life in animals, including human beings, and in breathing air they consume or appropriate the oxygen it contains and give out carbonic acid gas, which is poisonous. Plants do not consume oxygen, but they consume carbonic acid, thus helping to purify the atmosphere, which is to some extent rendered impure by the breathing of animals. They do not generate oxygen, but they release it by consuming the carbonic acid. Tyndall, a celebrated scientist, says: "Consider all the fires in the world and all the animals in the world continually pouring their carbonic acid into the atmosphere. Would it not be fair to conclude that our air must become more and more contaminated and unfit to support either combustion or life? This seems inevitable, but it would be a conclusion founded upon half knowledge, and therefore wrong. A provision exists for continually purifying the atmosphere of its excess of carbonic acid. By the leaves of plants this gas is absorbed, and within the leaves it is decomposed by the solar rays. The carbon is stored up in the tree, while the pure oxygen is restored to the atmosphere. Carbonic acid, in fact, is to a great extent the nutriment of plants, and inasmuch as animals in the long run, derive their food from the vegetable world, this very gas, which at first sight might be regarded as a deadly constituent of the atmosphere, is the main sustainer, both of vegetable and animal life."

FINEST WEATHER IN TROPICS

Climate So Delightful That the Average Person Would Soon Tire of the Monotony.

The days were wonderful, and the alternations of sun and wind were as exciting as the discovery of the strange Malayan beasts and birds. The sun rose softly—no breeze moved cloud or leaf, and even the light came at first moderately, indirectly, reflected from the higher peaks, or heliographed from the mirror of a half-hidden, distant waterfall. In early afternoon—one never knew just when—the faintest of breezes sifted down and blurred the lacery of tree-fern shadows. The wind was cool and soon strengthened, and by night the air was surging violently through the gap, siphoned from the cold summits down to the hot, humid valleys. Day after day one reawakened to the sense of tropical surroundings from a conviction of a northern autumn, with the wind full of swirling leaves and the fronds soughing with the same sad cadence as the needles of scented pines of the northland.—William Beebe, in The Atlantic.

Are You a Dangler?

A dangler is one who dangles, that is one who awaits the decisions of other people instead of choosing his own course and making circumstances conform to it. The dangler may be found any day in the open market, complaining because nobody hires him or her, as the case may be. Our most celebrated and successful laborers asked no odds of anybody. They simply went to work, somewhere, anywhere that offered opportunity, and then they helped to build up the community that supported them, and so became in time grand old men, who to undiscerning minds seemed to have [illegible]

They did not dangle, but became the strong supports upon which folk of a weaker sort leaned, and not in vain, that virtue would come out of them.

Artificial Sponge Propagation.

The growing scarcity of sponges has warned those familiar with harvesting them that unless means are provided to augment the natural supply the sponge industry will be seriously crippled in a few years more. An Englishman, living in Florida, some time ago selected a site off the Florida coast, where he started a sponge farm. At present he has about 600,000 sponges, which are capable by subdivision of increasing about tenfold every three years. At the end of three years an annual yield of 2,000,000 sponges can be had.—Portsmouth Chronicle.

Municipal Markets.

One thing in which Baltimore is a pioneer is its system of municipal markets. In 1751, when there were only twenty-five houses in what was then known as Baltimore Town, a public market was established, and by the time the city was incorporated in 1796 three such markets had already been established within its corporate limits. Today eleven municipal markets, all owned by the city, are within easy reach of 700,000 people of Baltimore and vicinity. "Going to market" is a localism in Baltimore, and the thrifty Baltimore housewife learned when a little girl that it pays to take a market basket to one of the public markets at least twice a week, particularly on Saturday, and get fresh country produce without the middleman's handling and profit at considerably less than at the corner grocery stores.—Exchange.

When "Old Women" Abounded.

In the eighteenth century women soon grew old, says an English writer. At the age of twenty-nine Marie Antoinette, the wife of Louis XVI., gravely discussed the question with her modiste, Rose Bertin. She would soon be thirty. Her idea was to change her manner of dress, which inclined too much to that of extreme youth. In consequence she should wear no more flowers or feathers. The glorious Georgiana, the duchess of Devonshire, complained to the French ambassador that she was already seven and twenty years old. "Consider," said the glorious one, "what an age that is!" to which the ungallant ambassador replied that "in France at seven and twenty a woman was considered elder[illegible]

THE RED CROSS NURSES OF EUROPE ARE GIVING TOASTED CIGARETTES TO THE BOYS

To anyone who doesn't know of the wonderful advances that have been made in the preparation of smoking tobaccos in the last few years it may sound strange to speak of toasted cigarettes.

Strictly speaking, we should say cigarettes made of toasted tobacco; the smokers of this country will recognize it more readily by its trade name, "LUCKY STRIKE"—the toasted cigarette.

The American Tobacco Company are producing millions of these toasted cigarettes and these are being bought in enormous quantities through the various tobacco funds conducted by the newspapers of the country and forwarded through the Red Cross Society to the boys in France.

This new process of treating tobacco not only improves the flavor of the tobacco but it seals in this flavor and makes the cigarettes keep better.

The Red Cross nurse is always glad to have a cigarette for the wounded soldier, as, in most instances, that is the first thing asked for. —Adv.

ON GUARD

At this time of the year people feel weak, tired, listless, their blood is thin; they have lived indoors and perhaps expended all their mental and bodily energy and they want to know how to renew their energy and stamina, overcome headaches and backaches, have clear eyes, a smooth, ruddy skin, and feel the exhilaration of real good health tingling thru their body. Good, pure, rich, red blood is the best insurance against ills of all kinds. Almost all diseases come from impure and impoverished blood. It is to be noticed in the pale or pimply face, the tired, haggard appearance or the listless manner.

Drink hot water a half hour before meals, and for a vegetable tonic there's nothing better than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the old-fashioned herbal remedy, which has had such a fine reputation for fifty years. It contains no alcohol or narcotics. It is made from Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Oregon grape root, Queen's root, Black Cherry bark, extracted with glycerine, and made into tablets and liquid. Tablets sixty cents, at most drug stores. In order to insure pure blood and to build up the system try this tonic known as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Get it now!

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

Walker.—The Walker women made over 4,000 surgical dressings during the month of February.

Ada.—A Red Cross sale held here netted more than $2,300. Supper and amusement tickets brought $750 more, making a total of $3,050.

Mankato.—By defeating the Blue Earth basketball team in a game played in this city, the Waseca high school takes the district championship. The score was 59 to 14.

Moorhead.—Sivert Borgen, local mail carrier, has the record for the sale of War Savings Stamps here. Since the campaign began Mr. Borgen has sold $3,003 worth of stamps.

Winona.—Mrs. Frank Moehnke, 44 years old, of Eyota village, was fatally injured when she was drawn into a circular saw of a portable wood-sawing machine. Her dress was blown into the saw and she was dragged into the sharp teeth.

Alexandria.—Carl A. Wold, former state representative, editor of the Park Region Echo, has been convicted of discouraging enlistments. He was sentenced to serve three months in the Douglas county jail and to pay a fine of $200.

International Falls.—E. B. Fisher, who was bound over to the grand jury for alleged seditious utterances, has been relieved of his duties as superintendent of the M., D. & W. railroad. C. H. Woodford is filling the position temporarily.

Winona.—The city of Winona has purchased 300 feet of ground along the river front for terminal purposes. The property is 400 feet deep. It is within easy access of railway lines and is within the heart of the manufacturing district. The site is considered ideal for dock purposes.

St. Paul.—Work on the Twin City to Duluth highway probably will be completed by the coming fall, according to State Highway Commissioner C. N. Babcock. St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth have each agreed to contribute $10,000 toward the expense and the cities will be called on to fulfill their obligation soon.

Shakopee.—Shakopee claims the honor of being the first city in Minnesota to have its own war orphan. Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Pink of this city have adopted a French orphan, but the entire city is helping to take the credit because Mrs. Pink solicited funds from the residents. Mr. Pink is chief clerk at the Shakopee postoffice.

Mahnomen.—The contractors on the judicial ditch between Norman and Mahnomen counties have arrived here with their machinery which will be unloaded and transported to the scene of activity before the frost gets out of the ground. Work on the ditch will commence about the first of May.

Long Prairie.—John N. Johnson, 26 years old, a farmer of Iowa, is dying in a hospital here from burns received when a gasoline tank on an automobile exploded. Johnson, who is in class 1 of the draft, was about to go to Long Prairie for examination when he tried to look into the tank with the aid of a lighted match.

St. Paul.—Clifford L. Hilton has been appointed attorney general of Minnesota by Governor J. A. A. Burnquist. His appointment is for the unexpired term of the late Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith, on whose staff Mr. Hilton served for eight years. C. L. Weeks will become deputy attorney general, Mr. Hilton announced.

Minneapolis.—The great statewide, free for all, no handicap, war savings stamp race is on with some fast runners entered. Todd county held the banner place in the first heat as given in a statement issued covering the war stamp sales per capita, and showed in with $2.54 in stamps for every man, woman and child. Of the 86 counties in the state the 27 top ones, in order show Winona, $2.09; Freeborn, $1.33; Ramsey, with St. Paul, $1.62; Douglas, $1.60; Lincoln, $1.56; Le Sueur, $1.53; Houston, $1.46; Goodhue, $1.40; Redwood, $1.29; Red Lake, $1.26; Mower, $1.24; Steele, $1.21; Pipestone, $1.15; Meeker, $1.14; Swift, $1.09; Rice, $1.07; Faribault, $1; Renville, 91 cents; Hennepin, 89 cents; Wadena, 84 cents; Sherburne, 82 cents; Blue Earth, 80 cents; Kandiyohi, 80 cents; Pennington, 76 cents, and St. Louis, 76 cents.

Kenyon.—Kenyon's village caucus voted to defend the community's loyalty from all suspicion of un-Americanism, then it adjourned in a body to escort to the station a Nonpartisan league organizer, George Breidal. Four hundred men marched to a moving picture show, sent a guard to the rear entrance and summoned the organizer. When Breidal came out he was requested to kneel and kiss an American flag. The ceremony was performed and the procession, headed by the village council, marched to the station, Breidal carrying the flag. Breidal was directed to purchase a ticket to Dodge Center and was put aboard a train.

St. Paul.—War savings and thrift stamp sales in Minnesota have amounted to only 75 cents per capita so far, and the Treasury department has asked that this be raised to $20 per capita before the end of the year. The Federal Reserve bank announced that the sales to date in the state amount to $1,843,098. The year's quota for the state is $46,000,000.

Thief River Falls.—Ray Herron, residing in this city, has been brought to his home from Shelley and is in bed with a broken leg. He was unloading gravel for Ed. O'Hara near Shelley and was caught in a cave-in.

Motley.—Mrs. Hill of Motley, 88 years old and blind, has knit six pairs of socks for the Red Cross chapter.

Minneapolis.—Mrs. Martha A. Dorsett of this city, the first woman admitted to the bar in Minnesota, is dead. She was 66 years old.

East Grand Forks.—More than $360 each month has been pledged by East Grand Forks citizens for the support of the Red Cross organization.

Brainerd.—Albert Hill, charged with bigamy, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to an indeterminate term at Stillwater. Hiss was arrested at Duluth.

St. Paul.—State aid for Minnesota schools totaling $2,637,345, which has been held up by litigation since October, 1917, is being paid Minnesota schools entitled to such aid.

Albert Lea.—Chris. M. Nelson, a farmer living southeast of this city, has already sown 20 acres of spring wheat. The prospects for a large wheat acreage in this vicinity are promising.

St. Cloud.—A service flag displaying a field of seven stars was dedicated to the honor of seven young men of the Swedish Baptist church who are now in the service of the United States army.

Alpha.—Alpha, having a population of only about 200, raised $1,820 at an auction sale for the Red Cross. All kinds of farm produce and dry goods and groceries were donated by the people of the neighborhood.

Minneapolis.—William Skoglin, one of the men injured in the explosion of a boiler at the city hospital, died from burns and scalds. He was working as a fireman in the boiler room of the hospital when the explosion occurred.

Minneapolis.—Charles Lincoln Sawyer, 68, native of New Hampshire, once principal of the local high school, who served three terms in the legislature in the 90's and two years ago was candidate for congress from the Fifth district, died at his home here.

Cass Lake.—While hauling ice at the Indian mission north of Cass Lake a large black team owned by the mission was drowned. The accident happened at what is known as the Cass Lake bay. Large cakes of ice had been cut out and the team backed into this large hole.

Winona.—Four young women now are employed as depot operators on the Minnesota division of the Northwestern Line, the headquarters for which are in Winona. They are taking the places of young men released to meet the military needs of the United States government.

St. Paul.—As a result of the proposal made by a delegation of northern Minnesota citizens to the state board of immigration, that the opportunities for sheep raising on cutover lands in that section be developed in connection with the wartime food production movement, Commissioner Fred D. Sherman will make a survey to ascertain the number of communities that will organize and co-operate.

Elk River.—Investigation reveals that the high school here has been using up to a few days ago one of the German textbooks banned by the Minnesota Public Safety commission last November. This gives support to the 45 or more boys and girls in their action in going on "strike" gainst studying German. A night or two later the German textbooks used in the high school disappeared. They have not been located by the school authorities.

Minneapolis.—Public eating houses in Minnesota must serve sugar to patrons in small individual paper packets, each containing one heaping teaspoonful, under an order issued by A. D. Wilson, federal food administrator for the estate. The order goes into effect at once. Supplementing the order, Mr. Wilson issued a request that private families limit their use of sugar to three pounds a month per person.

Duluth.—Sons of the two most prominent food officials in the United States will be members of the Duluth Boat club's boys' training camp this summer. Herbert M. Hoover, Jr., son of the federal food administrator, and Robert L. Barnes, son of Julius Barnes, president of the United States Grain corporation, have enrolled from New York in the institution.

Winona.—Mystery surrounds the poisoning of four members of the family of Martin Wauk here. The head of the family, his wife and two girls, twins, aged 10, retired in normal health. At 2 a. m. one of the girls awoke and complained of violent pains. The mother attempted to go to her but collapsed. The other girl climbed out of her bed and also was stricken. Mr. Wnuk called for a physician, but before the doctor arrived he also was taken ill.

St. Paul.—State officials and employes and friends paid their respects to Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith, filing past the casket in which his body lay in state in the main retunda of the state capitol in St. Paul. The funeral service in Plymouth Congregational church, Holly avenue and Mckubin street, St. Paul, was conducted by the Rev. Harry P. Dewey, Minneapolis, and was attended by a large number of people. The body of Mr. Smith was taken East for burial at his former home in New Hampshire.

Hutchinson.—Following his refusal to sign a Red Cross contribution pledge and then ordering the committee of two citizens from his home, the residence of Rev. Mr. Mueller was profusely striped with yellow paint by indignant citizens, and the word "pro-kaiser" was inscribed on the sides in flaming characters. Mueller is pastor of the German Evangelical chuch.

Caledonia.—Arrested a second time on the charge of making seditious utterances K. G. Steffens of Hokah is in jail at Caledonia awaiting a hearing. He was fined $50 and costs last October for a similar offense.

INCREASE IN WESTERN CANADA ACREAGE

Will Prove a Big Factor in Winning the War.

Reports to hand indicate that Western Canada has a vastly increased acreage ready for crop this year over last year. The splendid open fall of 1917, gave a better opportunity for fall plowing than for some years. Work in the fields was almost continuous until the end of November. In fact, in the neighborhood of Pincher Creek, Alberta, there was sufficient mild weather in January of this year to permit farmers to plow, and many took advantage of it. A great many Americans owning land in Canada moved up last year, and this has also helped to increase the acreage. They came into possession of the land at prices varying from $15.00 to $30.00 an acre, and with the proven yields of wheat running from twenty and as high as fifty bushels per acre, with a set price of $2.21 a bushel, they could join production and patriotism together with a big margin of profit. The Post-Intelligencer of Seattle, Wash., gives a very conservative statement of the agricultural development and opportunities in Western Canada. In its issue of December 14, 1917, it says:—

"Since the beginning of the year American emigration into Canada has been greatly stimulated according to the reports of the Dominion authorities, and has been almost entirely made up of farmers attracted by the fertile and comparatively cheap wheat lands.

"Whatever may be said of wheat culture as a profitable avocation in ordinary years, since the beginning of the war it has offered advantages quite beyond the usual opportunities. War has boomed the price of wheat until the farmer now receives around $2 for his product at his granary. Average crops, according to the adaptation of soil and climate are from 12 to 25 bushels to the acre. Even the minimum crop, at $2 per bushel, brings in these war times a reasonable profit. Before the war wheat culture was fast being abandoned by farmers who worked intelligently for results on the right side of the ledger. It has been the popular crop for new countries, but when the pioneers settled down to business it was generally corn, hogs, cattle and diversified farming that brought the profits. Iowa and the Dakotas in turn, as their prairies became settled, mortgaged the land on wheat culture and afterwards paid off the mortgages with corn and hogs.

"War is thus bringing a temporary encouragement to wheat farming. Many of the ranchers of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta laid away $20,000 to $30,000 in the banks last fall. It may be pointed out, however, that the growing of wheat is not the only inducement which is leading settlement to Canadian lands. Low taxation, favorable agricultural climate, and profitable prices not only for grain but for hogs, cattle and all forms of farm produce all contribute their share toward the rapid settlement of the fertile lands of Western Canada."—Advertisement.

Caviar to the General.

Although some packers of caviar in New York report that spoonbill caviar is being marketed here in bulk as low as 75 cents a pound, the market generally remains at $1.25 for prime quality, and a few sales are reported at $1. The quantity has been limited from all sources and, indeed, operators here have not been buying heavily. There has been a scarcity of lake caviar in bulk, and packers report that the prevailing price for this grade has been usually $1.50 a pound.—Fishing Gazette.

HOW MRS. BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well.

"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MARIE BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Sometimes there are serious conditions where a hospital operation is the only alternative, but on the other hand so many women have been cured by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after doctors have said that an operation was necessary—every woman who wants to avoid an operation should give it a fair trial before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

If complications exist, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of many years experience is at your service.

WAR SECRETARY GOES TO FRANCE

Cabinet Officer Arrives in Europe For Conference With General Pershing.

TO STAY A SHORT TIME

To Inspect In Person Results Already Achieved and Consult With American Commander on Requirements.

A French Seaport, March 12.—a staff of seven persons, Newton D. Baker, the American secretary of war, has arrived here on an American cruiser. The party was met at the pier by a French general, representing the French Army, Major General Squier, representing the American army; Admiral Mureau, representing the French navy; Rear Admiral Wilson, representing the American navy, and the mayor and councillors of the municipality.

Secretary Baker's party remained here only a few hours and left for Paris, where they will arrive in a special car attached to the regular train.

General Pershing, Ambassador Sharp, and representatives of the French government will meet the secretary on his arrival in Paris. Secretary Baker plans to spend but a few days in France.

To Inspect American Results.

Washington, March 11.—Secretary Baker plans to spend a brief time in France, inspecting in person, the concrete results already achieved in the efforts of his department to place in the field this year an army that will be a factor in the campaign. On the eve of his departure, Mr. Baker told members of the press who have been in the habit of seeing him every day, that he did not expect to be away for any considerable length of time.

The secretary and his party left Washington without any other attempt at concealment of their movements than a request that the press refrain from reporting his departure. No hint of the trip has been printed.

Goes to Talk With Pershing.

It was impossible for General Pershing to come for such a conference. Mr. Baker therefore determined, after many conferences with President Wilson, to go himself on an inspection tour, which will, he believes, better fit him for his great responsibility in meeting General Pershing's requirements in fighting men and materials and in keeping in operation a supply line more than 3,000 miles long.

It is regarded as probable, too, that the secretary will take the opportunity to inform the American commander in the field very fully as to all the hopes and aims of the government which are at stake in the war.

FOUR DIE IN OHIO TORNADO

Property Damages Estimated at Million Dollars.

Van Wert, Ohio, March 12.—Four persons are known to be dead, four persons are in a local hospital, between 25 and 50 farm homes are demolished and scores of barns and outbuildings blown down, the result of a tornado which swept this county. The financial loss in the county is estimated at $1,000,000.

The tornado first struck at Middleburg, traveling northeast across Harrison, Pleasant and Union townships. The twister would swoop down, wreck a farmhouse, or possibly two or three, and then jump over four or five miles before doing more damage.

Reports received here say that Continental and Holgate, Ohio, were not wiped out, but that much property damage was done. No lives were reported lost at either place.

TWO MINNESOTA MEN KILLED

Members of Gopher Gunners Lose Lives on West Front.

Minneapolis, March 11.—News of the death of two members of the 151st field artillery (First Minnesota) one of Minneapolis, and the other of Kellogg, Minn., have been received by parents of the soldiers. Private Lawrence Wenell of Battery C, son of August L. Wenell, 3724 Seventeenth Ave. south, died from wounds received in action on the Western front on March 1, according to a telegram from the War department received by his father. Elmer J. McDonough, son of C. C. McDonnough, of Kellogg, was killed in action on the western front, in France, on March 6, a telegram to his parents stated.

Draft Exemption Board Ousted.

Jackson, Mich., March 11.—Acting on charges that money had been paid to obtain exemptions from military service, Adjutant General E. O. Scales has summarily removed the exemption board of Smith county and a new board has been appointed. A report of the investigation has been filed with J. W. George, United State attorney. The report charges that Dr. P. B. Baugh, a member of the board, in one instance was paid $100 for giving an exemption certifying that a registrant had hernia.

Robert' Position.

Robert was an honor to the force. He did not make the acquaintance of cooks, nor did he fall asleep on duty. He was ambitious and yearned for the time when he would be able to prefix the magic words "Chief Constable" to his surname. One day recently he arrested a man on a charge of assault. On the case coming before the magistrate he inquired as to who made the allegation against the prisoner.

Forward stepped the zealous Robert, who, with a sweeping salute, replied:

NEVER FAILS TO END MISERY OF PILES

Stops Itching at Once.

"Hundreds of people in this vicinity," says Peterson, "know of the mighty healing power of PETERSON'S OINTMENT in eczema, salt rheum, old sores, itching skin, ulcers, pimples and all diseases of the skin. They know it cures these ailments—that it is guaranteed to cure them."

Now I want to say to every sufferer from piles, either blind, bleeding or itching, that I will guarantee that a 30 cent box of PETERSON'S OINTMENT will rid you of piles or your druggist will return your money.

"For years I suffered terribly with itching and bleeding piles. I tried everything and despaired of ever getting rid of them. It gives me great pleasure to state that Peterson's Ointment entirely cured me, and I sincerely recommend it to all sufferers."—Yours truly, David A. Seymour, Supt. of Parks, Buffalo, N. Y. Adv.

Lost 65 Pounds in Weight and Had to Give Up Work. Has Been Well Since Using Doan's.

"Being exposed to extreme heat when working as an engineer, and then going outdoors to cool off, caused my kidney trouble," says Karl Goering, 8513 N. Orkney St., Philadelphia, Pa. "In cold weather and when it was damp, my joints and muscles would swell and ache and often my limbs were so badly affected it was only with great misery I was able to get around. For a week I was laid up in bed, hardly able to move hand or foot.

Mr. Goering

"Another trouble was from irregular and scanty passages of the kidney secretions. I became dull and weak and had to give up my work. Headaches and dizzy spells nearly blinded me and I went from 265 to 200 in weight. Nothing helped me and I felt I was doomed to suffer.

"At last I had the good fortune to hear of Doan's Kidney Pills and began taking them. I soon got back my strength and weight and all the rheumatic pains and other kidney troubles left. I have remained cured." Sworn to before me, WM. H. M'MUNN, Notary Public.

A German Republic.

I cannot easily believe in a German revolution, and still less, in a German republic. I shall, at all events, not live long enough to behold the latter. But I feel convinced that, long after we shall have quietly rotted in our graves, they will, in Germany, battle for a republic, with speech and sword. LYNDON SMITH IS DEAD

Attorney General of Minnesota Passes Away.

Had Been Stricken With Paralysis, and Never Regained Consciousness.

St. Paul, March 5.—Lyndon A. Smith, attorney general of Minnesota, died at 1 a. m. Tuesday at his residence at the Marlborough apartments, St. Paul. He was 63 years old.

Mr. Smith suffered a stroke of paralysis just a week ago and never regained complete consciousness. His fatal illness came suddenly, following several months of excellent health.

Lyndon A. Smith

He was stricken after he had reached his home at the close of the day's work.

His death closes a life-long career spent in public service, more than a quarter of a century of which was spent in Minnesota. Previous to that he had been in the service of the federal government.

Attorney-General Six Years.

Mr. Smith had been attorney-general a little more than six years. He was appointed to the office by Governor Eberhart, January 1, 1912, to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of George T. Simpson. At that time he had been assistant attorney-general for three years. From 1899 to 1903, he had served as lieutenant-governor of the state.

Mr. Smith's illness, at first regarded by his physicians as probably fatal, assumed a less serious aspect later on, and the progress he seemed to be making from day to day gave rise to hopes that he would recover. He appeared to improve up to Sunday when he suffered a sudden relapse, and it became evident that the end was near.

TO STOP VOTING BY ALIENS

Punishment Urged by Hennepin Judge —Draft Opponent Hit.

Minneapolis, March 5.—Alien voting in Minnesota elections must stop and aliens who have exercised the elective franchise must be punished, according to the seriousness of their offense as shown by evidence, District Judge Daniel Fish has just told the new Hennepin County grand jury in his charge.

Judge Fish also told the grand jury to put an effective stop to opposition to the draft and to such attacks on the government as will hinder the prosecution of the war.

Minnesota aliens who have refused to register as directed by the Minnesota Public Safety commission should be interned for the period of the war, State Auditor J. A. O. Preus contends. He already has the names of a number said to have failed to register.

PRISON TWINE PRICE FIXED

Farmers Expected to Save $400,000 Despite Advance.

St. Paul, March 4.—Minnesota state prison binder twine prices of from 21 cents to 26 cents a pound, compared with 13 to 15 cents last season, have been fixed by the state board of control at a conference with Warden C. S. Reed. Despite the increase in prices it is estimated the prison twine output of 18,800,000 pounds will mean a 1918 saving of $400,000 to Minnesota farmers on the basis of government fixed maximum prices.

Chairman Ralph W. Wheelock of the board of control said prison twine last season was sold at times at prices 6 cents below the market quotations on raw material, and nearly 7 cents below prices of private manufacturers.

Portland, Me., March 5.—Republican mayors were elected in seven of the nine cities which voted in this state Monday.

Must Entertain Soldiers.

Washington, March 5.—Representative Miller of Minnesota, who visited the battle fronts in France last year, told the House that the United States must make provision for the entertainment of its soldiers when on leave from the trenches. France and Great Britain, he said, have recognized the necessity of allowing their soldiers to go home whenever requirements will permit, and added that because they can make frequent visits home they are more contented than the Canadians, Australians and others.

Girls! Use Lemons! Make a Bleaching, Beautifying Cream

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It naturally should help to soften, freshen, bleach and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is simply marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands. Adv.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than April 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

Anxious Bantam.

The bantams were taking over a line of trenches from one of the guards' battalions during a very long spell of wet weather. As the guards were coming out one of the bantams asked a big guardsman:

"How are the trenches—comfortable?"

"Yes," replied the six-footer. "Very cushy, but full of water."

"How deep?" inquired the four-footer, anxiously.

"Oh, about up to here!" said the guardsman, pointing to some clay on the breast of his tunic.

The bantam put his hand up to his head and exclaimed, wearily:

"Then, heaven help my cap badge!"—London Tit-Bits.

Conservation.

"Mercy on us!" ejaculated Mrs. Flint, in the midst of her reading. "Here in the paper is a piece by a professor proving by the Scriptures that this war means the end of the world in April, and—"

"Well, if that's the case, I guess I'd just as well put off going to the dentist," returned honest Farmer Flint. "If what the professor says is true I won't need any new teeth. These old ones probably will answer for such gnashing as I'll have to do."—Kansas City Star.

Corn Bread with Rye Flour

- 1 cup corn meal
- 1 cup rye flour
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 5 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup milk
- 1 egg
- 2 tablespoons shortening

Barley flour or oat flour may be used instead of rye flour with equally good results. Sift dry ingredients into bowl; add milk, beaten egg and melted shortening. Stir well. Put into greased pan, allow to stand in warm place 20 to 25 minutes and bake in moderate oven 40 to 45 minutes.

FOOD SPECULATORS LAW

If the farmer producer of wheat food has not been handed over to the food speculators and war profiteers to have his throat cut we do not understand the situation. What more could the war speculator ask, than to have the government place a certain price on flour, and then rule that the consumer should buy an equal amount of substitute for flour for every pound of flour bought. It simply compels people to pay any price that the food hog and war speculator sees fit to charge for his substitutes. The cry of "raise wheat" for patriotic reason is all right, but it is pretty hard to ask a farmer to raise wheat to make flour for $6.50 per hundred, and live on corn meal at $8.00 per hundred, and use his land that he could raise $40 an acre on by sowing it to barley or oats, that he could not clear more than $20 an acre on to sow it to wheat. The question now is, will the farmers sow wheat at the government price or use their land to raise other food stuff on, at the speculators price?

However the farmer who sows wheat can depend on the price as established by the government next fall, while the oat, barley, corn and rye farmers, are taking a chance with the food gamblers, and should the war close by next fall, he may discover that he has gambled at a loss, So it would be as well to not put all your eggs into one basket but sow wheat on the lands best adapted to it, and barley and oats on land that will produce the best crop of them, and you are sure of at least a fair profit for your labor.

MINNESOTA AT THE FRONT

Minnesota today holds the most enviable position of any state in the Union. Gradually the entire country is being welded into one great business enterprise, the object of which is the business of war. More and more is this fact being pressed home to the people every day, and the time is not far distant when men and women, young and old in every section of the country will be doing their utmost in the prosecution of war work of one sort or another.

This state is rapidly going through the transition stage, and will soon be one of Uncle Sam's largest and most important workshops. The late James J. Hill called the entire northwest an "Inland Empire," and the "World's breadbasket." Never were his words as true as they are today. Minnesota flour, and the feed products of the great northwest are feeding all our allies, as well as practically every neutral country in the world. Thousands of tons of iron mined in the northern part of this state is going into guns and munitions, while timber cut in the southern section is being manufactured into gun stocks and gun carriages. Timber from the north is going to ship-yards, and is also largely used in the construction of cantonment camps.

At the rate that America is calling out men, and rushing preparations for war it does not look like they were preparing for a peace parley, but were getting ready to fight.

The action of the Non-Partisan League in keeping out of county politics meets with our hearty approval. If a county officer cannot run for office on his own merits for the position, he should not be railroaded in by any indorsement from any organization.

The way Russia is being treated by Germany, had ought to convince anyone in this country of the treatment we would receive if we were so foolish as to listen to the voice of pacifists and not fight until Germany had her heel on our neck. But America will fight, and if it takes ten million men and ten years to win this war, America will win.

The reply of Governor Burnquist to an invitation to speak at a Non-Partisan League meeting cannot possibly be construed only as a direct attack on the farmers and laboring men of this state, for endeavoring to better their conditions by organization. The very language used in the reply would defeat any man, who had any ambition to become governor of Minnesota. But it will not do Burnquist any harm, as his carcass was billed for a trip up Salt Creek, some time since, as soon as the farmers and laboring men get a crack at the ballot box. This article is written by a farmer editor who was an enthusiastic supporter of Burnquist in the last campaign.

VAPOR BATHS IN LAPLAND

Writer's Strenuous Experience of Cleansing Process Finishes With Being Bastinadoed.

In Wide World Frank Hedges Butler describes a vapor bath in the land of the Lapps. He says:

The bathhouse is a small wooden structure generally situated some way from the dwelling house. It is divided into two compartments, one to undress in, while the other contains the oven which produces the steam. The oven is packed with large stones or pebbles, and heated by a fire placed beneath. Undressing in the first room, one enters the heated compartment. After a short rest on a wooden form or bench, which contains a place for the head, the attendants come in and bathe you. Cold water is thrown over the stones and the hissing vapor soon sends up a cloud of steam. The higher you sit from the floor the greater the heat. As more water is thrown over the red-hot stones the vapor becomes so intense that one can hardly breathe. We were soon gasping for breath and covered with a profuse perspiration, which issued from every pore of the skin. Hanging up in the room were tender branches or twigs in a green state and retaining their leaves. Dipping these in water, the attendant began lashing and whipping me across the legs, shoulders, loins and back, till my body seemed quite red with the switching. The bastinadoing over, I was then washed with a soft flannel covered with soap, after which a jug of the coldest water was thrown over my head and face.

HOW COLD AFFECTS SOUNDS

Numerous Examples Can Be Given, but Exact Reason Is Hard to Explain.

A close observer describes two phenomena of nature not easily explained: First, that natural sounds are very different in the colder than in the warmer months of the year, and, second, that waters have different tints during the colder and warmer months.

A number of examples occur to prove the first phenomenon. Who has not noticed the contrast in the noise of the wind in different seasons when it blows around the corner of the house—in summer what a soft, mellow tone it has and in winter what a harsh, rough whistle?

Then, again, let us stroll along the banks of a stream in May, June or July, and we will observe that the water will then make a gentle, babbling sound, while in November or winter it will, with not great volume, make a hoarse, gurgling noise.

Still again, if we ramble in the woods during late spring or early summer, we cannot but notice with what a softness and mildness the wind has been blowing through the tops of the trees; on the other hand, what a roaring it makes in cold weather.

Perhaps the trees being with or without foliage may cause some difference, but it will be observed in May, before the leaves are out to any extent, there is even then a marked difference between that time and December. [illegible] — St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

DISEASE SPREAD BY ANIMALS

Scientists and Physicians Have Prepared a Strong Indictment Against the Beasts.

Although animals are not affected by the sickness and communicable diseases of man, yet, for some unexplainable reason, the scientists and physicians declare that a whole host of ofttimes fatal ailments of mankind are traceable to the beasts, says Popular Science Monthly.

The horse is blamed for spreading glanders, rabies, lockjaw and other diseases of five or more syllables. Dogs and cats are branded as the circulators of rabies, parasitic worms of different kinds, fleas and ticks.

The cow is the worst offender. The list of diseases laid at her barn door is headed with tuberculosis and grows constantly more blood-curdling, until we wonder why physicians and scientists consent to the use of milk, butter and cheese which still lead the dietitians' list of nutritives.

Rats, squirrels and fleas spread the bubonic plague. We are prepared to believe that lice and bedbugs, flies and mosquitoes are the rapid transit lines for yellow fever and malaria. We are willing to forego the luscious oyster all the year around, if need be, to avoid typhoid fever.

LIVING IN JAPAN.

Hard Work For the Middle Classes to Make Both Ends Meet.

Dr. Takata, Japanese minister of education, has recently published a book concerning economic conditions in Japan. The pinch comes harder upon the middle classes than upon the lower classes since the former must not only live, but must keep up a respectable appearance on salaries no greater than those that men who work at trades receive.

For example, according to Dr. Takata, a primary school teacher earns $15.50 a month, but his lowest budget for a family of four reaches $17.33. His wife must do work at home to earn the deficit. A magazine editor and writer who has a wife, two children and a maid spends $32.75 monthly on household sundries. His earnings are irregular, but always below his expenses. He has been compelled to borrow money from his wife's relatives, and her trousseau is not unknown to the pawnshops.

MORE WHEAT IS GOOD BUSINESS

State Food Administration Issues Call for Larger Acreage Both for Profit and Patriotism.

SAYS WHEAT PRICE SURE

Besides, a Big Crop Means Backing the Boys Who Have Been Sent to the Front to Fight.

The Federal Food Administration for Minnesota is issuing a call for a larger acreage of spring wheat. It makes the following statement of world needs the basis for the call:

The United States, Canada, and the Allies (England, France, Italy and Belgium) in 1917 produced 400,000,000 bushels less wheat than they needed. Shipping is so limited and so badly needed for other products that wheat cannot be brought from more distant points where there is a surplus such as Argentina, Australia and India. This has made very rigid economy in the use of wheat necessary. It is not likely the Allies can produce more in 1918 than in 1917 because their production has continually decreased since the war began so that in 1917 they produced 150,000,000 bushels less than their average production for five years before the war. If they produce as much in 1918 as in 1917 they will need to import between 550,000,000 and 600,000,000 bushels to supply normal demands. The United States is about 3,500 miles from England and France; Argentina is about 6,500 miles distant; India is about 12,000 miles away; and Australia 12,500 miles It is evident then that if there is any scarcity of ships, the more wheat surplus we have in the United States the better it will be for all concerned.

The Outlook in the United States.

In 1917 the United States produced about 650,000,000 bushels with a surplus of about 50,000,000 bushels above own needs. In 1917 the winter wheat belt produced 418,000,000 bushels and the spring wheat belt produced [illegible] bushels. The outlook for winter wheat last December 1 indicated a probable yield of 540,000,000 bushels. It may be more, or less. At any rate much more spring wheat will be needed than can be produced so that every acre of land in the spring wheat belt that is suitable for spring wheat and that can be handled reasonably well should be seeded to that crop. It, of course, is not wise from the standpoint of the individual farmer to sow wheat on land that will produce a materially better crop of something else or sow wheat on a farm not equipped to handle the crop economically.

Prices and Profits.

The $2.17, per bushel guaranteed price for 1918, is high enough to make the growing of wheat decidedly profitable with a fair crop. It would seem, in view of this fact that the outlook for raising wheat on good wheat land is as promising as the outlook for any other crop and besides this, the patriotic appeal to furnish bread for the millions who need it, is very strong. It is doubtful if the farmers of the Northwest can make a greater contribution to their country, or to humanity generally, than to grow wheat.

Wheat Looks Most Surely Profitabe.

It is the opinion of Andrew Boss, Vice Director of the Minnesota, Experiment Station, that wheat looks like the most surely profitable grain crop this year. He states: "The high price of oats and barley at the present time, however, is likely to bring an increased acreage of these crops at the expense of the wheat crop. Farmers will do well to consider the possibilities of profit from these crops before changing the acreage materially. The average yield of wheat in Minnesota for the last 10 year period was 13.5 bushels an acre, at $2.00 a bushel, which is about the price that the average Minnesota farmer can expect to net for this year's crop, this would bring a return of $27,00 an acre. The average yield of oats for the same period was 30.8 bushels. To bring $27,00 an acre, oats would need to sell at 87.9 cents a bushel this year. The average yield of barley for the same 10 year period was 23.6 bushels. To bring $27.00 an acre, barley would need to sell at $1.14 a bushel. While oats are bringing something over 80 cents now, and barley is much higher than $1.14, it is not probable that present prices will be maintained if a normal crop of the small grains is secured, especially if corn should prove to be a good crop. That is why wheat looks the most surely profitable grain crop.

"Barley and oats must compete with corn as a feed crop. Farmers will prefer to feed corn if it is available. The consequence will be that barley and oats will shrink in price more quickly than wheat. Corn probably would be a keener competitor for wheat than the small grains were it not for the seed shortage. If this is over come corn may yet crowd wheat for the increased acreage. The average state yield of corn for the last 10 year period was 82.3 bushels per acre. To bring as much as an acre of wheat, corn must sell at 83.6 cents per bushel. With live stock at present prices, it is likely that it will sell for that, even though a normal crop is secured."

THE SPRING DRIVE

Our boys are going "Over the top" and into "No man's land" this spring. No one has any doubt of their ability to get there. There will also be a spring drive on this side of the ocean, because March is the year's "blue Monday." It is the most fatal month of the year. March and April is a time when resistance usually is at lowest ebb. It is a trying season for the "run-down" man. But medical science steps in, and says, "it need not be"! We should cultivate a love of health, a sense of responsibility for the care of our bodies. Do not allow the machinery of the body to clog. Put the stomach and liver in proper condition. Take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, to be had at most drug stores in tablet or liquid form, tablets sixty-cents a vial, composed of native herbs. This puts the stomach and liver in proper condition. You may be plodding along, no spring, no elasticity, no vim, but as soon as you have put the body into its normal physical condition—oiled the machinery, as it were—you will find new vim, vigor and vitality within you. A little "pep," and we laugh and live. Try it now. Send Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 10c. for trial package. A little energy will save the day. The prime necessity of life is health. With spirit and energy you have the power to force yourself into action. The Golden Medical Discovery is the spring tonic which you need.

Duluth.—Under the handicap of car shortage, light stocks of hard coal, and embargoes, shipments of fuel from the head of the lakes docks showed a falling off of 3,885 cars during February, according to returns compiled by the Western Weighing bureau.

Duluth.—Supplies of hard coal have been reduced almost to the vanishing point at most of the docks on both sides of the bay and shipments by companies with supplies are being strictly regulated by state and local fuel administrators. It is believed, however, that consumers dependent upon magazine stoves will be taken care of.

Red Wing.—Fred H. Davis, 67, a pioneer Red Wing resident, committed suicide by cutting the arteries in his wrist with a razor. His body was found by the police after a two-hour search, following his disappearance. Illness and melancholia are thought to have temporairly deranged him. Mr. Davis was at one time Chief of police at Red Wing.

Minneapolis.—A total of $25,724.89 has been raised by the National Lutheran war fund, according to final figures made public by S. H. Holstad, state campaign director. Minnesota, which has oversubscribed its quota by more than $107,000 has subscribed $40,000 more than Pennsylvania, despite the fact that the latter state has nearly twice as many Lutherans.

Hallock.—A fedeal officer is here investigating cases of Isaac Lagerquist and his two sons, Andrew Lagerquist and John Lagerquist. The latter is accused of being a deserter from Camp Dodge, and the former is held for an attempt to wreck the Soo flyer near Karlstad. Disloyalty charges may be lodged against the father and his son, John. The attempt to wreck the train failed.

Bemidji.—Roland Henrionette, a bank clerk, was sentenced to life imprisonment at Stillwater for the murder of Oscar Nelson, a bank clerk, Nov. 15, 1917. Nelson was working in the Northern National bank when Henrionette entered last fall. Henrionette opened an argument with Nelson, it is said, declaring the latter should join the army. During the altercation Nelson was killed.

St. Paul.—H. T. Mosching of Waterville was reported to A. L. Wilson, state food administrator, to have ordered 300 pounds of sugar through a warehouse for his own use. J. M. Drew, an investigator, found that the sugar had not been delivered. He ordered it turned over to a store keeper in Waterville for sale to customers. Mossching explained he was not informed of the regulations ruling the amount of sugar an individual might buy.

Duluth.—While the recent storm was at its height, a loaded street car breaking loose on a hill here, crashed into a tree, and finally into a house at the edge of the street. Three persons were injured, none seriously. dation and one side smashed. The car was demolished.

Long Prairie.—In spite of strongly organized opposition to the county agent movement in the form of petitions from half a dozen townships, the board of county commissioners passed the necessary corporation measure. E. W. Bemis of Reynolds towhship was elected president of the farm bureau.

Little Falls.—The Morrison county schools will get $13,885 from the state school apportionment for March.

Minneapolis.—J. F. McGee, federal fuel administrator for Minnesota, has been named to supervise transportation of food commodities in this state.

Bagley.—Albert Turner, 53, one of the early settlers of the town of Pople, died at the St. Vincent's hospital at Crookston. The cause of his death was cancer.

Bemidji.—George Kirko, former clerk in the city water department, under indictment for embezzlement of city funds, pleaded guilty before Judge Stanton in district court here. The court has been adjourned until March 18, when Kirke will be sentenced. With the exception of the Kirke case, the entire calendar has been disposed of.

Minneapolis.—Proprietors of stone quarries in Minnesota met here and organized the Minnesota Crushed Stone Producers' association, which will be affiliated with the National Crushed Stone Producers' association. C. D. Brewer, Duluth, was elected as President; B. F. Pay, Mankato, vice president, and J. F. Ganley, Minneapolis, secretary-treasurer

St. Paul.—To prevent further illegal voting by aliens, the public safety commission has been asked to authorize the pulication of lists of aliens who registered as required by the commission a short time ago. J. A. O. Preus, state auditor, made the request saying that unless the lists were printed in some form the very purpose of the registration would be defeated.

St. Paul.—Veterans of the Soldiers' home and their freinds and well-wishers throughout the state—which means every one in Minnesota—need not worry over the present financial troubles of the home, for not one old soldier there is to suffer or be inconvenienced. This assurance was given at Governor Burnquist's office. A way will be found promptly and gladly to meet the problem.

Minneaplis.—There are 850 cars of balled hay sidetracked along the Willmar division of the Great Northern railroad in Minnesota which will be ruined unless moved soon, said J. F. McGee, Federal fuel administrator for Minnesota, who wired Wm. McAdoo of the necessity of cars to move the product. Mr. McAdoo telegraphed that every effort will be made to increase the car supply, to hasten shipments of the hay.

Princeton.—At a meeting of the Dalbo Starch Manufacturing company it was decided to commence buying potatoes and to purchase only from stockholders in the corporation. The factory will be started up immediately after a sufficient quantity of potatoes has been taken in.

Stillwater.—Two big auto trucks are hauling sand from the Erlitz sand pit in Oak Park to the new buildings which are being constructed for the Twin City Forge & Foundry company. Several hundred tons of sand and gravel will be transportated by these two big trucks.

THE BIG WORK IN THE WAR

The War Lord Salutes the Field Marshall.

Such is the striking title to a well-timed cartoon in an agricultural paper, showing the War Lord in salute to the farmer. The meaning of it is that without the assistance that the farmer renders in the matter of providing food for the army the fighting ability of that body would be proportionally decreased. While the army is fighting, the farmer is busy. The promptness with which he sprang into the breach was a patriotism equal to that of the man who enlisted and the farmer's record in this particular was worthy of the high record that has become his. All over the United States the appeal is being met by more production. Fields are enlarged, intensive agriculture has taken the place of slipshod methods, more cattle are being fattened, more hogs grown, veal and lamb have become scarce commodities. This is all in keeping with the food-controller's demands, and with the heartiness that is now prevalent, it would seem as if the requirements of the boys at the front and the allies in Europe would be fully met.

Not only are the tilled acres of the United States being brought into requisition, but the wild pasture lands are doing tribute with their cattle and sheep. Working in conjunction with the United States, Western Canada is also doing its share and a pretty large share it is, too. By an arrangement with the United States Government it will now be possible through its employment bureau to secure for the Western Canada fields such help as can be spared. It is thought in this way Canada will have its help to seed its millions of acres of wheat land fairly well met. The large number of young men of the farms who have enlisted and gone to the front has left many of the Western Canada farms weak in the matter of man power. This means that Canada can take all that the United States can spare. The wages will be good and the housing comfortable.

In addition to this the free homestead lands of Western Canada offer the greatest inducement to the man with limited means who is willing to undergo some of the hardships naturally accompanying this enterprise. There is also the large area of uncultivated lands that are waiting the man with sufficient means to purchase and equip. And this is not expensive. The lands are cheap and the terms very reasonable. Equipped with tractor or horse power the cultivation cost is slight when the return is considered. Yields of wheat varying from 20 to 40 bushels per acre may be relied upon, and with a set price of over $2.00 per bushel, it is an easy matter to arrive at the cost. Production, including interest on land, has been estimated at figures not exceeding ten dollars an acre. With a twenty bushel yield, at a two dollar price—forty dollars. Ten from forty and you have the profits many farmers made in Western Canada the past year.

The Dominion and Provincial Governments are working conjointly in an increased production propaganda. Among the important steps that have been taken to bring this about is the recent order by which it is made possible to take into Canada tractors that cost fourteen hundred dollars and less in the country of production. This will give those residing in the United States, owning lands in Canada, the opportunity to place them under cultivation at much less cost than in the past. Another inducement is the privilege of taking sheep and cattle in free of duty. Automobiles form a necessary part of the outfit of a good many farmers that would like to move to Canada. These are now accorded free duty. Provision is also made that those requiring seed and unable to obtain it in any other way, may get it from the Government. So from this it will be seen that it is not only the fertile lands of Western Canada that invite the settler, but the ease and cheapness with which a farmer may establish himself.—Advertisement.

CABINET SPLIT FOLLOWS PEACE

Russ Soviets Ratify Treaty With Kaiser and Ministry Is Disrupted as Result.

HEAR WILSON'S NOTE

Slav Congress Adopts Resolution Urging World to Overthrow Capitalism and Establish Socialism—Trotsky Prepares for War.

Petrograd, March 19.—With the ratification of the treaty of peace with Germany, the Soviet congress in Moscow has dissolved. But the Germans have not yet ceased their inroads into Russia's richest territory in the south.

Nikolayev, the great navy yard city northeast of Odessa, headquarters of the high command of the Russian Black Sea fleet, and vast storage house of grain, is the latest prize that has been wrested from the Russians.

Petrograd, March 19.—Officially Russia has retired from the war.

The pansoviet congress, at Moscow, consisting of 1,000 representatives of workmen, soldiers, peasants and Cossacks, overwhelmingly voted ratification of the German dictated peace terms adopted at Brest Litovsk.

The action was a foregone conclusion. The Bolshevik faction, which dominated the congress, under the leadership of Premier Lenine, previously had cast 453 ballots in favor of ratification at a factional caucus.

Vote Disrupts Cabinet.

The vote, if the announced determination of the social revolutionary commissaries is carried out, automatically disrupts the present Russian cabinet. These ministers, following the example of Justice Commissary Steinberg, temporarily retired from the cabinet pending settlement of the peace question at Moscow. They declared their intention of making the requirements permanent in case the pact was ratified.

Steinberg openly stated that the pansoviet must tear up the Brest Litovsk treaty and create the necessary government for defense.

Meanwhile, in Petrograd, Leon Trotsky, in his new role as war commissary, was pushing the work of creating a new Russian army.

"Germany knows a robber peace cannot last," he explained in a statement.

Hear Wilson's Message.

Previously to voting on the peace treaty, the Moscow congress listened to President Wilson's message of sympathy to Russia. The message was received in silence, broken only by murmurings regarding the Japanese situation.

Then the congress adopted a resolution in reply, directed to the world at large, and urging the international "proletariat" to overthrow capitalism and establish a socialist government.

Reply to Note.

The resolution read:

"The congress of soviets expresses its appreciation to the American people; particularly to the toilers and those who are being exploited, for their sympathy toward the Russian people at a time when the Russian socialist republic is experiencing its greatest hardships.

"The republic takes advantage of President Wilson's message to express to all peoples perishing and suffering as a result of the imperialistic war, its warm sympathy and confidence that the time is not far distant when the masses will overthrow capitalism and establish a socialist society, which alone is capable of giving a lasting and just peace and assuring the welfare of the toilers."

STRIKES SPREAD RAPIDLY

Are Again in Progress in Austria and Hungary.

Amsterdam, March 18.—Strikes are again in progress in Austria and Hungary, and are spreading rapidly, according to reports appearing in German newspapers. A Vienna dispatch to the Weser Zeitung of Gremen, says that a strike has begun in Budapest and is assuming large proportions. Telegraphic communication between Budapest and Vienna has been suspended.

A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Miss Kelly Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Newark, N. J.—"For about three years I suffered from nervous breakdown and got so weak I could hardly stand, and had headaches every day. I tried everything I could think of and was under a physician's care for two years. A girl friend had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she told me about it. From the first day I took it I began to feel better and now I am well and able to do most any kind of work. I have been recommending the Compound ever since and give you my permission to publish this letter."—Miss FLO KELLY, 476 So. 14th St., Newark, N. J.

The reason this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, was so successful in Miss Kelly's case was because it went to the root of her trouble, restored her to a normal healthy condition and as a result her nervousness disappeared.

Mrs. Carico, a middle-aged and talkative ruralist, was appearing in a suit brought by her husband. She insisted on loudly commenting on each answer given by the first witness. Repeatedly the judge requested her to keep quiet, but she persisted in audibly disputing the words of the witness. Finally the judge said:

"Mrs. Carico, the court demands that you remain quiet. Unless you do so you will be held in contempt."

LEMON JUICE IS SKIN WHITENER

CHEAP HOME-MADE BEAUTY LOTION TO REMOVE TAN, FRECKLES, SALLOWNESS.

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin whitener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach a darkened skin and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to whiten rough, red hands.—Adv.

Sowing the Seed and Producing Bigger Crops

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY
TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than April 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal wi. get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

WILSON SENDS SLAVS MESSAGE

President Pledges Support of United States In Restoring Free Russia.

PLEA FOR DEMOCRACY

Word Delivered to Soldiers' and Workmen's Congress Meeting to Pass on Germany's Peace Terms.

Washington, March 13.—President Wilson has sent a message of sympathy to the Russian people on the eve of the gathering at Moscow of the Russian congress of Soviets, which is to pass judgment on the German made peace accepted by the bolsheviki at Brest-Litovsk. The message is sent through the congress with a pledge that the United State will avail itself of every opportunity to aid them in driving out autocracy and restoring Russia to her place in the world with complete sovereignty and independence.

The United States now recognizes no government in Russia, but the President cabled his message to the American consul at Moscow for delivery to the congress, which is made up of soldiers' and workingmen's representatives and speaks for at least a considerable part of the Russian people.

Wilson's Message.

This is the message:

"May I not take advantage of the meeting of the Congress of the Soviets to express the sincere sympathy which the people of the United States feel for the Russian people at this moment, when the German power has been thrust in to interrupt and turn back the whole struggle for freedom and substitute the wishes of Germany for the purposes of the people of Russia.

"Although the government of the United States is unhappily not now in a position to render the direct and effective aid it would wish to render, I beg to assure the people of Russia, through the congress, that it will avail itself of every opportunity to secure for Russia once more complete sovereignty and independence in her own affairs and full restoration to her great role in the life of Europe and the modern world. The whole heart of the people of the United States is with the people of Russia in the attempt to free themselves from autocratic government and become the masters of their own life.

"Woodrow Wilson."

May Be New Uprising.

The President does not urge the Soviets to reject the peace treaty, though the delivery of his message at this time may be interpreted as suggesting such a course.

But there seems to be still a strong belief here that difficulty for Germany in the East by no means is ended; that as the humiliating nature of the Teutonic terms begins to be realized by the great mass of the Russians and the tyranny of the war lords in occupied territory shows itself, there will be a new uprising that will make itself felt.

May Lessen Misgivings.

Coming at the time it does, the President's message may serve to lessen misgivings in Russia over the proposed intervention by Japan in Siberia. The understanding here is that there is no difference of opinion among the Allies that any operations undertaken by Japan to check German machinations in the East and protect the war stores at Vladivostok will not in any degree threaten permanently Russia's territorial integrity.

LONG TERMS FOR SOCIALISTS

Twenty to 25 Year Sentences for Insubordination Announced.

Camp Dodge, Iowa, March 12.—Found guilty by a general courtmartial of refusing to obey orders, eight National army men from St. Paul, all professed socialists, have been sentenced to long terms of imprisonment in the Leavenworth penitentiary, it is announced.

One of the men, A. S. Broms, was given 20 years and the other seven were sentenced to 25 years confinement, all at hard labor.

13 Lost When Tugboat Sinks.

New Orleans, March 12.—Thirteen persons, mostly negroes, were lost when the tugboat W. A. Bisso sank in the Mississippi river near here, after she rammed a Mexican oil tanker.

Red and White Guards Battle.

Stockholm, March 12.—Heavy fighting is continuing in Finland between the Finnish White Guard and the Russian Red Guard troops, according to an official statement from the headquarters of the White Guard at Vasa. Violent encounters are reported on the Satakunta and Savalako fronts. Sanguinary fighting is proceeding day and night without interruption in Karelia. The statement announces that the Russians in the Ahvola fighting keep continually throwing fresh forces in the fray.

Swift & Company Publicity

At a recent hearing of the Federal Trade Commission there was introduced correspondence taken from the private files of Swift & Company, which showed that the Company had been considering for some time an educational advertising campaign.

The need for this publicity has been apparent to us for several years. The gross misrepresentation to which we have recently been subjected has convinced us that we should no longer delay in putting before the public the basic facts of our business, relying on the fair-mindedness of the American people.

The feeling against the American packer is based largely on the belief that the income and well-being of the producer and consumer are adversely affected by the packers' operations, resulting in unreasonably large profits.

Swift & Company's net profit is reasonable, and represents an insignificant factor in the cost of living.

For the fiscal year 1917 the total sales and net profit of Swift & Company were as follows:

This is equivalent to a $3,465. profit on a business of $87,500.

If Swift & Company had made no profit at all, the cattle raiser would have received only one-eighth of a cent per pound more for his cattle, or the consumer would have saved only one-quarter of a cent per pound on dressed beef.

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as the prescription othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

FOOD WILL WIN THE WAR

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT. EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUB.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

$1.00 a year, in advance.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879

There is one thing about Governor Burnquist that we admire, and that is; that be comes right out and declars where he is at. Now the farmers and laboring men of this state can be sure of the active opposition of governor Burnquist to any attempt that they make to organize to better their condition. The great Ignatius Donnelly once said, "that a man that would reward another man for kicking him was a fool". Any farmer or laboring man who votes for Burnquist for Governor next fall is so ignorant that he don't know when he is insulted.

The answer to the invitation to address the laboring men and Non-Partisan League, called a scathing condemnation of the Townley organization by the big interest newspapers is an insult to the farmers, as the intention seems to be to discourage any organization by them to better their conditions.

The campaign for the third Liberty Loan will be opened on April 6th. This is a time when every true American should dig up promptly to show our allies in the war and our opponents in the war, that America means business. Our troops are doing valiant service at the front, now let us back them up from the rear.

The farmer is now getting seven cents a pound for hides, but the price of shoes is steadily going up. Who controls the price of hides, and who controls the price of shoes? Still our middle men is of the opinion, that farmers should be mobbed, if they attempt to hold any meetings to organize for self protection.

FEDERAL INCOME TAX IN BRIEF

The Requirements Boiled Down for Busy Folks.

Returns must be filed on or before April 1, 1918.

Tax due may be paid now or on or before June 15, 1918.

If you are single and your net income for 1917 was $1,000 or more you must file a return.

If you were married and living with wife (or husband) and had a net income of $2,000 or more for 1917 you must file a return.

Husband's and wife's income must be considered jointly, plus income of minor children.

Income of a minor or incompetent, derived from a separate estate, must be reported by his legal representative.

Severe penalties are provided for those who neglect or evade the law.

For false or fraudulent return there is a penalty not exceeding $2,000 fine or year's imprisonment, or both, plus 100 per cent. of tax.

For failure to make return on or before April 1, 1918, fine is from $20 to $1,000, plus 50 per cent. of tax due.

Returns must be filed with the Collector of Internal Revenue of district in which you live.

An agent may file return for a person who is ill, absent from the country or otherwise incapacitated.

Each return must be signed and sworn or affirmed by person executing it.

Single persons are allowed $1,000 exemption in computing normal tax.

A married person living with wife (or husband) is allowed $2,000 exemption, plus $200 for each dependent child under 18.

A head of family, though single, is allowed $2,000 exemption if actually supporting one or more relatives.

Returns must show the entire amount of earnings, gains and profits received during the year.

Officials and employees are not taxable on the salaries or wages received from a state, county, city or town in the United States.

Interest on state and municipal bonds issued within the U. S. is exempt from federal income tax and should be omitted.

Interest on United States government bonds is also exempt, except on individual holdings of Liberty Fours in excess of $5,000 par value.

Dividends are not subject to normal tax, but must be reported and included in net income.

Gifts and legacies are not income and should not be included on the return of the beneficiary.

Life insurance received as a beneficiary or as premiums paid back at maturity or surrender of policy is not income.

Payments received for real or personal property sold is not income, but the profit realized thereon is income for the year of sale.

Amounts received in payment of notes or mortgages is not income, but the interest on such notes or mortgages is taxable income.

From the entire gross income certain allowances are made in arriving at the net income.

Necessary expenses actually paid in the conduct of business, trade or profession may be claimed.

A farmer can claim payments for labor, seed, fertilizer, stock feed, repairs on buildings, except his dwelling; repairs of fences and farm machinery, materials and small tools for immediate use.

The amount of rent paid for a farm may also be claimed as a tenant farmer's expense.

Payments for live stock are allowable if bought for resale. But if bought for breeding purposes cattle are an investment, not an expense, and cannot be allowed.

A storekeeper can claim amounts paid for advertising, clerk hire, telephone, water, light and fuel, also drayage and freight bills and cost of operating and repairing wagons and trucks.

A physician can claim cost of his professional supplies, rent, office help, telephone, expense of team or automobile used in making professional calls and expenses attending medical conventions.

A dentist can claim similar items, except team or auto expense, which are not necessary in his profession.

Expenses that are personal or connected in any way with the support or well being of a person or family are not allowable.

The costs of machines, instruments, vehicles or implements that are more or less permanent in character are not allowable as an expense. They are investments.

Interest paid on a mortgage or other personal indebtedness is allowable on a personal return.

All taxes paid within the year can be taken out on a federal return, except federal income taxes, inheritance taxes and assessments for local improvements.

Losses sustained in business or through fire, storm or shipwreck or by theft, except when compensated by insurance or otherwise.

Wear and tear of rented buildings or machinery used in business may be claimed.

You can also claim the amount paid to the Red Cross and to other charitable, religious or educational organization to the extent of 15 per cent. of your net income.

CHILDREN DIE NEEDLESSLY

Dr. Mills Says There Should Be No Suffering in World of Plenty.

Dr. Walter Thomas Mills, lecturer and economist who talked to large audiences in North Dakota during January and February, had this to say on a vital subject at Park River in that state:

"Is there anyone in the world who is hungry or wretched today," he asked, "because there is not land enough and machinery enough and labor enough to provide plenty for all?

"And yet 300,000 children under five years of age died in this country last year, a large percentage of them because they were undernourished.

"Whose fault is it that this kind of management, dishonest, incompetent, corrupt, is bound to the wheel of the useless—those who produce nothing—to exploit the useful—those who produce all?"

Feeding the Army.

An army travels on its stomach. The farmers who are standing behind seeing that food is produced to go forward regularly are as useful in a war as the fighting men.

LIVING IN JAPAN.

Hard Work For the Middle Classes to Make Both Ends Meet.

Dr. Takata, Japanese minister of education, has recently published a book concerning economic conditions in Japan. The pinch comes harder upon the middle classes than upon the lower classes since the former must not only live, but must keep up a respectable appearance on salaries no greater than those that men who work at trades receive.

For example, according to Dr. Takata, a primary school teacher earns $15.50 a month, but his lowest budget for a family of four reaches $17.33. His wife must do work at home to earn the deficit. A magazine editor and writer who has a wife, two children and a maid spends $32.75 monthly on household sundries. His earnings are irregular, but always below his expenses. He has been compelled to borrow money from his wife's relatives, and her trousseau is not unknown to the pawnshops.

Finnan Haddie.

"You may be getting finnan haddie when you order it at your dealer's," said a buyer for a restaurant, "and you may not. Finnan haddie is smoked haddock. Haddock is of the same family as the cod. It resembles the codfish, but has a black lateral line. The lateral line of the codfish is white. The appearance of this line is not changed by the smoking, and if you take the trouble to glance down the sides of the fish that you are buying as finnan haddie you will often see that the line is white, not black. Cod may be just as good, as the dealer will perhaps tell you, but if you want finnan haddie that is doubtless what you want."—New York Sun.

Primitive Reptiles.

The tuatara, or tuatera, is an almost extinct lizard-like reptile (Sphenodon punctatum), now found only on certain rocky islets in the bay of Plenty, northern New Zealand. It is of great scientific interest for the reason that it is the only surviving representative of the order of prosauria, or primitive reptiles, and is therefore a sort of "living fossil." It was formerly hunted for food, but is now protected by law in New Zealand.

BRITISH LABORITES READY TO REBUILD

English Unionists Offer Radical Political Program to Reconstruct Society.

Declaring that "reckless individualism with its profiteering and wage slavery" has received its death blow, the British Labor party has just formulated a splendid plan for reconstruction after the war which promises vast social changes in England.

The British Labor party proposes to adopt this plan as its platform and to place candidates for the House of Commons in the field in every constituency in Great Britain. It already is predicted by shrewd political observers that the Labor Party may carry the next election even though the Liberals and Conservatives combine against them.

People Must Make Plans.

The British Labor party believes that a vastly better civilization will arise Phoenix-like from the ruins of war, but it also believes that unless the people begin now to work out the right plans for construction, that the great capitalists and other selfish interests will endeavor to abolish government ownership and to restore industrial autocracy. The British Labor party wants more than certain specific reforms; it wants a new foundation for society.

The New Republic, one of the most thoughtful magazines of America, calls the British Labor plan "the most mature and carefully formulated program ever put forth by a responsible political party."

Like Nonpartisan League Program.

In this connection it is interesting to point out that the proposals just announced by the British Labor party are substantially in accord with the program adopted by the National Nonpartisan league which will be voted on in at least eight states at the coming elections. It is plain to all thinking men that the war has marked the commencement of a new era in society, that the whole world is in a state of social ferment, and that this new wine of democracy cannot much longer be contained in the old casks of outworn political and industrial institutions.

"The people will be extremely foolish," says the British Labor party, "if they ever allow their indispensable industries to slip back into unfettered control of private capitalists." The platform demands government ownership of the means of communication and transportation, including the great steamship lines and the same management of coal and power production. It wants the great estates that levy tribute on the people and industry of the nation broken up. It proposes better housing conditions.

All Entitled to Happiness.

Every man willing to work should be provided with work, and his life and health should be protected in that work. There should be accident, health and unemployment insurance. There should be a constructive plan for demobilizing the munition workers and troops after the war that all may obtain the employment for which they are fitted. Every member of the community should have a certain minimum of the requisites for healthy life and citizenship. The tax burden on labor and industry should be lightened and that on vested wealth and special privilege greatly increased.

A World Wide Demand.

This platform of one of the most powerful parties in Great Britain has more than local application. In every country where the voice of the people is heard, practically the same measures are demanded. They are demanded not only by labor but by the small business men and professional men and by farmers, in fact by all who lose by the monopoly of transportation and natural resources and by the domination which these monopolies exercise over the government. They are demanded by those who see that we must have industrial democracy or be ruined by the burden of the war. They are demanded by those who insist that the lessons learned [illegible]

ALL WILLING TO PAY FARES

Reason Why Citizens of Lima, Peru, Do Not Seek to Evade Their Street Car Obligations.

If fare registers were to be placed in the street cars of Lima, Peru, there would be a loud protest. This is not because it is easier to dodge the conductor under the prevailing system. On the contrary, the travelers of Lima are willing, even anxious, to pay their fares. Perhaps that doesn't seem human, but the explanation is that upon receipt of the fare a numbered ticket is presented to the passenger, and it is a valuable lottery ticket.

The car lines are divided into four sections for the monthly and semimonthly drawings conducted by the railway company. In the three important sections a cash prize of $150 is offered. The fourth section offers a prize of $50.

Does the public approve of the lottery? Does it? Well 28,500,000 persons rode last year.

Silkworms of the Sea.

Plenty of worms live in the sea, and some of them are very beautiful creatures. Which latter fact ought to be consoling to ourselves, inasmuch as there are naturalists who contend that the earliest ancestor of the human race was a marine worm. But the so-called "silkworm of the sea"—the designation being purely figurative and poetical—is a bivalve mollusk properly known as the "pinna" and native to the Mediterranean. It spins a silk so beautiful that in ancient days the fiber was reserved exclusively for the weaving of royal garments. This silk is spun by the mollusk to furnish an anchor line by which it fastens itself to a convenient rock. It is extremely fine and very strong. Cleaned, dried and passed through combs, it is reduced to delicate threads of a lustrous brownish yellow hue, which are woven into gloves, stockings and other articles. A pair of stockings of this material today costs [illegible].—Philadelphia Ledger.

Strength Gave Out

Mrs. Schmitt Was Miserable From Kidney Trouble Until Doan's Came to Her Assistance. Now Well.

Mrs. Schmitt

"My kidneys gave out during the change of life," says Mrs. Margaretha Schmitt, 63 Alabama Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y. "My back ached and pained as if it were broken. When I moved in bed, sharp, darting pains caught me across my back and I couldn't turn. Mornings I was stiff and sore and it felt as if heavy weights were tied to me. I was so worn-out I often came near falling from dizziness and flashes of fire would come before my eyes, blinding me.

"I had the most severe headaches and my kidneys didn't act regularly. The secretions passed too often and caused much distress. I was hardly able to do my housework and just to walk upstairs took all my strength.

"As soon as I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills, I improved and six boxes put me in better health than I had enjoyed for years."

Mrs. Schmitt gave the foregoing statement in 1916 and on April 6, 1917, she said: "My cure has been permanent. I keep Doan's on hand, however, and take a few doses occasionally."

PISO'S

What She Would Take.

At an Irish assize a deaf old lady, who had brought an action for damages against her neighbor, was being examined, when the judge suggested a compromise, and instructed counsel to ask what she would take to settle the matter.

"His lordship wants to know what you will take?" asked the learned counsel, bawling as loud as he could in the old lady's ear.

"I thank his lordship kindly," answered the dame; "and if it's no inconvenience to him, I'll take a little whisky and water."

Really Quick Work.

An Irishman, who was a bricklayer, and who was evicted, went to America to find work. When he was passing through New York he saw some bricklayers at work, and stood looking at them. While he was standing the foreman came over and said to him:

"Well, Pat, are you able to build houses as quick as this in Dublin? We start a house in the morning and the tenant is living in it in the evening."

"Well, begorra!" said Pat, "that's nothing. In Dublin we start a house in the morning, and the landlord is evicting the tenant from it in the evening."

Too Valuable.

"That prima donna didn't seem at all angry."

"How did you get that impression?" inquired the weary manager?"

WHEAT RATION CUT ONE-HALF

Americans Are Asked To Do On Pound and Half Per Person Each Week.

TO REDUCE FLOUR SALES

One-Eighth Barrel For City and One-Quarter For Country Customers Are Decreased—New Food Rules.

Washington, March 26.—That the scant supplies available before the next harvest may be stretched to meet the demands of the army, domestic consumers and the allies the food administration has asked a further reduction in the consumption of wheat.

Every American is requested to cut his average ration of wheat by 50 per cent, which would reduce the total normal consumption of 42,000,000 bushels a month to 21,000,000. This gives a ration of not more than 1½ pounds of wheat products weekly for each person. Flour sales will be cut to one-eighth of a barrel for a town customer and one-quarter for any country customer, that retailers' stocks may be illustrated to as great a number as possible.

Statement Is Issued.

The Food administartion's statement says:

"If we are to furnish the Allies with the necessary proportion of wheat to maintain their war bread from now until the next harvest, and this is a military necessity, we must reduce our monthly consumption to about 21,000,000 bushels a month as against our normal consumption of about 42,000,000 bushels, or 50 per cent our normal consumption. Reserving a margin for distribution to the army and for special cases, leaves for general consumption approximately one and one-half pounds of wheat products weekly per person.

Many of our consumers are dependent upon bakers' bread. Such bread must be durable and therefore requires a larger proportion of wheat products then cereal breads baked in the household.

Potatoes Are Abundant.

"With improved transportation conditions we now have available a surplus of potatoes. We have in the spring months a surplus of milk and we have ample corn and oats for human consumption. The drain on rye and barley as substitutes has already exhausted the supply of these grains.

"To effect the needed saving of wheat we are wholly dependent upon the voluntary assistance of the American people and we ask that the following rules shall be observed: Householders to use not to exceed a total of 1½ pounds per week of wheat products per person. This means not more than 1¾ pounds of Victory bread containing the required percentage of substitutes and one-half pound of cooking flour, Macaroni, crackers, pastry, pies, cakes wheat breakfast cereals, all combined.

Wheatless Day Continue

"Public eating places and clubs to observe two wheatless days per week, Monday and Wednesday, as at present. In addition thereto, not to serve to any one guest at any one meal an aggregate of breadstuffs, macaroni, crackers, pastry, pies, cakes, or wheat breakfast cereals containing a total of more than two ounces of wheat flour. No wheat products to be served unless specially ordered. Public eating establishments not to buy more than six pounds of wheat products for each 90 meals served, thus conforming with the limitations requested of the householders.

"Retailers to sell not more than one-eighth of a barrel of flour to any town customers at any one time and not more than one-quarter of a barrel to any country customer at any one time and in no case to sell wheat products without the sale of an equal weight of other cereals.

Victory Bread Affected.

"We ask the bakers and grocers to reduce the volume of Victory bread sold, by delivery of the three-quarter pound loaf where one pound was sold before and corresponding proportions in other weights. We also ask bakers not to increase the amount of their wheat flour purchases beyond 70 per cent of the average monthly amount purchased in the four months prior to March first.

"Manufacturers using wheat products for non-food purposes should cease such use entirely. There is no limit on the use of other cereals, flours and meats, corn, barley, buckwheat, potato flour, etc.

Raiders Fail to Reach Paris.

Paris, March 25.—A group of enemy airplanes have crossed the lines and a number of bombs were dropped on Compiegne and different towns in that region. Several machines advanced further to the south, but were forced to turn back by the fire of French artillery. The alarm was immediately given in Paris and half an hour later the "all clear" signal was sounded. Apparently the Germans had intended to raid Paris itself, but one enemy machine succeeded in reaching the capital.

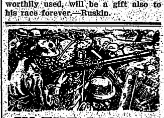
Daily Thought.

Degrees infinite of luster there must always be, but the weakest among us has a gift, however seemingly trivial, which is peculiar to him and which, worthily used, will be a gift also to his race forever.—Ruskin.



IN THE SPRING

will be the great test of a life and death struggle on the Western front. In the everyday walks of life, it is the spring time that brings ill health. One of the chief reasons why the run-down man finds himself in a bad state of health in March or April, is because he has spent nearly all his hours for the past four or five months penned up within the walls of house, factory or office. It is the reason for our diminished resistance—that is, lack of out-door life, coupled with perhaps over-eating, lack of good exercise, insufficient sleep, and constipation. In other words, we keep feeding the furnace with food but do not take out the "clinkers," and our fire does not burn brightly. Always keep the liver active.

There is nothing better for health than taking an occasional mild laxative, perhaps once a week; such a one as you can get at any drug store, made up of May-apple, jalap, aloes, (sugar-coated, tiny, easily taken), which has stood the test of fifty years of approval—namely, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. But for the "Spring Fever," the general run-down condition, the lack of ambition, the "blues," one should take a course of treatment every spring; such a standard tonic as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, now to be had in tablet form in sixty-cent vials. Watch the people go plodding along the street. There's no spring, no vitality. A vitalizing tonic such as this vegetable extract of Dr. Pierce's gives you the power to force yourself into action. The brain responds to the new blood in circulation, and thus you're ready to make a fight against stagnation which holds you in bondage. Try it now! Don't wait! Today is the day to begin. Gain a little "pep," and laugh and live. Vim and vitality are the natural out-pouring of a healthy body. It does not spring up in a night. Try this spring tonic, and you gain the courage that comes with good health.

BIG 75-MILE GUN POUNDING AWAY

Bombardment of Paris From St. Gobain Forest, 76 Miles From City, Still Continues.

PEOPLE NOT ALARMED

Go to Church as Usual Though Projectiles Fall During Greater Part of Day—Shells Fall on Schedule.

Paris, March 26.—In the St. Gobain forest west of Laon, exactly 122 kilometers, approximately 76 miles from the Paris city hall, the German monster "cannon" which has been bombarding Paris, has been located.

The gun again bombarded Paris during the greater part of Sunday. The day was ushered in by loud explosions from the 10-inch shells, and immediately the alarm to take cover was sounded. This occurred at 6:55 o'clock and many persons sought shelter, but greater numbers of them appeared in the streets on their usual way to the churches, which were almost as well filled as usual. The women who sell palm leaves on Palm Sundays did their usual thriving business.

Shells Fall on Schedule.

At first, the shells began arriving at intervals of twenty minutes, and the detonations, considering the Sunday calm, seemed louder than those of Saturday. Their power to disturb the equanimity of the populace, however, seemed less, the people refusing to be distracted from their Sunday habits to any great extent.

In Saturday's bombardment, 24 shots in all were fired from 7.20 a. m. to 3 o'clock p. m., a shell dropping every twenty minutes with monotonous regularity. The bombardment presented all the characteristics of a bombardment by heavy artillery, there being regular intervals between the shots and the shells falling within a restricted area. Enemy aviators who flew over the city during the early hours of the bombardment regulated the firing.

"French Front Intact," Note.

For the benefit of that portion of the populace which had been led to believe the Germans had broken through the line and were bombarding Paris from nearby positions, a semi-official note was issued. This warned the people against believing pessimistic reports.

"The French front is intact," said the note. "Any assertion to the contrary is a lie."

As late as 3 o'clock no explosions had been heard for more than an hour. The 'clear signal" was sounded at 3:30 o'clock.

Schedule Is Speeded Up.

Although during the earlier hours of the bombardment the shells arrived on twenty minute intervals, later in the day they began arriving every fifteen minutes on the average, and some of them even fell 12 minutes apart.

In military circles the belief was expressed that the Germans were using two long distance guns. The Matin says the position of one of the guns was established in the St. Gobain forest, which would place it somewhat further south in the wooded area than had been believed.

The government has decided that in the future the bombardment of Paris by long distance guns shall not interrupt the normal life of the capitol, but that the population shall be warned of a bombardment by distinctive means, differing from the usual warnings sent out in cases of air raids. Drums will be beaten and the police will sound whistles.

MINE SINKS FOE TRANSPORT

Gunner Admiral, Soldiers and Grew Are Reported Drowned.

London, March 25.—Finlanders arriving at Stockholm on the gunboat Svenskund, say that the German transport Frankland struck a mine and sank at Moorland, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Stockholm.

The transport was crowded with soldiers, cannon and munitions and, according to the dispatch, the entire crew, all of the soldiers, and Admiral von Meyer were lost.

Says Women Will Decide War.

Rome, March 25.—"America and particularly the women of America will decide the war against Germany," recently declared Dr. Stuart Galenga, under-secretary to Premier Orlando, addressing a meeting of the Woman's National Italian League. "Without the patriotic work of women in Entente countries we could not hope to win," he continued.

May Declare War On Bulgaria.

Washington, March 25.—Berlin reports that Bulgars are fighting on the West front aroused immediate speculation here as to the probability of the United States declaring war against Bulgaria. Government authorities said a decision would await further facts as to the extent of Bulgaria's participation and whether they are facing British or Americans. If Bulgars participate in the West drive to such an extent as to insure their operation against Americans, a declaration of war is held inevitable.

Is your home Certain-teed?

You pay for insurance against a fire loss that may happen. Are you equally protected against loss that surely will happen if your home remains unpainted,—or poorly painted? Is your property Certain-teed against deterioration and decay?

Wherever there is need for paint or varnish, that need is supplied by a Certain-teed Paint or Varnish made for the purpose. For interior walls, ceilings, woodwork, floors and furniture; for exterior walls, roofs, porches, outbuildings and porch furniture— there is a Certain-teed product made to withstand the use or exposure to which it will be subjected.

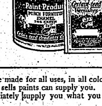
Certain-teed

Paints and Varnishes

are more decorative than ordinary paints,—their colors and finish more clear and lustrous. And they are, in the ultimate, more economical; for they spread farther and last longer, and each color is priced according to its cost of production; whereas most paints are sold at a flat price, based upon the production cost of the most expensive color.

For Porch and Lawn Furniture

The man in the illustration is giving his porch and lawn furniture a coat of Certain-teed Porch Furniture Enamel. The sun will not fade its color; rain will not dim its lustre; hot weather will not soften its surface. This enamel, like all other Certain-teed products, is compounded of pure materials, properly proportioned, accurately mixed by machinery under the supervision of paint experts.



Certain-teed Paints and Varnishes are made for all uses, in all colors and in all sizes of cans. Any store that sells paints can supply you. If the dealer you apply to, cannot immediately supply you what you want, he can obtain it promptly.

Win the War by Preparing the Land

Sowing the Seed and Producing Bigger Crops

Work in Joint Effort the Soil of the United States and Canada

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY
TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than April 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

SHIPS SEIZED AS HOLLAND BALKS

Seventy-Seven Dutch Vessels In American Waters Are Taken Over By Government.

GERMAN THREATS MADE

Said By President to Be Responsible For Action of Dutch Nation in Matter—Britain Also Takes Ships.

Washington, March 22.—The United States has requisitioned all Dutch ships in American waters upon Holland's refusal in the face of German threats to put into effect her voluntary agreement for restoring her merchant marine to activity. U. S. naval guards went on board the ships immediately. At the same time Great Britain was taking over Dutch vessels in British ports.

A total of 77 ships of probably 600,000 tons was added to the American merchant marine by the requisitioning. Another 400,000 tons are put into the Allied service by Great Britain's action. Most of them will be used in the food carrying trade between the United States and Europe.

President Wilson's proclamation taking over the ships was issued only after word finally came from London that Holland's delayed reply was a rejection of the British-American demand.

Guarantee Made to Holland.

The government had waited more than 48 hours beyond the time when Holland had been requested to make a decision as to whether she would carry out the original pact or submit to requisitioning. Every effort was made to avoid drastic action, as transfer by agreement was sought, rather than by seizure, although the latter is an exercise of sovereign rights justified in international law and practiced by all nations.

Although the ships had been taken over without any formal agreement, the United States proposes to carry out scrupulously the terms of the original pact, so that Holland shall receive ample foodstuffs and will be protected in her colonial trade by having sufficient tonnage to maintain its commerce.

The President's proclamation was issued, authorizing the navy to take over the vessels, which will be equipped and operated by the Navy department and the Shipping board, the Dutch crews being supplemented by American civilian sailors and naval reservists. Compensation will be made to the owners, as required by law.

President Makes Statement.

In a statement outlining the negotiations which preceded the requisitioning, President Wilson pointed out that the permanent agreement with the Dutch government had been blocked by Germany, despite the little kingdom's acute need of foodstuffs, for which the agreement provided. A temporary agreement then was negotiated to tide over the emergency and that too, was held up by Prussian diplomacy.

"Although the reason never was formally expressed," the President said, "it was generally known that the Dutch shipowners feared lest their ships would be destroyed by German submarines. That this fear was not wholly unjustified has unhappily been shown by the recent act of the German government in sinking the Spanish ship Sardinero outside the danger zone, when carrying a cargo of grain for Switzerland, and after the submarine commander had ascertained this fact by an inspection of the ship's papers."

For two months the proposed agreements lay in diplomatic pigeon holes without action and meanwhile, the President says:

"German threats have grown more violent." The final proposal to Holland was transmitted on March 7 and set last Monday as the time by which a reply was wished. Failing to receive a favorable reply, the United States proceeded to requisition the ships as dictated by military necessity.

RUSSIAN WARSHIPS ESCAPE

Fifteen Craft Claimed by Berlin Reported at Sebastopol.

Washington, March 21.—Russian warships at Odessa escaped to Sebastopol when the Germans took that city, according to a dispatch to the state department from American Consul Summers at Moscow. Recent press dispatches quoted Berlin authorities as declaring that 15 ships were taken when the city was occupied.

To Vote on Universal Training.

Washington, March 21.—The senate will soon register its vote on universal military training. Senator H. S. New, Indiana, within a few days will offer his universal training amendment to the war department resolution for drafting of men who have reached the age of 21 since June 5, 1917. Senator J. S. Frelinghuysen, in charge of this measure, will call it up as soon as the senate has finished with the agricultural appropriation bills. Senator New does not expect adoption of his amendments.

GIRLS! MAKE A BEAUTY LOTION WITH LEMONS

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It should naturally help to whiten, soften, freshen and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is truly marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands. Adv.

THE TRUTH ABOUT ECZEMA AND PILES

Thousands and thousands of people, says Peterson, are learning every week that one 30 cent box of Peterson's Ointment will abolish Eczema and banish piles, and the grateful letters I receive every day are worth more to me than money.

I had Eczema for many years on my head and could not get anything to do it any good. I saw your ad and got one box and I owe you many thanks for the good it has done me. There isn't a blotch on my head now, and I couldn't help but thank Peterson, for the cure is great. Mrs. Mary Hill, 420 Third Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.

I have had itching piles for 15 years and Peterson's is the only ointment that relieves me, besides the piles seem to have gone. A. B. Ruger, 1127 Washington Avenue, Racine, Wis.

Use Peterson's Ointment for old sores, salt rheum and all skin diseases. It banishes pimples and blackheads in less than 10 days and leaves the skin clean, clear and pleasant to look upon. Druggists guarantee it. Adv.

To The American People

There is no foundation for the alleged violations of law attributed to our Company by agents of the Federal Trade Commission and I want to say emphatically that Swift & Company is not a party to any conspiracy to defraud the Government. Nor has Swift & Company been guilty of improperly storing foods or of making false entries or reports.

Conferences of packers, where prices have been discussed, have been held at the urgent request and in the presence of representatives of either the Food Administration or the Council of National Defense. And yet the packers have been accused of committing a felony by acting in collusion on Government bids!

We have done our best, with other packers, large and small, to comply with the directions of the United States Food Administration in all particulars, including the furnishing of food supplies for the U. S. Army and Navy and the Allies, now being handled through the Food Administration.

We will continue to do our utmost, under Government direction, to increase our production and assist the Food Administration. We consider that the opportunity to co-operate whole-heartedly and to our fullest powers with this branch of the Government is our plain and most pressing duty.

The Trade Commission Attorney has, by false inference and misplaced emphasis, given to disconnected portions of the correspondence taken from our private files and read into the Record, a false and sinister meaning with the plain purpose of creating antagonistic public opinion.

The services of the packers of the United States are most urgently needed, and I regret exceedingly that we should at this time have to spend our efforts in defending ourselves against unfounded, unproved, and unfair assertions such as are being daily made public.

22 Million Families in the United States

4 CUPS OF WHEAT FLOUR TO THE POUND

If each family used 4 cups of flour less per week, the saving would be 22 million pounds or 112,244 barrels every week.

The greatest help housekeepers can give to win the war is to make this saving and it can be done by using this recipe in place of white flour bread.

Corn Meal Biscuits

¾ cup scalded milk	¾ teaspoon salt
1 cup corn meal	1 cup white flour
2 tablespoons shortening	4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder

Save ¼ cup of the measured flour for board. Pour milk over corn meal, add shortening and salt. When cold, add sifted flour and baking powder. Roll out lightly on floured board. Cut with biscuit cutter and bake in greased pan fifteen to twenty minutes.

FOOD WILL WIN THE WAR

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

We as a member of the Non-Partisan League, do not like the idea of somebody, we don't exactly know who, handing over the indorsement of the League to a stranger to Congress at this time. It is all right to organize for protection by the farmers, but it is poor policy to start to slaughter men like Congressman Steenerson at this time. While he is now busy working in Congress to raise the price of farmers' wheat, a political deal is made in the Ninth District to railroad a politician into Congress to take his place. If this can be done, have not the opponents of the League told the truth, when they said we were paying sixteen dollars for the privilege of being told how to vote? We challenge the leaders of the League to give one valid reason, for the removal of Steenerson, by the farmers of this district and placing a stranger in his place, while we can give thousands of reasons for his remaining where he is, and you bet we are going to keep him right where he is for another two years, where he is so ably looking after the interest of the farmers of this District.

If some of those fellows who are pounding their type writers to get out copy for publication in country newspapers would get out and get behind the harrow and help the farmers put in their crops they would be doing something substantial to help win the war, instead of sitting in their offices smoking cigarettes, and writing advice for the farmers.

We are well satisfied with the state ticket nominated by the Non-Partisan League, and we believe that Lindberg will be the next governor of Minnesota.

BAER SHOWS NEED FOR FARMERS' AID

Advantage of Farmer Legislature Brought Out In Congressional Investigation.

When Congressman Baer of North Dakota first introduced in congress his resolution providing an appropriation of $50,000,000 to buy feed and seed for farmers who had suffered crop failures in the past two years, so that a big acreage of spring wheat can be planted this season, most all of his colleagues merely smiled. They thought it a joke, to ask the House and Senate to really come to the aid of farmers in an emergency, even though helping the farmer would save the country from famine.

Hoover Appeared at Hearing.

When the House committee on Agriculture gave an all-day hearing to Baer's resolution, and then called upon Herbert Hoover and Secretary McAdoo for advice as to how to deal with it, the other congressmen woke up. Indeed, some of them woke up sufficiently to come to the hearing, and take part in the demand for action. Rep. Evans of Montana and Rep. Norton of North Dakota testified at considerable length, on the necessity for immediate Government aid for livestock and seed wheat for planting.

Rep. Rankin also spoke on the troubles of 50,000 homesteaders on the new wheat lands of Eastern Montana. As these homesteaders have no title to their land, they cannot borrow through the farm loan associations.

Farmer Legislature Helped.

One of the points brought out most clearly was the fact that North Dakota, having a farmer legislature elected by the Nonpartisan League, had acted on its own account and had provided for loans to its farmers [illegible] this year. [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible], having the type of gang-ridden legislature, had been unable to protect their farmers.

BUSINESS MEN DINE TOWNLEY

Thief River Falls Merchants Unite With Farmers For Nonpartisan League Meeting.

In strong contrast with the conduct of some other Minnesota cities, the business men of Thief River Falls united with farmers from the surrounding country to pay their respects to A. C. Townley after his address in that city on Feb. 14.

The city auditorium was thrown open for the largest crowd that ever came together in Thief River Falls, 1500 farmers coming from all over Northwestern Minnesota. After the speaking, the good fellowship was further cemented by a luncheon given by the Commercial club to 150 business men and farmers in honor of Mr. Townley.

This united effort of loyal citizens stands as a rebuke to such places as Detroit, Lake City, Lakefield, Glencoe, Hinckley and a few other Minnesota cities in which the business men have antagonized the farmers and driven them from town when they came to hear Nonpartisan league speakers, thus creating a division of sentiment at a time when patriotism calls for a united front.

UNITE AGAINST PROFITEERS

Farmers and Workers in Washington [illegible] [illegible]

The forces of organized labor and of the organized agriculturists of the state of Washington are to be again combined this year in an initiative campaign to secure adoption at the polls of three measures having for their purpose a furthering of the power of government by the people, reduction of the cost of living through scientific production and distribution along cooperative lines, and a restriction of usurpation by courts of power not conferred by law.

"The gratifying demonstration of the intense loyalty of American union labor to our government in the world war for freedom," said Mr. Taylor, secretary of the State Federation of Labor, "is only equalled by the demonstration that here at home commercial kaisers and profiteers shall be curbed in their mad desire to exploit the producer and consumer alike, and that the machine political workers shall give way to democratic or people's control of public [illegible]."

THOUSANDS JOIN IN ONE DAY.

From incomplete reports it is estimated that more than 5,000 farmers joined the Nonpartisan league in Minnesota at the caucuses held Feb. 22.

No Special drive for members had been made that day, but as only members could take part in the caucuses many farmers came to the polling places and joined the organization.

This increase in membership was the farmers' answer to the violent attempts of the agents of Big Business, profiteers and politicians to disrupt the league and prevent its growth. It is an indication that the farmers are lining up with the organization that has for its purpose the placing of the farmers' influence in the halls of legislation in proportion to their numbers in the state.

Finnan Haddie.

"You may be getting finnan haddie when you order it at your dealer's," said a buyer for a restaurant, "and you may not. Finnan haddie is smoked haddock. Haddock is of the same family as the cod. It resembles the codfish, but has a black lateral line. The lateral line of the codfish is white. The appearance of this line is not changed by the smoking, and if you take the trouble to glance down the sides of the fish that you are buying as finnan haddie you will often see that the line is white, not black. Cod may be just as good, as the dealer will perhaps tell you, but if you want finnan haddie that is doubtless what you want."—New York Sun.

There was a large crowd attended the Sigurdson auction sale last Tuesday, and everything brought good prices, except horses, which there seemed to be no demand for.

The land has been in fine condition for seeding this spring, and there has already been a large acreage of wheat sown in eastern Pennington County. Twenty-five bushels per acre and $2.50 a bushel is what the farmers are looking for this year.

A fine Sunday outing and auto drive from Thief River Falls, would be to come out the fine State Road east of Hazel, until two miles south of Highlanding then turn north, and drive seven miles north to the Elwell road, then west to Thief River Falls.

Andrew Ellingson has rented the Ljot Sigurdson farm, and will put it into grain, in addition to his other three farms. It cannot be said that the postmasters of Highlanding are not trying to do their bit to increase production and help win the war.

There is now one of the most desperate battles going on in France, that was ever known in the histories of war. But don't stop too long to talk about it, but remember that your part of it is, to get every acre of grain in to the ground that you possibly can, as these soldiers of ours must be fed, and it is your duty to help raise the grain to feed them.

BIDS WANTED.

The town board of Highlanding t'w'p will receive sealed bids up to April 10th, at 7 o'clock, for dragging the following roads the coming season.

R. 1.—Four miles running north from Highlanding post office, and two miles west between Sec. 5 and 8, and Sec. 6 and 7.

R. 2.—One mile south of Erie and five miles west.

R. 3.—1½ miles running south from N. E. corner of township and three miles west on town line.

The board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

CHINA LOSING TRADE IN TEA

General Opinion That Scientific Cultivation of the Plant Has Been Begun Too Late.

China's tea trade is not keeping pace with the world's consumption of tea. Scientific cultivation instead of old-time methods and the use of machinery are being used in the effort to regain the lost commercial ground. The ministry of agriculture has established a model farm, and the first tea grown on it was sent to market this year. It is said to have been of good quality, but no details are yet available of the equipment and methods employed. Foreign tea men seem to have little faith in the results of this attempted reform and consider it unlikely that Chinese teas will ever regain the leading place in the markets of the world. It is said that Chinese teas have less tannin than other teas, and that the finer grades are unsurpassed in delicacy of flavor, but the average tea drinker seems to find the teas of India and Ceylon satisfactory.

ALL WILLING TO PAY FARES

Reason Why Citizens of Lima, Peru, Do Not Seek to Evade Their Street Car Obligations.

If fare registers were to be placed in the street cars of Lima, Peru, there would be a loud protest. This is not because it is easier to dodge the conductor under the prevailing system. On the contrary, the travelers of Lima are willing, even anxious, to pay their fares. Perhaps that doesn't seem human, but the explanation is that upon receipt of the fare a numbered ticket is presented to the passenger, and it is a valuable lottery ticket.

The car lines are divided into four sections for the monthly and semi-monthly drawings conducted by the railway company. In the three important sections a cash prize of $150 is offered. The fourth section offers a prize of $50.

Does the public approve of the lottery? Does it? Well, 28,500,000 persons rode last year.

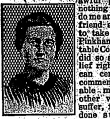
IN MISERY FOR YEARS

Mrs. Courtney Tells How She Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.



Oskaloosa, Iowa.—"For years I was simply in misery from a weakness and awful pains—and nothing seemed to do me any good. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and got relief right away. I can certainly recommend this valuable medicine to other women who suffer, for it has done such good work for me and I knew it will help others if they will give it a fair trial."—Mrs. LIZZIE COURTNEY, 108 8th Ave., West, Oskaloosa, Iowa.

Why will women drag along from day to day, year in and year out, suffering such misery as did Mrs. Courtney, when such letters as this are continually being published. Every woman who suffers from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, nervousness, or who is passing through the Change of Life should give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial. For special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its long experience is at your service.

New Idea for Mine Props.

A substitute for mine props which has been tried and found to give every satisfaction has been made by Edward Seward, a Cardiff architect. The main points about the new props are that they are simple in construction, are indestructible, and do not deteriorate in water or damp. The chief component materials are colliery cinders, stone and crushed clinker, which, when washed, manipulated, combined and duly strengthened, result in a prop the finished weight of which is light enough to allow of efficient handling by one man.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as the prescription othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

The Makers.

Booth Tarkington, the novelist, met in a New York book store a young lady who was buying books to send to the soldiers.

"I think I ought to send them serious, heavy books—history and so on—don't you?" she doubtfully inquired.

"Good gracious, no!" said Mr. Tarkington. "Send them novels, rousing novels, and nothing else. History? What do they want with history? Why, they're making it!"

Brief Items of State News

Crookston.—The Epworth league of the M. E. church raised a service flag with thirty-nine stars. One gold star appears on the flag for Harry Hardrath, deceased.

Minneapolis.—Minnesota Prohibitionists will hold a state convention in Minneapolis April 9 for the purpose of voting on the proposal to join the new National party, recently organized.

St. Paul.—Disloyalty to the government is said to be the reason J. Scherer, postmaster of Winthrop, was discharged, it was learned in St. Paul. Miss Essie T. Buckland has been appointed postmistress.

Glyndon.—Service flag dedication exercises were held in the auditorium of the Glyndon consolidated schoolhouse. Stars on the flag represent the fourteen young men of the neighborhood who have joined the colors.

Bemidji.—Five deserters from the United States army were taken to Fort Snelling by Deputy Sheriffs Cahill and Charles Dailey. The men were subject to the draft, but evaded their duty, and members of the Bemidji Home Guard rounded them up.

St. Cloud.—A receiver has been appointed for the Sauk Rapids Granite company by the Pioneer Electric company of St. Paul. In a recent judgment given the St. Paul firm it was to collect $3,826.24, but when the execution was ordered the papers were returned by the sheriff unsatisfied.

St. Paul.—Albert Fritz of Hutchinson was arraigned before H. S. Abbott, court commissioner, on a charge of wilful obstruction of recruiting and enlisting in the armed forces of the United States. Bail was fixed at $2,500 and he was bound over to the grand jury.

St. Paul.—Attorney General Hilton has assigned Montreville J. Brown, newest member on the state securities commission. The change followed the recent appointment of S. Louis Weeks, present representative on the commission, to the position of deputy attorney general.

Minneapolis.—Private households will no longer be required to observe wheatless days and meals, the federal food administration has announced. Lifting of the ban does not apply to public eating places and clubs which are restricted to more specific regulations than previously announced.

Albert Lea.—Theodore Nelson, a land owner, after a hearing in district court on a charge of disloyalty brought by Mrs. Ruth Johnson of the local Red Cross, was ordered by the court to kiss the American flag. He did so before a crowded courtroom and promised to be 100 per cent American henceforth.

Minneapolis.—Wheat seeding is well under way in Southwestern and West Central counties of Minnesota, according to reports reaching Prof. C. P. Bull of the university department of agriculture. Mr. Bull, as secretary of the state food committee and also of the Minnesota Corp Improvement association, is keeping in touch with food production activities as bearing on the Hoover program.

Winona.—A flagrant case of flour hoarding, contrary to food administration regulations, was uncovered at Nodine, Minn., near here, when, according to the Winona county food administrator, 37 49-pound sacks of wheat flour, 85 10-pound sacks of barley flour, four 10-pound sacks of corn flour and eight sacks of graham flour, representing a value of $160, was seized from William Husman's residence.

St. Paul.—Attorney General Clifford L. Hilton has appointed Rollin L. Smith of his staff as his successor on the commission created by the last legislature to revise and recodify the state game and fish laws. Other members are: Commissioner Carlos Avery of the game and fish department, Senator Peter Van Hoven, St. Paul, Representative A. M. Peterson, Coleraine, and County Attorney Earl Simpson of Winona county.

St. Paul.—The Bureau of Plant Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture, in co-operation with the State Agricultural College, has just issued instructions for seed treatment to prevent grain smut. The so-called "Wet Method" is as follows: Sprinkle seed until thoroughly moist with solution of 1 pint of formaldehyde to 40 gallons of water, shoveling over repeatedly to distribute moisture evenly. Forty gallons will treat 60 bushels. Shovel into a pile and cover with sacks, canvas or blankets for two hours or over night. Dry by spreading in thin layer and stirring occasionally with rake. Seed may be sown when dry enough to run freely through the drill, setting the drill to sow about 2 pecks more to the acre to allow for swollen condition of the grain.

St. Paul.—The State Public Safety commission, Secretary H. W. Libby said, will not attempt to extend the office terms of sheriffs, auditors or other county officials, required to perform special duties under the draft law, as protection from enmities they may have incurred by reason of such service.

Winona.—Otis Aldin Gross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gross, Pickwick, this county, is the second man from Winona county to be injured while on duty in the war zone in France. Frank Morey was injured several weeks ago.

FRED E. WHEATON

At a state conference of democrats held at St. Paul, Fred E. Wheaton was indorsed as Democracy's choice for governor of Minnesota.

Aitkin.—Mrs. Margaret E. Allen and James McMahon have been jointly indicted for the murder of Charles D. Lewis, a farmer living near Aitkin.

Bemidji.—Members of the city council and business men believe that a new water system is needed immediately and plans are being made to that end.

Red Wing.—Mrs. Mina Siebrasse, for over sixty years a resident of Red Wing, died here. She was born in Germany, July 4, 1836. Death was due to the infirmities of old age.

St. Cloud.—A thrift club has been organized at the state reformatory in this city and many inmates have availed themselves of the opportunity to invest. Although their pay is only a few cents a day, they are all buying stamps.

Worthington.—Governor J. A. A. Burnquist visited Worthington to present a banner awarded Nobles county for the highest percentage per capita of bonds bought in the second Liberty Loan drive. Nobles county's percentage was 30.46.

St. Paul.—A motor bus line to run between Grand Marais and Two Harbors is being organized, according to word received by the Minnesota Highway department. Two busses with a seating capacity of 12 persons have been bought and will run on a daily schedule. Grand Marais is the largest town in Minnesota which does not have a railroad.

Minneapolis.—The Minnesota delegation in Congress cabled congratulations to Colonel George E. Leach of the 151st field artillery, formerly the First Minnesota, for the bravery shown by the men which caused many of the number to receive the war cross. he cablegram follows: "Please congratulate the members of the 151st for splendid bravery. Minnesota is proud of them."

Minneapolis.—School superintendents and principals from many Minnesota communities attended the annual short course in education at the University of Minnesota last week. Informally the course opened with addresses by President Burton of the University and Prof. Henry Johnson of Columbia university.

Rochester.—Mayor Julius Reiter of Rochester announces that he would enforce arbitrary prohibition in that city after April 1, despite the fact that Rochester is legally entitled to saloons. A bitter fight against the mayor's prospective edict looms probable, Mr. Reiter admitted, but he declared in a written statement that he would stand firm against any "eventualities."

Minneapolis.—Minneapolis will raise $17,000,000, St. Paul, $12,500,000; Duluth, $8,500,000; Minnesota, $71,500,000, and the entire Ninth Federal District, $125,000,000 in third Liberty Loan apportionments announced by Chairman A. T. Rogers of the Ninth District executive committee. North Dakota's quota is $6,500,000; Montana's, $9,000,000; Wisconsin $8,000,000 and South Dakota $22,000,000.

Red Wing.—Joseph Gilbert, Nonpartisan league manager for Minnesota, and N. S. Randall, league speaker, must stand trial on the indictments brought against them as the result of alleged disloyal utterances at a meeting in Kenyon, Minn., last August, it was decided by Judge Johnson in district court. He overruled their demurrers, in which they alleged that the law passed by the 1917 Minnesota legislature, making it unlawful to discourage enlistments, is unconstitutional.

Minneapolis.—Although the police and local naval authorities instituted a systematic search, they have no clews as to the identity of the two men who threw a bomb into the yard of the Dunwoody institute, which is being used by the government as a naval training school. The bomb, which was crudely constructed, exploded without material damage to the building. After throwing the explosive the two men exchanged shots with a guard and escaped in a waiting automobile.

Mankato.—Holstein breeders of Blue Earth, Nicollet and Le Sueur counties, meeting in this city, organized a tri-county association with J. C. Marlow, president, and M. R. Benedict, secretary. Troland Cleare and J. C. Cort of the Holstein-Frisian Association of America, and Prof. H. H. Kildee of the university farm were the speakers.

International Falls.—The city council has raised the salaries of the chief of police from $125 to $140 and policemen from $100 to $115. The election judges were appointed and polling places designated.

AMERICAN ARMY TO ENTER BATTLE

Pershing's Entire Force to Join With Allies In Present Titanic Struggle.

100,000 MEN READY

Intensively Trained And Fully Equipped They Are Already on Way To Front Singing As They Go.

With the American Army in France, April 2.—General Pershing's entire force has been given into the hands of General Foch, the new generalissimo, who is to use the men where he desires, so the American army in France is to fight shoulder to shoulder with the British and French troops who are engaged in the Titanic struggle with the Germans in Picardy.

More than 100,000 Americans, intensively trained and fully accoutred, are available for immediate use in aiding to stem the tide of the German hordes.

Large numbers of Americans on railroad trains and in motor trucks, and even afoot, already are on their way to the battle front, eager to do their part in defeating the invaders.

The miserable weather which has broken over the country is proving no deterrent to the Americans as they push forward from all directions toward the battle zone.

Paris Makes Announcement.

Paris, April 1.—"The French government has decided to accede to the desire expressed by General Pershing in the name of the United States government," says an official note, dealing with the operation of American troops with the French and British.

"The American troops will fight side by side with the British and French troops, and the Star Spangled Banner will float beside the French and English flags in the plains of Picardy."

Americans Take French Commands.

With the American Army in France, April 1.—The acceptance by France of General Pershing's offer of all American men and material for the present emergency has in effect virtually resulted in a unified army command, so far as the French army and American forces are concerned. This is shown by the fact that the orders issued to the American troops are of French origin. All the American troops have been turned over to the Allies for such use as they see fit to make of them. The American troops will soon be fighting side by side with their British and French Allies in the battle which is raging in Northern France.

It is enough to say that great activity of many sorts is in progress in the entire American zone. Miles of motor trucks loaded with Americans have passed through the towns, some going in one direction, some in another.

Through a driving rain the motor trucks plough their way along muddy roads, the Americans singing. Many of the trucks had American flags fastened to their tailboards.

WARNING AGAINST GERMANY

Given To South America By Bryce and Northcliffe.

London, April 1.—Latin America's vital interest in Germany's plan of aggrandizement and attempt to crush all world democracies is pointed out in messages addressed to the people of all South American republics by Viscount Bryce, former ambassador to the United States, and Viscount Northcliffe.

"This war," says Lord Bryce, "is unlike any other the world has seen, not only in the vastness of its scale, but in the tremendous issues involved. It is a war of principle; a war waged for liberty against tyranny; a war to save mankind from being enslaved by one ambitious and aggressive power whose military chiefs have proclaimed that they mean to dominate Europe first and then the Western hemisphere. That is what brought the United States to fight beside the Allies in Europe."

Hotels to Eliminate Wheat Products.

New York, April 1.—Elimination of all wheat products from menus was agreed upon at a meeting of 400 hotel proprietors from throughout the United States here. The change is to be effective "as soon as possible, but not later than April 14." The action of the hotel men was the outcome of a conference between hotel men and Food Administrator Hoover in Washington.

Japan To Defeat German Menace.

London, April 1.—"The fear is rightly entertained that Germany's influence may extend eastward and prove a menace to the peace of the Far East," said Premier Teranchi in an address to the Japanese parliament, as quoted in a Reuter dispatch from Tokio. "Should the situation develop in such a way as to endanger the security and well being of our country or to call for action to protect the common interests of the Allies, the government will take steps to cope adequately with the situation."

THE GREAT WAR HAS MADE CIGARETTES A NECESSITY.

"Our boys must have their smokes. Send them cigarettes!" This is a familiar appeal now to all of us.

Among those most in demand is the now famous "toasted" cigarette—LUCKY STRIKE. Thousands of this favorite brand have been shipped to France. There is something homelike and friendly to the boys in the sight of the familiar green packages with the red circle.

This homelike, appetizing quality of the LUCKY STRIKE cigarette is largely due to the fact that the Burley tobacco used in making it has been toasted. "It's toasted" was the "slogan" that made a great success of LUCKY STRIKE in less than a year. Now the American Tobacco Co. is making 15 million LUCKY STRIKE Cigarettes a day.

A good part of this immense production is making its way across the water to cheer our boys.—Adv.

Putting Her Foot in It.

Not long ago a miscellaneous party of vistors was being shown over a ducal palace. One of them, a stout, overdressed woman, feeling herself socially considerably above her fellow sightseers, turned to the housekeeper and said:

"And how is the duke? He wasn't very well when I saw him last."

"His grace has a slight cold," replied the housekeeper, "but otherwise is in the best of health."

After allowing the company sufficient time to recover, the lady resumed:

"And how is the dear duchess?"

"The duchess, madam, has been dead these thirty years."

LEMONS WHITEN THE COMPLEXION

ANY WOMAN CAN MAKE UP THIS CREAMY BEAUTY LOTION FOR A FEW CENTS.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach a darkened skin and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands.—Adv.

Keep Yourself Fit

You can't afford to be laid up with sore, aching kidneys in these days of high prices. Some occupations bring kidney troubles; almost any work makes weak kidneys worse. If you feel tired all the time, and suffer with lame back, sharp pains, dizzy spells, headaches and disordered kidney action, use Doan's Kidney Pills. It may save an attack of rheumatism, dropsy, or Bright's disease. Doan's have helped thousands back to health.

A Minnesota Case

T. H. Laporte, commission merchant, W. Fourth St., Faribault, Minn., says: "I suffered from a steady ache across my kidneys and it was distressing for me to stoop over or straighten up. My kidneys acted irregularly and the secretions were unnatural. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me immediate relief and I soon got well. A few times since when I have needed a kidney medicine, Doan's have given me excellent benefit."

Prison Camp Just Like Home.

It comes as a distinct surprise to learn that Lieut. Pat O'Brien of the Royal Flying corps is a bachelor, for when he says that the conversation of the captives in the German war prison from which he made his escape centered around "food and escaping" he talks just like a married man.

When Mr. Gotta Family returns to the fold at nightfall, after a day at his desk, his cardinal concern is of dinner and ducking out.

Win the War by Preparing the Land
Sowing the Seed and Producing Bigger Crops
Work in Joint Effort the Soil of the United States and Canada

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY
TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than April 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

MARCH TO VICTORY

Courage is a matter of the blood. Without good red blood a man has a weak heart and poor nerves.

In the spring is the best time to take stock of one's condition. If the blood is thin and watery, face pale or pimply, generally weak, tired and listless, one should take a spring tonic. One that will do the spring housecleaning, an old-fashioned herbal remedy that was used by everybody nearly 50 years ago is still safe and sane because it contains no alcohol or narcotic. It is made up of Blood root, Golden Seal root, Oregon Grape root, Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark—extracted with glycerine and made into liquid or tablets. This blood tonic was first put out by Dr. Pierce in ready-to-use form and since then has been sold by million bottles as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If druggists do not keep this in tablet form, send 60 cents for a vial to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Kidney disease carries away a large percentage of our people. What is to be done? The answer is easy. Eat less meat, eat coarse, plain food, with plenty of vegetables, drink plenty of water between meals, and take an uric acid solvent after meals for a while, such as Anuric (double strength), obtainable at almost any drug store. It was first discovered by Dr. Pierce. Most every one troubled with uric acid finds that Anuric dissolves the uric acid as hot water does sugar. You can obtain a trial package by sending ten cents to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute in Buffalo, N. Y.

KIDNEY SUFFERERS HAVE FEELING OF SECURITY

You naturally feel secure when you know that the medicine you are about to take is absolutely pure and contains no harmful or habit producing drugs.

Such a medicine is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

The same standard of purity, strength and excellence is maintained in every bottle of Swamp-Root.

It is not a stimulant and is taken in teaspoonful doses.

It is not recommended for everything.

According to verified testimony it is nature's great helper in relieving and overcoming kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

A sworn statement of purity is with every bottle of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

If you need a medicine, you should have the best.

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you will find it on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to try this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

PRECIOUS FREEDOM AND COST OF WAR

American People Must Lend Part, or Pay All to Finance Great Conflict.

BUYING OF LIBERTY BONDS

Liberal Loans to Government Is Advancing Financial Assistance to Our Children, Obviating Total Cost by Taxation.

(By EUGENE P. LYLE, JR., of The Vigilantes.)

Freedom comes high, being a precious thing. Being the most precious thing, it comes highest. No people is worthy of freedom that is not willing and eager to pay dearly for it. In fact, you will find no people possessing freedom that has not paid dearly for it, and you will find no people continuing to possess freedom that does not stand every ready to pay dearly, over and over, to retain it.

If this were not true, Belgium, France, Italy and England with her oversea dominions, would now be as Russia is today. If this were not true, America would still be neutral, contemptibly awaiting her turn to pass under the yoke.

Blood and treasure, anguish and sacrifice—these are the coin we bring to market; the coin we must pay. Yet the coin may be, and is, expressed in dollars and cents, not alone as a symbol of the real price we pay, but because this real price would be wantonly squandered, or paid in more ghastly measure than need be, if the cold, calm, practical business of dollar-and-cents financing were not at the heart of the heroic transaction.

Vainly would the soldier shed his blood if he were not trained and equipped to make his blows count to the utmost, and the cost of this training and equipment is an item that may be, and is, expressed in an exact number of dollars added to an exact number of cents. His country must spend precisely this amount to enable him to defend her.

Consequently we of America are now confronted with the biggest war bill in history. One year of this war is costing us as much as all the wars we have had before added to all the other expenses of our federal government since we first won our freedom.

Lending to Our Children.

Ungrudgingly, yes! Of that we are proudly conscious that there is no question. The one and only question is the practical question of finance. How shall the money be found? We ourselves must supply it, since it cannot be borrowed elsewhere. But how?

The bill is too big to pay cash on the nail as we go. And, furthermore, to pay all as we go would be just neither to ourselves nor to our posterity.

It would not be just to ourselves because we alone will not be the beneficiaries. The generations to come will benefit—incalculably benefit in the liberties preserved to them—and it is proper that they should be left to assume a fair proportion of the debt. They are buying freedom today as much as we. But we shall have to lend them the money now to pay their share. In lending to our government in buying Liberty bonds we lend to our children; and gratefully our children will pay it off.

Any other arrangement would not be just to them for the reason that, should we strip ourselves bare to pay all now, we would be crippled in preparing our children for the ordinary duties of citizenship. Better far that we retain enough to so equip them for success in life that they may without undue hardship take over their quota of this war's burden! Better for us, and better for them!

Sound common sense, then, as well as equity, points the way. The war's burden should be divided. Let us pay in cash as heavily as we wisely may—that is taxation. But the rest let us leave to the future beneficiaries, lending them the money now—that is buying Liberty bonds.

Freedom's Great Price.

The present moment is a good time to contemplate what will happen—inevitably happen—if we do not lend to posterity to help pay freedom's huge price. Nothing is clearer than the alternative.

If we do not lend our government what it asks of us in loans, then we must consent that the total cost be taken from us outright by taxation—even by a prorated confiscation.

Before such an alternative even the German or pro-German, having property interests in this country, should choose to subscribe for Liberty bonds. In our own self-interest, apart from the issues vital to the integrity of our manhood, we can do no less—no less than lend to the last cent we may possibly save; and this not once merely, but each and every time that Uncle Sam steps from his counting house to tell us that he must have more money.

Uncle Sam is telling us this now. He awaits our response. But he is not the only one who waits. Wherever men are free or suffer to be free there they wait our response as the answer to their hopes. And there is yet another who waits—the enemy. If in [illegible] will take heart to [illegible]

CHANGE IN THE FARMER'S LIFE

"Making a Living" Idea Has Developed Into a "Money Making Fact."

A few years ago—and not so many at that—most farmers were satisfied if they saw ahead of them the opportunity to make a fair living, a reasonable competence in their falling years, and the assurance of an existence for their families. They worked hard, and tilled their acres with this end in view. Honest struggle, earnest effort and a true conception of upright manhood, together with the increasing knowledge that upon the fruits of their endeavor rested the structure of the world, whose people had to be fed and maintained. Economy in method, improved conditions of working, have added to the farmer's possibilities, and today instead of being a plodder for an existence, which his early training had bred into him, he has become the bulwark of the nation, and, as such, has become elevated to a position where his word and his work are recognized as the factors it was always intended they should be. He is now the man of business—of big business. He has forced an appreciation of his work, and the true value has been placed upon it. The big men of the country today are the farmers, who, with business acumen and forensic forethought are able to tell you—from their books—what it costs to produce a bushel of wheat or a pound of wool.

All of which is intended to prove that farming is a business, as much as banking or selling a suit of clothes. It is an industrial business, with more certain profits than accompany any other line of trade. It is a manufacturing enterprise, devoid of any of the dangers that the frills of fashion's follies and desires force upon ordinary pursuits. Food is something that all must have and the farmer produces it. The cheaper it can be produced the less will be the cost to the consumer. And this is one of the chief thoughts of the farmer. Within the memory of the ten-year-old boy there have been improvements in machinery, changes in methods, scientific discoveries of chemicals as adapted to agriculture, all of which have lessened cost of production and made possible the cultivation of increased acres. In some parts these things have brought about more intensified agriculture, growing heavier crops on less acres. Improved machinery and demand for greater production have led another class in search of larger areas, where their ability may cope with the growing of a greater number of bushels. That is one of the reasons why Western Canada lands have recently come into such demand. These, at from twenty to thirty dollars an acre, and producing the prodigious crops that are claimed for them, have attracted thousands of American settlers, while other thousands have gone out into the lands in the Western states. But, as to the Canada lands, there is this to say of them, today they are cheap, and if they will yield sufficient in one year to pay the cost of the entire purchase, why should not there be a demand. The country is well settled, and settlement is increasing. As evidence of the growth of the three Western Provinces into whose territories the Canadian Government invites settlers, recent reports show the following increases from 1913 to 1917 inclusive:

	Value of Field Crops
	1913	1917
Manitoba	$ 64,557,000	$187,470,550
Saskatchewan	129,876,000	349,488,200
Alberta	46,712,000	176,965,800
Total	$240,645,000	$663,924,550

The total value of field crops for 1917 was $663,924,550, produced on less than 59,000,000 acres of land.

Further evidence of prosperity and progress is found in the Government estimate of the value of farm lands and increase in value since 1908:

	1908	1916
Manitoba	27.30	32.03
Saskatchewan	20.40	23.07
Alberta	18.20	22.18

It will be observed that the average price of lands has not kept pace with their producing value. It is therefore pointed out that the opportunities for the purchase of high class land is still within the reach of those with limited means.

A good idea of advancement in a country's progress may be obtained by a knowledge of what has been done in the production of cattle, and when these figures are studied in connection with Western Canada, a country whose fame having been heralded as a grain-growing country, giving the idea that that was what it was mostly adapted to, it will be realized that there is there a vast storehouse of wealth awaiting those who choose to take advantage of it. In the three provinces in 1912 there were—horses, milch cows, other cattle, sheep and swine, four million head, while in 1917 the number was seven million.

In 1901 the entire population was 419,512; in 1910 1,698,220.

One marvels at the rapid progress of the United States during the nineteenth century. But America's opportunities for growth at the beginning of that century were nothing compared to the opportunities which are Canada's at the present time.

The fact that Canada has as its next door neighbor a nation of over 100,000,000—the richest nation in the world—is bound to have a stimulating effect on its progress. Already one sees signs of it on every hand.

Canada not only has the largest area of unoccupied, but fertile, land of any country, but this land is already made available by a network of railways. Cost of production of grain is lower than elsewhere, while the prices are on a basis of those of the United States.—Advertisement.

Swift & Company's 1918 Year Book shows that Swift & Company sells the meat from a steer for less money than the live steer cost!

Proceeds from the sale of the hide, fat, and other by-products covered all expense of dressing, refrigeration, freight, selling expense and the profit of $1.29 per steer as shown by Swift & Company's 1917 figures as follows:

Average price paid for live cattle per steer	$84.45
Average price received for meat	68.97
Average price received for by-products	24.09
Total received	93.06
This leaves for expenses and profit	8.61
Of which the profit per steer was	1.29

HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUB.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County Minnesota.

$1.00 a year, in advance.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam, Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

The following statements are from the Official Review of the First Year of War, made public by the Committee on Public Information:

Total estimated expense of the United States Government in the first year of war, without loans to the allies is $12,067,278,679.07.

During the first year of war the United States Army has increased in actual strength from 9,524 officers and 202,510 enlisted men to 123,801 officers and 1,528,924 enlisted men. Strength of the Navy to-day is nearly 21,000 officers and 330,000 enlisted men. The total number of persons now in the Naval Establishment exceeds 425,000.

STAND BY OUR FIGHTING MEN.

From hundreds of thousands of American farms, in answer to the call of their country and in obedience to the law of their country, American boys have gone and today are fighting side by side with hundreds of thousands of American boys from the cities and towns of the country, confronting danger and death.

The duty of us who remain at home in safety to afford the means to make these boys powerful and victorious is a most imperative one.

As we shall publish some facts and figures during the summer to let the tax payers of the county know where their money is spent, and how it is spent, we wish to call your attention at this time to page seventeen of the financial statement, column two. In it you will find witness fees for Ole Skreland, in the case of the State V. G. Hunt of $17.32. Ole Skreland lives in Deer Park Township, but had been called from Black Duck, where he was working in the woods, as a witness in the case of the State against the Singers to testify for the defendants. He was subpoenaed at Thief River Falls to testify in the case of the State V.S. Hunt, and his witness fees should have been $1.12, the same amount as witness fees of W. G. Hunt published in the same column. But in order to assist the Singers to persecute and prosecute Hunt, somebody must pay the expenses, and a dip into the tax payers pocket was the easiest way to do it. We shall publish a lot of facts and figures later on, but just call your attention to these facts, while you have the financial statement [illegible]

Interesting Life Statistics.

On the authority of experts representing forty-three leading life insurance companies in the United States, it appears that a spinster lives longer than a married woman. Business women live longer than business men. A woman who takes an endowment policy lives longer than a woman who takes an ordinary life policy. It is not easy to explain why an unmarried woman survives a matron, nor why a business woman survives a business man, but the longevity of the endowment woman is believed to be due to the determination to live until the policy matures. NOTICE OF SALE

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Four and 48—100 Dollars which became due on the first day of December, 1915 and is due and claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage executed by Eddie Eryland, unmarried, mortgagor, to The Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Oklee, a corporation, mortgagee, bearing date the 28th day of June, 1915, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, on the 24th day of July, A.D. 1915, at 8 o'clock A. M. in Book Three of Mortgages on page 466 thereof; and whereas pursuant to the terms and conditions of said mortgage, by reason of said default, the whole principal sum of said mortgage to-wit: the sum of Fifty-two and 50—100 Dollars [$52.50] became at once due and payable, and was and is hereby so declared by said mortgagee; and that there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of Fifty-two and 50-100 Dollars [$52.50] with interest thereon at the rate of Ten per cent per annum since the 28th day of June, 1915.

And whereas, the power of sale in said mortgage contained has become operative, and no action or proceedings having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof,

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage above described will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to-wit: The South half [S½] of the South-west quarter [S W¼] of Section No. Four [4], in Township No. One Hundred Fifty-two [152] North of Range Forty (40) West of the Fifth (5) P. M., in Minnesota, containing Eighty [80] acres according to U. S. Government survey, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Pennington County, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County and State, on Friday May 31st, 1918, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at Public vendue, to pay the said debt and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and an attorney's fee of twenty-five Dollars as stipulated in and by said mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of said sale as provided by law.

Dated March 28th, 1918.

WHAT A NEWSPAPER MEANS

Some Truths That the Average Man May Not Have Realized, but Here They Are.

What does the newspaper mean to you?

There is so much news no one can carry all of it. Someone must make selection. Do you appreciate how much depends upon this selection? Upon the selection and emphasis of the news depends the picture of the world upon which your judgments are based.

If a business man, your decision in business is affected by the newspaper you read.

In politics your opinions as a voter are swayed by them.

By what your wife reads you can see the trend of many of her interests and needs.

You have your thought turned in a new channel perhaps by what you read, and, when you find others concerned as you are and that the idea has been followed in their brains as in yours, you possibly discover how you can do collectively what you alone never could accomplish.

The newspaper enlarges the viewpoint of life for your boy in his college years. Stories of men [illegible] achievement strengthen [illegible] standards [illegible] the great world of life which he has not touched exists [illegible]

CHINA LOSING TRADE IN TEA

General Opinion That Scientific Cultivation of the Plant Has Been Begun Too Late.

China's tea trade is not keeping pace with the world's consumption of tea. Scientific cultivation instead of old-time methods and the use of machinery are being used in the effort to regain the lost commercial ground. The ministry of agriculture has established a model farm, and the first tea grown on it was sent to market this year. It is said to have been of good quality, but no details are yet available of the equipment and methods employed. Foreign tea men seem to have little faith in the results of this attempted reform and consider it unlikely that Chinese teas will ever regain the leading place in the markets of the world. It is said that Chinese teas have less tannin than other teas and that the finer grades are unsurpassed in delicacy of flavor, but the average tea drinker seems to find the tea of India and Ceylon [illegible]

One Hundred and Forty-Two Years of Labor and Struggle

THE American people fought their first battles for liberty and the rights of self-government one hundred and forty-two years ago.

¶ At that time, and for many years thereafter, their realization of their national aspirations and of the goal toward which they were really striving was vague and indistinct. But step by step they struggled onward and upward toward a light which grew clearer as their eyes and minds slowly opened to its significance. Today, as a result of their struggles and their sacrifices, we possess and enjoy our priceless American institutions.

¶ These institutions must be preserved. The structure so laboriously reared in these one hundred and forty-two years will be utterly destroyed if we do not spring to its defense with every atom of our energy and determination. This is not a situation which may be trifled with, or evaded, or put off. It is one which must be met now—today—no matter what sacrifices it may entail, or what the cost may be.

The immediate need is the investment of our money in LIBERTY BONDS!

Had To Quit Work

Gave Up Hope of Recovery, But Doan's Restored His Health. Has Been Well Since.

J. B. Ragless, carpenter, 210 W. 60th St., Chicago, Ill., says: "My back gave out completely and I had to quit work. I could hardly endure the pain in my back and nights I tossed and turned, unable to sleep. Often in the morning my back was as stiff as a board, so that I couldn't stoop to dress myself. When I did manage to bend over, everything before me turned black. My head seemed to be whirling and sometimes I was so dizzy I had to grasp something to keep from falling.

A Traveling Elephant.

Horace, aged three, of Winchester, received a book of animal pictures in which he became very much interested, and asked his mother many questions. One night he was looking at the picture of the elephant and, pointing to the elephant's trunk, said:

"What's that mother?"

She told him it was the elephant's trunk.

Two days later he was looking at the book and saw the picture of the elephant again. With childish glee he ran to his mother exclaiming: "Oh, mother, look at the elephant's suitcase."—Indianapolis News.

Building-up for the Spring Attack at the Front is a good deal like putting the body in condition for an invasion of the germs of grip, pneumonia or "Spring fever" here at home.

At this time of the year most people suffer from a condition often called Spring Fever. They feel tired, worn out, before the day is half thru. They may have frequent headaches and sometimes "pimply" or pale skin and white lips. The reason for this is that during the wintertime, shut up within doors, eating too much meat and too little green vegetables, one heaps fuel into the system which is not burned up and the clinkers remain to poison the system—a clogging up of the circulation—with inactive liver and kidneys. Time to put your house in order.

For an invigorating tonic which will clarify the blood, put new life in the body, sparkle to the eyes, and a wholesome skin, nothing does so well as a glyceric herb extract made from Golden Seal root, Blood and Stone root, Oregon grape root and Wild Cherry bark. This can be had in convenient, ready-to-use tablet form at all drug stores, sixty cents, and has been sold for the past fifty years as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. By reason of the nerves feeding on the blood, when the blood is pure the nerves feel the effect, and neuralgia or other nerve pains disappear because such pain is the cry of the starved nerves for food. When suffering from backache, frequent or scanty urine, rheumatic pains here or there, or that constant tired feeling, the simple way to overcome these disorders is merely to obtain Dr. Pierce's Anuric from your druggist. In tablets, sixty cents.

FORCE OF ARMS ANSWER TO FOE

Finish Fight for Liberty is Demanded By President Wilson at Baltimore.

CHALLANGE ACCEPTED

Declares Force Without Stint Must Triumph and Make Right Law of World Casting Selfish Domination in Dust.

Baltimore, April 8.—Utter defeat of Germany was declared the aim of America by President Wilson at a great Liberty Loan celebration here. In a memorable address, the President gave answer to the German drive on the Western front; to all proposals to end the war before Germany is awakened from her dream of world dominion.

The Address in Full.

The address in full follows:

"Fellow citizens: This is the anniversary of our acceptance of Germany's challenge to fight for our right to live and be free, and for the sacred rights of free men everywhere. The nation is awake. There is no need to call to it.

"We know what the war must cost, our utmost sacrifice, the lives of our fittest men, and, if need be, all that we possess. The loan we are met to discuss is one of the least parts of what we are called upon to give, and to do, though in itself imperative. The people of the whole country are alive to the necessity of it, and are ready to lend to the utmost, even where it involves a sharp skimping and daily sacrifice to lend out of meager earnings.

Contempt for Loan Slackers.

"They will look with reprobation and contempt upon those who can and will not, upon those who demand a higher rate of interest, upon those who think of it as a mere commercial transaction. I have not come, therefore, to urge the loan. I have come only to give you, if I can, a more vivid conception of what it is for.

"The reasons for this great war, the reason why it had to come, the need to fight it through, and the issues that hang upon its outcome, are more clearly disclosed now than ever before. It is easy to see just what this particular loan means because the cause we are fighting for stands more sharply revealed than at any previous crisis of the momentous struggle.

"The man who knows least can now see how plainly the cause of justice stands and what the imperishable thing is he is asked to invest in. Men in America may be more sure than they were before that the cause is their own, and that, if it should be lost, their own great nation's place and mission in the world would be lost with it.

"We must judge as we would be judged. I have sought to learn the objects Germany has in this war from the mouths of her own spokesmen, and to deal as frankly with them as I wished them to deal with me. I have laid bare our own ideals, our own purposes, without reserve or doubtful phrase, and have asked them to say as plainly what it is that they seek.

Ready to Deal Fairly.

"We have ourselves proposed no injustice, no aggression. We are ready, whenever the final reckoning is made, to be just to the German people, deal fairly with the German power, as with all others. There can be no difference between peoples in the final judgment, if it is indeed to be a righteous judgment. To propose anything but justice, even-handed and dispassionate justice, to Germany, at any time, whatever the outcome of the war, would be to renounce and dishonor our own cause. For we ask nothing that we are not willing to accord.

"It has been with this thought that I have sought to learn from those who spoke for Germany whether it was justice or dominion, and the execution of their own will on the other nations of the world that the German leaders are seeking. They have answered, answered in unmistakable terms. They have avowed that it was not justice but dominion, and the unhindered execution of their own will.

War Lords Rule.

"The avowal has not come from Germany's statement. It has come from her military leaders, who are her real rulers. Her statesmen have said that they wished peace, and were ready to discuss its terms whenever their opponents were willing to sit down at the conference table with them. Her present chancellor has said—in indefinite and uncertain terms, indeed, and in phrases that often seem to deny their own meaning, but with as much plainness as he thought prudent—that he believed that peace should be based upon the principles which we had declared would be our own in the final settlement.

"At Brest-Litovsk her civilian delegates spoke in similar terms; professed their desire to conclude a fair peace and accord to the peoples with whose fortunes they were dealing the right to choose their own allegiances. But action accompanied and followed the profession. Their military masters, the men who act for Germany and exhibit her purpose in execution, proclaimed a very different conclusion. We cannot mistake what they have done in Russia, in Finland, in the Ukraine, in Rumania. The real test of their justice and fair play has come. From this we may judge the rest.

Cheap Triumph in Russia.

"They are enjoying in Russia a cheap triumph in which no brave or gallant nation can long take pride. A great people, helpless by their own act, lies for the time at their mercy. Their fair professions are forgotten. They nowhere set up justice, but everywhere impose their power and exploit everything for their own use and aggrandizement, and the peoples of conquered provinces are invited to be free under their dominion.

"Are we not justified in believing that they would do the same things at their Western front if they were not there face to face with armies whom even their countless divisions cannot overcome? If, when they have felt their check to be final, they should propose favorable and equitable terms with regard to Belgium and France and Italy, could they blame us if we concluded that they did so only to assure themselves of a free hand in Russia and the East?

Would Dominate Europe.

"Their purpose is undoubtedly to make all the Slavic peoples, all the free and ambitious nations of the Baltic peninsula, all the lands that Turkey has dominated and misruled, subject to their will and ambition and build upon that dominion an empire of gain and commercial supremacy—an empire as hostile to the Americans as to the Europe which it will overawe—an empire which will ultimately master Persia, India and the peoples of the Far East.

"In such a program our ideals, the ideals of justice and humanity and liberty, the principle of the free self-determination of nations uopn which all the modern world insists, can play no part. They are rejected for the ideals of power, for the principle that the strong must rule the weak, that trade must follow the flag, whether those to whom it is taken welcome it or not, that the peoples of the world are to be made subject to the patronage and overlordship of those who have the power to enforce it.

Freedom Would Fall.

"That program, once carried out, America and all who care or dare to stand with her must arm and prepare themselves to contest the mastery of the world, a mastery in which the rights of common men, the rights of women, and of all who are weak, must, for the time being, be trodden under foot and disregarded, and the old, age-long struggle for freedom and right begin again at its beginning. Everything that America has lived for and loved and grown great to vindicate and bring to a glorious realization will have fallen in utter ruin and the gates of mercy once more pitilessly shut upon mankind.

"What, then, what are we to do? For myself, I am ready, still ready, even now, to discuss a fair and just and honest peace, at any time it is sincerely proposed—a peace in which the strong and the weak shall fare alike. But the answer, when I propsed such a peace, came from the German commanders in Russia, and I cannot mistake the meaning of the answer.

"I accept the challenge. I know that you accept it. All the world shall know that you accept it. It shall appear in the utter sacrifice and self-forgetfulness with which we shall give all that we love and all that we have to redeem the world and make it fit for free men like ourselves to live in. This now is the meaning of all that we do.

"Let everything we say, my fellow countrymen, everything that we henceforth plan and accomplish, ring true to this response till the majesty and might of our concerted power shall fill the thought and utterly defeat the force of those who flout and misprize what we honor and hold dear.

Force Alone to Decide.

"Germany has once more said that force, and force alone, shall decide whether justice and peace shall reign in the affairs of men, whether right as [illegible] or domion as she conceives it shall determine the destinies of mankind. There is, therefore, but one response possible from us: Force, force to the utmost, force without stint or limit, the righteous and triumphant force that shall make right the law of the world, and cast every selfish dominion down in the dust."

Egan on Pershing's Staff.

Washington, April 8.—Martin Egan of New York, now serving as an assistant to Henry P. Davison, chairman of the Red Cross War council, is soon to take a place on the staff of General Pershing, commanding the American troops in France. It is expected that he will be commissioned, probably as a major in the adjutant general's department, and will assume the general duties of a liaison officer keeping General Pershing and his staff in touch with world events.

War Debts 111 Billions.

Washington, April 8.—Three and a half years of war have caused an increase of $111,700,000,000 in public debt of the 12 leading warring nations, according to tabulations made by the Federal Reserve board. Of this sum $72,400,000,000 represents the debt increase of the Allied nations and $39,300,000,000 that of the Central nations. The United States debt incurred since the country entered the war is given as $6,650,000,000 [illegible]

BOARD TO CONTROL WAR ESSENTIALS

WAR INDUSTRIES BODY OUTLINES PLAN FOR PRODUCTION AND DISTRIBUTION.

AIMS OF BARUCH TO PREVAIL

Requirements Division to Be Central Directing Agency Through Which Policies of Chairman Are to Be Carried Out.

Washington, April 8.—Formal announcement is made by the War Industries board of its functions and policy under the broad powers delegated by President Wilson under which the board and its chairman, Bernard M. Baruch, virtually will control the production and distribution of every commodity essential to the war.

The recently appointed Requirements division will be the central directing agency through which the policies of the chairman are to be carried out.

Through this division the various purchasing agencies of the government and the Allied Purchasing commission will obtain raw materials and finished products. These agencies will submit statements of their needs.

Where no shortage exists, the Requirements division will recommend that the affected department purchase in accord with established practices. It will let alone what is being successfully done, and interfere as little as possible with the present normal processes of purchase and delivery.

Through information gathered by the new division, Chairman Baruch will determine a general industrial policy. The announcement says the requirements of the American government and the Allies can be met if orders and deliveries are systematically located according to the relative urgency of the needs of the various war activities. Shortage of materials is declared to be frequently not actual, but a result of poorly planned distribution.

Through the new organization, the chairman's statement says, confusion in the minds of business men as to to the agencies through which they are to deal in furnishing information to the government will be avoided.

Where it is necessary for the government to control an industry, the section of the industry involved will determine allotment of material, commodities and facilities to the various departments of the government and the Allies, and the extent to which manufacturers and others shall be supplied, whether serving the civilian population or engaged in war work.

PERSHING SENDS APPEAL FOR OVERSUBSCRIPTION

Says If Liberty Loan Is Overbought Will Be Patriotic Expression of Ability.

Washington, April 8.—"Every dollar subscribed to the third Liberty Loan is a dollar invested in American manhood. Every dollar subscribed as the result of self-denial means partnership in the hardships and risks of our men in the trenches. Every dollar subscribed will confirm the determination of our people at home to stand by its army to a victorious end.

"An overwhelming subscription to the third Liberty Loan will be a patriotic expression in the ability of our nation to maintain all we hold dear in civilization."

This message was received by cable from General Pershing, commanding the American expeditionary forces, as an appeal to the people of this country to spur on the third Liberty Loan campaign.

Public opinion has made Certain-teed a product of international prominence and use.

That great force has built up the Certain-teed business from nothing, 14 years ago, to the world's largest roll roofing industry now.

Certain-teed

Roofing and Shingles

In every community under the sun, Certain-teed Roofing is giving longer and better roofing service, at a lower cost, than other kinds of roofing.

Certain-teed costs less to buy, less to lay and less to maintain than any other type of roof. It is weatherproof, waterproof, spark proof and fire-retarding. It cannot rust or corrode. It cannot melt under the hottest sun. It is not affected by gases, acids, fumes, smoke, etc.

Certain-teed is established everywhere as the most advantageous and economical roof, for factories, round houses, elevators, garages, warehouses, hotels, farm buildings, stores, out-buildings, etc.

In shingles, red or green, it is very popular for residences. Certain-teed Roofing is guaranteed 5, 10 or 15 years according to thickness. It is sold by good dealers everywhere.

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than May 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

ECZEMA CAUSED YEARS OF INTENSE AGONY

"I have suffered intense agony from Eczema on my leg and other parts of my body for years, and received only temporary relief from other preparations. It is only a month since I started to use PETERSON'S OINTMENT, and there is no sign of Eczema or itching. You can refer to me."—Geo. C. Talbot, 27 Penfield St., Buffalo, N. Y.

"I've got a hundred testimonials, says Peterson, just as sincere and honest as this one. Years ago, when I first started to put out PETERSON'S OINTMENT, I made up my mind to give a big box for a small price, and I'm still doing it, as every druggist in the country knows.

I guarantee PETERSON'S OINTMENT because I know that its mighty healing power is marvelous. I say to every one who buys a box that it is rigidly guaranteed for Eczema, Pimples, Salt Rheum, Old Sores, Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles, Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Chafing, Burns, Scalds and Sunburn, and if not satisfactory any druggist will return your money. 30 cents. German Bouncing Bomb.

The elastic properties of rubber are being used by the Germans in their latest missile, the bouncing bomb. This curious device has a base of rubber so weighted that the bomb, when thrown through the air strikes upon it. The impact causes it to leap into the air and also releases the time fuse. This fuse is so arranged that the bomb bursts when at the highest point—some six feet from the ground. Its destructive power is then much greater than if it exploded while on the ground.—Milestones.

LEND YOUR MONEY TO HELP WIN WAR

Help Properly Equip Your Own Son and Other Soldier Boys Over There.

DUTY OF ALL TO BUY BONDS

Liberty Loans to Uncle Sam Is Best Guarantee of Our Fighters Safe Return Home—Do Not Hesitate.

(By ROLAND G. USHER of the Vigilantes.)

Put it to yourself straight now. You know perfectly well that you would feel ashamed to keep your boy out of the ranks if he wanted to go. You know perfectly well that you would probably feel ashamed before your neighbors if they knew that the boy was sticking at home. But have you ever asked yourself whether you felt ashamed that you were keeping your dollars tight in your jeans instead of lending your dollars to the war as well as your boy? If you have not got a boy you probably would feel that he ought to go if you had one. You have got some dollars, why don't you send them?

Think again; if you have sent a boy over there, don't you know for certain whether that boy will come back, God grant that he may. But he went just the same, knowing fully just as you did that he might not come back. You gave the dearest thing you had in the world to the government freely, for the cause of democracy. You were glad to do it; you felt fine about it. You still feel that if you had it to do over again you would not do anything else. But I will wager anything you like that you have a lot of money that you can lend to the government without hurting yourself at all, and which you are hanging on to until it screams. Think of it. Those dollars will be perfectly sure to come back if you lend them to the government. The government guarantees that. Why should you therefore be so afraid to loose your clutch on them. The great risk you have already taken and did it because it was a worthy and a noble thing to do. The thing which is no risk at all and yet which is just as necessary to the war as the other, you hesitate about.

Dollars Will Come Back.

Let me suppose for a moment that you have not yet sent your boy. I will wager you have a sneaking feeling that he ought to go. He has too. In this case, I won't have to make a wager about it—you have not sent your dollars. If you hesitate to send the boy because you are afraid he may not come back, you have a perfectly explainable reason, but you have not got a good reason why you should not send your dollars. They will come back, you may be sure of it. Not only will they come back, the government will pay you interest on them in the meantime. You will lend the government your capital and will get a return on it. Far from losing anything, you will make something. Why hesitate?

Look at it from another point of view. If your boy has not gone, or if you have no son, your neighbors who have sons have sent them. Those boys are going into danger. They are going to need guns, food, artillery, ships, and airplanes, not only to enable them to do what they went over there to do—beat the Germans out of sight—but to keep them safe. If they don't have those things they certainly won't come back at all. You know perfectly well, however tight-fisted you may be, or however mean you may think yourself—and you are not half as mean as that—you would not hurt your neighbor's son just because a few dollars stood in the way. You would feel so ashamed of yourself for the rest of your life you would not be able to shave in the morning. Your neighbors' sons and your friends' sons that you have known all your life need the things your money can buy for them, and it is going to go mighty hard with them if they don't get them.

Make Your Money Help.

Now put it to yourself straight. If the thing was a little nearer to you so that you really saw your neighbor's son actually without food because you had declined to give it to him, you would not hesitate for a moment what to do. The difficulty is here, that the thing is on so large a scale that you do not realize that your failure to lend your money to the government is going to result very probably in depriving that particular boy of things he needs. You can say, if you like, there are so many millions of them that it will be some other fellow's son that will go without. I hope you won't get much comfort out of that, because it is the same old thing. You would not hurt him either if you saw him and knew he was in want; but because you don't see him, because he is somewhere in France, you forget about him and don't stop to think that he wants a thing you would not hesitate to give him if you knew him.

Why hesitate, then, to lend your dollars to the government? They are the only thing that can really do this business. They are the only thing that can put tools into the boys' hands over there to kill the Germans with. Don't hesitate any longer. Now, get it straight, and go down and buy a bond and feel better about it for the rest of your life.

URGES END TO STRIKES

Governor Joins in National Movement.

Issues Proclamation Asking Employers and Employes to Co-operate with State Arbitrators.

St. Paul, April 3.—Governor J. A. A. Burnquist has put Minnesota in the national movement to cut labor disputes during the war by issuing a proclamation asking both employers and employees through their organizations to cooperate with the state board of arbitration and work out a program for submission of all industrial disputes to a settlement before a strike is called. The proclamation is along the line of a national agreement.

Board to Hear Cases.

Members of the state board of arbitration are R. F. Pack of Minneapolis, representing employers, and R. F. Schroeder of St. Paul, representing employes. Under the law, when any dispute is brought before them, the two are to select a third, impartial citizen, to sit with them.

The proclamation is as follows:

"Whereas, during the war it is extremely desirable that every industrial dispute be settled without the necessity of strikes and lockouts and accompanying losses to both employers and employes, as well as to the public, all of which tend to weaken the war power of the government and to decrease the production of our industries, and

"Whereas, labor conditions in Minnesota should be made as stable as possible so that our state may be in a position to receive additional contracts from the federal government and other sources, resulting in more work for wage earners and in a maximum output from this state, thus enabling our commonwealth to be of greater service to the nation, and

"Whereas, under the laws of Minnesota, there now exists a state board of arbitration to which matters pertaining to labor controversies have been and may be referred and which already has rendered valuable service in this connection.

"Therefore, I do hereby request the members of said board to confer at the earliest possible opportunity with labor organizations and with employers' associations in order that an understanding may at this time be reached whereby disputes involving unionism or non-unionism or other controversies resulting in strikes or lockouts shall be eliminated during the war, and to the end that all industrial disagreements may in the future be amicably adjusted, I do hereby urge that, pursuant to such agreement, all employers and employes submit matters which they themselves are unable to settle to said board for conciliation or arbitration."

NO MEATLESS DAYS IN APRIL

Ban Lifted by Hoover—Greater Wheat Saving Urged.

St. Paul, April 1.—All restrictions on serving of meats have been lifted for 30 days by A. D. Wilson, federal food administrator for Minnesota. The order was issued by direction of Herbert C. Hoover, and is to be put in force in all states of the union, doing away with meatless days and meals for the month of April.

The meatless rule is lifted, it was announced, because of the rush of livestock to the markets following the relief from the winter car shortage. Greater use of meat, it is thought, will help to conserve wheat supplies. Mr. Wilson today urged general return to the old "meat and potatoes" combination.

MAY CALL SPECIAL SESSION

Burnquist Expected to Summon Solons to Give Soldiers Vote.

St. Paul, April 2.—Calling of the Minnesota legislature into extra session before the end of April for the purpose of passing a new act enabling Minnesota soldiers to vote wherever they may be, is predicted by men in close touch with state affairs. The call, it was said, probably would be issued by Governor J. A. A. Burnquist next week, soon after his return from Washington, and would give only a week or 10 days' notice of the meeting.

The soda water will be part of a shipment which will include 10,000,000 sheets of note paper and 5,000,000 envelopes, 2,000,000 pounds each of sugar and flour, 2,500,000 packages of chewing gum, 200 moving picture machines, 100 talking machines, 2,500 phonograph records and coffee and crackers.

Lemons Whiten and Beautify the Skin! Make Cheap Lotion

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Just try it! Make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It should naturally help to whiten, soften, freshen and bring out the hidden roses and beauty of any skin. It is wonderful for rough, red hands.

Your druggist will sell three ounces of orchard white at little cost, and any grocer will supply the lemons. Adv.

This is a campaign year, and Big Business is trembling over the rapid growth of the Non-Partisan League. One of their latest dodges is, to get out free magazines for distribution among the farmers, and all farmers who receive these magazines must remember when they read them, that the expense of getting them out is all paid by Big Business, and old gang politicians, who are afraid they are going to lose their polital power in this state, and are freely contributing their cash, to try to fool you to not vote the Non-Partisan League state ticket. Beware, of circulars and new publications, that have sprung into existence since the opening of the campaign. Also beware of the advise of newspapers whose columns are filled with advertising of the packing trusts, as there are no contracts made by them with newspapers that are not friendly to old gang rule, and the present system. If you begin to see the advertising columns of THE SUNBEAM filled with big advertisements explaining how fairly the packing houses are treating the producers and consumers, do not for God's sake take any stock in what you read in our editorial columns, but just say: "Hunt has sold out to Big Business," and go ahead and vote the Non-partisan state ticket.

A farmer correspondent of The McIntosh Times is roiled up because the city people have appointed a county agent to tell the farmers how to farm. He suggests that the farmers call a mass meeting and appoint an agent to tell the city fellows how to run their business. We have our troubles up here in Pennington, but about as far as any of the farmer assistants gets, is to the Commercial Club rooms, and then get a big write up in the newspapers the next week, so they don't bother us much. But if you really want to find out what they are good for, just tell them to secure you harvest and haying help, to actually pitch hay, and you wont hear from them again in six months, when they might send you out some advice of how to put up ice.

Every time you write to any of the "boys" who have joined the army and navy or any branch of the service, enclose one of the Red Cross Military Relief postal cards, so that they can report the names of any one of their comrades who are not getting letters from home or friends. Ask the secretary of your township branch for one of these postals, or ask the secretary of the Military Relief Committee. They should have them and will appreciate having the name of your son and his present address.

When sending the card please request that nothing be said to the comrade whose name he fills in that someone will be asked to write him. We will have some schoolmate or some neighbor surprise him and gladden his heart with a weekly letter from home. It does not matter if the comrade came from some other state. We will see that the proper ones write him.

Do your share to lighten the load of those who are making the fight for a safe world to live in. His sister might be forced to suffer as did the women of Belgium

The farmers are all doing their part to help provide food for the war, by putting in every acre of grain possible.

We understand that Nick Bundhund of Goodridge, is being urged to file as a candidate for County Commissioner from this District. We are rather of the opinion that if we had Mr. Bundhund for Commissioner that this District might get a little of their share of the road and bridge funds, instead of a 0, like Goodridge got for two years.

If Germany has any idea that they will scare the American people by their barbarious uncivilized mode of warfare, they are badly mistaken. Every German crime that is committed only stirs up the Americans to greater efforts and they will keep going until they conquer the present German military rulers, if it takes ten years and ten million men to do it.

Interesting Life Statistics.

On the authority of experts representing forty-three leading life insurance companies in the United States, it appears that a spinster lives longer than a married woman. Business women live longer than business men. A woman who takes an endowment policy lives longer than a woman who takes an ordinary life policy. It is not easy to explain why an unmarried woman survives a matron, nor why a business woman survives a business man, but the longevity of the endowment woman is believed to be due to the determination to live until the policy matures. Will power is hardly less important in many cases than physique, and must always be reckoned with [illegible] of a woman's [illegible] natural tendency toward health, and cures which often are attributed to medicine are really the assertion of the will.—Harper's Weekly.

NOTICE OF SALE

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Four and 43—100 Dollars which became due on the first day of December, 1915, and is due and claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage executed by Eddie Hyland, unmarried, mortgagor, to The Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Oklee, a corporation, mortgagee, bearing date the 28th day of June, 1915, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, on the 24th day of July, A. D. 1915, at 8 o'clock A. M. in Book Three of Mortgages on page 466 thereof; and whereas pursuant to the terms and conditions of said mortgage, by reason of said default, the whole principal sum of said mortgage to-wit: the sum of Fifty-two and 50—100 Dollars [$52.50] became at once due and payable, and was and is hereby so declared by said mortgagee; and that there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of Fifty-two and 50-100 Dollars [$52.50] with interest thereon at the rate of Ten per cent per annum since the 28th day of June, 1915.

And whereas, the power of sale in said mortgage contained has become operative, and no action or proceedings having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof,

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage above described will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to-wit: The South half [S½] of the South-west quarter [S W¼] of Section No. Four [4], in Township No. One Hundred Fifty-two [152] North of Range Forty (40) West of the Fifth (5) P. When Even Sund was called on for a Liberty Bond, and told he was expected to take fifty dollars, he promptly put his name down for one hundred dollars, and there are plenty more just like him.

Each township is assessed so much to raise on the Third Liberty Loan, and when you refuse to take your share, you are shirking your plain duty onto your neighbor. We have not heard the report from the committee yet, but you bet Highlanding will go over the top, and win one of those honor flags.

It is reported that one man in Deer Park township threw the card on the floor when asked to subscribe for a Liberty Loan, although he has ready cash in the bank. If all Americans were like him, we would soon have to put up to Kaiser Wilhelm, and when "de Kaiser" called on him, he would have to come across with the gold.

We have not heard a full report of the township of Highlanding on the Third Liberty Loan, but school district No. 37, the southwest corner, over subscribed their quota six hundred dollars. According to that the township will undoubtedly sign for more than two thousand dollars more than asked for. "Rah" for Highlanding, we are sure of one township honor flag, and maybe two. Call again Uncle Sam you will find Highlanding ready to make you another loan.

The farm residence of Ljot Sigurdson was destroyed by fire on last Saturday morning. Mrs. Sigurdson and Hilda, a twelve year old girl, were there when the fire caught, and they did not save any of the contents of the house. There was no insurance and the loss falls heavily on Mr. Sigurdson at this time, and a list for his assistance to rebuild his house should be started at once. This is another case where we regret that this farmer was not insured in the Bray Mutual Fire Insurance Company, and it seems to be very careless of a farmer to neglect to insure his property in a safe company like this, where the expense is so slight as you can never tell when your buildings may be destroyed by fire.

SHOW FLOUR PROFITS LARGE

Montana City Cuts Prices in Half by Manufacturing at Home.

Proof of enormous profiteering in flour is found in the experience of Harlem, Montana, where the citizens got together and erected a small flour mill which cut the price of flour in half. The Terry, Montana, Tribune, which makes this statement, says that a number of communities on the Yellowstone have got relief by the same method.

No plainer case was ever made in favor of state owned flour mills. The Montana farmer must sell his wheat at the Minneapolis price, less freight. He must buy his flour at the Minneapolis price, plus freight and plus the profits that have been taken by the various agencies along the journey.

At least a half a dozen of these useless middlemen who contribute nothing to the value of the product, have to be supported. The buyer at the original point, the commission firm in Minneapolis, the buyer for the mill, the milling company, all have to be settled with before the flour is made. On the journey back the product must support wholesaler, jobber and retailer. The transportation companies take profit both ways.

This illustrates the useless expense by middlemen that the Non-partisan league is organized to eliminate. By acting together the people of Montana may cut their flour bill in two as was done at Harlem, and they may cut their meat bill in the same way by organizing state owned [illegible]

One Hundred and Forty-Two Years of Labor and Struggle

THE American people fought their first battles for liberty and the rights of self-government one hundred and forty-two years ago.

At that time, and for many years thereafter, their realization of their national aspirations and of the goal toward which they were really striving was vague and indistinct. But step by step they struggled onward and upward toward a light which grew clearer as their eyes and minds slowly opened to its significance. Today, as a result of their struggles and their sacrifices, we possess and enjoy our priceless American institutions.

These institutions must be preserved. The structure so laboriously reared in these one hundred and forty-two years will be utterly destroyed if we do not spring to its defense with every atom of our energy and determination. This is not a situation which may be trifled with, or evaded, or put off. It is one which must be met now—today—no matter what sacrifices it may entail, or what the cost may be.

The immediate need is the investment of our money in LIBERTY BONDS!

WOMAN WORKS 15 HOURS A DAY

Marvelous Story of Woman's Change from Weakness to Strength by Taking Druggist's Advice.

Peru, Ind.—"I suffered from a displacement with backache and dragging down pains so badly that at times I could not be on my feet and it did not seem as though I could stand it. I tried different medicines without any benefit and several doctors told me nothing but an operation would do me any good. My druggist told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it with the result that I am now well and strong. I get up in the morning at four o'clock, do my housework, then go to a factory and work all day, come home and get supper and feel good. I don't know how many of my friends I have told what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Mrs. ANNA METERIANO, 36 West 10th St., Peru, Ind.

Women who suffer from any such ailments should not fail to try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Be sure you see on the box the name with three D's. It protects you.

Every Druggist Sells Dodd's and refunds your money if dissatisfied

Lovely Compliment.

Mrs. Parvenu ran an eager eye over the Tatler's report of the dinner party. Presently she came to this: "Mrs. Parvenu attracted universal attention by the gaucheries so characteristic of the noveau riche."

"My! Ain't that a lovely compliment!" she exclaimed ecstatically.—Boston Transcript.

LEMONS DO MAKE THE SKIN WHITE

HOW TO MAKE A CREAMY LEMON BEAUTY LOTION AT HOME FOR A FEW CENTS.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply you with three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Squeeze the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle, then put in the orchard white and shake well. This makes a quarter pint of the very best lemon skin whitener and complexion beautifier known. Massage this fragrant, creamy lotion daily into the face, neck, arms and hands and just see how freckles, tan, sallowness, redness and roughness disappear and how smooth, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless, and the beautiful results will surprise you.—Adv.

No Longer Obliges.

"This druggist seems to be an affable fellow. Why do you dislike him?"

"He doesn't uphold the fine old traditions of drug stores."

"Still, I'm in the dark."

"When a mustomer comes in for a stamp he puts the transaction on a low commercial basis by pointing to a stamp-vending machine." — Birmingham Age-Herald.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as the prescription othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

ENEMY IS HELD AT EVERY POINT

Germans Fail to Gain Inch of Sammies, British and French Three Allies.

YANKS REPULSE FOE

Stoutness of British Defense Attested By Thousands of Enemy Dead Lying Before Positions Southwest of Ypres.

London, April 16.—Field Marshal Haig's order that no more ground be ceded is rigidly being complied with. The entire Allied line in Belgium and France is holding firm. Nowhere have the Germans been able, notwithstanding the great numbers of men hurled against it, especially that part in Flanders where the British are holding forth, to gain an inch of ground.

The stoutness of the British defense is attested by the thousands of German dead now lying before the British positions southwest of Ypres, where it is the ambition of the high German command to break through and envelop Haig's forces and gain an open highway toward the English channel.

Yankees Defeat Heavy Assaults.

North of St. Mihiel the American troops have been compelled to withstand a series of persistent assaults, second in intensity only to those delivered by the Germans against the British in Flanders. And the honors at the end rested with the Americans, who met the foe at every style of fighting he offered and decisively defeated him.

Along the front held by the French, Sunday saw nothing of greater importance than reciprocal bombardments on various sectors, the troops of both sides remaining in their trenches.

Likewise in Italy the big guns were doing most of the work, although at several points enemy patrols attempted to carry out diversions, but met with no success.

Neuve Eglise Remains British.

At Neuve Eglise, northwest of Armentieres, where the Germans are endeavoring to drive their wedge in farther in order to outflank Ypres, the heaviest fighting has taken place.

For two days battle of a most obstinate character took place, the Germans throwing thousands of men into the attack, notwithstanding their wastage in killed or wounded. Several times the village changed hands, but at last reports the British were still in possession of it and holding tenaciously under repeated German onslaughts.

Nowhere along the eight mile front where the Germans are trying to drive through between Wulverghem and Meteran have the Germans met with anything but repulse, and the price they have paid for their attempts to breach the British line has been enormous, on no sector have they been able to surmount the stone wall of defense, and, for the moment, at least, there seems to be justification for the hope that the turn in the tide of the battle is at hand.

Berlin Claims Heavy Yankee Losses.

Documents captured from German prisoners show conclusively that the great new offensive of the Germans was launched with the intention of separating the British and French armies and crushing the British.

The latest German official communication dealing with the situation in the region of St. Mihiel, where the Americans are defending the line, says that the Germans inflicted heavy losses on the Americans, in a successful thrust and also took prisoners.

MORE SPEED BY CONGRESS

Urgent Demands for Action to Bring Results.

Washington, April 16.—Spurred by the call from France for more speed in America's war program and also by hope for early adjournment, Congress enters this week with demands from all quarters for less talk and more action. Leaders think important legislation may be cleared away in time for adjournment within 60 days.

At the top of the week's schedule is final disposition of the army draft, sedition, sabotage and wheat price legislation. The draft bill passed by the House, changing the basis of quotas from state populations to the number of men in Class 1, has right of way.

Supplementing the army draft bill, the House is expected to pass this week the second Senate bill providing for registration of youths reaching 21 years since June 5, 1917.

An early vote may be sought by the Senate on the woman suffrage constitutional amendment.

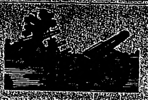
Federal Building Plans Cut.

Washington, April 16.—The unprecedented war demands have caused Secretary McAdoo to withdraw from Congress his estimates for continuation of work on new postoffices and other public buildings in several thousand cities and towns, aggregating $4,300,000. These enterprises will be postponed until peace times. Few of the items withdrawn provide for new buildings. One of the largest single items was $100,000 for a government building at Honolulu. The withdrawals included Fairmont, Minn., $50,000 [illegible]



Red-blooded men of courage are on the firing line—and there are many anemic, weak, discouraged men and women left at home.

At this time of the year most people suffer from a condition often called Spring Fever. They feel tired, worn out, before the day is half thru. They may have frequent headaches and sometimes "pimply" or pale skin.

Bloodless people, thin, anemic people, those with pale cheeks and lips, who have a poor appetite and feel that tired, worn or feverish condition in the springtime of the year, should try the refreshing tonic powers of a good alterative and blood purifier. Such a one is extracted from Blood root, Golden Seal and Stone root, Queen's root and Oregon Grape root, made up with chemically pure glycerine and without the use of alcohol. This can be obtained in ready-to-use tablet form in sixty-cent vials, as druggists have sold it for fifty years as Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a standard remedy that can be obtained in tablet or liquid form.

A good purge should be taken once a week even by persons who have a movement daily, in order to eliminate matter which may remain and cause a condition of auto-intoxication, poisoning the whole system. To clean the system at least once a week is to practice health measures. There is nothing so good for this purpose as tiny pills made up of the May-apple, leaves of aloe and jalap, and sold by almost all druggists in this country as Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, sugar-coated, easy to take.

She Knew What She Meant.

Spring is the time women plan new dresses. They plan new dresses at other times of the year, of course, but they do an unusual lot of planning in the spring.

A certain worthy Washington woman, I am told, was getting some new spring dresses for her daughter. We will call her Mrs. Smith. She is a most worthy lady, but not given to dictionary research. She ought to have looked up the word "pendant."

The dressmaker asked her how she wanted the neck of her daughter's dresses cut.

"Do you want them 'V-neck' or round?" asked the dressmaker.

"Make them V, make them V," replied Mrs. Smith. "Her father is going to buy her a pendulum."—Washington Star.

Demand on Demand.

"The war is demanding great things of us, but it's a holy war, and we don't mind."

The speaker was a representative. He continued:

"No, we don't mind—on the contrary, we're glad—but the war's demands, somehow, remind me of Smithers.

"Smithers entered a hatter's and produced a very dirty check to cash for him.

"'Can't do it, Mr. Smithers,' said the hatter. 'I couldn't possibly do it.'

"'All right,' said Smithers. 'Iron the durn thing for me, then.'"

It is a good thing to ask ourselves once in a while whether or not we are useful citizens.

"There's a Reason"

ARE YOU WITH OR AGAINST THE HUN?

Buy a Liberty Bond If You Would Show the World Where You Stand.

YOUR HELP IS NEEDED NOW!

There Can Be No Such Thing as Neutrality on the Part of a True American Citizen in This Great War.

By RENE BACHE.

"Murder!"

It is a cry for help. What will you do about it?

There is a kind of man who under such circumstances says: "It is none of my business. I am not called upon to interfere."

"Such a man calls himself a "peace-loving citizen"—a pacifist, to use a word recently popularized.

But you know, and I know, that he is only a coward. His only anxiety is to keep out of danger, no matter at what sacrifice of his manhood.

Even though he knows that his neighbor's wife or child is being attacked he will not interfere. It is "none of his affair." Besides, he himself might get hurt.

The unprovoked invasion of Belgium by the predatory Huns was exactly analagous to the breaking and entering of a peaceable man's home by armed burglars. Theirs was a criminal enterprise pure and simple.

Later it became manifest that we were likely to suffer similarly in our turn. In fact, the same criminals began to attack us. They killed our people—even our women and children.

So, much against our will, we were at last compelled to fight. If ever there was a just and righteous fight, it is ours in this war. Will you personally stand aside, playing the coward's part, or will you help?

Buy a Liberty Bond.

If you cannot do your bit with bomb and bayonet, you can help very importantly by buying a Liberty bond.

Would you prefer to help the kaiser and his gang of professional murderers? You can do so by refusing to help your country with your money.

There can be no such thing as neutrality on the part of an American citizen in this war. Either you are a patriot or you are a traitor. Which of the two shall you choose to be?

If you refuse your help, merely standing aside, you are actually aiding the kaiser. You are the accomplice, at least constructively speaking, of the greatest criminal since Nero.

Do you approve of the rape of Belgium and the ruthless slaughter of its inoffensive people?

If not, then show it by buying a Liberty bond.

Do you approve of the wholesale violation of women and the mutilation of little children?

If not, then buy a Liberty bond.

Are you in favor of the poisoning of wells, of shelling unarmed and helpless people in open boats, of indiscriminate warfare upon noncombatants?

If not, then buy a Liberty bond.

You Are For or Against.

You cannot compromise with your conscience in this matter. Either you are for these things, or you are against them.

Civilization is engaged in a desperate struggle against barbarism—nay, indeed, something much worse than barbarism, scientific savagery. It is a fight of right against wrong.

The happiness of your children and of your children's children is at stake. For there can be no happiness without liberty, and liberty will cease to exist if Prussian power achieves the objects for which it is now contending.

One word more. Do you believe in a life that is to follow this life? Do you believe that your welfare in the hereafter will be influenced by your conduct in your present state of existence?

Then how can you hope for happiness in the "next world" if, in this struggle between right and wrong, you deliberately choose to stand with the Hun murderers against your God?

You are helping them if you stand "neutral," and fail to help your country.

Make your choice. And, having chosen, buy a Liberty bond.

BECAUSE SHE KNOWS

By AMELIA JOSEPHINE BURR of the Vigilantes.

She is a fragile little elderly gentlewoman, a teacher by profession, an Alsatian by birth. During the summer holidays of 1014 she left her home in Strasburg, and came over to visit her brother, in a suburb of New York. She has been here ever since, too proud to be a tax upon her brother's slender means, and maintaining herself by French lessons here and there, governessing, helping mothers, and other work to which she has never been accustomed but which she does with the true spirit of France. I have heard—yes, and felt—complaints trickle out and then dry up entirely at the sight of that gallant little figure plowing indomitably through the snow. Her earnings, it hardly need be said, are not large, yet she has bought a Liberty bond of each issue and is resolved to keep on as long as the war does.

Win the War by Preparing the Land

Sowing the Seed and Producing Bigger Crops

Work in Joint Effort the Soil of the United States and Canada

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than May 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

St. Cloud.—Dr. David L. Kiehle, for nearly 50 years an educator and a churchman of Minnesota, died April 5 in Portland, Ore.

Minneapolis. — Mrs. Anna Emerson, 82 years old, who had lived in Minneapolis 60 years, died here. Six children survive Mrs. Emerson.

Rochester.—The Martin Hotel company will start operations within a few days building an eight-story addition at the rear of the present building. It will be about 45 by 50 feet and will provide fifty more rooms for the Martin.

Rochester.—Sixteen thousand dollars worth of Liberty bonds were disposed of at the women's meeting at the Armory. Mrs. Peter Olesen of Cloquet delivered an inspiring address, making a plea for aiding the fighting men by buying Liberty bonds and by conserving food.

Winona.—A boast that he had stored on the premises four barrels of white flour which he defied any man to take away from him, brought the arm of the food administration down on William Lassen, Winona county farmer. The flour has been returned to circulation and the 30 days' supply left him, has been "covered" by substitutes.

Minneapolis.—Navy and army training at Dunwoody institute is to be discontinued, W. H. Bovey, president of the board of trustees, announced on his return from Washington. In conferences with the navy and war departments, Mr. Bovey was told the present government policy was to concentrate training at strictlp army and navy schools.

St. Paul.—Suspicious persons fearing that many articles of food contained ground glass, officials of the State Public Safety commission said are sending in floods of reports and many samples of food for analysis. Examinations made by the state chemist, Julius Hortzet, and his assistans, have failed to show any trace of glass in a single instance, the officials said.

Minneapolis.—Frank W. Ludtke, the cashier of the Farmers' National Bank at Hutchinson, Minn., was arraigned in United States district court here charged with violating the espionage act. He pleaded not guilty. Ludtke is formally charged with discouraging enlistments in the military and naval forces of the United States by the circulation of a book entitled "Shanghaied Into the European War."

Crookston.—A parade over two miles long followed by a patriotic program characterized Crookston's loyalty day and opening of the Third Liberty loan campaign. In spite of cold and rainy weather the streets were lined with people watching the three thousand and more people march by. A feature of the parade was a huge flag into which the spectators pitched their small change to buy bonds for Crookston's poor.

St. Paul.—Doubt of the power of the state Legislature to amend the primary election law to permit Minnesota men in military training at camps and cantonments in other states to vote at the state primaries June 19, is reported to be delaying the call for an extra session of the legislature proposed by Governor Burnquist to secure legislation to vote the soldiers. Attorney General Hilton is investigating the question.

Crookston.—Mrs. H. O. Paulson, who was shot by Steinar Twedten, at the Paulson home in Woodside township, southeast of this city, is not likely to recover physicians say. Twedten invaded the Paulson farm with a doubled barrel shot gun. Mrs. Paulson slammed the door in his face as he followed her and her husband into their home. As the woman was locking the door Twedten fired and the shot struck Mrs. Paulson in the abdomen.

Cass Lake.—George Harmon, foreman of the Great Northern round house here, was arrested and taken to Walker to appear before the district judge, having been indicted by the Cass county grand jury charged with seditious utterances. It is understood that Harmon said "The object of this war is to kill off the laboring men." "A man is a fool to donate to the Red Cross," and "Any man that would join the Home Guards is a ———."

Minneapolis.—Jacob O. Bentall, nominee for governor of Minnesota, has been found guilty of "attempting to cause insubordination, discontent, mutiny and refusal of duty in the military and naval forces of the United States." He is already under sentence of one year for draft obstruction. The maximum sentence for the offense of which he has just been convicted is 20 years in a federal prison and $10,000 fine. He will be sentenced by Judge Page Morris in United States district court Friday, April 19.

St. Cloud.—St. Cloud leads all the state in the cities of 8,000 or more in the sale of Christmas seals, according to word from the state board of health. It is stated that this city disposed of 80,126, or about eight and one-half seals for every person in the city. This is the best showing made.

Red Wing.—Thorvald Anderson, 71, a farmer living near Moeville, sustained a severe compound fracture of his left leg below the knee when he fell from a load of hay while working at his farm. Both bones were broken, the larger one forcing its way through the flesh.

Brainerd.—A ladies' drum corps will be formed here to assist in patriotic work. William Tibbetts will be the instructor.

St. Cloud.—James Kotsmith, a farmer, had his foot amputated as the result of an accident while plowing with a gas tractor. Kotsmith's foot was caught in the transmission gears and crushed.

Stillwater.—Every employe of this city must take an oath of allegiance to the United States or give up his position, according to a ruling of Mayor Kollner. The same measure will be applied in the public schools.

Luverne.—Mrs. Ingri Riste, 103 years old, died at Hills, this county. She was the oldest person living in this section. Until four years ago, when she suffered an injury, she was spry and active and an expert knitter.

Crookston.—While drinking at one of the fountains at the agricultural college, Ella Lockhardt had a tooth broken when one of her girl friends playfully pushed her head down further into the water, so her head hit the bottom.

Aitkin.—The twelve Aitkin young men who enlisted and left for Pittsburgh university, Pittsburgh, Pa., were given a reception, dance and supper at Odd Fellows hall on the eve of their departure by the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs.

Princeton.—Miss Ida King, teacher of the primary department of the Princeton public school for 27 years, was killed by being run down by an automobile during a storm. She was struck while crossing the street and was terribly mangled.

Brainerd.—The Central Minnesota Red Cross Baceball league has been formed, consisting of Brainerd, Little Falls, Staples, Verndale, Crosby and Royalton. The players will donate their services and the proceeds of the games will go to the Red Cross.

Minneapolis.—Colonel Erle D. Luce, commander of the 135th infantry (the First Minnesota infantry), has been given temporary command of the 68th infantry brigade, 34th national guard division, of which Brigadier General F. E. Resche was recently relieved.

St. Cloud.—Henry Kilian of St. Cloud has purchased the K. C. Richard farm, which joins the city limits south of the Tenth street bridge. This is considered one of the best farms in this locality, consisting of 200 acres, and the consideration was $19,000.

Minneapolis.—Capt. Milton Morrill, United States army, stationed at Fortress Monroe, ended his own life in Mirror lake, on the shore of which his mother, Mrs. J. P. Morrill, has her residence. Despondency and ill health are thought to have been the motives for the act. Captain Morrill came home recently on sick leave.

Fergus Falls.—Paul H. Kirk, Minnesota field agent, says: For Minnesota the winter wheat condition is estimated to be 81 per cent compared to 86 per cent one year ago and 86 per cent for the four year average. Condition of fall rye in Minnesota is estimated at 88 per cent compared to 89 per cent a year ago and 88 for the ten year average.

Moose Lake—When the Moose Lake high school opened the teachers and pupils discovered they were without German text books. During the Easter vacation just ended some one entered the school and carried off, and presumably burned, all the German books. A note was left informing the teachers that "patriotism had tempted us to toss the books into the flames."

Fairmont.—Resolutions caling upon Governor Burnquist to summon a special session of the legislature to enact a law providing for the confiscation of property of disloyalists, were adopted at a meeting of 800 citizens of Martin county here. The resolutions assert that fines for disloyalty are vain as "rose water for leprosy" and that the property of traitors should be taken from them.

Rochester.—Rochester is wet after 10 days' of drought when Mayor Reiter signed all but one of the 16 saloon licenses as ordered in district court. The unsigned license is that of George Miller, and the mayor announced that this case will be appealed to the supreme court, as a test regarding the method of investigation the city council must make in granting saloon licenses.

Austin.—"I would rather lose my position, all I possess or hope to possess, or life itself, than be accused of disloyalty and bring disgrace upon my children for generations to come," Loan rally. Atty. Sasse in his Liberty Loan speech explained the need of the government, told how the money was to be use dand pleaded with every one to do his utmost. The inspection, drill to do his utmst. The inspection, drill and review of the Home Guards, occupied almost an hour. The company comprises more than 400 men, each village in the county having an auxilliary. The governor was accompanied by his staff and a number of officers of the Home Guard organizations throughout the state.

St. Cloud.—John Benson of this city was given a suspended sentence by Judge Roeser with the understanding that he be sent to Camp Dodge. He was given a physical examination and is now in the county jail awaiting an officer to take him to the camp. Benson was arrested in Glendive, Mont., charged with being a draft evader.

St. Peter.—Harlow Pettis, 85 years old, the oldest settler in Nicollet county, died at his home here. He settled in Le Sueur county 60 years ago, coming here from Illinois. He was well acquainted with Abraham Lincoln.

Time for Him to Flee.

"William," said Mrs. Peckham sternly, "did you ever stop to think that some one might steal me when you were away?"

"Well," responded the poor husband, with a far-away look, "I was a little alarmed when a horse thief was prowling through these parts last week."

Mrs. Peckham stiffened up haughtily.

"A horse thief, eh?"

"Yes. I heard that he carried off two or three nags from this district."

And then Peckham made a bee-line for the door.

NERVES GAVE OUT
Serious Kidney Trouble Had Made Life Miserable, But Doan's Removed All the Trouble. Hasn't Suffered Since.

"I had such severe pains in my back," says Mrs. Albert Akroyd, 304 W. Indiana Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa., "that they almost doubled me up. Many a day I could not do my housework and at every move it seemed as if my back would break in two. My feet and ankles swelled until I had to wear large-sized slippers and sometimes I couldn't stand up.

"I had dizzy spells and dreadful headaches and fiery flashes passed before my eyes. Had a heavy weight been resting on my head, the pain could not have been more distressing. The least noise startled me, I was so nervous. I couldn't control the kidney secretions and the pain in passage was awful.

"It began to look as though my case was beyond the reach of medicine until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. The first box benefited me and four boxes cured all the troubles. I have had no further cause for complaint."

Mother happened into the room just as Willie was making his baby sister sit down in her little chair. The little one strenuously objected, wherupon Willie spanked her. Mother caught him by the arm and shook him.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUB.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

$1.00 a year, in advance.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879

James A. Peterson, candidate for United States senator, was arrested last week charged with violating the federal esoionge act by unlawfully obstructing the enlistment and recruiting service of the United States. He was arrested in company with Paul F. Dehnel, formerly publisher of a newspaper at Bemidji and a half dozen other cities in Minnesota. This Dehnel chap ought to be arrested on general principles and it is perfectly safe to take anyone along at the same time who happens to be found having anything to do with him. He is a nuisance and a pest and should not be tollerated even in peace times. Just now he is absolutely dangerous. He is at present publishing a sort of magazine in Minneapolis, and Peterson is accused of having written certain articles appearing therein claiming that the United States is sacrificing the lives of soldiers to gain territory for other countries and that "big business" insists on continuing the war for its own ends. And this is the man who considers himself a fitting successor to Knute Nelson in the United States senate! — Thief River Falls Times.

There is no doult of the guilt of Mr. Peterson, as they have the articles he wrote signed by him, which we shall publish a little later on, as we do not want to see a father, who has a son fighting in the trenches in France, go to election and vote for an assistant to Kaiser Wilhelm, as we might as well elect Kaiser Wilhelm himself, as his assistant. If the statements made by Peterson were made by some poor ignorant miner, he would be lynched, while Peterson is running for U. S. senator, and being indorsed by the Nonpartisan League, up to the present time. But you bet we will promptly Jonah him, before he even rocks the Nonpartisan boat, and feed him to the sharks.

Now that America is into the war the draft age should be promptly raised to forty-five years of age, so as to give the slackers that are above thirty years of age, and are of not much account at home, an opportunity to get where their assistance would help win the war. The time of idle talk of an easy victory over Germany is long since past, and it is up to America to rush an army of sufficient size to France, to conquer them.

Don't stand and hesitate when the Liberty Loan agents come and ask you to sign up for your share of the Liberty Loan. It is either put up now and shut up the Kaiser, or put up to him later on, and when he calls on you he will call with a dose of poison gas, if you don't put up.

The first and third Highlanding farmers that were called on for Liberty Loan bonds, doubled the amount they were assessed for, which begins to look as if Highlanding would be one of the towns that would over subscribe their share of the Third Liberty Loan.

When our boys who are fighting our country's battles hear how promptly the Third Liberty Loan was snapped up, they will conclude that America is right behind them in the fight for liberty.

POLITICS WARMIN UP

Ten candidates for county office are now on file at the office of Auditor T. P. Anderson. E. M. Stanton, who has been acting county attorney since the departure of Lieut. H. O. Berve for the war, this week formally placed himself among the list of eligibles. Thus far there is very little talk of any opponent for the honor.

Of the ten candidates registered, four are seeking the office of register of deeds; these being Theo. J. Liden, Lars Backe, W. E. Wood and the present incumbent, N. J. Anderson. The other filings are: For sheriff, Ove E. Berge and Louis A. Nelson; for treasurer, John Gullingsrud and Bernhard Knutson; for superintendent of schools, George M. Gunderson.

We do not understand why Mr. Liden wants to change offices at this time, and by attempting to do so, he may fall between two stools.

The tax payers of the county who have their own interest at stake, will profit by past experience and elect E. M. Stanton for county attorney, as he will enforce the laws, but will not allow thousands of dollars useless expense saddled onto the county for the purpose of allowing one individual to "get even" with another one by prosecuting him at the expense of the tax payers, when there has not been any crime committed. We are for Stanton.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

POLITICAL REVOLT IN EAST

Discontent Among New York Farmers to be Voiced at Polls.

Inspired by the accomplishments of the farmers of the Northwest who have taken their political fortunes in their own hands, agriculturalists of New York state have determined to launch a political party of their own.

This uprising of the farmers is the result of dissatisfaction with the way the state administration is handling agricultural and food problems.

The plans call for an entire state ticket with candidates for the assembly in every rural district in the state. It will be a purely agrarian party. None but farmers will be named.

New York state politicians are greatly agitated over this evidence of independence on the part of the farmers who have been voting for years the way they were told to vote. Republican leaders tried to avert the inception of the new party. The agriculturalists refused to accept the olive branch offered by Lieutenant Governor Schoeneck on behalf of the state administration.

NOTICE OF SALE

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Four and 43—100 Dollars which became due on the first day of December, 1915, and is due and claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage executed by Eddie Hyland, unmarried, mortgagor, to The Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Oklee, a corporation, mortgagee, bearing date the 28th day of June, 1915, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, on the 24th day of July, A.D. 1915, at 8 o'clock A. M. in Book Three of Mortgages on page 460 thereof; and whereas pursuant to the terms and conditions of said mortgage, by reason of said default, the whole principal sum of said mortgage towit: the sum of Fifty-two and 50—100 Dollars [$52.50] became at once due and payable, and was and is hereby so declared by said mortgagee; and that there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of Fifty-two and 50-100 Dollars [$52.50] with interest thereon at the rate of Ten per cent per an num since the 28th day of June, 1915.

And whereas, the power of sale in said mortgage contained has become operative, and no action or proceedings having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof,

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage, contained and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage above described will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to-wit: The South half [S½] of the South-west quarter [S W¼] of Section No. Four [4], in Township No. One Hundred Fifty-two [152] North of Range Forty (40) West of the Fifth (5) P. M., in Minnesota, containing Eighty (80) acres according to U. S. Government survey, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Pennington County, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County and State, on Friday May 31st, 1918, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at Public vendue, to pay the said debt and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and an attorney's fee of twenty-five Dollars as stipulated in and by said mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of said sale as provided by law.

Farmers should not get excited over the food order published in another column, but should obey it. The farmer who has been buying his flour about as he uses it, and is using substitutes to save flour, has nothing to fear from this order, but the flour hog who has a habit of buying and storing flour as soon as he hears that it is getting scarce, will be called on to unload about 19 of those 20 sacks he has in store, and that is right, for if the government did not look after this class of hogs, they would buy all the flour in the country and store it [illegible]

If the government enforces its food ruling of six pounds of flour per month, the wheat will rot in the fields this year, for want of strength to harvest and save it. Put a good willing young horse on a pint of oats a day, and see how long he will stand the work. Which is best? To allow the farmers food enough, so they can save their crops, or starve them into weakness, so they can not do their farm work?

One Hundred and Forty-Two Years of Labor and Struggle

THE American people fought their first battles for liberty and the rights of self-government one hundred and forty-two years ago.

At that time, and for many years thereafter, their realization of their national aspirations and of the goal toward which they were really striving was vague and indistinct. But step by step they struggled onward and upward toward a light which grew clearer as their eyes and minds slowly opened to its significance. Today, as a result of their struggles and their sacrifices, we possess and enjoy our priceless American institutions.

These institutions must be preserved. The structure so laboriously reared in these one hundred and forty-two years will be utterly destroyed if we do not spring to its defense with every atom of our energy and determination. This is not a situation which may be trifled with, or evaded, or put off. It is one which must be met now—today—no matter what sacrifices it may entail, or what the cost may be.

The immediate need is the investment of our money in LIBERTY BONDS!

OUR DEFENSE

In the spring we may be attacked at any moment. Toxic poisons pile up within us after a hard winter, and we feel "run-down," tired out, blue and discouraged. This is the time to put our house in order—cleanse the system and put fresh blood into our arteries. You can obtain an alterative extract from Blood root, Golden Seal, Stone and Queen's root, Cherry bark, rolled into a sugar-coated tablet and sold by most druggists, in sixty cent vials, as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This blood tonic, in tablet or liquid form, is just what you need for "Spring Fever," for that lack of ambition. It will fill you full of vim, vigor and vitality.

Chilliness, when other people feel warm enough, is a sign of biliousness, or of malarial poisons—so is a furred or coated tongue, loss of appetite, headaches or giddiness, and a dull, drowsy, debilitated feeling. It's your liver that's at fault. You want to stimulate it and invigorate it with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. With every trouble of the kind, these tiny little things act like a miracle. You can break up sudden attacks of Colds, Fevers, and Inflammations, with them. They'll give you permanent benefit for Indigestion, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, and Dizziness. They are small and pleasant to take, and the most thoroughly natural remedy. Twenty-five cents at most drug stores.

IF GLUCOSE IS IN JELLY

Method by Which It Is Detected Is Simple and of Exceedingly Easy Application.

Glucose in fruit preserves may be discovered by the following method given by the Popular Science Monthly:

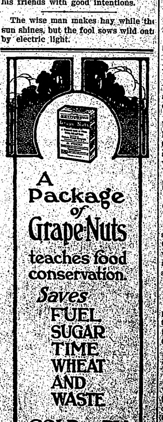
In the case of jelly a teaspoonful should be dissolved in two tablespoonfuls of alcohol contained in a glass vessel. In the case of jam or marmalade the same process is carried out, but it is necessary to filter off the solid matter by running the mixture through a piece of muslin. Allow the solution to become perfectly cool and then add an equal volume, or a little more, of strong alcohol.

If glucose is present a dense white precipitate slowly settles down. Where no glucose has been employed, there is no precipitate, save, in some cases, a very trifling sediment of protein matter which, however, is so small that it could not possibly be mistaken for the sediment which glucose produces.

The last named is not particularly harmful in itself, but it is very frequently used as an adulterant in supposedly pure preserves for extra profit.

Sometimes a man's enemies with bad designs do him less harm than his friends with good intentions.

The wise man makes hay while the sun shines, but the fool sows wild oats by electric light.



LIBERTY DAY IS SET FOR FRIDAY

President Issues Proclamation Naming April 26 as Time For Liberty Loan Rallies.

ASKS DEMONSTRATIONS

Wants Meetings in Every Hamlet That People May Pledge Anew Their Financial Support of Government in Fight for Peace.

Washington, April 19.—Friday, April 26, is designated as Liberty Day in a proclamation issued by President Wilson, in which he asks the people "to liberally pledge anew their financial support" of the government. The proclamation follows.

The Proclamation.

"By the President of the United States of America:

"A Proclamation: An enemy who has grossly abused the power of organized government and who seeks to dominate the world by the might of the sword, challenges the rights of America and the liberty and life of all the free nations of the earth. Our brave sons are facing the fire of battle in defense of the honor and rights of America and the liberty of nations. To sustain them and to assist our gallant associates in the war, a generous and patriotic people have been called upon to subscribe to the third Liberty Loan.

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do appoint Friday, the 26th day of April, 1918, as Liberty Day. On the afternoon of that day I request the people of the United States to assemble in their respective communities and liberally pledge anew their financial support to sustain the nation's cause. Patriotic demonstrations should be held in every city, town and hamlet throughout the land, under the general direction of the secretary of the treasury and the immediate direction of the Liberty Loan committees, organized by the Federal Reserve banks. Let the nation's response to the third Liberty Loan express in unmistakable terms the determination of America to fight for peace, the permanent peace of justice.

To Be Holiday.

"For the purpose of participating in Liberty Loan celebrations, all employes of the federal government throughout the country, whose services can be spared, may be excused at 12 o'clock noon, Friday, the 26th day of April.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done in the District of Columbia, this 18th day of April, in the year of Our Lord one thousand, nine hundred and eighteen, and of the independence of the United States of America one hnudred and forty-second.

"WOODROW WILSON."

"By the President.

"Robert Lansing, Secretary of State."

INCREASE IN BRITISH LOSSES

Casualty Lists Grow But Are Smaller Than in Spring of 1917.

London, April 22.—British casualties reported during the week ending April 20, totalled 12,368, divided as follows:

Killed or died of wounds: Officers, 575; men, 1,639.

Wounded or missing: Officers, 2,173; men, 7,981.

The casualties reported for this week are approximately half as large again as those reported in the preceding week.

Although heavy fighting has now been in progress a month, the lists have not begun to approach in size those of last year in the months of active operations when the British were on the offensive.

TWO GET PRISON TERMS

Five Years For Bentall and Four For J. A. Peterson.

Both To Serve in Leavenworth Federal Prison—Verdict Bars Peterson as Senatorial Candidate.

Minneapolis, April 20.—Jacob O. Bentall, Socialist candidate for governor of Minnesota, was sentenced to five years in the government penitentiary at Leavenworth for violating the espionage act, and James O. Peterson, Minneapolis attorney and candidate for the United States senate, was sentenced to four years in the same prison.

Federal Judge Page Morris granted a stay of sentence of 42 days in each case for appeal, and set bail at $10,000 for each.

Mr. Peterson furnished bond at once and was released. Bentall was remanded to the Hennepin county jail, pending his efforts to get a new bond. Hans Peterson of St. Paul, who was on Bentall's bond, was arrested in St. Paul Wednesday on a charge of perjury in connection with his affidavit scheduling property valued at $10,000, when he went on Bentall's bond. A new bond was required by the court.

The name of James A. Peterson, candidate for the United States senate from Minnesota, will be excluded from the ballot for the 1918 election, Secretary of State Julius A. Schmahl announced, after Mr. Peterson was sentenced. The name of J. O. Bentall, nominated by the socialist party as candidate for governor, also will be excluded, Mr. Schmahl said, if he files.

ENEMY EFFORT BRINGS FAILURE

Germany's Latest and Most Costly Drive Barren of Results After Month's Struggle.

GEN. FOCH "SATISFIED"

In Belief of Army and Official Circles Next Blows Will Not Begin Until After Short Period of Recuperation.

Washington, April 23.—Failure after one month's struggle is the result of Germany's latest and most costly effort to gain a definite strategic position. The next blows will begin, in the general belief of army and official circles, with a short period of recuperation. After that must come Hindenburg's supreme effort, with the most reckless and lavish waste of life.

The 30-day drive on Amiens and the 12-day thrust directly toward the channel ports have spent themselves against a still thoroughly organized Allied line, now occupying ascending positions for the greater part of their formation.

Means Substantial Victory.

"Foch is satisfied."

This significant summary of the situation has been received here. It was accepted by military experts as meaning substantial victory; at the very least that the German army has lost its momentum. The Allied forces have grudgingly given up their men, and the Germans have wasted theirs. And the Allied position from the sea down is intact.

Hindenburg's advance at the expense of thousands of lives, fed into the furnace of blood—has left him with a serpentine front endangered at three vital points. His forces are now so disposed that he must make either another Herculean attempt to jam them all the way through the Allies' line or suffer a withdrawal.

Hindenburg has failed to attain three close and important objectives:

First.—Amiens, with its great railroad center, important network of highways, and enormous supplies of Allied munitions.

Second.—Arras, with its important railroad and highway system and which stands like a rock against the German flood.

Third.—Hazebrouck, in the valley of the upper Lys, which blocks the way to Calais and the channel ports on the west coast of France.

NINTH DISTRICT FIRST

Northwest Leads All in Reaching Liberty Loan Quota.

Was Last to Start Campaign But Allotment Is Reached Before All Others.

Minneapolis, April 22.—Last of all the federal reserve districts to start its third Liberty Loan sales campaign, the Ninth Federal Reserve district has registered in Washington as the first of all the districts to report that it had oversubscribed its quota.

The Ninth district, which started its campaign nine days after all the other districts had begun to sell bonds, came sweeping down the stretch, passed the $105,000,000 mark set by Secretary McAdoo as the minimum for this district, passed the $125,000,000 mark set by A. R. Rogers, when he apportioned the third loan bonds by states, and at last reports the Ninth district had gone galloping past the $137,000,000 mark.

To be exact, the grand total for the Ninth district, including Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth, was $137,141,500.

Cheering as this figure is in itself, it does not tell all the story by any means of what this district has done, because there is no certitude that the Ninth district intends to pause at this figure. It was still in flight when this total was checked up and several million dollars more are likely to be added before "finis" is written on the third Liberty Loan in this Northwest section.

HOW TO AVOID BACKACHE AND NERVOUSNESS

Told by Mrs. Lynch From Own Experience.

Providence, R. I.—"I was all run down in health, was nervous, had headaches, my back ached all the time. I was tired and had no ambition for anything. I had taken a number of medicines which did me no good. One day I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for women, so I tried it. My nervousness and backache and headaches disappeared. I gained in weight and feel fine, so I can honestly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman who is suffering as I was."—Mrs. ADELINE B. LYNCH, 100 Plain St., Providence, R. I.

Backache and nervousness are symptoms or nature's warnings, which indicate a functional disturbance or an unhealthy condition which often develops into a more serious ailment.

Women in this condition should not continue to drag along without help, but profit by Mrs. Lynch's experience, and try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and for special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

Juice of Lemons! How to Make Skin White and Beautiful

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as sallowness, freckles and tan and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It naturally should help to soften, freshen, bleach and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is wonderful to smoothen rough, red hands. Adv.

DUTY OF EVERYBODY TO HELP

Question Is Not Whether We Feel Like Subscribing, but Our People Must Spend or Be Spent.

By ALBERT BUSHNELL HART, Of the Vigilantes.

Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof—so runs the legend on the Liberty bell which by a favorite tradition pealed out to the world the tidings of the birth of the United States of America on that famous July 4, 1776. We thought that message had gone out once for all, that freedom in the United States was a rock of Gibraltar that could not be scaled nor penetrated nor moved. We have thought that the old days of national sacrifice and anxiety were forever passed. What so strong, so permanent, so vigorous, so dominant as government of the people in these United States?

If the American Revolution had been only bell ringing and the passage of resolutions, we should not now be the foremost republic of the world nor any other kind of a republic. The Declaration of Independence was a bold statement of liberty which had still to be made good. The heroes of the Revolution knew how to watch as well as to pray, how to march as well as to resolute. The Declaration of Independence is a mighty force in the world because when the country called soldiers sprang into the ranks. Liberty had to be spelled out by such big capital letters as Lexington, Illinois, Bennington, Eutaw, Rocky Mount, Trenton and Yorktown.

We Are Better Fortified.

The hard fighting in the field won only half the battle. Our forefathers were able to "proclaim liberty throughout the land" because they found the sinews of war. It was one thing to raise the flag, another to raise troops and still another to "raise the wind." There was not a bank in the United States till the Revolution was nearly over and few were the people who had money enough to lend to anybody, yet that 3,000,000, of whom a fourth were slaves who could have no property, somehow induced the people of the country to turn in their small surplus of provisions, clothing, and military supplies and take for it the obligations of the government, which toward the end of the dark period of the Revolution seemed little likely ever to be paid. They furnished about $65,000,000 in taxes, contributions and supplies and at the end of the war the national debts incurred in behalf of the Revolution were, including arrears of interest, $70,000,000, which was then about $20 a head on the population, man, woman and child, whites, Indians and negroes, seamen, farmers, plantation slaves as they ran.

Must Spend or Be Spent.

Make no mistake; this is not a question of whether we feel like subscribing to a loan any more than a question of whether we feel like receiving news of a break on the war front and the capture or retreat of the American troops. The nation is compelled to choose either to spend or to be spent. There is only one possible way to end the war to the honor and safety of the United States and that is to fight for it. Our sons fight in the army, our daughters fight in the Red Cross, we elders must fight with safe deposit boxes and mortgage deeds and sheets of securities.

In the days when the French were in the habit of recruiting troops in Switzerland, there was a saying, "No money, no Swiss!" Nowadays it is, "No money, no Yank!" for unless you subscribe to the loan your son cannot be trained or equipped or fed or transported over seas or carried to the front or protected by a barrage of artillery fire or put where he can attack the enemy.

Remember the Liberty Bell.

The battle is going on from day to day in the national banks and the savings banks and the trust companies and the treasuries of the fraternities and the clubs and the churches and the restaurants just as much as in northern France or Belgium. No one soldier can win at the front nor a hundred thousand together. It would take a million, but if every one of that million hangs back, there is no army, no war, nothing but shame and misery for the nation. Just so you cannot save your country all alone by your subscription to the third Liberty loan, but you can unite with a million others. Do your duty and expect and urge others to do theirs. That makes a victorious army of people pouring in their rattling dollars as the boys at the front hurl hand grenades.

"All the inhabitants thereof," that is what the Liberty bell aroused. Not the soldiers only, not merely the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A. and the other [illegible]

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

Mankato.—J. B. Johnson, a veteran shoemaker of this city committed suicide by hanging.

Cloquet.—The largest class in the history of the local high school, forty-six will be graduated this year.

Minneapolis.—Special radio classes for drafted men who have not yet been called out will be continued at Dunwoody institute throughout the summer.

Roseau.—A Red Cross auction here netted $2,660 and then the citizens to show their hearts are in the war, oversubscribed their Liberty Loan allotment the first day.

East Grand Forks.—One thousand surgical dressings were turned out of the men's surgical dressing class, which was held in the local Masonic hall one evening recently.

Fairmont.—Martin county oversubscribed its third Liberty Loan quota of $570,000 by $330,000 the first two days, according to final figures given out by the Liberty Loan committee.

Moorhead.—Every township and village in Clay county oversubscribed its allotment in the third Liberty Loan on Monday, the first day of the drive, A. H. Costain, chairman of the county campaign committee, announces.

International Falls.—The county commissioners appointed John S. Gavin, principal of the Northome schools, to complete the unexpired term of D. B. Jewell, who resigned, as superintendent of the schools of the county.

St. Cloud.—Casper Schoener, age 94 years, father of Sheriff B. E. and Herman Schoener of this city, died in Freeport, Stearns county. He had been a resident of that village for 58 years, ever since he came to this country from Bavaria.

St. Cloud.—August Sleizer, indicted last week, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 90 days in the workhouse. He is charged with saying that it was a "damn good thing" and "that any man who would wear a United States uniform should be sunk with the boats."

New Ulm.—New Ulm and Brown county have gone over the top with a roar. The quota for New Ulm was $250,000. Reports compiled up to this forenoon showed an oversubscription of $62,000. The county quota of $850,000 has been oversubscribed by $475,000.

St. Paul.—Local board allotments under the latest draft call for 1,925 Minnesota registrants to entrain during the five day period, beginning May 1, for Columbus Barracks, Ohio, were announced by Major John P. Snyder, chief draft aid to Adjutant General W. F. Rhinow.

St. Paul—Minnesota Home Guard has a strength of 7,501 men, including 370 officers and 7,131 enlisted men. It is organized in 18 battalions, comprising 92 companies in 58 Minnesota towns. This ssummary of Home Guard strength was announced by Major W. A. Curtis, chief of Adjutant General W. R. Rhinow's staff.

Crookston.—Word from Perham, Minn., today told of an alleged German sympathizer being made to kiss the flag publicly. It is alleged that Barney Kluber of Perham made slighting remarks about a service flag dedicated to the boys who have joined the colors from that community. Kluber was dragged from his home to the town square, where he was forced to kneel and kiss the national emblem.

Thief River Falls.—Violence was feared when it became known that Joseph Schmoster of this city declared that he wished Germany would win the war when asked to subscribe to the Liberty Loan, according to officials of the loan committee. An appeal has been sent to United States Marshal Joseph Wessell of St. Paul for deputies to protect Schmoster. Schmoster owns a home here and is well off, it is understood. Action will probably be taken to have him removed from the community as a "dangerous alien."

St. Paul.—The Federal Food Administration requires that everyone who has more than 30 days supply of wheat flour to return the flour at once to the dealer or miller from whom it was purchased or report to his county food administrator. This order applies to everyone no matter when or how the flour was obtained. Thirty days supply is determined on the basis of six pounds for each member of the household. A family of four may have 24½ pounds of wheat flour and a family of eight 49 pounds. Anyone who insists on keeping more than one month's supply or is using more than six pounds per person per month is considered a hoarder and will be dealt with accordingly. Hoarding of necessary foods is punishable by a fine of $5,000 or imprisonment for two years, or both.

New Ulm.—There is every indication that Brown county will oversubscribe its quota in the third Liberty Loan campaign, C. H. Beecher, chairman of the loan committee, says. "The allotment for this county is $850,000 and at least one half of that has been subscribed."

St. Paul.—Disloyalty cases against Carl F. Grosenick and George W. Freerks, both of Ortonville, indicted on charges of orally advocating that citizens should not aid the government in the prosecution of war, [illegible]

Winona.—Elvora Grant, 8 years old, is dead as the result of burns received while playing about a bonfire near her home at Wabasha.

Mankato.—D. A. Duemeland, of St. Clair, general merchant, recently convicted of using seditious language in the presence of a drafted man, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500, which he did.

St. Paul.—Minnesota, with 480,535 members of the Catholic church, in a total of 17,416,303 for the United States, ranks 13th among the states, it was shown in the Official Catholic Directory.

Madelia.—Madelia's third Liberty Loan assessment was $40,000 and at the close of the first day the amount subscribed was $66,650. Watonwan county will exceed its quota more than $100,000.

Winona.—With snow melted and streams down to normal and as clear as in midsummer, the trout season opened yesterday in the southern zone of Minnesota, the most promising in years.

Virginia.—Mrs. John Lonne, 35, swallowed some lysol and cut her throat at her home and was hurried to a hospital, where it is reported her condition is critical. Ill health is the cause assigned.

Waseca.—Henry Baker, Sr., hanged himself in the barn while his wife was in town shopping. As his wife went away he said, "Goodby until we meet again." He left a note in the house saying where his body would be found. He was 79.

Hutchinson.—Every town and village in McLeod county oversubscribed its Liberty Loan quota from $10,000 to $40,000. Reports show the farmers heavy purchases and the selling brisk in German districts.

St. Cloud.—Judge Roeser in the Biessner-Gross case, a contest between the heirs of Nicholas Hentges for the possession of an estate of $9,000, ruled that the property be sold and evenly divided among the heirs.

Willow River.—Miss Rose Dunn is being treated by a physician for an injury she sustained when an auto, owned by Nels Nyrau of this place and driven by William Fournier, turned turtle on the Sturgeon Lake road.

Paynesville.—Dr. Arndt of Paynesville received a telegram from Washington ordering him to report for service in the medical corps on April 25. His enlistment in the medical corps carries with it a commission as first lieutenant.

Chisholm.—All persons without visible means of support or persons who are living in idleness as well as gamblers and loafers, will be ordered to leave the city in a general cleanup campaign to be started by the police department next week.

St. Cloud.—The park board has decided to accept the plans submitted by Phelps Wyman, land architect of Minneapolis, for the beautifying of the city and its surroundings. The plans include detailed specifications regarding all city parks.

Brainerd.—"Cutting" across lots to make short cuts instead of following streets, all to the damage of lawns and green grass, has been banned by the city council, which passed an ordinance making provision against the practice by providing penalties. No aldermen voted against it.

Waseca.—John Jeddeloh, a farmer of Vivian township, this county, who has a son in the service at Camp Dodge, has entered a plea of guilty before Judge Childress in the district court to a charge of using language tending to prevent enlistments. He was sentenced to serve six months in the county jail.

St. Peter.—Gustave Krueger, who is reported to be the only person in the village of Courtland who refused to purchase a Liberty Bond, was severely beaten by citizens of that village. Krueger, who is rated at $25,000, was allotted $200. It it reported he did not subscribe to either of the other bond issues.

Cass Lake.—Masonic funeral rites were conducted here tomorrow over the body of Frank Ives. Burial was in the Evergreen cemetery. Judge Ives was 86 years old and was acknowledged the oldest editor in Minnesota. He established the Cass Lake Times 20 years ago. In 1916 he retired from active newspaper work. During his residence of 56 years in Minnesota, Judge Ives lived in Red Wing, Crookston and Cass Lake.

St. Paul.—Minnesota agencies are in Washington endeavoring to save the farmers of Minnesota a sum of money ranging from $500,000 to $800,000. The question at issue is the reconsignment order issued by the Interstate Commerce commission, which takes effect May 1. This order calls for the payment of $2 upon the reconsignment of each car of grain at the terminals. It is so framed that if a car is consigned to a commission agent and is then turned over to some flour milling concern, for example, the transaction is regarded as a reconsignment and the $2 charge applies.

Brainerd.—Judge W. S. McClenahan of the district court heard in chambers the case involving an accounting asked for by the Akeley estate from T. B. Walker of Minneapolis in a partnership deal involving much testimony and which was on trial for five weeks in Minneapolis last year.

Detroit.—Charged with selling intoxicants to an Indian, Albert Ullman and Edward Johnson, saloon men of Plummer, were held to the May term of federal court [illegible]

Win the War by Preparing the Land

Sowing the Seed and Producing Bigger Crops

Work in Joint Effort the Soil of the United States and Canada

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than May 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

To Release Grain in Case of Fire.

An excellent suggestion for saving wheat and other grain in country elevators in the event of fire has been made by a South Dakota builder. The idea is simple. Each bin for grain is provided with a trapdoor in the outer wall of the building, so arranged that in case of fire the door could be pulled open and the grain allowed to run out on the ground.—Scientific American.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT, EDITOR
HARRIETT G. HUNT, PUB.

Published every Friday at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

$1.00 a year, in advance.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879

Able bodied loafers are under the ban. War time necessity makes them a useless drug on the market, as well a drain on the resources of the country, which at this time cannot be tolerated. Major John D. Yost Recruiting Officer for the Minnesota District inaugurated an "Enlist or work" campaign in several Minnesota towns recently with such marked results that he is anxious to make the movement statewide. Through the newspapers of the state Major Yost requests the cooperation of all municipal and county authorities, as well as Recruiting Committees in pushing this campaign.

Figures compiled show that there are at least 15,000 men in the State and outside the draft age who are available for military service, and who are not engaged in any line of work. Uncle Sam can use such men, is in need of them in fact, and can teach them all a useful occupation. Idle men are trouble breeders, and the best place for such men at the present time is in the Army where they will be kept too busy to think of trouble.

The New York State Legislative Assembly, as well as the Legislature of the State of Maryland, have enacted laws on the above plan that are already operative. Municipal officers have welcomed the opportunity to rid their towns of loafers, and it is expected Minnesota officers will also go after them with a vengeance.

The needs of the Army are constant and ever increasing, so ever known means of securing men must be resorted to. Secretary of War Baker favors increasing the draft age limit to 40 years, and prospects are excellent that his suggestion will be followed by Congress.

The U. S. Army Tank Corps is now open enlistment. Lieutenant Colvin who is recruiting for this branch of service has an office at the State Capitol. Drafted men can get into the Tank Corps through their local board if passed on by Lt. Colvin. The organization is mobolizing on the old Civil War battlefield at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. Gas engine men are particularly desired.

Pennington County promptly came across with a big oversubscription to Third Liberty Loan. The farmers are now beginning to understand what the war is about, more than they did a year ago, and there is no danger that they will not do their share by increased production of crops and their full share of Liberty Loan bonds. It is only the middle men, and war profiteers, that the farmers refuse to be skinned by any longer that calls them unpatriotic.

Read in another column, the new regulations of the food administration, and prepare to save yourself a lot of trouble by obeying them. While there is no danger of the farmers being deprived of plenty of flour to use with substitutes, the practice of laying in two or three years supply is going to be stopped. The food gamblers had willing assistants among the farmers last year in boosting prices. Every times they boosted the price of flour the farmers added [illegible] to their supply [illegible] another excuse to raise the price while the surplus flour was lying in the [illegible] waiting until a year [illegible] when flour might be scarce.

FOOD ADMINISTRATION REQUIRES REPORT ON FLOUR SUPPLIES BE MADE BY MAY 1

To the People of Minnesota:

The Federal Food Administration hereby requires everyone who has more than 30 days' supply of wheat flour to return the flour at once to the dealer or miller from whom it was purchased or report to his County Food Administrator. This order applies to every one no matter when or how the flour was obtained. Thirty days' supply is determined on the basis of 6 lbs. for each member of the household. A family of four may have 24½ lbs. of wheat flour, and a family of eight, 49 lbs. Substitutes may be purchased in any amounts desired.

It is not assumed that having an excess of flour on hand makes one a hoarder. It does not. In normal times it is an indication of thrift and sensible buying to purchase flour in reasonably large quantities. We do not want any one who is following his normal methods and has an excess of flour on hand to feel in any way that he has done wrong. He has not.

NEED OF FLOUR GREAT

But conditions now are far from normal, hence this call. America and the Allies are short of wheat and wheat flour. The Allies are driven desperately for food. We are under obligations to furnish the food. Shipping facilities are limited. Bread they must have, and bread we must furnish them. The government must know how much flour there is in the country and where it is. Our own people must use other foods which we have in abundance and save flour.

HOARDING

Any one who insists on keeping more than one month's supply or is using more than 6 lbs. per person per month is considered a hoarder and will be dealt with accordingly. Hoarding of necessary foods is punishable by a fine of $5,000 or imprisonment for two years or both. It is hoped that no one in Minnesota will place himself in the hoarder class. We beg of the people to respond at once to this call and on or before May 1st, 1918, to dispose of any excess flour or report to their County Food Administrator as follows:

P. O. Address ....

No. in Family .... Amount of Wheat Flour .... lbs.

NOTICE OF SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Four and 45—100 Dollars which became due on the first day of December, 1915, and is due and claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage executed by Eddie Hyland, unmarried, mortgagor, to The Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Oklee, a corporation, mortgagee, bearing date the 28th day of June, 1915, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, on the 24th day of July, A. D. 1915, at 8 o'clock A. M. in Book Three of Mortgages on page 466 thereof; and whereas pursuant to the terms and conditions of said mortgage, by reason of said default, the whole principal sum of said mortgage to-wit: the sum of Fifty-two and 50—100 Dollars [$52.50] became at once due and payable and was and is hereby so declared by said mortgagee; and that there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice upon said mortgage the sum of Fifty-two and 50-100 Dollars [$52.50] with interest thereon at the rate of Ten per cent per annum since the 28th day of June, 1915.

And whereas, the power of sale in said mortgage contained has become operative, and no action or proceedings having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof,

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage above described will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to-wit: The South half [S½] of the South-west quarter [S W¼] of Section No. Four [4], in Township No. One Hundred Fifty-two [152] North of Range Forty (40) West of the Fifth (5) P. M., in Minnesota, containing Eighty (80) acres according to U. S. Government survey, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Pennington County, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County and State, on Friday May 31st, 1918, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at Public vendue, to pay the said debt and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and an attorney's fee of twenty-five Dollars as stipulated in and by said mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of said sale as provided by law.

Dated March 28th, 1918.

WANTED TO BUY: Two or three young pigs. Inquire or notify W. G. Hunt, at this office.

Mrs. W. G. Hunt has been suffering with another attack of rheumatism this week.

C. A. Pitkin, of Thief River Falls is the food rationer for this county.

Miss Ella Causin was an over-night visitor at Sunbeam on Wednesday.

A large crowd attended the Red Cross Meeting held at the Walter McAndress residence on Wednesday afternoon.

County Commissioner Peterson was visiting County Commissioner Wold, on Sunday, and had to lay up for the storm until Monday afternoon.

This week will complete wheat and oats seeding in this part of the county, but there will be a pretty large amount of barley and flax sown this month, owing to the high prices of these grains.

The high winds of the past week delayed seeding some, as the farmers have been keeping wheatless and meatless days so long that they are getting so thin, that those strong winds are likely to blow them away.

Kaiser Wilhelm is killing two birds with one stone now days. He is marching those Russian Socialists that wanted peace, so bad up in front of the allies' guns to get them all killed off, so they wont bother him later on.

If you do not feel that you can afford to buy a Liberty Bond, get on record as one who helped your Country in time of war, by buying a War Saving Stamp Book. Invest $4.16 and make out the loan in favor of your Boy or girl who will get $5.00 for it in 1923.

That rain storm Saturday night and Sunday was certainly a boost for the wheat crop that was badly needed. The land has never been in such fine condition for seeding as it has been this spring, and there is a big increase in acreage sown in this end of the county.

We were in error in saying that James A. Peterson was indorsed by the Nonpartisan League for U. S. Senator, as he was not. We guess the rank and file of the League will indorse the Hon. Knute Nelson for re-election by placing their X opposit his name and that is what counts.

There will be a basket social and ball given at Edon Davis' place one half mile east of Highlanding, on Saturday evening May 4th, for the benefit of Ljot Sigurdson, who had his house and all his household goods destroyed by fire some two weeks ago. Turn out and give a worthy neighbor a lift, who has met with a loss, and don't forget your pocketbook.

We regret to learn that there is opposition to the re-election of County Commissioner Peterson in the north west corner of his district. He has certainly done good work for this end of the district by getting that state road completed, and assisting to get a bridge across the river at Highlanding, and should as a reward receive the endorsement of the voters for another term, and we believe he will pole a pretty solid vote in the east end of his district.

Ye editor autoed down to Thief River Falls Wednesday, with mail carrier Hesby to hear the speech of candidate for governor Lindberg. Mr. Lindberg is a plain and forcible speaker, who made present conditions plain to the real producers of wealth. There was a large delegation of farmers present, and one could see by the determined look on their faces, that they will stick in June and November, and elect Lindberg for the next governor of Minnesota.

The first official Red Cross film to be shown in this immediate vicinity will be offered to the public at the Princess Theatre of Thief River Falls Saturday and Sunday, May 4 and 5.

The picture, dealing particularly with Red Cross work in France, is entitled "Humanity's Appeal." This is a one-reel picture showing the work of the Red Cross at Evian—the French city where hundreds of repatries are received every day by the American Red Cross.

TO THE VOTERS.

I hereby announce, that I am a candidate for re-election, as sheriff of Pennington County. I most respectfully solicit your support, at the June primaries.

Yours Truly,
J. W. LaBree.

GOVERNOR IS ASKED TO MAINTAIN LAWS

Minnesota Farmers Convinced of Conspiracy to Interfere With Their Rights.

Convinced of the existence of a conspiracy on the part of bankers, politicians and the representatives of Big Business for the suppressing of their political right, more than 150 farmers, representing every county in Minnesota came to the state capitol at St. Paul, Tuesday, Feb. 19 and demanded of Gov. Burnquist the suspension from office of three sheriffs and one state's attorney who had interfered with patriotic meetings of the Nonpartisan league. The farmers were backed in their demands by a delegation of Union Labor officials.

No pledge being received from the governor, the farmers went to the United States district attorney and laid their demands before that official, declaring that if necessary, they would carry their complaint to the highest officials in the land.

O. C. Lee, sheriff and E. H. Nicholas, state's attorney of Jackson county, Charles M. Livingston, sheriff of Rice county, and E. H. Dickinson, sheriff of Ramsey county were the officials whose removal was asked.

The farmers cited twenty specific cases showing how sheriffs and constables had overstepped their duty and violated constitutional rights in preventing the holding of patriotic meetings. One case was brought forward in which local authorities issued an order forbidding the farmers to subscribe for stock in a newspaper company they were organizing.

Other instances were given of mobs led by the public officials and of threats to do bodily violence, [illegible] to kill men employed as [illegible]

PACKERS' HELPERS ON HOOVER STUFF

Swift Books Show Government Employes Carried on Pay Roll.

In denial of the report that none of the dollar men serving on the Food Administration are being paid by the Packing trust, Attorney Heney of the Federal Trade Commission furnished detailed proof from the Packers' accounts.

The salaries these gentlemen are drawing from the packers represent roughly the amount of harm they can do the people of the United States. The investigation of the Packing Trust has shown the trust as resorting to every means to beat the nation in war as well as in peace. There is absolutely no reason for believing they are paying men on the Food Commission for anything else than the same selfish purpose. It is worthy of note that at least two of these salaries are paid in advance.

Detailed Accounts.

H. B. Collins, assistant chief of the division of coordination of purchases for Hoover; salary from Swift & Company, $10,000 a year; pay collected to March 2, 1918; "special account," supposedly for expenses.

E. O. Heyl, member of Hoover board, on Libby, McNeill & Libby payroll, at $9,600 a year; pay collected to Feb. 16, 1918.

F. S. Brooks, member of Hoover board, formerly in charge of stockyards interests of Swift & Company, on payroll at $9,000 a year; credited on books for pay to March 2, 1918.

W. F. Priebe, head of the poultry and egg division, Hoover food board, on Priebe & Co., payroll at $275 a month, plus 25 per cent of profits after 7 per cent is paid on capital invested.

Both Libby, McNeill & Libby and W. F. Priebe & Co. are subsidiaries of Swift & Co.

When Letters Were a Luxury.

In our modern speed of railroad travel, and the consequent facilities in the transmission of mail matter all over the civilized world, it is well enough to look back to the time when letter writing was a luxury indulged in only by a few, and communication between friends at a distance well nigh an impossibility. In its first application the word "post" meant a courier or carrier of messages.

Feeding the Army.

An army travels on its stomach. The farmers who are standing behind seeing that food is produced to go forward regularly are as useful in a war as the fighting men.

FARMERS REFUSE PAPER

As a result of mistaken zeal in fighting farmers' organizations, the editor of The Gazette, Mitchell, S. D., has received a letter from the secretary of the Farmers' union, asking him to stop the papers coming to members of the organization and to devote the balance on subscriptions to the Red Cross.

The Mitchell Gazette, which has been fighting the Non-partisan league, has been coming to many farmers who had not subscribed for it, paid for evidently, by the big interests who view the growth of the league with alarm. By refusing to take, even for a gift, the paper that is misrepresenting their cause, the farmers of South Dakota are simply following the example of farmers in other parts of the Northwest.

THOUSANDS JOIN IN ONE DAY.

From incomplete reports it is estimated that more than 5,000 farmers joined the Nonpartisan league in Minnesota at the caucuses held Feb. 22.

No Special drive for members had been made that day, but as only members could take part in the caucuses many farmers came to the polling places and joined the organization.

This increase in membership was the farmers' answer to the violent attempts of the agents of Big Business, profiteers and politicians to disrupt the league and prevent its growth. It is an indication that the farmers are lining up with the organization that has for its purpose the placing of the farmers' influence in the halls of legislation in proportion to their numbers in the state.
